their "biggest supporter" in the summer-long court fight. The Frasier youths' father said his sons and Brandon probably couldn't have won their case without the help of the NAACP. "A suit like that is very expensive — too much for the average individual to assume," he said. Frasier said the NAACP did not initiate the case. "It was initiated by us, then we had to call on the NAACP to help us," he said. The youths were asked if they would feel strange after entering the University. Leroy Frasier replied, "I'll have to go first and see how the situation would be." His brother said, "I'm doing my best to adjust myself to the situation." Brandon said, "I think it would be okay."

G M Activities Group Slates Fall Program

Graham Memorial Activities Board (GMAB) has announced a partial schedule of events for the fall semester. Pat McBane, chairman of the GMAB Film Committee, has announced the fall presentation of eight films. Tickets for the movies, which will be held in Carroll Hall, may be obtained at the Information desk in Graham Memorial starting today for $2. The first movie, "Blue Angel," will be shown September 29, and will be followed by such films as "The Lavender Hill Mob," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

FM Station To Start Up September 21

WUNC, the University's student-run FM radio station, will resume operations on Sept. 21.

Students interested in participation on the staff have been asked to visit Swain Hall between 2:30 and 5 p.m. and leave their names, said a WUNC spokesman yesterday. Auditions will then be scheduled. Participation is voluntary and there are no salaried positions on the staff, the spokesman said. The station, which will operate from 7 until 11 p.m., will sign on with a four-day long "Festival of Music," after which regular programming will begin. There will be several new programs included in this year's schedule.

Six new staff appointments have been made for the coming year. Miss Anne Ryan Thomas will be program manager; Arnold Culbreth, operations manager; Phil Goodman, production manager; David Setzer, continuity manager; and Don Patterson, chief announcer. James Wilkins is acting chief engineer.

For the first time, the station will begin operations with its full power of 15,500 watts. This new power will increase the coverage area to about 50 miles.

WUNC will continue to broadcast important campus events if clearance can be obtained, the spokesman said.

Coeds Feted With Food, Open House

BY FLORA NELL ROEBUCK

Open houses and plenty of food seem to have been the keynote of this year's orientation program — at least from the women's point of view.

Beginning with the arrival of the first girl Sept. 13, the women's orientation program swung in operation under the leadership of Sara Alice Jackson, orientation committee chairman. The week-long orientation program finally ceases to-night with the semi-formal Coed Ball. The Duke Ambassadors will provide the music from 9 p.m. to midnight in Woollen Gym.

From the first open house last Friday in Lenoir Hall until the orientation really got underway Tuesday, the new women's time was filled by lectures, tours and sisterly advice from their orientation advisers.

Tuesday brought an open house by the Chapel Hill Merchants Assn. and a picnic sponsored by the Orientation Committee in the form of a hearty welcome to the new students.

Lewis Brumfield led off with a speech. Head Cheerleader Colie Collision inaugurated the students into the Tar Heel spirit with a few cheers, and Scotty Hester's combo from the University Band provided the music for over 1,500 students.

Wednesday the orientees day was begun with a dorm breakfast from the Independent Women's Council, and Wednesday night the open houses in all the dorms provided plenty of punch and men.

YWCA Needs Student Addresses

In order for the Student Directory to include correct student addresses, all students who have moved since registration or who plan to change their address in the near future are requested to go by the YWCA office and list their new addresses.

Insurance Applications Available

All students who have not sent in their applications for student surgical - sickness accident insurance may pick up application blanks in Y-Court.

The insurance coverage is underwritten by Pilot Life Insurance Company of Greensboro. Maximum benefits under the plan total $2,000 with an annual coverage of $10.20.

Three Negroes Will Enter UNC Undergraduate School

By FRED POWLEDGE

"The University, having determined that these students are academically qualified, will now proceed to admit them," said Chancellor House and Acting President Harris Purks yesterday concerning three Negro students.

The joint statement was made after notification of refusal by the Federal Court in Greensboro of a request for a stay of its judgment that the applications of the Negroes must be received by the University here.

A formal request was made yesterday by the attorney general of North Carolina, William B. Rodman, that the Federal Court not put its judgment into effect after the case had been appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. The request was made after conferences by Rodman with a committee appointed earlier this week by the Executive Committee of the Trustees of the University.

In a statement made yesterday Rodman said that after he had presented the request, Judge Dobie, one of the three federal court judges, informed him "that the court informally concluded on Saturday that if a request for a stay was made it should not be granted." After communicating with the other members of the court, according to Rodman's statement, Judge Dobie called Rodman and told him that he had signed the order directing the University to receive the applications of the Negroes; that the Court, after consultation, denied our application for a stay.

"Our request for a stay having been refused by the Court, the judgment having already been signed by two of the judges, and the third having indicated that he will sign, I feel impelled to advise the University officials that they should accept these Negro students if educationally qualified and have done so," continued Rodman's statement.

"I have advised the committee from the trustees that the court has refused our request for a stay and that the University must now accept the applications. This, of course, does not have a bearing on the appeal. We will prosecute the appeal as diligently and effectively as we possibly can," he concluded.

DTH Policy For Delivery Is Stated

Bill Bob Peele, advertising manager for The Daily Tar Heel, yesterday announced the paper's circulation policy for the coming year.

Door to door delivery of the paper will be made to all men's dormitories except Steele, Old East and Old West, according to Peele.

