

Varsity Tankmen Seek Sixth Win Today Against Clemson

CUFF NOTES

By BERNIE WEISS
Daily Tar Heel Sports Editor

A contemporary of mine at Dook, Herb Lodder by name, came up with an interesting column recently in the Duke Chronicle.

In Lodder's "Between The Halves" is the idea that Duke will be playing a great football schedule next year featuring some of the nation's top teams — specifically, Ohio State, winner of the Rose Bowl; Navy, winner of the Sugar Bowl; and Georgia Tech, winner of the Cotton Bowl. Lodder then cries over the fact that all of these games are played away from Durham and that the Dook home schedule, consisting of four games, is miserable.

He continues, "We wouldn't blame you if you took the weekend off and went home for three of those four. Other than Pittsburgh, who dumped Navy, 21-19, last fall, the home schedule is quite unattractive. (William and Mary, Wake Forest and North Carolina.) With all due respects to those three teams, we feel that they cannot cope with the powerful Blue Devils."

So he says, but we shall see come next fall. Lodder goes on to expound on the greatness, it being equalled by none, of football at Dook. He also delves into the difficulty schools (Dook in particular) seem to have with money, and states that perhaps the reason why so many good games are being played away from home in larger cities is to increase the gate receipts.

I shall take this opportunity to remind him that Dook is one of the wealthiest schools in the south.

And if he is still crying for good football next fall when his team is on the road, let him journey to Chapel Hill and watch the Tar Heels take on Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Maryland, Tennessee and Virginia.

Tommy Shores, a rabid basketball fan who puts in time as Business Manager of the DTH, and myself have come up with our selections for an All-Atlantic Coast Conference first and second team.

We agree on the starting five: Ron Shavlik, N. C. State; Dick Hemric, Wake Forest; Buzz Wilkinson, Virginia; Ronnie Mayer, Duke, and Len Rosenbluth, a local of some ability.

Shores' second team consists of Bob Kessler, Maryland; Bob McCarty, Virginia; Bob O'Brien, Maryland; Joe Belmont, Duke; and Bill Yarborough, Clemson. I selected Cliff Dwyer, of State, and Lefty Davis, of Wake Forest, instead of McCarty and O'Brien.

There will be no let-up in basketball coach Frank McGuire's summer schedule. He is a busy man throughout the year and is always in constant demand for speaking engagements.

While most of us will be basking in the sun, McGuire will conduct or have a part in conducting three summer camps in which the emphasis is on basketball. Starting early in June, he will be at an Elks camp at Hendersonville, and then go to Hill Beach, S. C. for another. Later he will be in New York to assist Buck Freeman (UNC frosh coach) at a military academy. Freeman is assistant director of the academy's summer basketball sessions.

Statistics of Bill Hensley, Wake Forest director of athletic publicity, show that the great Hemric now is only 96 points shy of Frank Selvy's all-time high scoring record of 2,538 points. He has scored 601 points this season, averaging about 29 per game, and has at least five more games in which to break the record. The "at least" is inserted because of the ACC tourney next month. The Deacs will certainly play one game in the meet and possibly three.

Already there is much speculation on the outcome of the tournament (which decides the conference champion) and the rating of teams other than State, which has been disqualified by the NCAA.

Discounting upsets, Clemson and South Carolina can be cancelled out with State. Maryland, minus Frank Fuqua (he had trouble with the books and left school) may be relegated to the ranks of darkhorse with Virginia and Wake Forest. All three of these teams, while having the potential, have trouble winning in the Coliseum.

This leaves Dook and Carolina. Place your bets.

Deacs Drilling Grid Tactics

WAKE FOREST—Backfield defense, depth at quarterback and finding a fullback were the three main problems for Coach Tom Rogers as Wake Forest began spring football practice.

The Deacons' 50-man squad began work February 7 and will conclude practice with a Varsity vs. Alumni game in Groves Stadium March 5.

A weak spot on last year's team was defense in the backfield, and the Deacon coaching staff will emphasize pass defense, tackling and line backing during the spring session.

The line will stress fundamentals with special work on rushing the passer and kicker.

Nick Consoles, a senior next season, heads the list of quarterbacks but Rogers is looking for a replacement to add depth to the position.

With Nick Maravic gone, the fullback position is wide open. The Deacons had planned on Charles Topping filling the post but Topping lost a battle with the books and had to drop out of school.

Penn State's Arnelle Nearing 2,000 Points

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—Jesse Arnelle, Penn State's record-breaking center, today was within reach of one of basketball's greatest achievements—a four-year scoring total of 2,000 points.

