

Blazer Fitting Slated Tuesday

Fittings for UNC blazers will be held next Tuesday in the basement of Graham Memorial, according to an announcement yesterday.

The Interdormitory Council, sponsor of the blazers, announced ed students will be fitted from noon to 8 p.m.

Blazer Committee Chairman Frank Livingston said he hopes the blazers will give a distinctive group identity to the students and evoke school pride and spirit.

Blazers for men are in navy, charcoal and Carolina blue. The women have a choice of these colors plus white tweed and doeskin flannel. The jacket has the UNC crest on its patch pocket and can be supplied with Greek letters for fraternity and sorority members.

The jacket has an extra, plain pocket so it can be converted into a plain sport jacket after the student graduates. Another feature for the men is the two inside breast pockets. The jacket can be bought with either brass or silver buttons. Women can get Bermuda shorts and skirts to match their blazers.

The price for a man's blazer is $25.95. For women, the prices range from $18.95 to $26.95. Skirts are $8.95 to $10.95, and Bermuda shorts are $9.95.

The down payment is $5 with the balance due upon delivery. Delivery before the Christmas holidays is guaranteed, said the IDC.

IMPORTED SHOES AT THEIR FINEST

Our proudest accomplishment to date in fine shoes at very popular prices. Imported albian grain (small pebble grain) shoes made out of one solid piece of leather with a one piece tongue, with double leather soles, full leather linings, made for us alone, in England, in rich antiqued tan or black, good $27.50 value, our price—$16.95.

Essay Competition For 'Coexistence'

The Tamiment Institute has announced its third essay contest for undergraduates in American colleges, according to an announcement from the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs.

The subject of the essay will be "Is Coexistence Possible?" and will be limited to not more than 2,500 words.

The essay must relate the following quotation from Demosthenes to contemporary international events as a basis for answering the question "Is Coexistence Possible?"

"If it is possible for this nation to have real peace, and if this depends on us, then I agree that we should have peace, and I call upon those who maintain this to advocate and practice this policy without deception. But if another man stands with weapons in his hands and a great army at his back, offering us a peace in name only, while himself carrying on the deeds of war, what remains for us except to defend ourselves?"

"If you want to say you are at peace, as he does, then I agree. But if you think that this is real peace, a peace which he will use as a means of setting all before attacking you, then to begin with you are crazy; and secondly you are speaking of a one-sided peace — yours towards him, not his towards you. This is what Phillip tries to buy with all his resources: the ability to wage war on you while preventing you from making war on him."

Demosthenes Oration IX

First prize will be worth $500, second prize, $250, and the third, fourth, and fifth prizes will be worth $100 each.

The essays, which must be post-marked by Oct. 30, will be judged on precision of thought and clarity of language.

Judges will be Robert Gorham Davie, Chairman, Dept. of English, Smith College, August Heckscher, chief editorial writer of The New York Herald Tribune and Bertram D. Wolfe, historian, author of Three Who Made a Revolution.

A campus-wide square dance will be held tonight at the Tin Can from 9 until 11 o'clock. Mrs. Beth Okun will call the figures. The dance will be open to all students.

Gerns Named To Council

Pete Gerns, law student from Raleigh, has been appointed to the graduate seat of the Men's Council by student body President Don Fowler.

As undergraduate, Gerns served as Council clerk in 1949-50 and was subsequently appointed to three summer sessions on the Council. He was also a member of the committee which codified the campus' judicial procedure in cooperation with the Dean of Student Affairs office.

Gerns is a member of the Law Review staff and chairman of the Law School's Speakers Committee.

Dr. Green To Speak At History Meeting

Dr. Fletcher M. Green, chairman of the History Dept., will speak at 8 o'clock tonight to Phi Alpha Theta, national honorary history fraternity, on "Resurgent Southern Sectionalism" in the Library Assembly Room.

Dr. James Godfrey, who was previously scheduled to speak on the "Structure of the British Labor Party," will not speak due to illness.

The talk will be open to the public. Students interested in becoming members of the local Phi Alpha Theta chapter have been especially urged to attend.

Today's Last Day For SSL Talks

Today is the last day interviews many are amazed to discover how much they really do know about current happenings.

From 3 until 5 p.m. in the Woodhouse Room in Graham Memorial students will be questioned briefly on their knowledge of campus, state, national and international affairs. The chosen legislators will make a three-day excursion to the state Capital Oct. 17-19 to debate on matters of current interest. Climaxing the hot session in the legislative halls of Raleigh, the debaters will enjoy a party Saturday night.

Remembering all the fun and exciting issues of last year, Jim Turner, member of the selection board, enthusiastically urges all interested persons, no matter how limited they believe their awareness of current affairs to be, to drop in for an interview. He said which will be in effect only until something better could be established.

"As I have told one of the editors of The Daily Tar Heel, Louis Krarr, the student government has been considering several possible ways to ease the traffic problem on campus. Self-denial on the part of the student has been one of the alternatives considered, and possibly may be recommended if other less satisfactory means do not prove adequate."

EVERY MEANS

"While I am president, student government will seek every means possible to solve the traffic problem without denying any segment of the student body the privilege of maintaining a car on campus."

This was the statement made by Fowler this week. Indignant over the editorial printed in The Daily Tar Heel about the lack of action on the traffic problem, which, he said, was an unfair attack.

In a later statement Fowler added that another plan the committee permits on a basis of scholarship. He did not elaborate further upon has considered involved issuing this plan.

Although reluctant to deny cars to any part of the student body, Fowler said if it becomes necessary to do so, he will undertake it. To the question of what would establish a "necessity," Fowler said that a message from the trustees directing him to restrict any of the cars on campus would force him to act.

Fowler said the Student Traffic Committee is working hard to find a solution to the problem.
