Five Free Movies Set For Students

Free movies are continuing on the agenda of the entertainment sponsored by the Summer Activities Council. These films are offered free of charge each Thursday at 8 p.m. in Carol Hall, August 2 being an exception.

"Untamed" starring Tyrone Power and Susan Hayward is the exciting drama of empire building in Africa at the last half of the 19th century. This film will be presented on June 26. A selected short subject entitled "The Pilgrims" illustrates their struggle for freedom modified by authentic sets and period costumes which bring the Pilgrims to life.

On August 3, "On the Riviera," a musical comedy with Danny Kaye and Gene Tierney, will be performed on the film screen. For those enjoying light entertainment, this is a movie worthwhile. Depicting the disaster of the high seas, "The Sinking of the Titanic," reveals the last hours of the world's "safest, fastest," passenger liner.

The westward surge of the white man into Indian territory is the subject of "Broken Arrow" which stars James Stewart, Jeff Chandler and Debra Paget. This is an adult Western which gives insight into the often neglected Indian point of view in the controversy. This tragic and beautiful film will be offered for presentation on August 9. With this movie is a short entitled "William Shakespeare," which traces the course of the bard's life and contains excerpts from "Romeo and Juliet," "Henry V," and other favorites as they would have appeared in Shakespeare's own theatre, "The Globe."

An all star cast bespangles "Call Me Madam" which is an adaptation for the screen from the Broadway classic. The music of Irving Berlin, the song styling of Ethel Merman, and the choreography of Donald O'Connor and Vera Ellen total to an enjoyable movie which will be performed on August 16. Illustrating vividly the poverty-ridden populace of India in their native habitat is a short subject "Farmers of India—The Middle Ganges Valley."

Contracts For Newest Dorms Still Not Let

Contracts for the building of three new men's dormitories and an addition to Spencer women's dormitory at UNC have not yet been awarded.

And University Business Manager Claude Teague says it's because "The plans have not been finished yet."

"It takes a good while to draw up plans," he said, "and after they have been finished, they will have to be looked at by several people and then resubmitted."

"We keep telling them (the architects, George Watts Carr and Raymond Weeks, both of Durham) to get the plans finished," he said.

Teague also said several different contracts had to be let. "There are separate ones for the heating, wiring and equipment, etc." for both the new dormitories and the Spencer addition.

The men's dormitories, which will house approximately 700 male students, will be constructed on the side of the hill behind Kessing Pool. The Spencer addition will accommodate between 70 and 90 coeds.

The buildings were proposed last fall after a request for a $2 million government loan was granted by the Federal Government's Housing and Home Finance Agency. Teague made the request under authorization of the last General Assembly.

The loan will be paid back in 30 years, Teague hopes, from surpluses received due to a $30 increase in dormitory room rent per person. The increase went into effect last fall.

UNC Officials Ask $16 Million for Permanent Improvements of School

Officials at the University of North Carolina recently asked the State for $16,160,134 for permanent improvements, including a new pharmacy building and three new dormitories.

The requests were presented to the Advisory Budget Commission, which is making a tour of State institutions to hear budget requests for permanent improvements for the 1957-59 biennium.

A $1,740,000 request for housing for married students is the largest item.

The report included a list of 18 permanent improvements requested by the University.

The list, in order of priority, is headed by a $1,575,000 request for a new pharmacy building. The present pharmacy building, Howell Hall, would be remodeled and used for the School of Journalism. This was the second item on the list. It would cost $162,000 to remodel building, and equipment would cost and additional $60,000.

Starlight Ball To Be Held On July 28

The dance committee of the Summer Activities Council has announced the plans for the second campus-wide dance to be held for students attending summer school here on campus.

"The Starlight Ball," theme for the dance, will be held July 28 on the tennis courts. Music will be furnished by Bill Langley and his Star-Dreamers.

Anyone interested in helping with the plans for the dance is asked to contact either Earl Dawkins or Edna Faye Pugh, co-chairmen of the committee.

Those serving as committee chairmen of the dance are Marcia Warford, chairman of decorations, and Norris Bell, chairman of refreshments.

The dance held on the tennis courts last session was said to be a success by all those attending. Everyone attending the second session is invited to make their plans now to attend this second tennis court dance.

Bever Fined For Trespass

Dr. Christopher T. Bever, Associate Professor of Psychiatry in the University Medical School, was fined $50 and court costs by Judge William S. Stewart after pleading nolo contendere to a charge of trespass in a special session of the Chapel Hill Recorder's Court last Friday.

The warrant charging the misdemeanor alleged that Dr. Bever trespassed on the property of his next door neighbor at 105 North Boundary Street on Tuesday evening, July 10.

It was known that police had been investigating the case for a period of several days before the Tuesday night incident, when Dr. Bever was arrested by Chapel Hill patrolmen as he ran from the neighbor's property back to his own home next door.

It was learned from an official source that Dr. Bever has resigned his post here.
