Covering The Campus

OXFORD CHAPLAIN
Dr. Roy Lee, chaplain to the University of Oxford, will speak on "A Psychological Study of Jesus' Temptation and Transfiguration" tonight at 7:30 in Carroll Hall.

Immediately following his lecture, a reception will be held in Graham Memorial's Main Lounge. All students have been invited to attend.

PI SIGMA ALPHA
Dr. Fletcher Green, chairman of the Dept. of History, will be the guest speaker at the Pi Sigma Alpha luncheon today at 1 p.m. in the upstairs dining room of Lenior Hall.

Dr. Green will speak on the "Relationship Between History and Political Science." All political science faculty members, graduate students and Pi Sigma Alpha members are invited, according to Haywood Moore.

QUESTIONAIRES
Chairmen of all organizations that received questionnaires from the Order of the Old Well were requested to hand the questionnaires in to Dean Macke's office in 312 South Building by 4:30 this afternoon, according to Ed McCurry.

TAMMANY HALL
Tammany Hall leader Carmine DeSapio did not speak at Duke University last night as had been planned. DeSapio could not speak because he injured his right ankle while attending New York Gov. Averell Harriman's legislative reception in Albany. Duke officials said they hoped to get him to speak later this spring.

power has the right to force one to reveal them against his own free will.

"Wherever these committees have gone, the attempt has been made to terrorize the people into giving up their constitutional rights, to become suspicious of their friends, to lapse into a 'safe' silence and to refrain from any activity which might displease the investigators.

"The people of this state must not suppose that only the Communist Party, labor unions, 'left-wing' groups and the University will be under attack.

"I am on the faculty of Campbell College, a Baptist-sponsored school. If our denominational schools are subject to the harassments of this committee, can our churches and ministers be far behind?"

Reached by telephone at Bules Creek last night, Prof. Myers said "I have never refused to sign an oath of allegiance to the United States . . . I did not feel and do not feel now that the government has the right to force a person against his will to reveal his political beliefs."

Born in 1916, Prof. Myers attended Wake Forest College, Syracuse and the University of Paris before becoming a graduate student here in 1940. He was a graduate student here in 1940-42, 1945-46, 1946-48, 1948-49 and 1949-50.

To A Bashful Biddy In 1956

The flower that's born to blush unseen is not elected Campus Queen, and gals who hide their yen for kisses seldom acquire the prefix "Mrs."

But you, my pet, can duck this fix—it's leapyear, 1956—and by good luck you chance to be residing here at UNC. Hundreds of MEN, alive and kicking, are yours, my tootsie, for the picking.

Canada's Mounties get their man, and so can you, toots, yes you can. You too, my child, can put the hex on members of the stronger sex until their every move and word is gratifyingly absurd!

If you are moved along these lines begin by sending VALENTINES, in irresistible designs.

Don't wander puzzled near and far. Haste to the undersigned hazaar!
