Blanket Party Set Tonight At 8:30

Chancellor Committee Is Chosen

Acting UNC President William Friday has named a selection committee which will assist in finding a new chancellor for the University.

The new chancellor will succeed Chancellor Robert B. House who will retire June 30, 1957.

The 17-member committee will recommend at least three names to the president of the University. Under the administrative code, the president has the duty to nominate a chancellor for the approval of the board of trustees.

Members of the committee are board of trustee members J. Spencer Love of Greensboro, Carl Venters of Jacksonville, Bill Yarborough of Louisburg, John W. Umstead of Chapel Hill and Floyd Crouse of Sparta; from the alumni, Mayne Albright of Raleigh, William D. Snider of Greensboro, Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, Frank Parker of Asheville and Dr. A. M. McDonald of Charlotte, and from the faculty, Prof. James L. Godfrey, Prof. Dougald MacMillan, Prof. Rupert Vance, Prof. John N. Couch, Prof. Paul N. Guthrie, Dr. Ernest Craige, and Prof. M. T. Van Hecke.

Kemp D. Battle of Rocky Mount will act as liaison officer between the committee selecting a chancellor and the Victor S. Bryant committee seeking a new president for the Consolidated University.

New Parking Laws Adopted

When UNC students come back to school next month, they will have to abide by some new parking restrictions.

Starting September 10, there will be no more parking on Rosemary Street from Boundary Street west to Carrboro, and there will be only one hour parking on Columbia Street from Rosemary to Cameron.

The Town Council, at its meeting Monday night asked that the ordinances be passed, and their passing is only a formality.

The no parking on Rosemary was started last year when two blocks were restricted on a trial basis. The idea worked so well that now the whole street has been made a no parking area.

At the request of the Merchant's Association, Columbia Street parking will be restricted to one hour in order to leave those spaces open for townspeople. These parking places, in the past years have been used by students for off-campus parking.

Dance Team Here

Above are Tom and Chee Davis who will be on hand tonight to entertain at the Jimmy Capps Blanket Party. The two, a brother and sister team, will do several modern dance routines.

Two Negro Girls Are Admitted To WCUNC

Two Negro women have been accepted for entrance this fall into The Woman's College of The University of North Carolina.

Miss Mildred Newton director of admissions announced last Monday that Miss Elizabeth Smart, 17, of Raleigh, and Mrs. Betty Davis Tillman, 19, of Wadesboro, will be the first Negroes ever accepted by the Woman's College.

When questioned as to reasons for the move, Admissions Director Newton said "we were guided by the rules of the whole university."

Acting Chancellor W. W. Pierson said "They have satisfied the requirements of admission, the declarations of the courts and the actions of the trustees." He added that he does not anticipate "any trouble."

Pierson's reference to "declarations of the courts" apparently concerned the Circuit Court opinion in the case of three Durham Negroes who sought admission to the University here in Chapel Hill in early 1954. In writing this opinion Judge Morris A. Soper said "... the Negroes as a class may not be excluded because of their race or color."

Exam Schedule

The examination schedule for the second session summer school is as follows:

Tuesday, August 21
10:30 classes—8-10 a.m.
2 p.m. classes—11-1 p.m.
7:30 classes—3-5 p.m.

Wednesday, August 22
9 a.m. classes—8-10 a.m.
12 noon classes—11-1 p.m.
P.M.'s and others not otherwise provided for—3-5 p.m.

The Woman's College Admissions Director also announced that applications from five other Negroes have been denied.

Plans for admission of the two Negro girls include their sharing of a room in a wing of Shaw residence hall where they will have a bathroom of their own.

Woman's College officials indicated that the girl's admission only followed policies established by the 1955 acceptance of three Durham Negroes at the university here, and the more recent admission of two Negroes to summer sessions at State College.

Miss Smart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Smart of Raleigh and is a graduate of J. W. Ligon High School. The other applicant, Mrs. Tillman, was an active and outstanding student at the Anson County Training School from which she graduated in May.

