state, but it is a step in that direction. Where do we plan to stop?
"We are asked to raise additional tax money to do something that Ivory Soap and Pepsi-Cola are begging to do. It's my honest opinion that the people of North Carolina don't want to pay this bill. Private industry wants to pay it, and I move that we let them do it."
Sen. Lunsford Crew of Halifax said his only criticism of the work of the Appropriations Subcommittee was that it had cut the television appropriation in half. He said if he had been on the subcommittee, he would have voted against any cut, and he urged the Senate to defeat Walton's amendment.
"This is a progressive and a needed step," Crew said. "The

Chi Psi Centennial

Alpha Sigma chapter of Chi Psi will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its establishment at UNC today.
Celebration plans include a luncheon at Carolina Inn and buffet supper at the Lodge for alumni and actives. Richard Jenrette, president of the Alumni Corporation of Alpha Sigma, is in charge of planning. Linn Garibaldi, president of Western Carolina Telephone Co., will present the main address at the luncheon.
Alpha Sigma, the first southern Alpha of Chi Psi, was founded here as the result of a petition to Chi Psi for a charter by a small group of students who had formed a local club called Sigma Gamma.
time will soon be here when television will be used in every public school classroom in North Carolina."

HAPPENINGS ON THE HILL:

It's Germans This Weekend

By SUSAN ANDES
After last weekend's mass exodus to the beach everyone seems pretty contented to stick around the old campus this weekend. And for what better reason than the fact that it is SPRING and GERMAN weekend.
Some will be taking in the dance tonight to end up the year waltzing to the music of Les Brown. Others (and the crowd will, no doubt, be numerous) will be partying out at Hogan's and at various cabins.
The Chi Phis elected officers this week. They are Bill Warwick, president; Mike Soper, vice president; Clyde Meares, secretary; Chuck Hastings, treasurer, and Collie Collison, social chairman.
The Chi Phis will have a champagne party out at Jack's this afternoon and tonight they will "unofficially" be partying at the Saddle Club.

Whoopie! It's Triad party time tonight for the Phi Deltas, Sigma Chis and the Betas. The three groups will gather with their dates at a cabin near Durham for a big blast.
The Phi Deltas had a cabin party last night out at the Schoolhouse; and this afternoon preceding the concert they will be meeting and mingling out at the Elbow Room for a pre-concert party.
The SAEs will also be partying with other groups this weekend. Sigma Nus have been active lately. With their annual White Rose Ball in Durham last week-end all the N. C. chapters participated and saw Miss Gloria Weaver, a WC student sponsored by State, crowned the White Rose Queen. Representing UNC among the contestants was Miss Mary Grady Burnette, a Pi Phi from Garner.

The Pika's are planning to convene at Hogans tonight for a party, after having been a bit more formal last night and dined and danced at the Saddle Club in Durham.

Covering The Campus

The North Carolina School Art Exhibition, showing work of students from fifth through sixth grades in 33 North Carolina communities, is now being shown in Person Hall Art Gallery. Over 300 examples of drawings, paintings, textile-making, puppets and sculpture are on exhibition.

Training session for all men chosen as fall orientation counselors will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in Carroll Hall auditorium, according to Orientation Chairman Burt Veazey. Veazey said all men interested in working with the Orientation Committee should come to student government offices in Graham Memorial any weekday afternoon.

Members of the Cosmopolitan Club meet in Y-Court tomorrow at 2:15 p.m. for a picnic with the Duke International Club.

A one-man show of paintings and drawings by Robert Broderson, visiting instructor in art, will have its formal opening tomorrow from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Woman's College Library Gallery.

Frank Porter Graham Chapter of Future Teachers of America will hold its final meeting next

Visitors

versity News Bureau, the Journalism School and UNC Press.

Dr. Keener Frazer of the Political Science Dept. arranged their visit, and the UNC Extension Division, headed by Russell Grumman, has served as host to the group during their stay here.

Several of the group had an especial interest in Chapel Hill, visiting old acquaintances. Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Howell were hosts to Ortiz, whom they had known during a 1948 visit to Guatemala. Ortiz was an English student of Dr. Howell and translated several of his essays into Spanish.

Miss Lampen, who has worked with Dr. Samuel T. Emory Jr., UNC professor who is teaching in Finland this year, reported that a large number of Finnish students come to North Carolina yearly to attend the Penland School of Handicrafts.

Two of the journalists, Mikkelson and O'Farrell, have worked on U. S. newspapers during their tour, on the Mason City, Iowa, Globe-Gazette, and the Albuquerque, N. Mex., Tribune, respectively.

O'Farrell explained that the information agencies, of which there are 220 in the world, are headed by U. S. Public Affairs Officers, but staffed largely by local workers.

Commenting on U. S. reputation among other nations, he said two types of misconceptions about the U. S. exist: those arising from communistic deliberate propaganda, and those born of pure ignorance.
