Parade Will Start At 8 p.m. At Gym

A parade and pep rally tonight will precede tomorrow's opening football game with N. C. State here.

Head cheerleader Jim Bynum said the parade would start at 8 p.m. in front of Woollen Gym. Bynum plans to lead the parade through the campus, circling past all the dorms, and winding back to the intramural field beside the gym, where the pep rally will get under way about 8:30 p.m.

The cheerleaders, riding in convertibles, along with other students in cars, walking people, people on bikes, and possibly part of the band will be in the parade, Bynum said.

The cheerleaders will unveil several new cheers, on which they have been practicing since Sept. 10.

Exact details were incomplete last night but Bynum said the program will be completed early today. The rally will last for about an hour after the parading students reach the intramural field, unless the students show a desire to continue, Bynum said.

All the cheerleaders have been working on the arrangements of the night's program, Bynum said.

The cheerleaders will make their first appearance of the year before the entire student body tonight. They are Misses Mary Lee Breese, Gwen Heinzen, Patsy Poythress, Amy Morse, Val Von Ammon, Shirley Dees, and Larry Ford, Tom Davis, Frankie Black, Harold Williamson, Pete Julia, Miss Joan Wender and Bynum.

"I hope the student body will turn out en masse so that the people in West Raleigh can hear that we mean business," Bynum said.

Students Invited To Ball In Rock Hill

The Winthrop Recreation Assn. of Rock Hill, S. C. has invited the University student body to its "Bermuda Ball" on Saturday, September 9, in the Peabody Gymnasium in Rock Hill.

Student President Bob Young received the invitation this week. The ball will be from 8 to 11:45 p.m.

Sorority Rush Week To Begin

Sorority Rush will begin formally today with the Pan Hellenic Tea in Graham Memorial.

By attending this tea a girl indicates her intention of participating in sorority rushing, according to Miss Harriet Lewis of the Pan-Hellenic Council. All girls attending this tea automatically receive invitation from the six sororities on campus for the first round of parties Monday. Failure to attend the tea eliminates a girl from rush.

Girls wishing to participate in rush and unable to attend the tea should notify the office of the Dean of Women, Miss Lewis said.

Tea invitation times are as follows: 7 p.m., Smith, Carr, Nurses' dormitories; 7:30 p.m., Alderman; 8 p.m., Melver, and 8:30 p.m., Spencer.

The Pan-Hellenic Council has urged that this schedule be strictly followed. At the tea, girls will be introduced to Miss Martha Decker, advisor to the council; members of the council; the sorority presidents; and the sorority rush chairmen.

'Ruby Gentry' Will Be Shown Free Tonight

"Ruby Gentry," the first of the new movies in the Graham Memorial Activities Board Free Film Series, will be shown twice tonight in Carroll Hall, at 8 and 10 p.m.

According to officials in charge, the film is a story of a "beautiful, passionate woman of the swamps of eastern North Carolina who fights the easy way for a position in a community of aristocrats." Starring are Jennifer Jones and Charlton Heston. It's a movie "that's a must for any patriotic Carolinian," they said.

No smoking will be allowed during the presentations.

INFIRMARY

Those in the infirmary yesterday included:

Clay F. Church; William G. Lynch, Earl T. Kirkman, Donald C. McMillion, Claudius L. Carlton, Alvin W. Smith, Harry M. Giles Jr., Michael P. Cap, Harry L. Ellert Jr., Harcourt A. Morgan III.

FRANKFORT, KY. (AP) — Harry Lee Waterfield, acting governor of Kentucky, said last night a decision on whether to withdraw the National Guard from the towns of Sturgis and Clay will depend upon what action courts take in school integration suits. This means the troops will be on hand at least until early next week.

LONDON (AP) — Twelve of the nations attending the meeting on the Suez Canal in London have accepted the plan for a canal users' association. Sources close to the big three say they think all of the nations except Pakistan, and possibly Sweden, will adopt a declaration of intention to set up the association. The London conference ends today.

In Washington the State Department invited 10 American ship pilots to come in and talk things over. The pilots have applied for passports to go to Egypt to work at the Suez Canal. According to the State Department, there is no restriction on their going, but it feels they ought to know the tensions they would walk into.

