Retiring Profs To Be Honored

The UNC Press Club will hold its annual spring banquet Thursday night with retiring professors O. J. Coffin and Phillips Russell of the Journalism School as honor guests.

The dinner, to be held at 6:30 p. m. in Lenoir Hall's south dining room, will be open to the public. Main speaker will be Chuck Hauser, associate editor of The Chapel Hill Weekly and UNC graduate, who will travel to Russia during the early summer.

Dean Norval Neil Luxon of the Journalism School will announce winners of the Coffin, Graves, Johnson Scholarships, being awarded for the first time. The three scholarships, to go to rising seniors in the Journalism School, were provided by the Journalism Foundation.

They honor the first three heads of journalism instruction here: Louis Graves, 1922-24; Gerald W. Johnson, 1924-26; and O. J. Coffin, 1926-53.

"Skipper" Coffin has continued on the journalism teaching staff since relinquishing the deanship three years ago. He and Mrs. Coffin will leave Chapel Hill this summer to reside in Raleigh and Canton, Russell, a member of the faculty since 1931, teaches creative writing. Author of a number of books, chiefly biographies, he also serves as editor of The Chapel Hill News-Leader.

Tickets for the dinner are being handled by Press Club members and the Journalism School office.

Recent Collections In Library Display

Representative books and manuscripts from recently donated collections are now on display in the Wilson Library.

The donations include many valuable first editions of Whittier, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Dickens, Thackeray, Raleigh and Twain.

Four new collections of over 1000 volumes each have been received during the past year. These gifts are from the library of the late Edwin August Bjorkman, presented by Mrs. Lucy Millender Bjorkman.

The Howard W. Odum collection, presented by the Odum family; the library of Dr. William deBerniere MacNider, presented by Sallie Ford MacNider; and the Gamman collection, given by Harold W. Gamman.

William A. Whitaker has donated the first issue of the first edition of "Oliver Twist," several Thackeray first editions, and the very rare first issue of Longfellow's "Evangeline."

Other donations include the first edition of Raleigh's "Essays," given by Paul Green; and the first American edition of "Huckleberry Finn," a gift of Claude W. Rankin.

Special cases on the first floor display recent additions to the Henderson-Shaw collection, and the Hoyt-French History collection. The Hoyt display includes proclamations and bulletins issued by Napoleon and exquisitely bound memoirs and histories of the Napoleonic period.

Also on display are portraits from "A Gallery of Famous Portraits of Presidents of the United States," donated by Dr. W. P. Jacobs.

MAJORETTES
Tryouts for majorettes for the University Band will be held Tuesday, May 20. Interested coeds have been asked to report to Emerson field at 4:30 p. m. that day.

Discussion Of Service Life To Be Held Thursday

A discussion of service life for prospective Navy and Marine wives will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Faculty Lounge of Morehead Planetarium.

Three speakers will discuss several facets of the life of a service woman. They will discuss service men's pay, transportation and social activities.

Speaking will be Mrs. Robert Carter Burns, wife of UNC Naval Science Professor Col. Burns; Capt. George S. Good, USMC, and Lt. Allen Josselyn, USN Supply Corps.

All interested persons have been invited to attend the meeting.

BA Seminar Here Today

A Seminar on "The Flow-of-Funds System of Social Accounts" will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Carroll Hall, under the auspices of the School of Business Administration.

Stephen Taylor of the National Income, Moneyflows and Labor Section, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C., will conduct the seminar.

Taylor's discussion will concern mainly the flow-of-funds system of accounts, which is one of the three major systems of social accounting now in use. He has been one of those intimately associated with the empirical implementation of the system on the staff of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

Four Students Working On Novels To Enter In Putnam Prize Competition

Four Carolina students are now working on novels they will enter in the Putnam Prize competition if they can finish in time, according to Miss Jessie Rehder of the English Dept. who is handling inquiries and entries in the competition.

The young novelists are Ted Rosenthal, Bob Fowler, Miss Sylvia Yelton, and Miss Margaret Ann Quellan. All four are members of Miss Rehder's Creative Writing Class and are working on novels instead of the customary short stories.

Miss Rehder said so far there have been three actual entries and 45 inquiries from places all over the world. The entries include one from UNC, one from State College in Raleigh, and one from the Philippine Islands.

An extension of eligibility for the prize has been made this year, Miss Rehder said, to include "any writer who has at one time been a student at the University or who is at present enrolled in any branch of the University. Students in the Extension Division are also eligible." Before, only students currently enrolled or graduate students were eligible.

Either fiction or non-fiction books of "general interest" may be submitted, she explained, but works of a "strongly scholarly or highly specialized nature" will not be considered.

Submitted manuscripts must consist of at least 40,000 words with a detailed synopsis of the unwritten parts of the book. They must be submitted by July 15, 1956, accompanied by return postage, to Miss Rehder, Box 350, Chapel Hill.

Judges this year will be Frances Gray Patton of Durham, author of "Good Morning, Miss Dove," and James Ramsey Ullman, whose "Tiger of the Snows," the autobiography of Tenzing of Everest, was published recently by Putnam.

Fink Wins Award In Recent Opinion Contest

Miss Gretchen B. Fink, freshman from Chapel Hill, has received an award for her entry in Reed and Barton's Silver Opinion Competition held on campus here last February and March.

The announcement was made from Reed and Barton Silver Smiths', Taunton, Mass. offices.

She will receive a special hand engraved Certificate of Merit, for her excellent essay selected as the best entry from UNC by Reed and Barton's Scholarship Advisory Board, composed of the deans of nineteen leading universities and colleges, according to the announcement.

Miss Fink's essay was one of more than 5000 submitted from 150 colleges and universities.

If you must sprain your ankle, there's nothing so fine as a mountain for doing it. Beaches are swell for shells and sunburn. And the great beautiful woods hold enough mosquitos and wasps for the sturdiest out-of-doors man.

But pal, one thing you won't find in the glorious summer wonderlands is a bookshop as good as the famous old emporium in Chapel Hill. Even the thick-headedest muscleman begins to feel a bit empty in the cranium by the Fourth of July.

Don't let your brains rust out this summer. Get on the ball, pal, get on the ball. Start stowing away a supply of light but not stupid paper-backs from the place where good paper-backs grow on trees.
