VISITING COMMITTEE IS FOR CAR RESTRICTION

Robert Patterson Jr. Wins J. Parker Award

Robert B. Patterson Jr. of Wilson was selected to receive the J. Parker Jr. Medal for Leadership in Student Government. The award was chosen largely for work with the Student Council during the past school year, and as a member of the national revision committee, and as Director of Student Government. The award was presented by Sam Magill, who announced the award.

In addition to his activities as a member of the Student Council, Patterson has been active as a member of the Dance Committee, the Chess Club, Intenfraternity

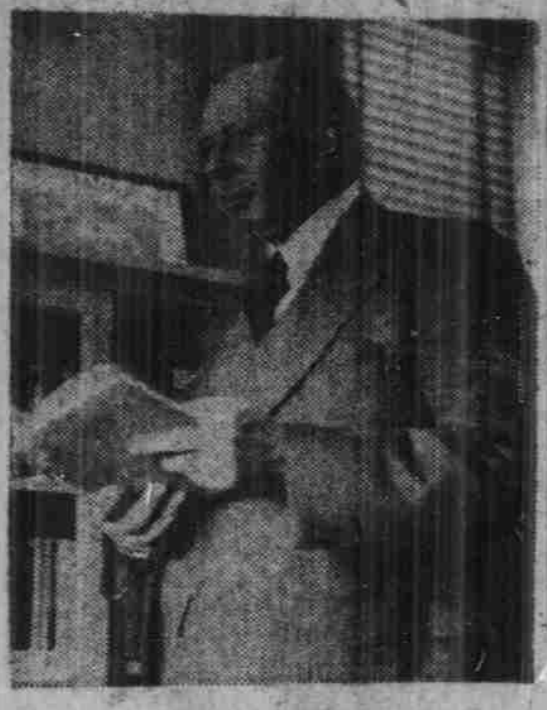

Coffin and Russell To Be Feted

(Skipper) Coffin and Phil Russell, retiring UNC journalism professors, will be honored at a banquet on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the UNC Press Club banquet. The banquet will be somewhat anticlimax to the retirement of the professors. Last year's banquet was also held in their honor. The state legislation regarding retirement of professors is pending then.

The banquet Thursday night at the Hauser, associate editor of Chapel Hill Weekly, will be principal speaker. Walter H. Johnson and Louis Graves, heads of the journalism department, will be given to three risings. The general public is invited to attend the banquet, and can get tickets at the School of Journalism office in Bynum Hall.

Faculty Members Receive Appointments, Promotions

Appointment of two assistant professors and promotions for faculty members have been announced by Chancellor Robert B. House, after approval by President William C. Friday and the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. The faculty before the meeting of the fall semester will include: William Womble Forrest as assistant professor, Dept. of Pathology; Dr. E. Glover III, as assistant professor in the Dept. of Physics; Dr. Forrest, a native of Winston-Salem, received his B.S. in 1932 from Harvard in 1948. He was instructor at the Tulane Medical School. He is a member of the American Medical Association, College of Pathologists, and several other medical and pathological societies. He is a member of the American Physical Society and the American Institute. He is a member of the list of promotions and the advancement of Dr. Everett Palmatier from associate professor to professor and chair-

CHANCELLOR HOUSE gets Di-Phi Award

Chancellor House Wins Di Phi Award

Chancellor R. B. House was honored Tuesday night at a banquet by the Philanthropic Assembly and the Dialectic Senate. He was presented with the Di-Phi Award, given each year by the two societies to the man in their estimation who has "benefited the University, the state, and the nation to great distinction."

John Curtis, past speaker of the Phi, presented the award to House during the meeting, presided over by Dave Reid, former president of the Di. Curtis expressed his gratification that such a man as Chancellor House should receive the award.

Several other awards were made at the same time. These included awards by the Phi for: outstanding senior, John Curtis; outstanding freshman, Jess Stribling; and outstanding orator, Jim Monteith. The Phi made a special award this year to one of its outstanding past members, H. A. Seiber of Chapel Hill, who, according to Laurence Mathews, newly-elected speaker of the Phi, is a "prominent rising young author." Seiber is a past speaker of the Phi.

