Several Leave WUNC-TV Staff; Appropriations Cut, Insecurity Held As Reasons

Misleading Promises, Confusion Are Named

The prospect of reduced appropriations and staff insecurity has dealt a serious blow to University educational television, with several "big names" having already departed and other departures held in prospect.

Charges of misleading promises and confused policies also have cast a shadow on the future of WUNC-TV.

The General Assembly, meeting in Raleigh, last week cut educational television appropriations to $223,610 for the next biennium. Speculation here yesterday centered on what will happen to present plans, programs and allocation of funds.

The three University institutions must now get along with $108,000 a year for television and divide that amount among them.

A spokesman for the Chapel Hill studio said yesterday many changes will have to be made and that the programs which have been running to 41 hours weekly must be drastically cut, perhaps in half.

The organization built up over the last few months has already been much altered, owing not only to the reduced funds in prospect but to internal reasons.

Robert Snyder, who was invited here to take part in the educational television plan and was for 10 months head of the motion picture division, left for New York and Washington yesterday. He took his family and furniture with him.

Snyder was the winner of an Academy award for his film, "The Titan." Here he was employed chiefly on a film for the State Highway Safety Program supposed to cost $100,000.

Frank Waldman, sports announcer, resigned several weeks ago and has returned to Los Angeles. He left the staff when it was decided to drop the televising of sports.

His brother, Thomas A. Waldman, employed as a writer, has also resigned.

Anthony Guggenheimer, another writer, resigned over the weekend. There have been other staff changes and others are in prospect, due not entirely to reduced funds.

Some members of the staff which is now breaking up or who have resigned or been released in the past have not concealed their dissatisfaction with their experiences here.

A few charge the University with bringing them here under too-rosy promises. Others allege divided counsels and confused policies.

They say they have been "let down" at a time when it is difficult for men with families to obtain other employment.

Part of the dissatisfaction has been due, according to studio spokesmen, to a new and inexperienced system of control.

Dean Henry Brandis of the Law School is chairman of a local faculty council of 10 members which acts as in an advisory capacity on programming. This council is reduced to seven members when meeting with corresponding bodies from the Raleigh and Greensboro units of the Greater University.

Dean Brandis said yesterday that so far as he knew the new situation created by the reduced budget had not been officially discussed, since the combined council acts only on matters of programming.

So far the television studio has acted independently of the Extension Division of the University. There are reports that in the future there will be closer cooperation, and perhaps union, between the two.

Those persons who have been most actively associated with the educational television experiment have been Vice-President W. D. Carmichael Jr.; Kay Kyser, who has the title of consultant, and Robert F. Schenckan, director of television for the Greater University. Lately Provost J. Harris Purks has acted as a representative of President Gorgon Gray.

Carolina Students Vote Today On Constitutional Amendment To Allow Legislature Power To Raise Fees

Leaders Not Saying Very Much

Student leaders were rather reticent yesterday when asked to state their stand on today's vote to allow student government to raise activities fees $5.

Action of the state Legislature raising out-of-state tuition dampened the fee-ardor of many, including Atty. General David Reid, who said "The action of the Legislature was disturbing . . . and any further fee increase will be felt more acutely."

Bob Young, new president of Graham Memorial Activities Board, reiterated his statement of last week—if the Legislature passed the tuition bill and took more money he "would oppose" the raise.

Director of Student Activities Roy Holsten yesterday also came out against the raise, saying the fee raise problem "needed more study."

Last week President Don Fowler came out against the raise. "I am opposed to any fee raise," he said.

The Daily Tar Heel has come out editorially in favor of the fee raise.

Joel Fleishman and Jim Turner, both Student Party leaders, who could not be reached yesterday, have previously said they were in favor of the fee raise.

STUDENTS VOTING IN LAST CAMPUS ELECTION
... student fee raise comes up for vote today

Could Hike Activities Fees $5

Carolina students will vote today on a proposed student fee raise.

If passed, the constitutional amendment will allow the student Legislature to raise student fees from $18 to not more than $23.

Three thousand students must vote in the referendum in order for the bill to pass. Thus, at least 1,501 students must vote for the amendment to enact it into law.

Polling places will be open in all men's and women's dormitories, Scutellbutt, Lenoir Hall and Gerrard Hall. Students must present identification cards in order to cast ballots.

Miss Patsy Daniels, retiring Elections Board chairman, yesterday urged all students to vote.

THE BALLOT
The official amendment ballot was released yesterday by Miss Daniels. It states that "Section six of Article I of the student Constitution is hereby declared null and void."

Section six provides that "the student Legislature shall not alter the fee structure for a given school year later than April 1 of the school year immediately preceding. The fee collections recognized by the University at the time this constitution is ratified shall remain until the student Legislature alters or approves them."

Students will vote for or against leaving Section six in the constitution.

