

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and mild today,
with expected high of 70.

VOL. LVII NO. 117

Complete (A) Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1955

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES TODAY

The Daily Tar Heel

GONE

The real gone graduates of the University come under the editor's scrutiny. See p. 2.

CAMPAIGN MANAGER TAYLOR & CANDIDATE McCURRY
Taylor promises "clean, honest and vigorous campaign"

Oil Interviews

Science students graduating in June will be interviewed here by a representative of the Humble Oil and Refining Company on March 22.

For an appointment with the representative students should contact J. M. Galloway, director of the University Placement Service, 204 Gardner Hall.

Taylor Named McCurry Aide In Campaign

Ed McCurry, University Party presidential candidate, announced yesterday the appointment of Raymond M. Taylor as his campaign manager.

Taylor, a senior political science major from Washington, N. C., is president of Old West Dormitory, member of the President's Committee on State Affairs, of the Interdormitory Council and the Press Club.

In accepting his appointment, Taylor said, "Although politically independent throughout my four years at the University, I have been interested in student politics. I have upheld those principles which I considered to be in the best interest of our University, regardless of the parties or personalities involved."

"It is in this spirit that I welcome the opportunity of managing the campaign of the eminently qualified candidate for president, Ed McCurry."

"I promise a clean, honest and vigorous campaign and I urge student voters to let their judgment and common sense prevail. If they do, I am confident Ed McCurry will be elected," said Taylor.

In announcing the appointment of Taylor, McCurry commented, "I consider myself fortunate in having such an outstanding student take the helm as my campaign manager in the forthcoming elections. His previous accomplishments and manifestations of leadership are indicative of the high caliber upon which my campaign rests."

Fiction Contest Deadline Just 2 Weeks Away

The Carolina Quarterly's Fifth Annual Fiction contest has only two weeks left to run, according to Quarterly Editor James Dunn.

All manuscripts must be submitted by or postmarked no later than midnight of April 1.

Don Fowler Enters Presidential Contest SP Endorses Kraar, Yoder Harrington Veep Candidate

Palmer, Correll Named For Offices By SP

By NEIL BASS

The Student Party last night nominated Bob Harrington as its candidate for vice-president of the student body. Harrington, current vice-president of the sophomore class, was chosen over Miss Susan Fink by a 35-15 margin.

Tom Lambeth, who placed Miss Fink's name in the running, declared that she was "a person who fulfills all the necessary requirements, a person who will respect integrity, a person who has fought hard for student government, in short she is Miss Carolina Student government."

Jack Hudson, who entered Harrington's name in the contest, said that he was "the finest candidate in the finest party in the finest state."

Harrington outlined his platform as one that would "make the student body more responsible." Going into detail about the workings of his administration if elected, the Carolina Political Union chairman said it would forward the principles of "democracy, liberalism and service."

A volley of comment pro and con followed Miss Fink's acceptance speech, of which the following is typical:

In lauding the talents and abilities of Miss Fink, Bob Elder said she possessed a great deal of experience and that she had "a past we cannot afford to lose."

Laurel the capabilities of Harrington, Larry McElroy described him as a person with "a brilliant grasp of the world about him."

At 8:39 the votes were piled in the chairman's desk. A huddle of counters assembled about Chairman Don Geiger. Then they counted in whispers and the tabulation was announced—35-15 in favor of Harrington.

Harrington accepted the nomination with, "Thank you, and I'll try to do a good job if elected."

In other selections of the crowd-meeting, Joan Palmer was named to represent the SP in the student body secretarial race. Miss Palmer, called by her nominator "Miss Student Party," was ushered in by acclamation.

Another candidate given unanimous approval by the party was Joe Correll. Correll was propelled treasurer of the student body into the race as nominee for in the race for class offices.

In the race for class offices, Scotty Hester was given the nod over Jerry Vayda as the SP's candidate for president of the senior class.

Hester told the group that if elected, he would "serve to the best" of his ability. A third candidate, Norwood Bryan, withdrew his name from the race.

Sophisticated Caroline Coe, races across street to escape being hit by Merita Bread truck; truck passes; Caroline calls after, "Hi-Yo, Silver!"

Sunday: Daddy playing on grass in McCorkle Place with small child, both having fun.

Fashion note: Politicians in political garb — coats and ties — nowadays.

563 Coed Trials Fall Semester

The House Councils of the women's dormitories and sorority houses tried a total of 563 violations of the social rules during last semester, according to a report made yesterday by Miss Nancy Whisnant, chairman of the Women's Honor Council.

Dormitory women committed 343 of the violations, nurses a total of 159 and sorority women a total of 92, said the report.

Alderman had the largest number of violators as its house council tried 105 cases, according to Miss Whisnant's report. Carr's house council tried 80 cases, Spencer 56, Melver 38 and Smith 33.

