

Tar Babies Win Again

Freeman's Carolina basketballers stretched their streak to six Thursdays by downing the Edinboro Institute cadets by a 85-69 score in a game played at Pineland. It was the second time this year that the cadets have fallen before the Tar Babies.

High scoring guard Harvey Salz was the Tar Baby ringleader again as he poured in 29 points to take scoring honors. Forward Gehrmann Holland was runnerup with 15, while Stan Groll and Bill Hathaway each tallied 12 markers.

It was strictly no contest from the start to finish as the Tar Babies jumped into an early lead and never let up. Salz and Co. moved to a 13 point halftime advantage at 51-38 and in the second half they continued to have things pretty much their own way right up until the end.

Bill Hathaway and Danny Lotz, the Carolina big men, made their presence felt under the boards as usual and managed to come off with a lion's share of the rebounds.

The roughest test of the season so far for the Tar Babies comes on Saturday night when they travel to Maryland to take on the Terrapin freshman squad. The Terp yearlings are reportedly loaded for bear this year with numerous schoolboy stars studding the roster. The game will be a preliminary to the Carolina-Maryland varsity clash.

Lennie Leads Scoring

Lanky Lennie Rosenbluth is back atop the scoring heap for the Carolina basketball squad after his two fine performances against South Carolina and Alabama. He hit 31 against the Gamecocks and 29 against the Crimson Tide.

Rosenbluth now is averaging 23.3 points per game for the four Tar Heel victories. The game with McCrary does not count in the figures since the Eagles are not a four-year college team.

Four other Tar Heels have averaged in the double figures. Pete Brennan has pushed in 60 points for an average of 15 per contest. Center Joe Quigg is averaging 14.3. Captain Jerry Vayda scores bulk of the scoring load for the Tar Heels who are averaging 88 points a game. The Tar Heel opponents have scored at an average of 71.5 per game.

This quintet has carried the average of 71.5 per game.

Bama Coach Made Big Show

Wednesday night in Woollen Gymnasium, Carolina's rapidly-improving Tar Heels put on one of the finest basketball shows seen around this area in a long time. But the spectators at the game were treated to still another show, which hardly added lustre to the night.

Johnny Dee, temperamental Alabama coach, displayed about as much immaturity in the upset Carolina win as any grown man could. Dee became antagonized at referees Lou Bello and Jim Mills, and he showed his displeasure during the entire game.

Referee Bello, who enjoys mixing his signal-calling with fun, commenced to give the spectators something to laugh at. As he always does, Bello clowned with the players and fans. When Alabama began dropping behind, Coach Dee questioned the decisions of Bello. He even applauded Bello whenever he called a foul against Carolina. This among many other contortions by the Alabama coach really left a bad impression.

It does seem a pity that a grown man, who is supposed to be a leader of the young men he coaches, can not control his emotions any better than Coach Dee did.

Undoubtedly Dee hates to lose, for which we admire him, but there is an extreme to which he approached. Bello is one of the finer referees of this area and has often been commended for his work. His ability as a referee, mixed with his natural humor creates a crowd-pleasing effect.

MARYLAND IS ALWAYS TOUGH:
After the thumping the Tar Heels handed the Alabama lads Wednesday night, the campus is buzzing with the hopes for reaching the top ten in the next poll. Carolina jumped from 24th to 18th last week on the basis of their wins over Clemson, South Carolina and Georgia Tech. The Terrapins, however, could spoil those hopes for the present.

Coach Bud Millikan always comes up with a tough club at Maryland, employing the control-ball style of play. Year after year, under Millikan's guidance, the Terps have bumped off some of the leading college teams. They hold onto the ball until they get a good shot at the goal. The style is nerve-racking to the opponent and has led to many defeats before.

Maryland has lost only one and is tied with the Tar Heels for the ACC leadership. The 12,500 seat Maryland Coliseum should be packed for the game as two of the top teams in the nation square off. It will be a big contest for Coach Frank McGuire and his men.

FROSH VS. MARYLAND FROSH:
Coach Buck Freeman's freshman team plays the Maryland freshman team in the preliminary game. That should be another tough match. The Tar Babies had a scarce Wednesday night against the Blue Imps from Duke. They go into the Maryland game without a loss.

The Tar Babies play Duke frosh three more times this season. They should provide many thrills....

William Neal Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh is expecting a big crowd tonight for its game between State and West Virginia. The Mountaineers have a good ball club, but most of all they have Hot Rod Hundley, considered by many as the best basketball player in the nation. Hundley has been a tremendous favorite in the Coliseum since his performance in the Dixie Classic there last year....

After the Maryland game the Tar Heels play in the Dixie Classics at Raleigh on December 29, 30, and 31. LSU plays in Woollen Gym on January 3.
