RATCLIFF DROPS OUT; BRUMFIELD FILES

Turner Accuses 5 'Demagogues'

By NEIL BASS

Resolutions were made at the Council for Better Student Government meeting last night that student government is made up of "an omnipotent third party of demagogues."

Turner, official of the National Students Association, accused five "demagogues" as being responsible for the present state of the student government. He named Bill Sabiston, Larry Sabiston, Government Attorney David Reid, and In-Council President Richard Fowler.

After Bill Ragsdale suggested that the Council acquire Memorial Hall for a debate between the principals involved in the current "recall" controversy, Chuck Hauser, former managing editor of The Daily Tar Heel, questioned the merits of setting up an "audience for effective demagogue Brumfield."

The Council for Better Student Government, according to Chairman Richard Fowler, endorses these principles:

- (1) Stimulation of apathetic students.
- (2) Correction of inept student government.
- (3) Correction of constitutional fallacies.
- (4) Correction of the current student government trend which is leading to an eventual limitation of student autonomy by the administration.

The "immediate objective" of the Council is the retention of present co-editors Louis Kraar and Ed Yoder.

There was a great deal of controversy at the session concerning methods of action which the Council could take to accomplish its "immediate objective." The primary method agreed upon by the group, which has some 20 official members, was "personal approach" of the students.

From the standpoint of the co-ed, Miss Pat McBane said, "A lot of girls think Lewis Brumfield (announced opponent of Kraar and Yoder) is 'just precious.'"

Invitations

Graduation invitations will be sold by the Grail tomorrow and Monday and Tuesday of next week in Y-Court, according to Roland Perdue, invitation chairman.

These will be the only times that invitations will be sold, he said.

Cardboard Re-Elects W. C. Pate As Prexy

William S. Pate of Pikesville was elected for a second term as president of the UNC Cardboard at the organization's banquet this week.

Awards were given to 33 members of the Cardboard who had done an established amount of work last fall.

Other officers installed for the following year were Miss Esther Ballentine of Winston, as vice-president and secretary; Peter H. Evans of Goldsboro, as office director; Charles B. Parrish of Valdosta, Ga., as chief artist, and Bennett Whisnant of Morganton, as head usher.

Pate, speaking for the newly installed officers, said the business of improving the organization internally was not yet fully completed and he hoped to do much more next year. An all-out campaign to gain a "commanding voice in recruiting the best members possible" is being prepared for the fall orientation period, he said.

Pate also expressed his desire to regain the prestige the Cardboard enjoyed early in its history, 1948-49, when it was first brought to this campus.

Reading Program To Start

The University Testing Service has announced a reading program which will be open to all UNC students.

The program will be non-credit course and will meet two or three hours a week, according to Program Director Paul Irvine.

According to Irvine, those interested in the program should apply next Monday or Tuesday from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. in O8 Peabody. "Applicants will be taken on a voluntary basis," he said.

"The course," said Irvine, "will be designed to improve reading and study habits, regardless of how a student's habits were before. The classes will be small and individual instruction will be given as needed."

As the program will be started almost immediately, it will be limited to those who apply on Monday or Tuesday, Irvine said.

Chemical Corporation To Interview Students

Representatives of the Chemstrand Corp. will interview UNC students tomorrow.

Chemstrand is an associate company, jointly owned by American Viscose Corp. and Monsanto Chemical Co. It manufactures Acrlan fiber at its Decatur, Ala., plant and Chemstrand nylon at its Pensacola, Fla., facilities.

Brumfield's Petition Comes In Minutes Before Deadline; Atty. Gen. Reid One Signer

Bob Ratcliff yesterday withdrew his bid for The Daily Tar Heel editorship. Less than 15 minutes before deadline last night, Lewis Brumfield filed his intentions for running in a special editors' recall election next Tuesday.

Brumfield is a senior from Yadkinville. He has been a member of the student Legislature and is presently head of the Interdormitory Council.

He, like Ratcliff, has never worked on The Daily Tar Heel. He has written "Interdormitory News," a column submitted from time to time by the IDC.

Brumfield could not be located for comment last night.

REID

Brumfield's petition was signed by 27 students, one of whom was Brumfield. Another was student body Atty. Gen. David Reid, who has been charged with participating largely in the recall movement, allegedly started by senior E. L. Nance.

Elections Board Chairman Bill McLean yesterday refused reporters to copy the names of Brumfield's petitioners.

However, reporters were successful in obtaining 16 of the 27 names. In addition to Reid and Brumfield, 14 of those who signed were:

E. L. Nance, Phil Mauldin, Steve Lyon, Sid Hardesty, Don Hill.

Rea Hinson, Bob Butler, Bill Cable, Darden Livesay, Bud Strause, Wade Rhoades, LeRoy Bruton, Edward Blyeat and Bob Boerner.

Atty. Gen. Reid, when asked by reporters Tuesday night how he felt on the recall movement, said: "I'm neutral."

Brumfield's petition came in to Elections Board Chairman McLean at 5:47 p. m. yesterday — 13 minutes before deadline. Earlier in the afternoon, when Atty. Gen. Reid heard of Ratcliff's withdrawal, he told reporters — perhaps jokingly — he was considering running himself.

REASONS

Ratcliff gave as his reasons for withdrawing from the race:

Editorial freedom. "I seem to be taking the role of the tyrant who wishes to suppress this freedom," he said.

Martyring Editor Yoder and Kraar. "I dislike making martyrs of anyone," he declared.

Football issue. "I am afraid that many people who would have voted for me on the football issue would have been disappointed."

