Kuralt's Last Paper

With this issue of The Daily Tar Heel, Charles Kuralt winds up his year-long career as editor of the student newspaper.

Kuralt joined the newspaper's staff in September of 1953 and became editor eight months later. He will leave Chapel Hill this June.

Kuralt's editorial page during the past school year featured liberal views on the question of segregation and an attack on Business Administration School policy.

With Tuesday's issue of The Daily Tar Heel, Co-editors Ed Yoder and Louis Kraar will take over. Kraar and Yoder were elected without opposition in last Tuesday's election.

Douglas Scheduled Tuesday

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas will speak at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall Tuesday.

The address will be a part of the regularly scheduled agenda of the Carolina Forum.

Douglas, appointed to the bench during the Roosevelt administration in 1939, is a well-known world traveler and author of several books.

Born in Maine, Minn., the 57-year-old justice received his L.L.B. degree from Columbia Law School in New York in 1925. He has held numerous governmental positions and is the holder of honorary degrees from eight American schools and universities.

In 1918, Douglas, whose fraternities include Phi Alpha Delta, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Beta Kappa, served as a private in the United States Army.

Books by the justice include Democracy and Finance, Being An American, North From Malaya and Beyond the High Himalayas.

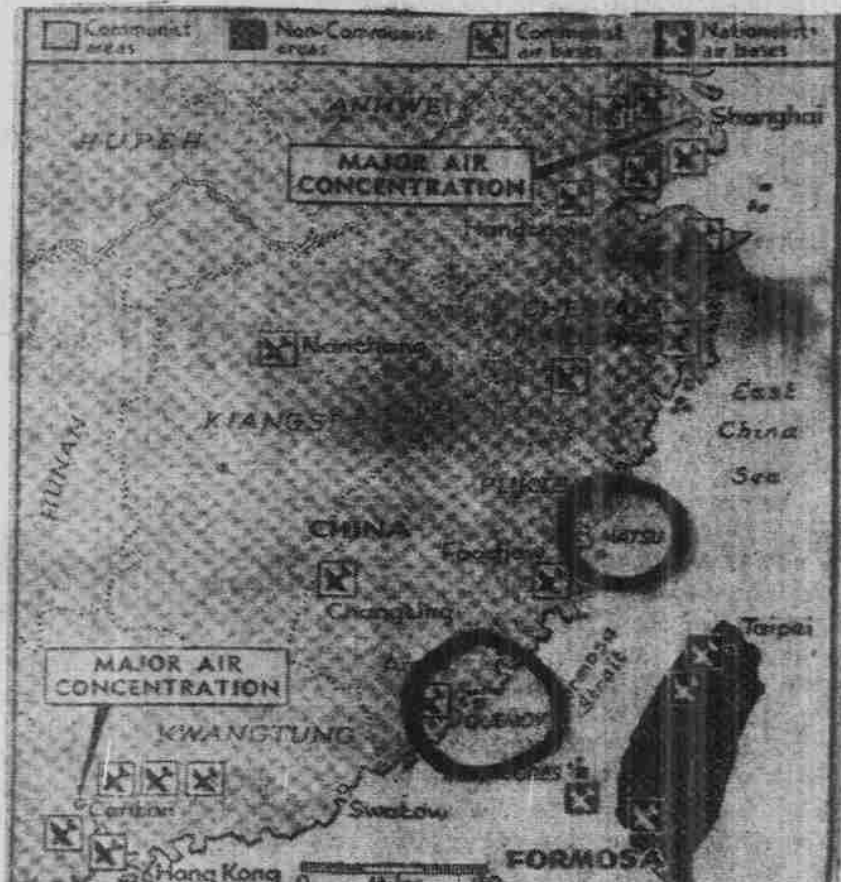

As a guest of The Carolina Forum, Justice Douglas will be met by Forum officials at the Raleigh-Durham Airport Tuesday afternoon.

A banquet will be held in honor of the justice immediately preceding the address and a reception in Graham Memorial immediately following the speech.

The Forum, a non-partisan student agency designed to bring speakers of state, national and world importance to the campus, is chaired by Joel Fleishman.

HUMPHREY'S TALK TERMED:

'Major Policy Speech'

By LOUIS KRAAR

Should the United States defend Formosa offshore islands from attack by Communist China?

When Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) spoke here Friday night, he took one side of this verbal civil war that is being waged in Washington. In that sense the Senator's speech has been called a "major policy speech" by many observers here in Chapel Hill.

