

Playmakers Open Tomorrow

Carolina Playmakers' production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will begin tomorrow in the Forest Theatre. Performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Directed by James M. Riley, member of the Playmakers' staff and UNC Dept. of Dramatic Art, the production features a cast of students and two UNC professors. Assistant professor of dramatic art, Walter Smith, assistant professor of statistics, will portray Oberon.

Riley designed the production's elaborate set which is a background of nature in the outdoor theatre.

The cast of the production includes Dick Newdick, of Augusta, Me., as Puck; Mrs. Jane Albans, of Chapel Hill, as Titania; Russell Link, of Jamaica, N. Y., as Oberon; and Robert Thomas, of Thomasville, as Bottom.

Other cast members include Gloria Di Costanza, of Chapel Hill, as Hermia; Al Green, of Greensboro, as Demetrius; Miss Fletch, of Birmingham, as Helena; Jim Potter, of Greensboro, as Theseus; Mrs. Smith, of Chapel Hill, as Hippolyta; and Jurgensen, of Chapel Hill, as Quince.

The production is under the direction of Foster Fitz-Simons, associate professor of dramatic art. The production is by Goldstein, of Baltimore, Md., and costumes are by Miss June Plafftown.

The production is managed by William B. Eaton, of Winchesboro, and Sarah Cannon, of Durham. Properties are by Robert Link, of Rock Island, Tenn., and the electrician is James Held, of Durham.

The production's previous performance was in 1933 and in 1934.

Senior Barefoot Day

Senior members will throw off their shoes for their annual Barefoot Day, with the event from 3 to 7 p. m. in the Forest Theatre.

Prizes donated by local merchants will be served beginning at 5 p. m. The combo, said Senior Chairman Ken Anderson, will hold forth until dark.

"The rain," said Ogburn, "will go out, hoping it will be before the afternoon."

Prizes for the drawing will be of numbers and Fury tickets — in the Forest Theatre.

The week began Monday with tickets to Sound and continued Tuesday with a senior softball game and games, and yesterday with a mass meeting in the Forest Theatre and later in the Chamber House spoke on loyalty at the mass meeting.

Exum Elected To Head Men's Honor Council

Jim Exum, rising senior from Snow Hill, has been elected to preside over the Men's Council for next year, succeeding Ogburn Yates, senior from Asheboro.

Others elected to the Council besides chairman Exum are Luther Hodges Jr., rising senior from Leaksville, who will be the Student Council representative; Jeff Hare, rising sophomore from Ann Arbor, Mich., who will act as clerk, and Ned Meekins, rising junior from Raleigh, who will fill the post of alternate clerk.

In announcing the changes, outgoing chairman Yates pointed out that the Men's Council is now operating under the revised constitution, passed recently by the student body, which provides that the Men's Council shall deal solely with honor code offenses. The Student Government representatives heard members of the library staff discuss the increasing extent of theft, vandalism, and misuse of library property at a meeting of the Librarian's Conference last week.

'Orpheus' Is Series Show

The seventh movie of the Spring Film Series will be shown tonight at 8:00 p. m. in Carroll Hall when GMAA presents "Orpheus."

This French film was written and directed by Jean Cocteau and is done in his characteristic symbolic style of "Blood of a Poet" and "Beauty and the Beast," earlier Film Series presentations.

The story is the old legend of Orpheus, a musician, whose wife Eurydice is transported to Hades. Orpheus determines to follow and attempt to bring her back to life and earth.

The film is set in modern times, and dress and symbolism are modern. Starring in the title role is the French screen star Jean Marais.

The final film of the series, to be shown on May 17, is the American production of "Morocco," featuring Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper.

Admission to Film Series presentations is by season ticket only.

ent Council is now the court of original jurisdiction for campus code violations, election law cases, and cases involving the student constitution.

Charles Katzenstein, senior from New York City, is outgoing clerk, and Sonny Evans, sophomore from Durham, is past Student Council representative.

Library Vandalism, Thefts, Misuse Cited By Officials

Student Government representatives heard members of the library staff discuss the increasing extent of theft, vandalism, and misuse of library property at a meeting of the Librarian's Conference last week.

Andrew H. Horn, University Librarian, appealed for assistance from student leaders, pointing out that the entire student body's reputation is damaged by the actions of a relative few. Horn said the greater majority of law-abiding students are first to suffer from the effects of this situation.

Bob Young, student body president; Jim Exum, chairman of Men's Honor Council; Sam Magill, director of student activities; and Luther H. Lawing, chairman of the Little Legislative Action Due In Meeting Tonight

By NEIL BASS

Only one action is on tap tonight for the third session of the student Legislature's 21st Assembly.

Representatives will convene on the fourth floor of New East Building at 7:30.

The one action slated to be dealt with by solons is approval of five members to a committee to select delegates to the National Student Assn. convention.

The appointments, made by President Bob Young, are Jim Holmes, Don Freeman, Harriet

Equipment Stolen At Tapping

Approximately $425 worth of audio equipment, used in the Golden Fleece tapping and Valkyrie Sing last week, has been stolen from Memorial Hall, according to officials of the Fleece.

The equipment, including amplifier, record player and loudspeaker, was apparently taken from one of Memorial Hall's backstage rooms within a few days of the Monday night ceremonies. The material was loaned to the organization by Kemp Nye, owner of a downtown record and radio shop. Nye often lends his equipment free of charge to campus organizations which do not have their own.

A list of the stolen items includes: Garrard Model T player, with GE cartridge, single stylus diamond. Klipsch baffle, with Electrovoice 12-inch speaker. Pilot AA905 35 watt amplifier. Assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs Ray Jefferies said students knowing the whereabouts of the equipment may notify him in his South Building office.