He indicated he may be a candidate for editor in regular spring elections. "I would have liked to be editor," said Ratcliff. "I am not without ambition."

Billiards Player? Contest's Started

GMAB Recreation Committee is sponsoring a Billiards Tournament with Dan Turner, billiards room director, in charge.

The deadline for entries in the National Tournament is Feb. 15. It is being held in conjunction with the Assn. of College Unions' Inter-Collegiate Billiards Tournament. A schedule has been set up to determine the three top pocket billiards players at Carolina.

On Friday from 1 p. m. anyone who would like to qualify for the tournament may play their five rounds at their own expense. From all those competing on Friday, the players with the 10 top scores will be picked.

They will have access to free use of the table to practice at any time, according to Bob Young, chairman of GMAB. On Monday evening, these players will compete for the three final team positions.

These three players will then have free use of the tables until Wednesday at 4 p. m. The final scores will then be tabulated on a 10-round basis for each man and sent to national headquarters.

The top man from Carolina will be eligible for one of five finalist positions in the country. If he is selected he will be given an all-expense paid trip to East Lansing, Mich., for the final inter-collegiate championship round, young said.

Local prizes will be awarded to the three finalists. They will be personally selected cue sticks. The winner will receive a more expensive stick.

Young said all those who wished to enter may register in the Billiards Room where specific instructions for this particular tournament are available. He said anyone is eligible to play.

Oxford Chaplain To Talk On Psychology

Dr. Roy Lee, chaplain to the University of Oxford, will speak on "A Psychological Study of Jesus' Temptation and Transfiguration" tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Carroll Hall, according to an announcement by the Dept. of Religion.

Dr. Lee was born in Australia and educated at the University of Sydney, taking honors in philosophy, before he went to Oxford to study theology.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

Miss Josephine Berdoner, Miss Sylvia J. Tarantino, Miss Betty Jo Rorie, Mrs. Ruby F. Batten, Miss Wilma J. Crisp, Miss Doris D. Oliver, Miss Caroline F. Hume, Miss Sallie S. Robeson, Miss Anne F. Melton, Miss Vivian E. Arant, Miss Jane P. Stinback, Jasper H. Chesson, Andrew J. Pollard, Robert H. Quinn, Robert A. Brand III, Paul R. Winslow and James C. Goad.

Legislature To Get Bill On Election Law

The student Legislature will consider tonight measures to amend the general election law, to insure order and stability in student government finances and to amend its revised bylaws.

The bill to amend the General Election Law was introduced by Miss Pat McBane on Jan. 25. It proposes that Victory Village be set apart as a fourth legislative district. It is now included in Men's I District.

The bill states, "Students residing in Victory Village have many problems not common to those of other residents of Town Men's I, and there is often no student from Victory Village serving as a student Legislature representative from Town Men's I."

The bill to insure order and stability in student government finances was introduced by Larry McElroy on Dec. 8, 1955. It proposes

Other bills to come before the Legislature tonight are:

(1) A bill to appropriate funds to the Veteran's Affairs Committee, introduced by Larry McElroy.

(2) A bill to appropriate funds to the Women's Residence Council for printing purposes, introduced by Miss Nancy Wilson and Larry McElroy.

TO BE HELD CU DAY, THIS SATURDAY:

'Toast Of The Campus' Shaping Up

"Toast of the Campus," the variety show for Consolidated University Day, seems to be shaping up very well, according to Bob Hicks, chairman of the GM Dance Committee.

The show, which will be made up of students and townspeople, is to be part of the CU Day festivities on Saturday. It will be presented at 8 p. m. in Memorial Hall and will last until 6 p. m. Hicks said he is expecting a large attendance from all three of the consolidated schools.

The program here Saturday is the second of three annual CU Days. The campuses of UNC, State and Woman's College each hold one per year.

Hicks submitted a list of some of the talent scheduled for the show. The list includes:

Tom and Chee Davis, a brother-sister dance team; Dave Small, vocalist; Jimmy Rogers, vocalist with Flip Latham's combo; Mrs. Barbara Bounds' of the Bounds

Dance Studio and three of her students; Oliver Bloomer, ventriloquist.

Ken Callender, comedienne; Miss Pee Wee Batten and her ukelele; Jack Spooner and The Thirsty Thirteen, a combo; Ed Potter of WCHL Radio Station, George Hamilton and his combo.

Cecil Hartsoe, pianist for Sound and Fury, will accompany many of the features. Miss Nina Chasteen will accompany Mrs.

Bounds and her troupe.

Paul McCauley, a junior majoring in radio and television here, will direct the show.

Chairman Hicks said hold-over tryouts will be held tonight in the Playmakers' Theatre at 7:30 because of the past interference of basketball games. Rain also has kept many away. He said anyone who was interested in trying out for the show should come.

CU Day will be climaxed by a

UNC Water Tank Presents Town Problem

JOAN McLEAN

Water tank for the use of the town and the University

The tank has been designed and the specifications made, but a location for the tank has presented a problem.

The University Building and Grounds Committee has considered two sites, but the townspeople have objected to both. The first site was behind the Institute of Government, and the second location was in Wilson Court, two blocks west of the Carolina Inn.

A town zoning ordinance states that a water tank, which is considered an industrial item, cannot be built in a residential area.

The tank will be built for emergency use, said Bennett. It will be used in case of a fire when a large amount of water would be needed, or if the electricity should be cut off for any length of time.

According to Bennett, some decision will probably be reached by next week. The Building and Grounds Committee will make its recommendations to the administration, which will make the final decision.

WILL THEY PUT IT?
