Famed Author-Poet Robert Frost Delivers Lecture-Recital Tonight

Robert Frost, celebrated American Poet, philosopher and humorist, will give a public lecture-recital in Hill Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

The speaker's visit will be sponsored by the English Department, according to Dr. Raymond Adams, acting chairman of the department.

The lecture-recital will feature readings from Frost's poetry and comments upon literature and various other subjects.

Frost, who has won the Pulitzer Prize for poetry several times, will be the guest of his long-time friend, Dr. Clifford P.

Lyons of the English faculty, while here.

POET ROBERT FROST
... an annual affair

The 80-year-old poet is well known to Chapel Hill audiences, having spoken here a number of times in the past.

A native of San Francisco, Frost grew up in New England where he attended Dartmouth and Harvard Universities. His career has been widely varied. He farmed, taught English, worked as a newspaperman, and although he wrote poetry, none of it was printed until he moved to England in 1912.

His first volume, A Boy's Will, was published and warmly praised in England. A year later he wrote the now famous North of Boston.

Members Of Orientation Committee Are Chosen

The names of the Orientation Committee for the year 1955-1956 were released yesterday by Burt Veazey, chairman of the Men's Orientation Committee.

The following have been named:

Educator Yen Set To Speak In Carroll Hall

Dr. Y. C. Yen, founder and president of the International Committee of the Mass Education Movement, will speak before several groups here today and Thursday.

Dr. Yen will deliver a public address in Carroll Hall at 8 p.m. tonight, under sponsorship of the School of Public Health. A reception in the faculty seminar room in Carroll Hall will follow, honoring the speaker, his wife and their daughter, Miss Alice Yen, who is a graduate student in public health education here.

At noon today, Dr. Yen will address the 10th Annual Working Conference for alumni and students in the Health Education Department of the School of Public Health. Dr. Yen's talk will conclude the three-day conference which will attract health educators from many states and Puerto Rico.

Dr. Yen, a native of Szechuan, China, is the founder of the Chinese Mass Education Movement, which centered around regional rural reconstruction cities in China. He established the College of Rural Reconstruction in China to train men and women in economic and social reconstruction, and enlisted the support of the U. S. Congress and American friends in founding the Joint Commission of Rural Reconstruction, of which he is administrator.

Both Y's Slate Leader Meets March 25-26

The YMCA and YWCA will hold a joint spring leadership conference on March 25 and 26.

Rev. Vance Barron of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian Church will speak the first day of the conference on the theme of a Christian's view of the world situation and his involvement in it. Small discussion groups will be held on that theme also March 25.

Presentation of the report of the Program Policy Committee will be made on the second conference day. Discussion of the report will follow the presentation. A picnic will follow these activities.

Netherlands Interview

A University library science major from The Netherlands will be interviewed on WUNC-TV tonight.

Miss Arendine Kimmel, president of the UNC Cosmopolitan Club for the spring semester, will talk on "Cosmopolitan Interview." Program time is set for 7:45.

Forester Quits GM To Aid Don Fowler

Gordon Forester has been appointed as campaign manager for Don Fowler, independent candidate for post of student body president, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Forester, who is president of the Graham Memorial Activities Board, said in a statement yesterday, "I am turning over my duties in Graham Memorial to the vice-president of GMAB (David Reid) for the duration of the campaign. He will be in charge of all programming activities for Graham Memorial," added Forester.

"I am very pleased that Don Fowler has asked me to manage his campaign for president of the student body," said Forester. "I am assisting Don in his campaign because I sincerely believe that he is the most capable candidate available. His experience in all three branches of student government, and his academic record make him well qualified for the presidency of the student body," said Forester.

Deadline

The Daily Tar Heel will continue its 3:30 p.m. deadline for all outside news, editors announced yesterday.

The deadline covers all stories, including political statements.

Editors said they could not promise any story's getting in after the deadline.

Frats Set Stunts Tonight

"Stunt night is going to be big and we want everybody to come," said Jack Stevens, co-chairman of Greek Week, yesterday.

Activities begin at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall, said Stevens. "We are expecting a lot of originality and we want a large crowd," he added. The winner of the trophy will be announced tonight and the cup will be awarded at the dinner Friday night at Lenoir Hall.

A survey of fraternities yesterday showed some hard at work on stunts and skits. The theme of the Chi Phi skit is "not having a theme," according to Jack Weil. "The scene is a meeting to discuss what we're going to have and everything brought up is censored," he explained.

The KAs are planning a pantomime, "So This Is Fraternity Life" and the Dekes are putting on a mystery program.

The Sig Eps are satirizing the movie "The Wild One" and the TEPs are doing the same for the Oscar awards for movies.