Delta Delta Delta was reported as having the most offenses of the sororities, with a total of 24. Chi Omega ranked second with 23 violations. Pi Phi tried 21 cases, ADPI 11, Alpha Gam 7 and KD 6.

Majority of all the cases, according to Miss Whisnant's report, were violations of coed closing hours. In most of these cases, the girls were reported to be from one to 10 minutes late.

The report said the second largest number of violations concerned infractions of minor house rules. These cases came to a total of 63.

Failure to sign in on return to the dormitories ranked third with 53 cases, according to the report. Remainder of the cases, 26, was caused by neglect to pay house fines on time, said the report.

Miss Whisnant reported that out of the total of 563 cases tried during the first semester 69 were excused.

Student Tickets Offered For Gieseking Concert

UNC students may now obtain tickets for the Walter Gieseking concert for the reduced price of $2.50, according to Jim Wallace, secretary of the Chapel Hill Concert Series.

The concert is being sponsored by the Chapel Hill Concert Series and will be presented in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. on March 31.

Tickets for Gieseking's performance may be purchased at the information desk at Graham Memorial.

UP Expected To Nominate Stevens Veep

The University Party will probably nominate Jack Stevens for vice-president of the student body tonight.

According to all speculation, Stevens, floor leader of the party, will capture the post with little difficulty. There are reports, however, that Jim Monteith, member of the Publications Board, will contest Stevens for the party nomination.

As for the UP's student body secretary candidate, the nod will in all probability go to Miss Jane Cocke. Miss Cocke is the present secretary of the party. Another likely candidate for the secretarial spot is Miss Bobbie Walker, legislator.

Some claim that the big competition of the night will be focused on legislative nominations. The vacancies to be filled with UP candidates are in town men's and town women's districts.

During last week's session, the party had difficulty bolstering enough nominees to fill the open spots in dorm men's districts, but tonight promises to be a different story.

The primary interest and strength of the UP is centered in the town men's districts. Thus crucial seats should be hotly contested.

Two Take Mundy 27 To 18

By ED MYERS

The Student Party last night endorsed Ed Yoder and Louis Kraar for co-editorship of The Daily Tar Heel by a margin of 27 to 18.

The pair, endorsed by the University Party last week, won out over David Mundy.

The climax of the heated discussions came when Lewis Brumfield was thrown out of the meeting for "breaking all rules of parliamentary procedure."

Dave Mundy, the only opposing candidate for editorship, stressed the need for a "responsible editorial policy. My primary concern is not to inflict my views around the campus," said Mundy. Elaborating, he hit on the "lack of firm support and interest from students."

Kraar, speaking primarily on "freedom of expression," called the student newspaper "The last stronghold of student expression."

Yoder, outlining the news policy of the paper, if he were elected, said, "I endorse an efficient Daily Tar Heel."

After the announcement was made official that Kraar and Yoder had been nominated, the two candidates issued a statement that they would make this year's The Daily Tar Heel "an ambassador of the best traditions of the University."

Decides To Run As Independent

Don Fowler, defeated in his attempt for the Student Party nomination, yesterday announced his candidacy for president of the student body as an independent.

According to Fowler, his decision to run came as the result of more than 20 petitions that are being circulated on campus calling for "the drafting" of the present student body treasurer as a candidate.

Fowler said he had given up the idea of running until the "great interest shown by many students" encouraged him to become a candidate.

Fowler's accomplishments at UNC include:

The Grail scholastic award for having the highest average among self-help students; Honor cadet award in the Air Force ROTC his freshman year; former president of Joyner Dormitory; "several terms" in the student Legislature; and member of the University Dance Committee.

Full text of Fowler's candidacy announcement follows:

"Due to the great interest shown by the many students who recently circulated and signed petitions pledging me their support, I have decided to run for the office of student body president. I believe that as an independent candidate I can offer the students a more representative choice in the coming election."

Fowler said "I promise to wage a clean, hard campaign based on the practical issues which face the student body."

A junior, Fowler is from Winston-Salem.

Blue & White Voting Ends This Afternoon

There is no way of telling just how the voting in the Monogram Club's Miss Blue and White contest is going—at least not until the votes are counted at the end of today's voting.

The contest, which began last Saturday in the Y building, is being conducted on a penny-a-vote basis to determine which one of 13 girls running will be queen over the annual Blue and White game scheduled for March 19.

Slotted boxes into which votes are dropped make it next to impossible to determine who is ahead. Shaking the boxes gives no clue since paper money makes no jingle and is deceptive in weight, Miss Polly Keeton, Y secretary, said yesterday.

The coed who receives the most money will reign as queen at the football game at the formal end to winter practice. The other 12 girls will serve as sponsors for the two squads, six for each of the two squads.

Contestants are Misses Sara Fair, Anne Penn, Nancy Buran, Libbie McDowell, Ann Wrenn, Misses Luanne Thornton, Pat Fossum, Jackie Wilkins, Carol Taylor, Nancy Whisnant.