Two 'Mothers Of Year' To Get $100 Wardrobes

Students have been urged to support their choice in the Mother of the Year contest being sponsored by a local store.

Two Mothers of the Year — one from town and one from campus — will be presented with a $100 wardrobe apiece. Any mothers or housemothers from Chapel Hill, Carrboro or the Campus is eligible.

Letters of nomination should include information concerning her character, accomplishment and family. The letter should also explain why she deserves distinction. The contest ends on May 8. Letters should be mailed to J. B. Robbins, Box 1107, Chapel Hill, or submitted directly to the store.

10 Coeds, 2 Others In Miss Chapel Hill Contest Here Today

Miller Is Pharmacy President

Members of the Pharmacy student body elected Donald J. Miller, junior from Raleigh as their president in a general election held Tuesday.

Other officers chosen were Vice-President Shirley Bumgardner, West Jefferson; Secretary-Treasurer Janet Pipes, Asheville; and Men's Honor Council representative, Joe E. Smith, Connelly Springs.

Voters in the Tuesday election also chose officers for the Student Branch of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Assn. Those elected were President Byron Huckaby, Winston-Salem; Vice-President Pete D. Freeman, Asheboro; Secretary Loretta Barefoot, Asheville; Treasurer Ernest L. Carraway, Williamston; executive member Charles Barger, Hickory; and assistant to the president, Hugh Hinton, Middlesex.

Past President Van H. King noted that 181 students out of a possible 216 cast ballots in the election.

Locks Proposed For Law School

Law student James M. Johnson said yesterday that locks should be placed on law building rooms in which students' typewriters are kept.

Johnson is one of seven students whose portable typewriter was stolen between 12 p. m. Saturday and 2 a. m. Sunday. He said it has been proposed that locks be placed on the doors and students be given their own keys. "It's just a matter of the proposal's being approved by the students," he said. He then added he "felt sure they would."

None of the typewriters have been recovered despite the offer of $100 reward for information concerning their whereabouts. A reward of $20 has been offered for information leading to recovery of any one of the missing machines.

Miss Chapel Hill for 1956 will be chosen from 12 entrants tonight in the sixth annual Chapel Hill Beauty and Personality Pageant.

Sponsored by the Chapel Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce, the event will begin at 7 o'clock in the Chapel Hill High School Auditorium. Tickets cost $1 and may be bought from any of the local JCs, according to M. H. Jennings Jr., Pageant chairman.

Judges will be Bucky Snider of High Point, past president of the N. C. Jaycees; Edgar Garganus of Williamston, president of the N. C. Jaycees; Charles Cooper, photographer for the Durham Herald; and Mrs. J. B. Brame of Durham, who has been active in judging many local and state beauty contests.

Of tonight's 12 contestants, 10 are UNC coeds, and one is an ex-coed.

CONTESTANTS
The contestants are: Misses Dickie Pickrell, Whiteville; Doris Atkins, Richmond; Sylvia Sue Yelton, Bakersville; Mary "Pee Wee" Batten, Mt. Gilead; Elinor Cowing, Chapel Hill; Anne Matthews, Chapel Hill; Joan Norwood, Chapel Hill; Carol Ray, Chapel Hill; Jo Anne Knott, Oxford; Joan Willsey, Norfolk, Va.; Libby McDowell, Wake Forest; Shirley Carpenter, Oakboro.

Each contestant will be judged on four basic qualities in accordance with the rules of the national Miss America selections. They are personality and poise, facial beauty, beauty of figure and talent.

STARTS AT FIVE
Judging will begin at 5 p. m. today when the contestants and judges have dinner together at the Ranch House. Here the entrants will be judged on personality and poise.

Each entrant will make three appearances during the program at the auditorium. One will be in an evening gown, one in a bathing suit and one as a performance of her talent.

Five finalists will be chosen from these appearances. Each finalist will then make a separate appearance to answer one question on any topic from the judges. Their answers will be the final part of the judging.

After the Pageant the entrants will vote for "Miss Congeniality" of the contest. The winner will

Victims Of Wreck Still In Hospital

Two UNC students are still in Memorial Hospital and two others are in the Infirmary as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile wreck here Saturday.

Mark Cherry, 19, sophomore from Mt. Olive, and Miss Mary Lois Rucker, junior from Spindale, are still in the hospital. The condition of each is reported as "good" by the hospital.

Cherry suffered a broken right arm and a cut eyelid. Miss Rucker, the most seriously injured in the accident, broke her right leg in two places and her left arm in one.

Still in the infirmary is Miss Ann Hargrave Fullton, junior from Greensboro, and Miss Jane Marian Little, junior from Charlotte.

Dr. W. G. Morgan, associate physician, reports that both are "doing fine and should be released in a day or two."

Career Meet Planned For 7:30 Tonight

The final program in a series of career meetings sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma Pi and the Placement Service will be held tonight at 7:30 in Gerrard Hall.

Dr. William McGehee, director of Personnel Research and Training for Fieldcrest Mills, Inc., will discuss "After Employment, What?" Interested students have been invited to attend.

McGehee is author of numerous articles in the area of psychology, with emphasis on training and selection of personnel in industry.

He holds degrees from the University of the South and George Peabody College. He is a fellow in the American Psychological Assn., a diplomat in Industrial Psychology, a member of the N. C. Psychological Assn., American Society of Training directors, and chairman of the N. C. Prison Advisory Board.

UNC Takes Big Four Sports Day