The Zetes were reluctant to give out any information about their skit. After much hemming and hawing, a spokesman for the pledge class said the skit had something to do with a Sunday afternoon on campus.

McCurry Wants Cut Changes

Ed McCurry, University Party presidential candidate agrees with Dean Spruill that the problem of the cut system is a "mutual one," according to a statement issued yesterday.

Spruill said that "we should work together to get a system both human and effective." McCurry, in agreeing, according to the statement, expressed his opposition to the current setup and made known his desire for a more flexible policy.

McCurry also commented on the fact that the Business Administration School requires an overall B average for dean's list. According to the statement, he favors the same procedure in the other branches of the University as a substitute for the prevailing practice of requiring all dean's list students to have grades of B or above.

"I think any person with an overall B average has shown his acceptance of academic responsibility and should be entitled to the privileges granted by being on the dean's list," said McCurry.

"It is unfair to unnecessarily tax those who have proven themselves competent students," he added.

According to the statement, McCurry noted that Phi Beta Kappa uses an overall, instead of letter, grade average, in selecting its membership, and that an overall average is used in determining the eligibility of students to participate in extra-curricular activities.

Stevens UP Veep Nominee; Cocke Secretary Candidate

Blue And White Competition To Continue Through Today

The contest being sponsored by the Monogram Club to pick a coed queen to rule over the Blue-White football game will continue through today, according to Wilbur Jones, president.

Jones said the contest is being extended "because we had planned to have it out in Y-Court, but because of the threat of rain we had to have it inside. We feel like it has not reached the attention of enough people."

Jones said the contest will be carried on in Y court today if weather permits. He said voting hours will be from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

"We hope the students will turn out and support not only the Blue-White football game, but also the Monogram Club's scholarship fund to which the proceeds of the contest will go," said the Monogram Club president yesterday.

The contest is being conducted on a penny-a-vote basis, with the coed receiving most money being named Miss Blue and White. There are 13 girls entered in the contest, one from each women's dormitory and sorority house. The other 12 girls will serve as sponsors for each of the two squads of the football team on game day. A picture of each contestant is posted in Y-Court.

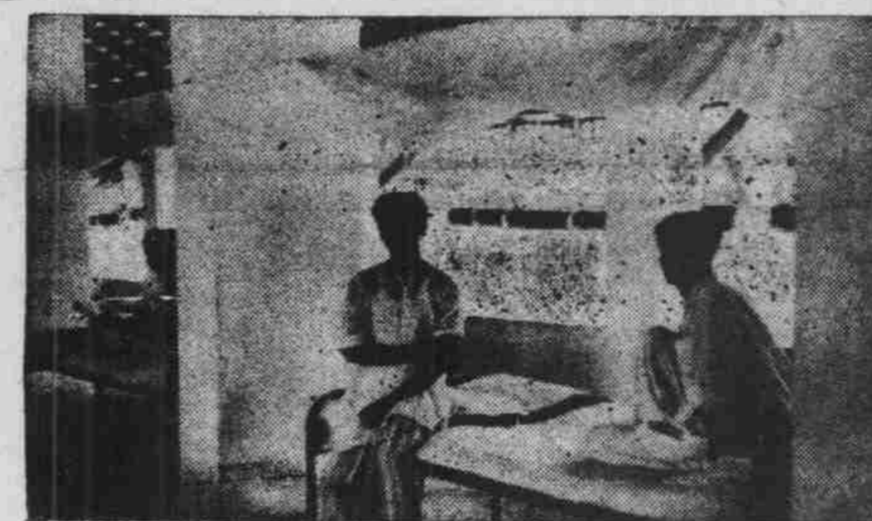

The game will be played next Saturday. Jones said the winner of the contest will be announced before the day of the game.

Ridgway Coming Back

Gen. Matthew Ridgway is coming to the Carolina campus after all, according to Carolina Forum Vice-Chairman Bob Young.

The general is scheduled to speak here Monday, March 28. He will speak in Hill Hall at 8:30, according to Young.

General Ridgway's speech was previously slated for Feb. 24, but bad weather kept his airplane from landing.

World University Service Helps India

Chest Drive Underway

Solicitors for the 1955 Campus Chest drive met yesterday to hear plans for the rally from Solicitation Chairman Miss Bobbie Walker.

The campaign will only run from last night through Saturday morning. An attempt will be made to conduct a "fast and furious campaign instead of letting it drag on," said Miss Walker.

Large cardboard sheets will be posted in the Y Court listing the names of men's and women's dormitories, fraternities and sororities, each group in a different color. As money is turned in each morning by 10 o'clock, results will be recorded in percentage on the cardboard graphs.