Misses Liz Lynn, Jackie Van Hook and Kay Browne.

Proceeds from the contest go to the Monogram Club's Scholarship fund and to its orphan parties.

Di Debates Succession Bill At 8

Tonight at 8 o'clock, the Dialectic Senate will debate a bill to allow the Governor of North Carolina to succeed himself.

The bill will be presented by Jim Ellis.

According to Larry McElroy, president pro tem of the Di, "proponents of the bill are expected to point to the Governor's weakened position during his last two years in office and to contend that the one-term limit deprives North Carolina of the opportunity to develop and train state and national leaders."

Concerning the opponents of the bill, McElroy said that they "might argue, as Jefferson did, that re-election is only one step from life tenure, and life tenure is only one step from hereditary rule."

Live With God, Says Author Mrs. Marshall

"Life with God is a daring adventure in faith—try it—and you'll get the greatest thrill of your life."

This was the advice Mrs. Peter Marshall, author of the best-selling A Man Called Peter, biography of her late husband who was chaplain of the Senate, gave to an audience of students and townspeople in Hill Hall last night.

Mrs. Marshall arrived in Chapel Hill yesterday morning for a visit on the campus sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association, which is observing the world celebration of the YWCA's 100th anniversary.

The celebrated speaker, introduced by Mrs. William Friday, chairman of the YWCA and YMCA Advisory Board, spoke on "Nothing Can Defeat You." A reception in her honor was held in Graham Memorial following the address. A dinner in her honor was given by the YWCA prior to the program.

"Twenty years ago any talk directed to college or university students usually took the line about (See MARSHALL, page 4)

PROCEEDS TO WORLD UNIVERSITY SERVICE:

Campus Chest Drive Starts Today

Once again the Campus Chest Drive is about to get under way, but this year it has a new twist. In the past, the money donated

From Campus Chest To Indonesia

Djakarta students attend a lecture at the University of Indonesia. Expansion of the University in postwar period has resulted in severely crowded classrooms and a shortage of study materials. World University Service donations will go partly to alleviate conditions there, UNC students will give to WUS through Campus Chest today.

by students has been distributed among many charitable organizations. This year, the bulk of the proceeds will go specifically to a student welfare organization, the World University Service.

The WUS, according to Graham Rights, who is chairman of the drive, is an agency for inter-collegiate aid throughout the world. Students and faculty from all over contribute to the fund and then draw from it according to need.

Last year, the WUS spent nearly half a million dollars to help displaced students, to buy foods and books for students in poverty-ridden areas, for emergency relief in disaster areas like Korea and other reasons.

Seventy percent of the proceeds of this year's Campus Chest will go to this agency.

20 percent of the money will stay right here on campus to help the exchange program with Goettingen University get under way. This part of the fund will benefit this campus directly.

The remaining 10 percent will be given to the Chapel Hill Community Chest for disbursement at their discretion.

The drive will last from March 14 through March 21. Door to door solicitations will begin on Tuesday, March 15.

Competition will be carried on among men's dormitories, women's dormitories, fraternities, and sororities to see which member of each obtains the highest percentage of students donating to the drive. Solicitors have been appointed in all dormitories, fraternities and sororities. These solicitors will meet at 5:00 today in Gerrard Hall to make final plans for the drive.

Committee Chairmen for the drive are Bobbie Walker, in charge of Solicitation, and Joan Leonard, in charge of Education and Publicity.

Herbert Fred To Conduct Band In Tuesday Series Next Week

The UNC Concert Band, under the direction of Assistant Conductor Herbert W. Fred, will present a concert in Hill Hall next Tuesday at 8 p.m., as a program in the regular Tuesday Evening Musical Series.

Included on the program will be a selection written by Conductor Fred, as well as his arrangement of another work.

Prof. Earl Slocum, UNC band and orchestra director has arranged Frescobaldi's "Toccata," which the band will play. Fred is the composer of "Sea Shanty" and has arranged an excerpt from "Hary Janos Suite," by Kodaly. Other selections on the program include "Barnum and Bailey's Favorite," by K. L. King; "Mannin Veen," by Haydn Wood and "Psalm for Band," by Persichetti, all written for concert band; and band arrangements of the following:

"Pictures at an Exhibition," Moussorgsky; "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks," Strauss; "Italian Polka," Rachmaninoff; Intermezzo from "The Jewels of the Madonna," Wolf-Ferrari; and Anderson's "The Typewriter."

Fred is a graduate student in musicology who came to the University from Ball State Teachers College in Muncie, Ind., where he was director of bands and teacher of theory. He has also taught at Evanston, Ill., and was visiting professor of music at the University of Missouri for two summers.

His band compositions and arrangements have been published by several Chicago and New York musical publishing houses.

Fred has been guest conductor at the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich.; Mid-West Band Clinic, and University of Missouri Clinic.