Last Issue

This is the last issue of the Summer School Weekly for the second summer school session. The Editor, Managing Editor and all the staff are very weary, and look forward to a little rest before the beginning of the fall semester.

Jimmy Capps To Head List Of Entertainers

By BILL BARNES

The casual mood of the summer social season will be climaxed tonight with a blanket party from 8:30-10:30 on the lawn in front of Morehead Planetarium.

Recorded music from records spun by well-known deejay Jimmy Capps will set the tempo for dancing on the large brick court at the foot of the Planetarium steps. Blankets will be spread on the nearby lawn.

GUEST PERFORMERS

Several guest entertainers will be on hand to help Capps entertain the party goers.

A team composed of Tom and Chee Davis will present the latest in modern dance. Tom is a rising junior at UNC; Chee is a Nashville, North Carolina dance instructress.

George Hamilton, UNC student, entertainer and recording artist, will present a few of his whimsical folk renditions.

Raleigh vocalist Doug Franklin will join the troupe with his pleasing presentations of popular songs.

Jimmy Capps, perhaps the favorite nighttime deejay of this area, will be featured guest. He will furnish music from records used on his popular radio show, "Our Best To You," beamed nightly from station WPTF in Raleigh.

BROADCAST MONDAY

The blanket party proceedings will not be broadcast live because of WPTF's coverage of the Democratic Convention. However, plans are underway to tape tonight's show for presentation on Capps' Monday night program, on WPTF from 10-12 p.m.

The students have chosen the music for tonight's dancing by way of a "request box" placed in the Y-Court earlier this week.

If August showers should make the Planetarium walks too slippery for dancing and the grass too wet for blanketing, the party will be held in the basement of Cobb Dormitory.

Tonight's entertainment is being sponsored by the Summer School Activities Committee. The special Blanket Party Committee includes Miss Carole Crowder, Miss Eula Mae Wilson, Miss Ginny Margaret Meadows, Gordon Peacock, Bob Hinnant, Joe Creech and Don Starling, chairman.

Trio of Manuscripts Vie For Putnam Prize

Miss Jessie Rehder of UNC English Department today announced that there are three manuscripts which are strong contenders in the annual Putnam Prize competition.

The Putnam Prize is offered annually through UNC by Putnam Sons, Publishers. This year, eligibility has been extended to include any writer who has at one time been a student at UNC or who is presently enrolled in any branch of UNC, including the Extension Division. The prize consists of a $2,000 award to the author who submits the best book.

Also, Miss Rehder announced that the prize would not be offered again until 1958. This, she said, would give authors time to finish novels and books they are now working on.

Francis Patton, one of the two judges in the contest, has asked to withdraw because of the pressure of her own work, Miss Rehder said.

Plans For Art Museum Given Final Approval

Bids for the new Ackland Art Museum were registered by Tuesday of this week and plans have been approved for its erection on the site of the old Archer House on Columbia Street.

The building itself is estimated at a cost of eight-hundred thousand and with another hundred thousand dollars allocated for equipment. The interest on one million dollars donated by Mr. Ackland (figured at approximately thirty thousand dollars per year) will be utilized for the acquisition of objects of art for the new museum.

The structure is designed in two parts with the gallery in the front facing Columbia Street and the school located behind the gallery. On the first floor the school of Art-History, the art library, and a lecture hall will adequately serve art students.

The second floor will contain the classrooms and art studios. The sculpture department will be located in the basement. The designs have been presented by Egger & Higgins of New York and Weeks Co. of Durham.

The faculty for the new art building will be enlarged also. Edgar Thorne who received his A.B. and M.A. from this University has arrived at Carolina from Harvard where he has been working on his Ph.D. He will begin teaching Art History in the fall.

The building will also contain a memorial to the late Mr. Ackland. His white Italian marble sarcophagus, or tomb, will be located in the main floor gallery. It is still unknown as to what use the old art gallery—Person Hall—will be put.