Meanwhile, in Cairo the captain of a British rms ship said yesterday that Egyptian recruiting agents lured away 16 of his crew members with promises of high-paid jobs in Egypt. The captain said he had to speed out to sea from a port in Libya to keep other crew members from deserting. None of the deserters was British.

INTRAMURAL OFFICIALS

Students majoring in physical education are needed as intramural officials for tag football. Those interested have been asked to come to 301 Woollen Gym on Tuesday at 4 p.m.

UNC Students Wait For Drop-Add Processing

Students wait wearily in line to get their class schedules changed at the Central Records Office in Hanes Hall. Drop-add closes tomorrow at noon. Students with drop-add problems have been urged to report to the Hanes Hall basement as soon as possible with the proper drop-add forms. Freshmen and sophomores must obtain the forms from their advisors. Upper classmen are required to have slips from their advisors and the dean of their respective schools.

Three Coeds Named For UNC's Representatives In Annual CU Queen Contest Tomorrow

Three Carolina Coeds have been selected as UNC's contestants in the race for Consolidated University Queen.

UNC Campus Is Used For Civil Rights Filming

The Carolina campus was the scene yesterday for the filming of a picture by the Fund for the Republic, an organization sponsored by the Ford Foundation.

The film deals with civil rights and UNC was chosen for a subject since integration has been in effect here since 1951 with no violent opposition as there is in some southern schools. This year 13 Negroes have enrolled.

YDC Members Solicit For Members

Members of the Carolina Young Democrats Club are shown above soliciting students to join their club. From the Stevenson-Kaufman signs they are using, they seem to be taking advantage of the coming year.

Money For Dorms To Be Authorized Here Tomorrow

By CLARKE JONES

Contracts for the building of the three men's dormitories and an addition to Spencer women's dormitory have not yet been awarded.

A special meeting of the Consolidated University Board of Trustees will be held here tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. to formally authorize $2 million for the new buildings here.

Holding up the contract-awarding, according to University Business Manager Claude Teague, are the architectural plans. "The architects (George Watts Carr and Raymond Weeks, both of Durham) are working on the m'all along," he said.

"It takes a good while to draw up plans. As soon as they are ready they will be reviewed," he said. It will take about "a month or six weeks" to let the contract to bidders.

The actual construction of the buildings will not start probably for a couple of months, Teague said.

The dormitories were proposed last fall after a request for a $2 million government loan was granted by the Federal Government's Housing and Finance Agency. Teague made the request under authorization of the 1955 General Assembly.

There was only one men's dormitory—to be built behind Keesing Pool—to start with and would have housed over 700 students. Construction was expected to have begun on it and the addition, which will provide for approximately 75 coeds, shortly after Christmas, 1955.

Later it was decided three should be built with space for a total of 800-850 students. This caused the architects' plans to be changed. The bidding and construction was also put off.

The special meeting of the Board of Trustees was called for the formality of authorizing the funds. Teague explained the loan has already been approved but the trustees have to formally adopt a resolution adopting it.

The loan will be paid back in 30 years, Teague hopes, from surpluses received from a $30 increase in dormitory room rent per person. The increase went into effect last fall.

Frat Men Plan Protest Against Parking Bans

The Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity plans to protest the parking regulations imposed by the Chapel Hill aldermen last summer banning parking on Rosemary Street.

The fraternity men who are temporarily being allowed to park at the old Institute of Government building, feel that the regulations leave them "in the middle" and "in a hole."

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, which is affected by another phrase of the regulations restricting parking on Columbia Street, is backing up the protest very strongly. These frat men feel they are being placed at the mercy of the town. Several men, having talked with some townsmen, indicate that the regulations are meant to apply pressure on the University to build its own parking lots.

"I feel it is unjust," says Mike Lanner of SAE. "No one uses the space except fraternity men; it's ridiculous to make a guy move his car when no one else is using the space. I think it's just a reason to keep cars away from school."

"It makes things crowded and harder on frat men; they took away another lot, you know. I just don't like it," Dudley Baird said.

