Carolina, WC Officials Say They Are Against Rumored Advisors For Publications

★ Coraddi's Defender Resigns

The resignation of Mrs. Lettie Hamlett Rogers, defender of the Coraddi staff at WC, has been accepted by the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina.

The resignation was released by Chancellor Edward K. Graham following approval of the Board in Raleigh on Monday.

Mrs. Rogers was an assistant professor of English at WC. Her resignation became effective at the end of the first semester.

In January, shortly after the Coraddi incident, Mrs. Rogers said that she would resign from the faculty "in protest of the administrative action" censuring the staff of the school's literary magazine.

Mrs. Rogers is the author of three novels and specialist in the teaching of creative writing.

The resignations of two other WC faculty members were also announced yesterday. They are Walter J. Gale, professor of education, and Miss Margaret E. Norton, instructor in education, both effective at the end of the present academic year.

Typing Jobs Are Available At Association

Fifty part-time typing jobs for University students and/or their wives will be available from Feb. 28 to June 1 this year at Hospital Saving Association, the association announced yesterday. The work is occasioned by the introduction of a new subscriber records system which will involve the typing of new record cards.

University students with a scholastic average of "C" or better, over 19 years old and with a minimum typing speed of 45 words per minute may apply. Student wives with this typing speed may also apply.

Legislators' Wives To Visit Memorial Hospital

The Sir Walter Cabinet, composed of wives of legislators and other state officials, will be guests of the Women's Auxiliary of North Carolina Memorial Hospital at their mid-winter meeting here next Tuesday.

Highlighting the meeting, which will be attended by some 300 persons, will be an address by University of North Carolina President Gordon Gray.

The business session will begin at 10 o'clock in the Nurses' Auditorium of the hospital. A coffee hour honoring guests will be held at noon in Nurses' Residence lounge.

President Gray will address the group at 11 a.m. on the hospital's services. Mrs. W. Reece Berryhill, wife of the Dean of the School of Medicine and chairman of public relations for the Auxiliary, will introduce Gray.

At the conclusion of the business session, Mrs. W. B. Rodman, Washington, president of the Sir Walter Cabinet, will call a brief meeting of cabinet members.

Composing the receiving line at the coffee will be Mrs. Rodman, Mrs. Luther B. Hodges, President Gray and Mrs. Bruce Strowd, Auxiliary president.

Weaver, Chancellor Graham Students Agree On Freedom

"A censored student newspaper would be worse than no paper at all," said Fred H. Weaver, dean of student affairs, yesterday. Weaver was asked for his opinion about a rumored proposal for a bill to be introduced in the state Legislature requiring faculty advisors for all student publications in state-supported institutions.

The suggestion was first heard of in the Wednesday column of Burke Davis, state Legislature correspondent for The Greensboro Daily News. Davis wrote, "There is talk among the Assembly even yet about the Coraddi affairs on (the WC) campus, and general denunciation of the appearance of the nude male drawing in the magazine. One member, evidently in dead earnest, speaks of having a bill drawn which would require faculty advisors for all publications at state-supported colleges."

Davis has said that he is sworn to secrecy on the Legislature's name. Dean Weaver said, "I have heard of no proposal to censor our student publications. Hence, my statement is not related to any such suggestion. But, since you have asked me to state what I think is a wise policy with respect to supervision of student publications, I am glad to do so. "It is our policy to leave the student publications, free, to help them with their finances, to hold the students responsible for what they do, and hope for good results. We offer the student journalists as much counsel as they will take; but, considered from the standpoint of education, we think a censored student newspaper would be worse than no paper at all."

Chancellor E. K. Graham of Woman's College, in a telephone interview yesterday said, "Required faculty advisors for all student publications would be an error from both a practical and a policy standpoint. So far as I know, there has been no specific proposal looking in this direction. But the question of a required advisory system is one which comes up from time to time at all colleges and universities."

"From the practical standpoint a required faculty advisory system is almost invariably a disappointment, because it does not work. The faculty advisor is usually caught between what he regards as the devil of administrative disapproval and the deep blue sea of censorship."

"From the standpoint of policy, required faculty advisors would probably be even worse. Freedom (See RUMORED, page 4)

Mrs. M. L. Jacobs, director, Volunteer Services for the Hospital, and Mrs. W. W. Pierson, the Auxiliary's first president, will welcome the guests.

Assisting in receiving will be Chancellor Robert B. House, Dr. Robert Cadmus, Administrator of N. C. Memorial Hospital, and Mrs. Berryhill.