It has been arranged for the solicitors living on second and third dormitory floors to turn in their money to the first floor solicitors, who, in turn, will make his report to the YMCA secretary, said Miss Walker.

When a Campus Chest worker solicits an individual, he will have a handbill of drive information, a leaflet about the World University Service and a receipt card. One half of the card will be turned in with the money each day, and the other half will be given to the donor, said Miss Walker.

CHEERLEADER SELECTION BOARD

The Bipartisan Board for cheerleader selection will meet tomorrow from 4 until 6 p.m. in the Honor Council Room in Graham Memorial to pick candidates to run in the spring election.

Floorleader Stevens Picked Over Monteith

By NEIL BASS

The University Party last night named Jack Stevens as its candidate for vice president of the student body.

Stevens, floor leader of the party, was selected over Jim Monteith by a 37-29 majority.

In other selections of the night, Miss Jane Cocke, UP secretary, was given the nod as candidate for secretary of the student body. Miss Cocke was selected over Barbara Fleishman by an overwhelming majority.

Before the party got into nominations, Raymond M. Taylor, campaign manager for Ed McCurry, UP candidate for the presidency of the student body, told the group, "I'm going to give you the text tonight and I want you to go out and preach the gospel." Taylor then defined what he meant by the "gospel" by saying that they (the UP) ought to go out and tell the students about McCurry's "eminent" qualifications.

In placing Steven's name into the race, Rollie Tillman said, "I couldn't sleep too well if I knew the party had compromised electability" for Jack Stevens' "ability."

Rueben Leonard, nominator of Monteith, called him "responsible." Leonard went on to say that "the men in dorms would vote like mad if we elect Monteith."

In describing Monteith's capability, Jim Exum, campaign coordinator of the party, brought out the fact that Monteith beat Jim Turner of the Student Party for a seat in the fall elections. Exum concluded "Any man who can beat Turner in political intrigue" is capable.

Luanne Thornton lauded Stevens by hitting on his "experience."

After numerous other speakers poured to the front of the room, time rolled around for the ballot casting. Then the tabulation was announced—a victory for Stevens. Scheduled nominations in dorm women's district were postponed.

Candidates were selected, however, in three of the town men's districts.

Nominated for seats in town men's I were Charlie Johnson, Mebane Pritchett and Charlie Covell.

Named candidates in town men's II were Bill Morgan and Luther Hodges.

Chosen from town men's III were Mike Weinman, Bob Hornik and Bill Elder.

Bathhouse Scheduled For Kerr

There are no structures on the 400 acres of land at the Kerr Dam and Buggs Island Reservoir in Vance County which has been assigned to UNC for a 25-year period, but long range plans call for a bathhouse, open pavilion and other buildings, according to Dr. Harold D. Meyer.

Dr. Meyer, professor of sociology here, is head of the six man committee which is guiding the project's development.

Located 71 miles from Chapel Hill, on the west side of John H. Kerr Reservoir northeast of Townsville, the land is to be developed by and for University students, faculty, administration and residents of Chapel Hill.

CLEANUP

"Immediate attention will be given," said Dr. Meyer, "to such needs as clearing out the area, providing water and electric power, improving roadways and developing the picnic and swimming areas."

"No state funds are involved in the development of the area," he said. "Financing of facilities and program is under informal and voluntary procedure. All rules and regulations governing the use and discipline of the area follow those now in force on the University campus," Dr. Meyer added.