DISCRIMINATION

"It's just plain discrimination against frat men," according to Charlie Tompkins.

"We feel that the main problem," Jack Jones said, "is to have to come back from classes every day to use that fluid we have to clean little blue marks from our tires."

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity expresses the views that the regulations leave frat men with no place to turn and that frat men keep the town in business and are due a little consideration.

The Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity has taken a mild approach to the parking regulations because it has its own parking lot; but various members feel it's a little inconvenient, although they plan no protest.

The Pi Beta Phi Sorority feels left "in a hole." The girls plan no formal protest, although a few are protesting individually. They hope to ease the problem by building their own parking lot, for which some money has already been appropriated.

A few other groups plan to meet to discuss the regulations; so, by no means, is this parking situation settled yet!

October 1 Is Deadline For Student Insurance

October 1 has been set as the deadline for application for student insurance.

The cost of the policy is $9.50 a year. According to Ray Jefferies, assistant to the dean of student affairs, the premiums' cost has dropped since last year.

Insured students will be covered for up to $1000, and for up to $200 for surgical expenses. If the student dies, his beneficiaries will receive $1000.

Jefferies said, "I think this insurance plan paid off for us last year." He pointed out that the insurance comes to less than 80 cents a month.

The insurance coverage is for a 12-month period, including the period when students are traveling to and from Chapel Hill, and while they are on vacation. Jefferies said last year there were not many claims but during the summer the company paid on policies several times.

Applications for the insurance are available at the Y and at Graham Memorial.

The policy is made available through the Pilot Life Insurance Company, Raleigh. Jefferies explained that students here will pay a slightly higher premium than students at State College because of the surgical coverage.

He reminded students who already hold policies and are eligible to receive payments for claims must file claims with the company. Blanks are available at his office and the Infirmary.

Governor 'Drops Drawers' To Advertise N. C. Products

RALEIGH, SEPT. 20 (AP)—Gov. Hodges will do a lot to advertise North Carolina's products.

He'll take a shower wearing a native North Carolina suit or even drop his pants slightly to show off Tar Heel made drawers.

Hodges is shown in these two poses in a seven-picture layout in the new issue of Life Magazine. The Governor said he got an advance copy last night and "pre-empted to hide it under the pillows so Mrs. Hodges wouldn't see it."

Mrs. Hodges finally did see the pictures, he said, "but she didn't make any outcry" when she saw the pose of the governor standing next to his bed with his pants dropped slightly adjusting a pair of "indigenous" drawers made at Asheboro.

A girl reporter wanted to know just what are "indigenous" drawers.

Hodges replied, "they are drawers that stay where they belong."

The governor said there was a picture "even worse" than the one showing him adjusting the drawers that the magazine didn't use.

Hodges admitted with a smile that a governor has to make a lot of "sacrifices."

GM SLATE

No activities are scheduled on the Graham Memorial slate for today.

Senior Yack Pictures Are Being Made

Senior class pictures for the 1957 Yackety-Yack are now being made in the basement of Graham Memorial, according to Editor Tommy Johnson.

Hours are from 1 to 7:30 p.m. every day except Saturday and Sunday. Seniors have until Friday, September 28 to have their pictures made.

Girls have been asked to wear dark sweaters, black, brown or lark blue, with one strand of pearls. Men have been asked to wear dark coat, white shirts, and conservative ties.

The schedule for taking the photographs of other students is as follows:

Oct. 1-3—Freshmen and Nursing School (except Senior Nurses)
Oct. 8-12—Sophomores, Pharmacy School, Dental School, and Dental Hygiene students
Oct. 15-19—Juniors, Medical School, Law School, and Graduate School.

Library Gets Autograph Book Of Civil War Man

The autograph book of a Raleigh druggist and Civil War veteran has been acquired by the Southern Historical Collection in the Wilson Library.

The book belonged to James McKimmon, class of 1860, and was signed by his classmates and other students at the University here.

CAMP PICTURES

Anyone wishing to order a freshman camp picture may do so at the YMCA office through next Monday. The charge for each picture is $1.50.
