UP Gains Control Of Legislature Over SP, 29 To 21

Student Party Loses Six Offices And Its Majority

By NEIL BASS

A sweeping wave of University Party support completely reversed the tables in the student Legislature after yesterday's balloting was completed to give the UP a 29-21 majority.

The Student Party had the most representatives during the last session to the tune of 28-22.

It was University Party all the way during the course of last night's tabulating as a number of the SP candidates bit the dust in the early stages of the vote return announcements.

The final calculations were not released until 2:00 a.m. today but after returns were posted the first couple of times, there was little doubt SP legislative control had gone down the drain.

The UP only needed to grab four of the seats that were held down by SP legislators during the last term to have a majority, but they rallied to take seven instead.

The successful candidates, listed by districts, are as follows:

Dorm Men's I,
Ted Kemp and Al Laughinghouse, both SP;
Dorm Men's II,
Jim Holmes (SP) and Will Conn (UP);

Dorm Men's III,
Jerry Martin (UP) and Andy Milnor (SP);
Dorm Men's IV,
Vade Rhodes, Tom Lambeth, Bennie Craven and Harley Gilleland, all SP;
Dorm Men's V,
John Zollicoffer (UP) and Larry McElroy (SP).

In dorm men's districts the SP registered a net loss of three seats to the UP.

In town men's districts the University Party kept its stronghold intact, while the SP was losing two important seats.

The winners by districts are:
Town Men's I,
Mebane Pritchett, Charlie Johnson and Charlie Covell, all UP;
Town Men's II,
Bill Morgan and Luther Horgess Jr. both UP although the SP gave its sanction to Hodges also and endorsed him;

Town Men's III,
Bob Hornik, Bill Elder, and Mike Weinman, all UP.

The race in dorm women's district resulted in the net loss of one legislative seat for the SP. This was taken by Anne Wrenn (UP). The two SP candidates who were victorious were Susan Fink and Donna Ashcraft.

The final race involved a hands-down victory for the two candidates in town women's district who ran without opposition. These were Kit Malloy (UP) and Jackie Wilkens, doubly endorsed.

The race began to show a decisive trend in the early stages of the ballot tabulating, and a cast-out flock of SP candidates could never get their feet back on solid ground after the first returns were announced.

According to UP Chairman Charles Yarbrough, this is the first time that his party has had an edge in the Legislature in "several years." Yarbrough expressed an "overall" happiness about the outcome of the elections.

Kraar & Yoder Win Unopposed

Ed Yoder and Louis Kraar, running jointly for editorship of The Daily Tar Heel, won without opposition last night.

Kraar, junior from Charlotte, and Yoder, junior from Mebane, had no opposition since March 16, when Independent David Mundy withdrew from the editorship race.

Yoder and Kraar were jointly endorsed by the Student Party and the University Party.

The two thanked supporters and promised a "fair, impartial and stimulating" newspaper. They will take over as co-editors next Monday.

Said Kraar and Yoder last night: "We would like to thank all the students who have taken time to discuss the paper with us during the past few weeks. As editors, we plan to continue staying in touch with their views and opinions."

"Our office door is always open and so are our minds. As we promised in the beginning, The Daily Tar Heel will continue to be fair, impartial and stimulating. We are humbled at this opportunity to continue the fine work of Charles Kuralt."

Both Kraar and Yoder have worked on The Daily Tar Heel since their freshman years. Kraar is presently an associate editor and columnist; Yoder is an associate editor and editorial and special writer.

ELECTION COLOR:

Photos Do It?

By LOUIS KRAAR

The smiling big photos of Don Fowler, independent presidential candidate, might have done the trick.

That was the word that floated about with the smoke in the ballot-filled Roland Parker Lounges of Graham Memorial last night. Graham Rights of the Elections Board said the Fowler photos, under the present law, won't be counted in his expense account.

Increase Budget

RALEIGH, March 29. (UP)—The Joint Appropriations subcommittee today voted to increase the appropriation to Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill by almost $423,000 for the next biennium.

All Four Changes Approved

All four constitutional amendments were passed by the student body in election yesterday.

Final results this morning showed the Student Council amendment passed 2,467 to 354; the nurses' amendment went through 2,302 to 528; Interdormitory Council bill passed 2,166 to 577, and the Attorney General amendment passed 1,947 to 919.

The Student Council amendment will change the student Constitution so the judiciary body "will be composed of students who are suitably qualified and experienced to serve on a court that hears appeals from all the lower courts."

The nurses' amendment will add one student nurse to the staff of the Women's Honor Council.

The Interdormitory Council gives the IDC the power to make rules enforcing conduct of men in dorms, represent dorm social activities and provide for "continuation and operation of the Council and Court during summer school."

The amendment dealing with the Attorney General of student government will give him power to "investigate, gather evidence against and prosecute any and all offenders" of the student Constitution.

Others Not Named Due To Mixup In Counting Ballots

By FRED POWLEDGE

Independent candidate Don Fowler and University Party candidate Ed McCurry won out in elections for student body president yesterday.

Students will pick their president from the two in runoff elections next Tuesday. McCurry and Fowler won over Student Party candidate Manning Muntzing.

The vote for the three was 1,360 for Fowler, 1,194 for McCurry and 674 for Muntzing.

Approximately 3,300 students voted. Decision came early this morning. The Elections Board did not complete work on several other campus offices, due to a mixup of ballots from the Scuttlebutt. Final counting is expected to be announced sometime today. Final results will appear in tomorrow's Daily Tar Heel.

Joan Palmer (SP) was named as certain choice for secretary, although the choice was not official.

Jim Martin (UP) was unofficially named treasurer.

Ed Sutton (SP) was unofficially chosen Carolina Athletic Assn. vice-president, but president (either Jim Beatty, UP, or Roland Perdue, SP) was not named.

BULLETIN — Official count shows Jack Stevens (UP) elected vice-president over Bob Harrington (SP) by 131 votes. "Collie" Collision and "Pep-per" Tice will runoff for head cheerleader.

The mixup prevented Men's and Women's Honor Councils and the Student Council from being chosen by press time at 4 a.m.

Ballot counting droned on past 3 a.m. today as Elections Board officials attempted to straighten out the Scuttlebutt mixup. Officials did not know the cause of the trouble.

AZALEAS SUFFER FROM COLD

By The Associated Press
The current cold snap was no respecter of azaleas and other spring blossoms that are a major tourist attraction in coastal sections of the Carolinas.

Wilmington and Charleston reported that almost all the plants that were in full bloom suffered severe damage. If the weather turns warmer, as predicted, there should be enough bursting buds to make a pretty showing within a few days.