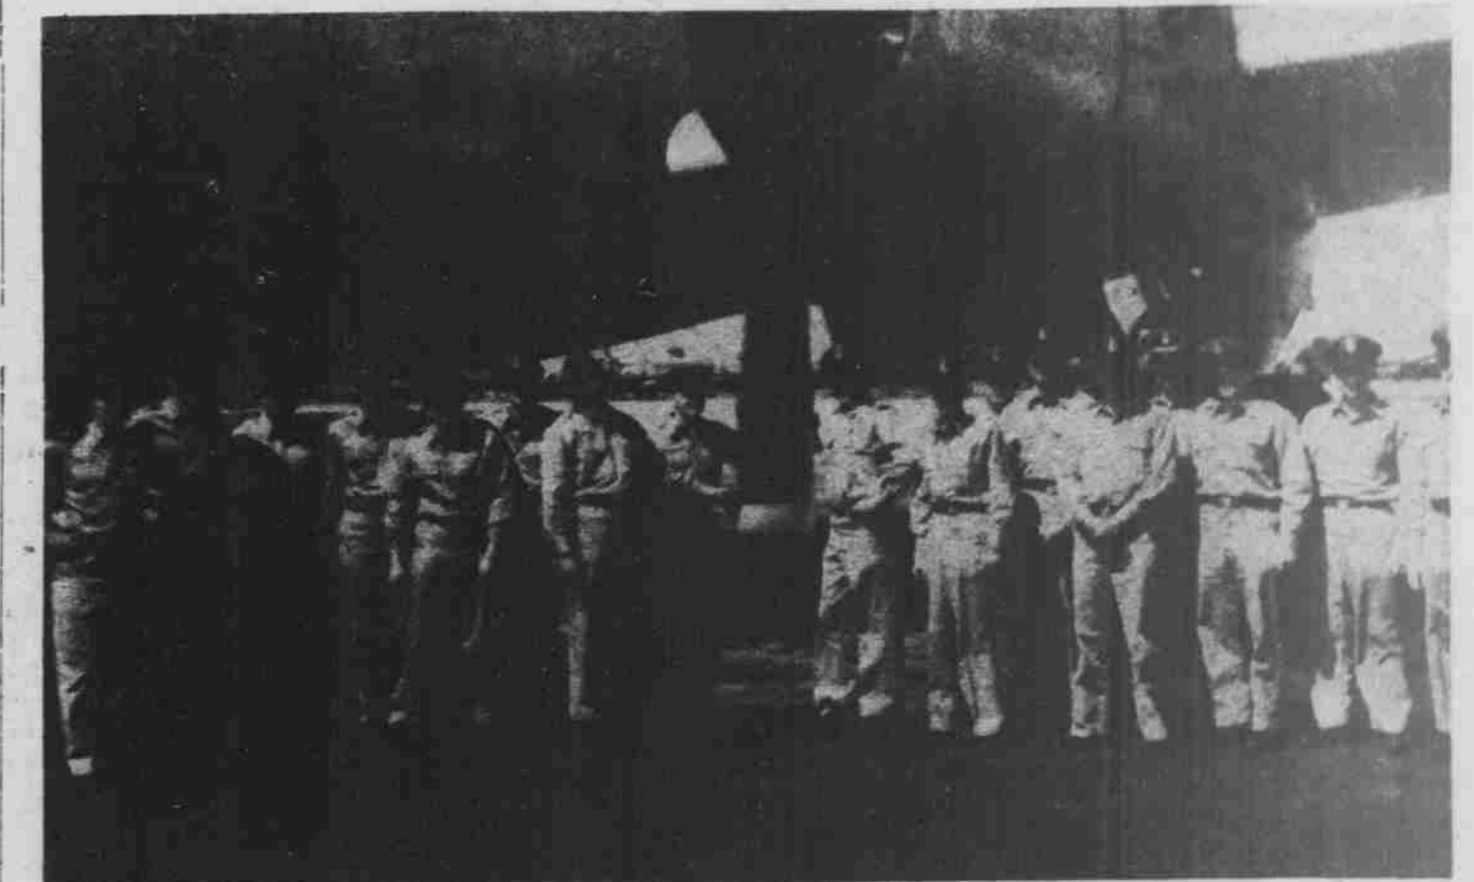

Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity has announced plans to devote time and labor during the spring months to the physical cleanup needed to put the area in suitable shape, according to Dr. Meyer.

The acreage was secured by lease from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. The Corps has the supervisory responsibility of the entire Kerr Dam Reservoir.

Putnam Prize Winner Visits UNC

Amos Paul, second from left, UNC Extension student from Rocky Mount who recently was named winner of the annual Putnam Prize for writing, is shown here during a visit to Chapel Hill. Paul discussed revisions of his book with Dr. E. R. Oettinger of the UNC English faculty, with whom Paul is now studying the short story by correspondence. The Putnam Prize, a special gift of $500, was given for Paul's historical novel, Outback. Shown left to right are Miss Jessie Rehder, English lecturer and director of the annual Putnam contest; Paul; Mrs. P. Paul, and Dr. Oettinger.

Air Force ROTC Men Fly To Palm Beach

Cadets, Officers Inspect Florida Air Force Base

Thirty-one Air Force ROTC cadets and five USAF officers who are instructors in air science flew to Palm Beach, Fla., recently.

The group flew down in an Air Force C-54 motor-cargo type plane. Purpose of the trip was inspection and orientation at the Palm Beach Air Force Base.

As guests of the base commander, the cadets underwent the monthly review last Saturday morning. Following was a full tour of training installations at the base, with briefings on such activities as flight simulators, radio and automatic pilot school. In the afternoon cadets were shown through such planes as the C-97 and the C-124. The cadets also visited the base weather station and the base operations office.

The cadets were to return on Sunday but due to inclement weather flights were prevented until Monday.
