Outings Club Being Planned

Student representatives and staff members of Graham Memorial

Root-Tilden Grant Competition Open

According to an announcement from the College of Arts and Sciences, any unmarried male citizen of the United States who is interested in obtaining an LL.B. degree from the NYU School of Law will have an "excellent" opportunity to represent the state in the national Root-Tilden competition. The scholarship has a value of $2,300 a year. Anyone interested may obtain full information about the scholarship by writing to Dean Russell D. Niles, School of Law, New York University, Washington Square, New York 3, N. Y.

and the Intramurals Dept. are going forward with plans for the formation of a University Outings Club, according to Tex Burleson, chairman of the GMAE Outings Committee.

Burleson said the primary purposes of the club are to bring students and faculty members interested in various types of outdoor recreation together, to provide an organization through which the necessary equipment and leadership will be made available for the activities selected and to direct the attention of everyone on campus to the opportunities afforded by outing activities for personal, group and family recreation.

Students interested in becoming members of the club have been invited to attend its organizational meeting Monday at 8:15 p.m. in 304 Woolen Gymnasium. Tentative plans include the establishment of a central committee, or board of control, said Burleson. He also said a regular slate of officers and a chairman and committee for each area of special interest will probably be set up. Burleson added that student representation will be provided.

Demand For Students In Journalism Is Up

The demand for journalism graduates in North Carolina and adjoining states far exceeds the supply, Dr. Norval Neil Luxon, dean of the UNC School of Journalism, reported on the basis of current calls made on the school for personnel.

The School of Journalism has in its files recent requests to recommend graduates for 27 jobs which it is unable to fill, he said.

The school expects to graduate three-two men and one woman—in January and approximately 20 in June, the dean said. Current enrollment totals 48 undergraduate and five graduate students.
