Judge Says Students Received Fair Trials

By DELAINE BRADSHAW

In answer to a question as to whether the opinion floating around campus that the four boys convicted of taking part in the patty raid received an unfair trial, Judge William S. Stewart said yesterday, "I had not heard of that opinion and I dissent on it."

Judge Stewart, who is the son-in-law of Chancellor Robert House, said the boys who asked for a jury trial and those who appealed would have to appear at the June 20 session of Orange County Superior Court.

Gordon Forester, student who has investigated the patty raid case, said yesterday, "According to several student government leaders with whom I have talked, the decision to have the nine students tried in Recorder's Court was not agreed to in the meeting called by Dean Roy Holsten."

Forester is a member of the Men's Honor Council, former president of the Graham Memorial Activities Board and recently initiated into the Order of the Grail.

Forester said "Manning Muntzing, also present, stated that he was against the decision which the student government was called on to agree to."

"Dean Holsten has stated that South Building has no control over the civil authorities. I hope this is true, but I believe Chief Sloan when he says that he would not have prosecuted the boys in Recorder's Court had South Building not insisted on it."

Lewis Brumfield, who was present at the meeting, said, "When we were first presented with the possibility of having the boys tried by civil court we were all against it. Finally we acquiesced in the decision. I don't think it would have made any difference what student government officials thought."

CENTENNIAL CONVENTION:

Five From UNC Attend Y Meet

By AMY COOKE

Five delegates from UNC's YWCA recently attended part of the National YWCA Centennial Convention in New York City.

The delegates were Misses Nancy Whisnant, Marietta Everett, Amy Cooke, Ann Jones and Mrs. Kirsten Milbrath. The UNC delegates were among the 60 student delegates and the 3,400 delegates from Community Ys, Y-Teens and the foreign, division attending.

Voting on policies of the YWCA for the next three years, hearing

Harold Stassen, Dr. Rollo May, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Dr. Paul Tillich and Dr. John C. Bennett (Union Theological Seminary) were among the highlights of the sessions which the UNC delegates attended.

One of the discussion groups which the delegates participated in gave several answers to the question of "What is the YWCA?" Some of these answers were a fellowship of Christian women, a community agency, a channel for women to understand themselves

Student Legislature Again Postpones Fee Raise Bill

Will Ask Parents To Aid Campaign

By NEIL BASS

The student Legislature voted last night to postpone the proposed fee-raise referendum for another week.

This is the second time the date for voting on a fee raise has been moved to a later date.

The Legislature decided the fate of two bills on an otherwise comparatively lax agenda.

The two measures voted on were: 1) A bill to appropriate $135 to the junior class for a "picnic," and 2) A bill to appropriate $450 to the All-Campus Conference.

The conference appropriation passed without opposition.

The appropriation for the junior class failed despite an appeal by class President Bill Sanders.

The reason the various representatives gave for rejecting the bill were that the Legislature, in Larry McElroy's words, "ain't got the money;" and secondly, it might pave the way for other "special legislation." Again in the words of McElroy, Student Party floor leader.

REFERENDUM — 'ADVERSE EFFECTS'

The referendum on student fees was scheduled to be held on May 3, but a motion by Bob Young (SP) called for the vote to be put off until May 10.

The reasons Young gave for shelving the referendum on the shelf temporarily again were: 1) The newly elected Elections Board chairman had not had time to "set up" the board for a referendum, and 2) The state Legislature will be discussing "a dormitory rent hike on the same day."

Young emphasized, and the Legislature endorsed, that while a "self-imposed" raise by the students might not be incentive for the state Legislature to raise dormitory rents, there might be some "adverse effects" if the student body passed the referendum at this time.

If the state Legislature passes the dormitory rent-hike proposal, it will cost dormitory residents $30 more to stay in University residences.

If the student body passes the and the world they live in, a place for leadership training for community affairs and pioneers in human relations.

Harold Stassen told the group that world peace through disarmament is one of the areas in which the YWCA can work in the years to come.

The convention took action on the basic standards of the YWCA and on a statement of inclusiveness which resolved that each YWCA evaluate its progress in racial inclusiveness.

fee-raise referendum on the 10th of May, the student Constitution will be opened for a $5 raise per student per year in student fees.

APPOINTMENTS APPROVED

Seven new presidential appointees to student government offices were given endorsement by the 19th assembly.

The appointments were announced yesterday by student body president Don Fowler. The various appointees are listed individually elsewhere on page one.

There were seven measures slated to be decided by the Legislature, but the Ways and Means Committee declined to present three of them to the body for consideration.

The reason Jim Exum, chairman, and the committee gave for not putting the bills and resolutions before the body was that they were "so abstract" the Legislature couldn't do anything about them anyway.

'Sound And Fury' Makes Hit; Large Audience Rises To Cheer

By HARRY BURLEY

Last night, a near-capacity crowd witnessed the finest student production seen in Chapel Hill in some time.

According to several old-timers, this show is the first in fifteen years or so that has been good enough to cause the audience to stand up and cheer.

At 8:20 an impatient audience was itching for a show, and they really got one. Right from the opening number, which was a singing and dancing extravaganza, the audience was electrically receptive.