The Di's outstanding faculty achievement award went to Dr. David G. Monroe of the Political Science Dept. An outstanding achievement award was presented to Di member Pebley Barrow. Five members of the Di were accorded the privilege of wearing the Di pin: Scotty Hester, Eugene Whitehead, Stan Shaw, William Self, and Jim Holmes.

In his acceptance speech, Chancellor House discussed the growth of the University, and expressed his belief that it would continue to grow especially in the field of educating.

In line with this, he mentioned that Old East had four men in each room the year after it was built. He said that while things would not be that way in the future new dormitories could not be built fast enough to alleviate the conditions.

'Pre-Exam Jam Session' Is Tomorrow

A $40 clothing gift certificate is one of the prizes that will be given away free at the University Club "Pre-Exam-Cram Jam Session" in Kenan Stadium tomorrow night. Entertainment and at least 15 door prizes will be the order of the evening at the last festive campus-wide event of the year according to University Club President Joe Clapp. Admission is free and there will be a variety of entertainment including jazz, hillbilly, and singing groups. The "Banana Bunch" (the band with a peel) and George Hamilton's "Country Gentlemen" are just two of the groups that will be on hand to provide a musical air to the proceedings.

Contract Still Has Not Been Let For New Dorm Buildings

By CARKE JONES
Construction of three new men's dormitories and the addition to Spencer women's dormitory has not yet begun. University Business Manager Claude Teague, in explaining the delay, said the contract still has not been let. "We hope to let it this summer," he said.

Auditor Urges Members To Make Reports

The Auditor for the Student Activities Fund yesterday reminded all member organizations that their finances must be put in order before school closes, or at least before their treasurer and other responsible officers leave Chapel Hill for the summer. Auditor Harry A. Kear said this means:

That all money due the member organizations be collected, deposited at the bank and the deposit slip brought in to the Fund Office; That all obligations of member organizations must be paid or reported; That, if they intend to function during the summer, a treasurer must be appointed and certified to the Fund Office; That all 1956-1957 budgets also be brought in. It is necessary for these things to be done before the annual financial statements can be properly prepared and the books set up for the new year, Kear said.

Weaver Says Participation In Student Government Vital

"The business of student government is not just to drain off excess energy but has an educational significance as long as it is part of the rational makeup," Dean of Student Affairs Fred Weaver said Monday night. Speaking informally before members of the University Party, Weaver said "in participating in student government, students like yourselves are taking part in something that is a vital, not extraneous, part in the educational process."

However, he said, "I'm not disparaging academics. The biggest wheel on campus can't be a good student" without having academic experience. In discussing some objectives for next year, Weaver started by looking back over some high spots of this year. He listed the Carolina Symposium on Public Affairs, the fine work of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils, and the fine work of student leaders as showing what student initiative can do.

For next year, Weaver noted several things. They included better organization of campus spirit, furthering the "fine work of the English Club" in bringing speakers here — i.e., E. E. Cummings, for instance — and bringing visitors here and supporting them for awhile.

Weaver also commented on the foreign student exchange program. "Only one foreign student is here this year on the program. Why should there not be more?" he said. "Just to be associated with them (foreign students) is of educational value."

Dean Weaver also praised Bob Young for having "done such a good job in the first few weeks of his administration. He pointed out the automobile report as "sensible and forthright" and as one of the highlights thus far.

Summer Group Meets Today

The Summer Activities Council will hold its second meeting today at 4 p. m. in Roland Parker No. 3. Committees which were set up at the first meeting last Thursday will give their reports. The five committees are Social, Watermelon Festival, Welcome, Newspaper, and Graduate.

The Council represents the work of Graham Memorial Activities Board, YMCA, and YWCA. Some of the activities suggested at the last meeting were weekly square dances, a special Spanish dancers show, in addition to the watermelon festival. Present plans also call for a weekly newspaper. It will be edited by the students and contain only news of interest to the summer school students.

Student body president Bob Young stressed that all the committees were not as yet full, and there was still more work to be done.

Pharmacy Students Honored

The graduating class of the School of Pharmacy was honored at the eighth annual Justice Drug Company banquet held at the Hope Valley Country Club last night. Included as guests were the wives of the graduating students and the faculty and graduate students in pharmacy as well as officials of the state pharmaceutical organizations.