Home delivery will be made to all private homes where three or more students reside, he said. Peele said bulk delivery will be made to all sororities, women's dorms, nurses' quarters and the Infirmary.

Home delivery of the paper will be made to Victory Village and Glen Lennox, he said.

Peele said Daily Tar Heel boxes, for the convenience of those to whom home delivery cannot be made, are located at McCauley and Pittsboro Streets, Ransom and Cameron Streets, Durham Road above Davis Circle, Airport Road and North Columbia Streets, Rosemary and Pritchard Streets and East Franklin and Hillsboro Streets.

Those who have complaints to register concerning the papers' delivery should contact Jim Kiley, circulation manager, at 8-0655.

Senator Knowland To Be 1st Forum Speaker

U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) will speak in Hill Hall Sept. 28, according to the Carolina Forum, sponsor of the Senator's appearance here.

The Forum, official agency of the University student government "in charge of bringing speakers of state, national and world importance to the campus," each year brings approximately nine speakers to the campus.

Subject of Sen. Knowland's talk will be made public later, the Forum said.

The Senator will be interviewed on television at 6:30 p.m., then will have dinner at the Carolina Inn at 7:15, after which he will go to Hill Hall where his speech will be delivered. The speech will be given at 8:15 p.m.

Sen. Knowland was born in Alameda, Calif., in 1908. He received his education in the public schools of Alameda and obtained his college degree in political science from the University of California.

Married to Helen Herrick Knowland and the father of three children, he is assistant publisher of The Oakland (Calif.) Tribune.

From 1933 to 1935, Knowland was a member of the California State Assembly and of the State Senate from 1935 to 1939. While in the State Senate he served as chairman of the Senate Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

Inducted into the Army in 1942, Knowland was first an enlisted man and later received his commission from the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., as a Second Lieutenant. In early 1944 he was sent overseas serving in France, England, Belgium and Germany.

While still overseas, Knowland received an appointment from Governor Earl Warren to the U. S. Senate replacing the late Senator Hiram W. Johnson. He took his oath of office on Sept. 5, 1944.

Both Political Groups Start Up Next Week

The first soundings from the Carolina political scene will be voiced in Graham Memorial Monday night when the Student Party convenes for its first meeting of the academic year.

The University Party will not hold its first session until Tuesday night week, according to party Chairman Bill Sanders.

YWCA Drive Is Underway

Special house meetings are being held this week in all women's dormitories and sorority houses to emphasize the YWCA's annual fall membership drive.

Each group will hear an explanation of the work of the various committees in the "Y" by membership representatives. After these discussions, girls will sign slips indicating which of the committees they are interested in.

The drive got underway last Sunday morning with a breakfast in Lenoir Hall for all new women students. Approximately 450 coeds heard a speech by Jane Cocke, "Y" vice-president, and were introduced to other officers.

In addition to membership activities, the YW has been cooperating with the YM to help foreign students who are new on the campus. Tuesday night, several of them were taken to the new student's picnic by YW members.

Harrington said "The Student Party, since it is a party of all the students, depends on them for support. We welcome with open arms both the old and new students."

Sanders extended cordiality by saying "The UP wishes to extend a sincere welcome to all incoming freshmen and new students. We hope that you all will be interested in student government here at Carolina."

As far as stating a set of principles or particular platform that the parties stand for, the two chairmen gave these items:

Harrington said his party stood for the furtherance of "democracy, liberalism and service."

Sanders replied simply that the UP advocated every student's having a "voice in student government."

The UNC Men's Glee Club will have its first meeting Monday afternoon at Hill Hall at 5 p.m. This meeting is for old members as well as for all others who wish to join the club, whether they have tried out or not.

MISS ISABELLE MACLEOD:

Acting Dean Of Women Named

So you think you've got problems?

The answer to everyone's problems has been given by one person whose business is to make every co-ed's troubles her own by lending a sympathetic ear and some helpful advice.

"I haven't come up against any problems yet because I've been busy doing my own job and have been thinking along other lines," said Miss Isabelle MacLeod, acting dean of women of the University, in an interview yesterday.

"I think," she continued, "that we have perfectly excellent young women on this campus who are serious in purpose, responsible in their leadership and are in general, constructively cooperative in all their projects."

Miss MacLeod said "Coeds can look like such informal little girls in Y-Court and then on watching them enter church on Sunday morning they are transformed into such mature young ladies."

The office of the Dean of Women is nothing new to Miss Mac-Leod. She has been a member of the University staff since 1943 and has served as executive secretary of the office since 1944.

Before coming to the University, Miss MacLeod taught the seventh grade in her hometown, Lumberton.

She is a graduate of Meredith College, where she majored in music and received an A.B. degree in education.

Later she studied at the College of William and Mary, Wake Forest College and at the University here.

Although Miss MacLeod majored in piano, she considers this the skeleton in her closet—she no longer practices or performs, and instead prefers listening to good music and attending concerts.

"I am enthusiastic about motor trips," she continued, although she said she hasn't had a vacation in quite some time.

"I've always loved my job here," Miss MacLeod said, "because I enjoy working with people."

Dean Of Women Carmichael Starts Tour Of Universities

Miss Katherine Kennedy Carmichael today began her leave of absence as dean of women here to begin a tour of more than 30 American college and universities.

On the tour, Miss Carmichael will study the history and position of deans of women in light of economic and cultural changes in this country during and since the World War II period.

Through the use of questionnaires she will survey American colleges that have a sizeable proportion of women students. In June, 1956, she will resume her work at UNC.