The business session, presided over by Mrs. Strowd, will feature reports on volunteer services by Mrs. W. H. Sprunt III, chairman; the hospitality shop, Mrs. St. P. DuBose, chairman, and library, Miss Cornelia Love.

Mrs. E. C. Curnen Jr., will describe the Auxiliary's work with hospital personnel, and Mrs. Carson Ryan will report on the three Red Cross Services: The Gray Ladies, of which she is chairman; Nurses Aid, and Sewing Room.

A report on the Junior Service League's work with the hospital will be given by Mrs. A. J. Altenmueller.

A guided tour of Memorial Hospital will conclude the program. Mrs. Harris Purks, chairman of hostesses, and her committee will direct the guests throughout the day.

Trustee Clark Is Against Negroes' Attending State

John W. Clark of Franklinville, a frequent critic of the University of North Carolina, has written a letter protesting summer school plans at N. C. State College, The Raleigh News and Observer said yesterday.

Chancellor Carey Bostian of State has asked the executive committee of the UNC trustees to permit about 30 Negroes to attend a three-week extension course this summer, Clark wrote to State Sen. John Kerr of Warren with carbon copies sent to other members of the General Assembly.

"This movement to take Negroes in the summer courses at State College is part and parcel of the integration program and is just the opening wedge," the newspaper said Clark wrote. "Once they get this crowd hanging around the college they expect to bring in the younger generation into the various courses at the college, then call for the admittance of every Negro who wishes to come to the Farm and Home Week."

"At first they will be put in separate dormitories and then under protest made by subsidized workers will ask to be mixed in the various dormitories with the white farmers. In this way, they hope to bring about complete integration."

Clark, a UNC trustee, asked the recipient of the letter to consult with fellow legislators on what "can or should be done" about "this movement."

"State College has been in existence now for 65 years and Bostian is the first head of the institution to make this request. He told the executive committee that the Negroes, 30 or more in number, would stay at Shaw University and would not eat or sleep on the campus. When asked about the advisability of putting this in the resolution the executive committee backed off and Chancellor Bostian said they would probably be served lunch but not other meals," the letter said.

Refer Dorm Improvements To Hands of Interdorm Council

By NEIL BASS

The student Legislature in an abbreviated session last night approved unanimously a bill to establish a bi-partisan board to select candidates for the Honor Council. The bill had previously been referred to a Legislative committee for study.

The board will consist of: the chairman of the Men and Women's Honor Councils, the chairmen of the Student and University Parties, the secretaries of the Men and Women's Honor Councils, the chairman of the Women's Residence Council and the president of the Interdormitory Council.

In other action of the session the body thumbed down by a vote of 17-15 a resolution calling for the Student Welfare Board to "negotiate" with the administration toward the correcting of certain "deplorable" conditions in Battle-Vance-Pettigrew Dormitory. The examples cited were the "need for new springs and mattresses" and "renovation" of the social room.

The Legislators, voting almost entirely along party lines, the Student Party for and the University Party against, ruled that the bill came under the jurisdiction of the Interdormitory Council, and did not need acting upon by the Legislature. The body referred the killed bill to the IDC.

An appropriation of $90 to the Elections Board "for the purpose of paying the debt incurred by the purchase of new ballot boxes" was given a unanimous stamp of approval by the group in a quickly run through action.

President Tom Creasy's recent appointments to the Student Entertainment Committee, the Elections Board and the Orientation Committee were given the go sign by the body with the exception of one appointee. This was Claude Pope, whom a committee studying the appointments ruled ineligible because, the Legislature bylaws state that a person cannot serve on the Student Council and a Legislative Standing Committee both.

Archaeologist Lectures On The Hittites' Land

Art and architecture of the early Hittite kingdom in Asia Minor, "which excels by the intelligent use of the natural setting," she said, "and often they are marked by colossal fortifications and rock-cut reliefs with religious designs."

Miss Mellink, who is assistant professor of classical archaeology at Bryn Mawr, Pa., participated in excavation work in the Hittite country near Tarsus in southern Turkey, from 1947-49.

Her address was sponsored by the North Carolina Society of the Archaeological Institute of America, which is headed by Dr. J. P. Harland, professor of archaeology here.

Illustrating her lecture with films of the Hittite remains, Dr. Mellink pointed out that the Hittites invaded Asia Minor in the same way that the Greeks invaded their future homeland, Greece.
