N. C. Symphony To Appear Here Tonight
... will feature Karl and Phyllis Krauter

Krauter Duo Appear Here Tonight With N. C. Symphony

Phyllis Krauter, violinist, and Karl Krauter, violoncello, will play with the Carolina Symphony Orchestra under the direction of F. Swalin at 8:30 p.m. in the Chapel Hill Hall. Krauter, a brother-sister duo, will perform the Brahms' Concerto for Violin and Cello, Opus 102 and Overture "The Valkyrie" by Wagner. They have presented the same many times, including at the Town Hall and the Chapel Hill Hall. The remainder of the program will be the "Symphony No. 32 in D Major" by Mozart; "Wheat and Wine" by Thomson; "The Rose Cavalier" by Strauss; and "Four Sea Interludes" by Grimes, by Strauss. The Krauter Team has appeared in chamber music programs all over America on continental tours have brought them before audiences in more than 40 of the 48 states, Canada and Cuba. They are scheduled to make three other appearances with the North Carolina Orchestra: Greensboro, April 23, Raleigh, April 26 and Asheville, May 8. Phyllis Krauter made her first appearance at the age of seven when she played in Columbus, Ohio, before an audience of 2,000. As a mature artist, she has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony, and other leading orchestras, and has given innumerable recitals. Karl Krauter, who is often heard in New York's concert halls, has an extensive repertoire and an amazing knowledge of musical scores. After graduation from Juilliard School, he made an extensive tour with the Flonzaly Quartet. North Carolina Symphony Society memberships will be honored at all these concerts and members from communities who heard the Little Symphony are also invited. Student and Student Wives' tickets can be obtained at the door for $1 this evening.

Sound And Fury's Comedy 'Chile Hot' Opens On 30th

By CHAL SCHLEY
To the beat of the bongo drums, Sound and Fury is whipping up another musical comedy, this one entitled "Chile Hot." It will open Monday, April 30, at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall, and will run for three nights. "Contrary to what some people think," said playwright Jack Spooner, "no troops of wandering actors get stranded in this show." Spooner is also song-writer for and an actor in the new production. HOME-STRETCH SPIRIT

With little more than a week of rehearsals left before opening night, Director Jane Edwards is impressed, she says, with the "home-stretch spirit" which has taken hold of the cast. She related with pride how the cast had blocked in, learned thoroughly and memorized one of the longer scenes, all in one evening earlier this season. (See "CHILE HOT," Page 3)

Goettingen Exchange Students

John Raper and Dan Southerland

Raper Comments On Goettingen Award

John Raper, newly-named the University's exchange scholar to Goettingen University, plans to take courses in German culture, psychology and German philosophy during his year at the German university. Raper was chosen out of nine applicants for the scholarship, and Dan Southerland was chosen as his alternate. Raper, who is from Fayetteville, is planning to major in history and then law. Southerland, from Alexandria, Va., is considering going into pre-medical training. Raper plans to leave the United States about the first of August to go to the University of Munich for a special course in German which will last a month. Since Goettingen doesn't begin classes until November 1, he is planning to tour Europe after taking the course at Munich. While he has been a student here at UNC, he has been in many extracurricular activities. He was a Pilot-Carrier Scholar here his freshman year, and he was in the special freshman class which took special accelerated courses. He has maintained A and B grades. He played freshman soccer, is a member of Beta Theta Pi, was an Orientation Counselor, treasurer and vice-chairman of the University Party, was on the Budget Committee and Campus Stores Committee, is a member of the Student Legislature and is Chairman of the Student-Faculty Forum. At Goettingen, a student does not have to go to classes unless he wants to. It is similar, in this respect, to Oxford University in England. No exams are given unless they are in a laboratory course. Raper said he would not be able to transfer his course credits over here, as such, but he would be able to take tests here in the courses he took in Goettingen and get credit for them if a satisfactory grade is made. These tests would be similar to placement tests. Raper said he thought the Exchange program was a wonderful thing. He said, as he saw it, the program gave German students a chance to get acquainted with the American way of life, and the American students to become familiar with the German customs and people. He said, "I think it's a wonderful opportunity and I am going to try to represent to the students there at Goettingen the Carolina way of life." (See RAPER, Page 3)

Sigma Chi Derby Here Next Friday

The twelfth annual Sigma Chi Derby, "the battle of the coeds" at the University of North Carolina, will be held next Friday at 2:30 p.m. in Kenan Stadium. Competition for "Miss Modern Venus" will again climax the derby, which will be preceded next Friday by a 1:30 p.m. parade down Franklin Street to the stadium. Representatives of campus sororities, independent coeds, and the nursing students will compete in the derby races and contests. Open to the public without charge, the derby will have teams competing in such events as a pie-throwing contest, "the Grand National" relay race, numerous stunts and a "Race to the Flesh." Trophies will be given for the winners of each event and for the Derby winner. Chapel Hill and Carrboro merchants have also contributed a number of doorprizes for spectators. Handling arrangements for Sigma Chi Fraternity are Jimmy Dunn, Delray Beach, Fla.; Bill MacVicar Tenafly, N.J.; J. B. Lopp, Lexington; and Ven Woltz, Greensboro.