Under the amendment, "Article I, Section four, Subsection A, shall be changed . . . The constitution now says 'The student Legislature shall have power . . . to levy and collect all student fees except athletic fees, but total fees shall not exceed $20 per calendar year excluding both summer school sessions unless the maximum total amount of fees levied be changed by a majority vote of more than 50 percent of the student body . . .'"

The amendment would change the subsection to read " . . . but the total fee shall not exceed $23 per calendar year, excluding both summer school sessions . . ."

Most political observers yesterday said they expected a light vote.

Jewish Arts Festival On Exhibit Now

The Jewish Arts Festival, sponsored by the Hillel Foundation, will wind up its season's activities with an exhibition of Jewish art in the Morehead Planetarium during this month.

The exhibit will consist of contemporary work by a number of Jewish artists, among them William Levy, Theresa Bernstein, Ilya Schor and Raymond A. Katz. The collection is valued at more than $3,000, according to a Hillel spokesman.

The paintings will be shown in the North Science Hall of the Planetarium daily from 1 to 5 p.m. and 7:30 to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 to 10 p.m. There will be no admission charged.

Rabbi Ephraim Rosenzweig, director of the Hillel Foundation, announced that bids for the paintings will be accepted. Additional information about the paintings may be secured from Rabbi Rosenzweig, Ronald Kreigsmann, 514 Audubon Drive, Greensboro, or Eli Evans, 1401 Fairview Drive, Durham.

YDC Names Graham President

The UNC Young Democrat's Club named William E. Graham president for 1955-56 in its last session of the semester last night.

Graham was chosen over Bill Formyduvall by a 40-15 plurality. Formyduvall moved down a notch and was elected first vice president by acclamation.

Also picked without opposition was Charlie Dean. Dean captured the second vice presidency.

Given the nod of party approval for treasurer was Gerald Parker.

Weymon Stephenson was named secretary over Ruth Dalton.

Named to the Club Executive Committee were:

Larry McElroy, Bob Roberts, Andre Evans, A. W. Sapp, Ted Rosenthal, Ruth Dalton and Bob Thomas.

UNC Second In South In Doctoral Degrees

The University of North Carolina ranked second in the South in the number of doctoral degrees conferred during the past school year and third in the number of doctoral fields offered, according to the annual report from Librarian Andrew H. Horn to University administration.

The University of Texas at Austin ranked first in the number of doctorate degrees conferred with 134, and UNC was second with 102. Johns Hopkins University came in third with 87.

Johns Hopkins ranked first in the number of fields in which doctorates are awarded with a total of 43 fields. Texas was second with 40, and UNC was third with 36. None of the above figures includes doctor's degrees awarded in the field of medicine, which includes in the case of the University at Chapel Hill, the School of Public Health and the School of Dentistry.

Dr. Horn pointed out that the libraries of Texas and Johns Hopkins contain well over a million volumes each, while the books in the UNC Library number approximately 725,000.

"Duke, with over a million volumes in its library, conferred fewer doctoral degrees (67) and offered fewer fields (22) than UNC," Dr. Horn explained. "Virginia with a larger library than Carolina's, confined itself to 25 fields in which 42 degrees were conferred. Kentucky, with a library nearly the size of Carolina's, conferred 34 doctoral degrees and offered 16 fields. It is amply evident why North Carolina is forced to borrow heavily from her good neighbor Duke and from other libraries; but we are relying on this service far more than we should."

Student Traffic Group First Meet Tomorrow

The Student Traffic Committee, promised and appointed by President Don Fowler, will hold its first meeting tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Woodhouse Conference Room, announced chairman of the committee Layton McCurdy yesterday.

Last week Dean of Student Affairs Fred Weaver issued a report concerning the traffic problem in reply to the concern felt by the trustees over the student cars. The report promised that car regulations and registration would be strictly enforced.

Half Of B. C. Remedy Company Is Honored

One of North Carolina and Durham's foremost pioneer pharmacists has been honored in memoriam by the establishment of a special fund in the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation for use in the UNC School of Pharmacy.

The Germain Bernard Memorial Fund, in the form of a $10,000 gift, has been set up by C. T. Council of Durham honoring his late partner and preceptor, Bernard and Council organized the B. C. Remedy Company, of which the latter is now president.

Just as Bernard was for many years a leader in the advancement of his profession through the State Pharmaceutical Assn., so has Council continued the professional promotion, aiding in creation of the Pharmaceutical Research Foundation.

Incorporated in 1946 by the Pharmaceutical Assn., the foundation has disbursed since then to the University a total of $49,000 for use in the School of Pharmacy. Its permanent endowment funds total $110,000 at the present time.

Foundation funds provide for such needs as graduate research fellowship, research supplies and equipment, special library materials and research assistance to professors.

In his creation of the Germain Bernard Memorial Fund, Council cites Bernard's "long career as a pharmacist of unusual ability and business judgment" and notes the "affectionate memory" of his own long association with Bernard.

Bernard began his career in pharmacy in Durham at the age