Regarding the defense of the offshore island, Sen. Humphrey de-

Humphrey's Proposal Is Denounced

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) denounced today a Chapel Hill, N.C. proposal by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) that the United States support India as a replacement for Nationalist China on the United Nations Security Council.

Noting Prime Minister Nehru's assertion that India would not join in if all the rest of the world were fighting, Knowland said in an interview he doesn't believe India deserves the "support of collective security." U. N. members, he said, are pledged to oppose aggression.

Humphrey made his proposal last night in which he accused the Eisenhower administration of "fumbling and faltering" at a time when "the issue of peace and war is the balance" in the Far East.

Support of India, he said, would show this country's interest in Asia. He added that "the Nationalist China of today is weak and not representative of the new Asia."

Humphrey said that the use of atomic weapons to defend the Quemoy and Matsu Islands might alienate all Asia, and added:

"It would be nothing short of tragic if a decision to defend the offshore islands should lead to a complete break between ourselves and the free Asian nations."

He added that since Fowler is an independent candidate, "He does not have the advantage of the $120 allotted to political parties, and, even if he did, since he is a self-help student, it would be difficult to raise the money necessary."

According to the elections laws, each party is allowed $100, with another $20 added if a runoff election occurs.

"Don is continuing in his efforts to contact every student on this campus in order to give everyone a chance to discuss the problems of student government," said (See FOWLER, page 3)

Forester Says Fowler 'Hampered' In Runoff

"Don Fowler is hampered in this runoff election because, under the election law, he only has $5 left for campaign expenditures," said the independent presidential candidate's campaign manager, Gordon Forester, yesterday.

Forester said the amount is not adequate to present Fowler's "qualifications and ideas to the campus at large."

"This is a definite hindrance, especially since his opponent has approximately $60 of party campaign allotment remaining," said Fowler's campaign manager.

He added that since Fowler is

Homesley For 'Collie' For Cheerleader Post

T. C. Homesley, the losing candidate for the post of head cheerleader in last Tuesday's election, announced yesterday he is now supporting candidate Collie Collison for the post.

"I feel that he is the better man for the job and will make the best head cheerleader," said Homesley in his statement. "I would appreciate it if all of my friends would swing their support to Collison. I like his ideas and his plans," he added.

Homesley also said he wanted to thank the students who supported him by a write-in vote in Tuesday's election and those who helped campaign and solicited votes for him.

Electronic Abstractions On Exhibit

An exhibition of a new kind of abstract art, by Ben Laposky, Cherokee, Iowa, opened Friday at Person Hall Art Gallery and will continue through April 17. The exhibit consists of 50 photographs of design compositions formed by electrical wave forms, produced in a cathode-ray oscilloscope. The oscilloscope is an instrument which may be compared to a TV receiver. Title of the exhibit is "Electronic Abstractions by Ben F. Laposky." The picture above is copyrighted by Laposky.

Plans Underway For '55 UNC Conference

Plans are underway for the 1955 All-Campus Conference to be held here this spring.

Co-chairmen of the group, Miss Sue Fink and Bev Webb, are busy preparing groundwork for the conference.

The idea for the conference was born last year, when Ken Penegar, campus "elder statesman," suggested the idea to student body President Bob Gorham.

The idea was accepted, and Penegar organized the conference, aided by a commission consisting of Ed Cross, Gene Cook, Henry Lowet, Charlie Wolf and Phil Horton. Dean of Student Affairs Fred Weaver gave the keynote speech in it he outlined the present policy of the University. Weaver discussed curricular and extra-curricular activities and their place on the University campus.

Participating in the conference were representatives from the student body, faculty and administration. Delegates met and discussed some of the University's most basic problems.

Most of the discussions at last year's conference centered around (See CONFERENCE, page 4.)

4 From Carolina Win Grants From Fulbright Program

Four University of North Carolina students—one senior, one law student and two Ph.D. candidates—have been selected for Fulbright Scholarships for graduate study abroad during 1955-56, Dr. Sturgis E. Leavitt, campus Fulbright Program adviser, announced yesterday.

Miss Velma Bourgeois, Baton Rouge, La., and Julian E. White Jr., Richmond, Va., are the two doctoral candidates, working in English Renaissance literature and French, respectively.