E. A. Brecht, dean of the pharmacy school, acted as toastmaster. The host was P. A. Hayes, president of the Justice Drug Company of Greensboro and his staff. Gifts to the graduating students were presented by W. P. Brewer and Stephen T. Forrest, vice-presidents of the firm. Dr. Trella Collins of Durham gave the address of the evening.

Women's College Probe Report Not Disclosed

The Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees yesterday unanimously approved the recent automobile restriction proposal. The Committee also heard a report by Consolidated University Acting President William C. Friday on the recent Woman's College investigation.

The text of the WC report will not be made public until after the May 28 meeting of the full Board of Trustees here. The auto report calls for restriction of freshman possession of automobiles starting next fall and of sophomores who don't maintain a "C" average effective in the fall of 1958.

The measure has not been officially approved however, said Visiting Committee Chairman William P. Saunders of Raleigh. It still has to "meet the approval of the full Board of Trustees," he said.

Hill Yarborough, chairman of the sub-committee of the Visiting Committee of the Board of Trustees, will report to the full Board that the Visiting Committee approved the recommendation submitted to it by the administration. Consolidated University Acting President William C. Friday said last night he "hoped the Board would approve the report by Yarborough."

In recent years, the Board of Trustees has nearly always approved recommendations made to it by the Visiting Committee or the Executive Committee. It is expected that the full board will also approve the car restriction proposal, therefore restricting freshman possession of cars next fall.

The plan was originally drawn up by the Traffic Advisory Commission appointed by Student Body President Bob Young. The student Legislature unanimously approved the report on Thursday, April 26.

The plan then went to Dean of Student Affairs Fred Weaver. From there, it passed progressively to Chancellor Robert B. House, Friday, the Visiting Committee and

Housing Situation For Both Single And Married Students To Be Worse Next Year

The housing situation for married and single students, will be worse next year than it has been this year, according to James Wadsworth, University housing director. He said due to the anticipated increase in enrollment, and the fact that "we have no new housing except for the four new units in Victory Village, the students will be living in even more crowded conditions than they are now."

Portrait Of Graham To Be Unveiled Here

A portrait of Dr. Frank Porter Graham will be unveiled in Hill Hall in ceremonies at 11:30 a. m., Saturday, May 19. The portrait was painted by Leopold Seyffert of New York, one of the foremost portrait painters in the world.

The portrait is a gift to the University from close friends and admirers of Dr. Graham. The first steps toward obtaining a distinguished portrait were taken by the students of the University in 1949 when Dr. Graham resigned as President to accept appointment to the United States Senate.

Many students contributed small amounts, but they did not raise enough to obtain the type of portrait desired. Accordingly, at the request of some of the students, a committee was organized in 1955 to receive contributions from friends of Dr. Graham. At the unveiling ceremonies on

One-Act Plays End Tonight

The Carolina Playmakers will present three one-act plays free of charge for the last time tonight at 7:30 in the Playmakers' Theatre.

The three plays are student written, student directed, and will be performed by students. All students, faculty members and their families, and townspeople have been invited to attend.

The three plays are: "Prometheus Rebound," a fantasy-satire by Paul T. Chase of Chapel Hill; "To Play The Bear," a comedy about a Mexican bride-to-be awaiting her lover by Allen Lacy of Dallas, Texas; and "General Alarm," a comedy about a 10-year old compulsive liar by Jim Potat of Charlotte.

Seven League Members Attending Convention

Seven members of the Chapel Hill unit of the League of Women Voters are attending sessions of the Chapel Hill unit of the League of Women Voters are attending sessions of the League's Fourth State Convention closing today in Asheville.

They are Mrs. Harold Walters, State President; Mrs. Richmond Bond, local Unit President; Mrs. Lawrence Newmann, local Finance Chairman; Mrs. Hughes A. Bryan, Mrs. Victory Greulich, local Study Chairman; Mrs. Arthur Fink and Mrs. Donald Costello, Candidate for State Director.

A highlight of the program schedule was a panel discussion last night in which UNC Professor David Monroe participated.