The 6-5 New Rochelle, N. Y., senior now has a four-year total of 1,969 points. Coach John Egli hopes Arnelle

Frosh Swimmers Meet Pair of Military Teams

Krepp, Baker and Drake Expected to Pace UNC

Carolina's varsity swimming team will go after its sixth win of the season when it takes on the Tigers from Clemson College at 4:30 today following a freshman meet which pits the undefeated Tar Babies of Carolina against two strong military academy teams. The frosh will hit the water at 3 o'clock.

Hoping to rebound from their loss to the Michigan Wolverines earlier this month, one of the two defeats handed the Tar Heels Coach Ralph Casey will be counting heavily on his team to strengthen their Atlantic Coast Conference second place standing.

Charlie Krepp, Phil Drake, and Dick Baker, who set a national inter-collegiate record as the 300-yard medley relay team against the Wolverines, are expected to lead the way for the Tar Heels along with several other outstanding performers.

Drake will probably set the pace in the 150-yard individual medley and the 440-yard freestyle, while Baker is expected to score high in the 100-yard freestyle. Krepp will be the team's top man in the 200-yard backstroke.

Larry Shannon looks like the team's best bet in the 200-yard breaststroke, and will also pick up points in the 50-yard freestyle if the results of previous meets are any indication, and they should be.

THE 220-YARD freestyle will find Lee Holmes out front for the Tar Heels, and he will assist Baker with points in the 100 freestyle.

Charles Higgins is a good team man for the Carolinians, and will most likely show in the 220 and 440 freestyle races.

UNC trails N. C. State in the conference race and a win today would give them a tighter claim on second place, whereas a loss to the Tigers would bring Clemson into a tie for the runner-up spot with Carolina.

In what has been billed the top freshman swimming meet of the season, Georgia Military Academy and Staunton Military Academy invade the Bowman Gray pool to try and hand the Tar Babies their first defeat of the season. Carolina is sporting a 5-0 record going into the meet, which should be its toughest of the year. They had to battle down to the wire last year in meeting these two top-notch prep schools separately before squeezing out two victories, and the combined strength should prove no easy match for the host team.

Carolina Host To Eight Sports Events Saturday

The University of North Carolina may be setting some sort of record here tomorrow when it plays host to eight athletic events involving more than 200 participants. In addition, the Tar Heels will send one of their athletic teams out of town for competition.

The busy day gets under way at 10 a.m. with the beginning of the all-day Southern Interscholastic Swimming Championships in Bowman Gray Pool. Competition will be held in separate high school and prep school divisions, with both individual and team championships determined.

As a sidelight of the interscholastic Championships competition, the North Carolina freshman swimming team will take on Staunton Military Academy and Georgia Military Academy, both participants in the scholastics, at the same time, at 2:30. The clash will not be a three-way contest but two separate meets.

Fencers Battle State, Augusta In First Meet

Sabres will be clashing tomorrow for the first time during the 1955 season when the Tar Heel fencers tackle State College and the Augusta Military Academy in a three-way meet in Woollen Gym.

The Augusta squad will be coming up from Fort Defiance, Ga. and will be battling to upset the two college teams. Coach Pebley Barrow of the Tar Heels has had his charges practicing for the last few weeks in preparation for the tough opener.

UNC Grapplers, Maryland Vie 4 o'Clock Sat.

Maryland's powerful wrestling team will invade Woollen Gymnasium tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock to take the mat against the UNC grapplers in the Tar Heel's eighth dual match of the season.

In the past week's action, the matmen failed to break into the win column in two attempts as they fell before a VPI onslaught, 29-3, and were drubbed by State, 26-7. The only highlight of the unsuccessful trip to VPI was sophomore Charlie Boyette's victory in the 157 pound class.

Three Champions Are Entered Among 22 Schools In Games

By RAY LINKER

Three outdoor track champions in three different conferences this past spring head the list of 22 college teams entered in this year's Indoor Games.

Entries, which closed Saturday, have Maryland, defending champ in both outdoor and indoor track, heading the Atlantic Coast Conference group, and Virginia Military Institute, winners in the Southern Conference outdoors, and Roanoke College, Mason-Dixon spring winners out front in the non-conference division.

A total of over 600 athletes are scheduled to take part in the "Indoor Track Classic of the South." Fourteen teams are slated for the non-conference group, including five teams from the Southeastern and a like number of squads from the Southern Conference.

Just under 200 school boys are entered in the scholastic division of the meet, which finds only two of last year's placers returning. Washington and Lee High of Arlington, Va., and George Washington of Alexandria, who was first and second last year, head up a list of 24 teams, including teams from North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Washington, D. C.

All eight conference schools have teams entered in the freshman section of the meet, which features 16 teams. Other freshman teams outside the conference en-