Dormitory Elections Thursday

Election of dormitory officers will be held next Thursday according to a decision made by the Interdormitory Council Wednesday night. DEBATE
On the question of electoral procedure, difference of opinion arose among Council members. A motion made by Council Vice-President Neil Bass called for an entire day devoted to officer election through the ballot box process. Bass's motion was defeated and supplanted by Court Chairman Dunn's proposal to leave election procedure to the "discretion of individual dormitories." Dunn contended that dormitory officers didn't have time for an elections day. Dunn also cited the difficulty of supplying required poll tenders. Bass said that it was the "obligation" of dorms to "encourage" more participation by devoting an entire day to elections. Bass also cited the "possibility" of certain "irregularities" arising from an elections system left entirely to the discretion of dormitories. Dunn's successful motion provided that dormitories may elect officers either at a dorm meeting, though the ballot box process, or any method it sees fit to employ. BY-LAWS
The Council also approved revised ID Court By-Laws at the session. The most significant change in the By-Laws gives the Court authority to fine violators of dormitory regulations, no fine to exceed $10. CANDIDATES
All dormitories have been requested to turn-in their slate of candidates to election Coordinator Tom Walters by Tuesday of next week, according to Council President Sonny Hallford. SOCIAL
Plans are underway, Hallford said, for a "Bermuda party" and dance to be held in Cobb Dormitory's basement May 1. Music for the dance will be provided by the Joymakers Combo from Durham.

One Arrested For Part In Incident

Debate Squad Leaves Today For Tournies

Members of the Carolina Debate Squad will leave Friday on trips that will be highlights of the debating season. Four-man teams are entered in tournaments which will be in Atlanta, Ga., and College Park, Md. John Brooks and George George, affirmative team, and Luke Corbett and Forbes Ramsey, debating negative, will leave for Charlottesville where they will debate one round with the University of Virginia. After this warm-up, they will take part in the Lord Calvert Tournament at the University of Maryland on Saturday. Sonny Evans and Dave Lieberman, for the affirmative, and Donna Ashcraft and Bev Webb, on the negative side, will go to Emory University for the First Annual South-East Debate Conference Tournament. This conference brings together some of the top schools in the South. Its charter members are UNC, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Texas, Rice and Emory. The topic for this tournament will be the guaranteed annual wage. Carolina has done well in tournaments this year, and has been represented at Wake Forest, Appalachian, Lenoir-Rhyne, Pittsburg, Pa. and Tallahassee, Fla. Remaining on the agenda to close out the season is the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, which will be at Columbia, S. C. Carolina ranks as co-favorite in this tournament, along with the University of South Carolina.

Others Advised Not To Appear

By CLARKE JONES
Local police yesterday arrested Louis Woodberry, the disbanded "Ugly Club," in connection with the Monday night ransacking of the police chief's office. After Woodberry turned himself in, Police Capt. William D. Blake charged the student, who admitted having ripped out two telephone wires in Police Chief W. T. Sloan's office, with malicious damage to public property. Other students connected with the incident, according to Blake, were all prepared to turn themselves in also but John Manning, a local attorney, had advised the boys not to go to the station but to let the police find them. Manning, who has agreed to take the case if Woodberry wishes, told the boys to stay away from the station because "They won't be any rougher on you, as all they want is additional information." The students had previously called their parents and informed them of their being in the incident and had a proposed appointment at the station at 1:30. UGLIEST
Woodberry, who bore the title of "ugliest" as president of the club, more formally known as the "Philosophical Society of 1799," was set free on $200 bond. One of his SAE fraternity brothers, Edward Pell of Charlotte, posted bond for him. His case should come up in Recorder's Court on Tuesday, according to Blake. "After bond has been received," he said, "the case is in the hands of the court." When asked why he committed the act, Woodberry, who has been on probation for incidents connected with an earlier "Ugly Club" party, said, "It was just something that happened on the spur of the moment. I just wasn't thinking." Woodberry told Blake they realized they had done wrong and that until they admitted their acts the entire student body would stand accused. STARTED MONDAY
The affair developed Monday night after several members of the club had gone to the police station to bail out Hosea Wilson of Danville, Va., who had been arrested for drunken driving. While he was being bailed out, some of the students slipped past Officer Graham Creel, the only officer on duty that night, and entered Chief Sloan's office. The boys stole several items, including an old revolver, traffic tickets, ticket payment notices, a couple of fingerprint rollers and a fountain pen desk set. They also set fire to the wastebasket and Woodberry pulled out the telephone wires.

Ellington To Play For The Spring German

Duke Ellington will be the featured artist for the UNC Spring Germans weekend of April 27-28. Ellington, nicknamed "Duke" at the age of eight by a chum who admired his regal air, at one time planned an art career after he had won a scholarship for his work in oils. He soon deserted painting for music, however. Born in Washington, D. C. he at one time had several bands of his own there. In 1923 he made his big decision and went to New York with a five-piece band. His success came almost immediately, and by 1933 the "Duke" was well known in the United States and Europe. The Ellington music was once said to be one of the few American contributions to world culture. His "Black and Tan Fantasy", "Mood Magic", "Sophisticated Lady", "Solitude" and "Caravan" (written with Juan Tizol) are now immortal classics. The dance for this year's Germans weekend will be Friday, April 27, from 8-12 p.m. The concert will be Saturday, April 28, from 2-4 p.m.

MORITZ PREPARING VOLUME

Ernst Moritz, lecturer in the Dept. of Germanic Languages, is currently preparing a commentary on the works of Stefan George, the highly influential German symbolist. He is also editing for publication some 300 letters written to him by Stefan George, one of his closest friends. Dr. Moritz was with George at the time of his death in 1933, after the latter had left Germany when Hitler took over.