The first scene was sparked by flapper-girl Stella, played by Miss Johnnie McClaran, who then walked away with the show. Miss McClaran is a natural, and her exuberant performance alone is well worth the price of admission.

One of the highlights of the first

The Sound and Fury production will be held again tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall. Tickets may be purchased for 50 cents at Y-Court, Kemp's, Town and Campus and the GM information desk.

act was a dynamic routine entitled "What Are We Laughing At?" This routine and also "Rivera," a number done by the entire cast, did much to offset a spotty but witty script, which was about ten inches too long.

The best number in act one, however, was done by Miss Bo Bernardin. This song and dance was a colorful bit of production called "One Man Ain't Quite Enough."

Lewis Brumfield's familiar and refreshing personality seeped from behind the bars of a train station ticket window. He provided good comic filler material.

The first act was rounded out by a cute number called "You've Got to be a Little Crazy."

The second act was even better than the first. Miss Frances Bennett did a particularly fine job as Miss Abercrombie, the head-

DI DEFEATS RESOLUTION:

Admit India To United Nations?

By LARRY McELROY

The Dialectic Senate debated the query. Resolved, that India should be admitted to the United Nations Security Council in place of Nationalist China, with the Debating Society of Woman's College in Greensboro this week.

Opening the debate before the forensic group at Woman's College, Steve Moss asserted that Nationalist China is no longer powerful and should not be allowed to remain on the Security Council.

The administration announced yesterday a proposal to introduce next fall a program of "compulsory registration of automobiles and strict enforcement of regulations."

This is the action the administration has taken as a result of the Trustee Visiting Committee's recommendation that UNC attempt to improve the regulation of the use of cars and that it consider seriously the question of possession of automobiles by undergraduates.

"Our conclusion is that we do not at this time favor arbitrary denial of the privilege of keeping an automobile to any class of students except those who forfeit the privilege as a result of legal or disciplinary action," said Weaver.

According to the proposal, after next fall's registration "a letter must be sent to the parents of all students under 21 years of age who indicate that they will keep a car. The letter will remind the parents of the University request that they not permit their son or daughter to keep an automobile in Chapel except in instances of genuine need for one and ask that they file with us a notice of consent."

Another proposal is "... administrative enforcement of certain minimal requirements for keeping a car."

"In this," Weaver said, "we would seek student cooperation and support. For example, persistent violations of traffic rules or other abuses would lead to action ranging from a warning and probation to suspension from college."

The statement goes on to suggest a joint conference of town and University representatives looking toward improved mutual assistance in dealing with the problem of traffic control.

Discussion of the Visiting Committee's recommendations was conducted in the Council on Student Affairs, at which the student body president and other student representatives were present, along with the Administrative Board of Student Affairs and the Student Activities staff.

Barefoot Day

The senior class will continue celebration of Senior Week today with "Barefoot Day."

All seniors will attend their classes minus shoes.

GM Dance Tomorrow

Graham Memorial Activities Board will sponsor an informal dance tomorrow night from 9 until midnight at the Carolina Inn Ballroom to conclude the week-long celebration of Graham Memorial's 23rd birthday.

Music for the informal affair will be provided by Jim Crisp and his 12-piece orchestra. Soft lights and refreshments will round out the informal atmosphere, according to a GM spokesman.

The dance will be held in honor of the senior class and their dates, said the spokesman, who added that there will be no admission charge. He expressed regret that bad weather earlier in the week necessitated postponing the jazz concert and blanket party originally scheduled for last Monday night. He said the slight confusion caused by the postponement and bad weather prevented large attendance when the jazz concert was held in the Rendezvous Room Wednesday night.

Automobile Committee Is Named

Student body President Don Fowler, who promised action on the traffic problem during his campaign, yesterday appointed a traffic committee "to expediate this ruling through student government."

The ruling referred to is the action taken by the administration yesterday to "introduce next fall a program of compulsory registration of student automobiles and strict enforcement of regulations."

In making his appointment, Fowler said, "Layton McCurdy is the chairman of this committee and is fully aware of our position with the trustees regarding student cars. I am confident that he and his committee will receive full cooperation from the administration and the student body."

The following are the members of the new traffic committee:

Chuck Flack, Gordon Forester, Jim Monteith, Eric Jonas, Bob Mason, Gordon, Folley and Jim Dackery.

Business Fair Gets Underway

Edward Margolin, program coordinator of the Office of the Under Secretary of Commerce for Transportation, recommended to delegates Wednesday at the Southeastern Transportation Conference that transportation firms should, first, place greater reliance on competitive forces in rate making and, second, maintain a modernized and financial strong common carrier system.

The conference is being sponsored by the Alpha Tau Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity at their 1955 Business Fair.

is a stronghold of freedom. The third affirmative speaker, Scotty Hester, contended that the removal of Nationalist China would have a good effect on the free world.

Larry McElroy, the last speaker, spoke of the corruption of the Grant and Harding administrations and said that Nehru was a Machiavellian power politician who will strive to be on the winning side.

The query failed by a vote of the two societies, 15 to 9. Refreshments were served after the debate.