Thomas E. Wilgus, Washington, D. C., a senior majoring in Latin, and Peter G. Kalogridis, Winter Haven, Fla., senior law student, are the other two recipients of the grants, which are among approximately 1,000 given for the year under the U. S. Educational Exchange Program.

Both White and Wilgus will continue their language studies at the University of Paris, while the other two recipients will study in England; Miss Bourgeois at St. Hugh's College, University of Oxford; and Kalogridis at Kings College, University of London. All four will begin their studies next fall.

Selection of Fulbright scholars was made by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, after recommendation by the campus Fulbright committee and the Institute of International Education.

Another UNC graduate, Barton Milligan, Vale, began his Fulbright grant studies in February at University of Sydney, Australia, in the field of organic chemistry. A native of New Jersey, Milligan was working toward a Master's degree in chemistry while at Chapel Hill.

Miss Bourgeois came to UNC in the fall of 1953, after one year's work on her doctorate at Johns Hopkins University. She holds two degrees in English literature from Louisiana State University; an A.B., magna cum laude, and an M.A.

She held the President's Scholarship at Johns Hopkins, and has been teaching assistant both at LSU and at UNC. After completion of her doctorate, Miss Bourgeois hopes to teach on the college level.

Wilgus, who will receive his A.B. this summer, will study European comparative linguistics, in which he hopes ultimately to get his doctorate. He plans to return to Chapel Hill or to another American institution for advanced studies after his Fulbright term is completed.

A teaching fellow and part-time instructor since coming to UNC, White holds an A.B. in ancient and modern languages from Randolph Macon College, Ashland, Va., and an M.A. in French and Spanish from the University here.

White completed one year's work on his Master's at the University of Virginia, studying under a Du Pont Junior Fellowship. He possesses reading knowledge of nine foreign languages and speaks fluently French and Spanish.

The fourth recipient, Kalogridis, who will receive his J.D. degree in June, will concentrate on English common law, legal theory and Napoleonic code while at University of London.

After graduation from Davidson College with a B.S. in English constitutional history, Kalogridis began his UNC law studies under a Morehead Scholarship. He is editor-in-chief of the N. C. Law Review, has been vice-president of his law class two terms, and has served in the Law School Legislature.

Bar-Illan Will Return For Concert Tuesday

David Bar-Illan, Israeli, will make his second Chapel Hill appearance Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Hill Hall.

Since his concert in the fall Petites Musicales series last November, Bar-Illan has made his New York debut recital at Carnegie Hall. He performed there in December.

Bar-Illan has a background that includes winning the highest awards given by the Juilliard Conservatory and the Mannes College of Music. In June, 1953, he was the recipient of the Coronation Year medal awarded during the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II of England. That was the first time the medal has been given to pianist who was not a citizen of the Commonwealth.

Manager Taylor

Campaign Manager Raymond M. Taylor, who is helping University Party candidate Ed McCurry, checked his man's progress election night. It was 10:30 p.m., and ballot counters were in the middle of a hard night's work.—Kuralt photo.

Fowler's Managers

Don Fowler's managers, Gordon Forester and Dave Reid, phoned in returns to their candidate election night at 11:15 p.m. Fowler and McCurry will vie for student body president in runoff elections Tuesday night. Fowler, former Student Party leader, is running independently.—Kuralt photo.

Ridgway Spoke Here

General Matthew Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff, spoke here under the sponsorship of the Carolina Forum. The General emphasized the need for cooperation between military and governmental agencies. "The military man is an advisor and an executor," he said, "not a formulator, not an advocate, with regard to the basic national policies determined by the civilian authorities of the government." Shown with General Ridgway are Bob Young (left), Forum vice-president, and Forum President Joel Fleishman.—Henley photo.

Counting Ballots

Volunteer vote-counter Miss Alix Thacker, aided by frequent Cokes and cigarets, helped determine winners in last Tuesday's election. Over 3,300 votes poured in to Graham Memorial for tabulation. Counters started their work around 8 p.m., and results were known at 4 a.m. Wednesday morning.—Kuralt photo.

'Can't Come In'

Elections Board Chairman Miss Patsy Daniels settled many disputes election night. Above, managers had been barred from the ballot-counting room, and Miss Daniels listened to their plea to be admitted. Despite the skeptical look, she relented. It was 9:40 p.m.—Kuralt photo.

'Aw, Come On...'

Head Cheerleader candidate "Pepper" Tice wanted to get in the ballot-counting room. But Elections Board Chairman Daniels wouldn't let him in.
