Frat Rush Bids Go Out Today

All men students may obtain their fraternity rushing bids between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. today at Gerrard Hall.

Rushing bids will be available for three days, today, tomorrow and Friday. Gerrard Hall will be open from 9 a.m. to noon tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to noon on Friday, the final day for picking up bids.

Rushing will then begin on Sunday, Sept. 30.

Interfraternity Council regulations stipulate that rushees must visit every fraternity from which they receive bids. Failure to do so will eliminate them from further rushing in all fraternities.

Rushees may begin attending the fraternities of their preference after they have once visited every fraternity from which they received a bid.

Tomorrow at 9 p.m., an IFC representative will visit the social room of each men's dormitory to give a short talk to all freshmen going through rush, and to answer any questions concerning the rushing program.

Quarterly Asks Students To Join Staff

Students interested in working on the UNC literary magazine, The Carolina Quarterly, have been invited to come to the Quarterly office in the north mezzanine of Graham Memorial today between 4 and 6 p.m.

According to Editor Marcelline Krafchick, the University literary magazine is the oldest in the South. In a recent issue of "Writer's Digest," The Quarterly was given highest rating among literary magazines, ranking with "The Chicago Review," "The Atlantic Monthly" and "Harpers," she said.

Positions are open on the fiction and poetry staffs, for volunteer typing or office services and for help in the circulation and business departments.

Students are welcome to submit stories, articles and poetry for publication in The Quarterly. Miss Krafchick said. Material for publication should be sent to: The Quarterly, Box 1117, Chapel Hill. Stamped, self-addressed envelopes should also be sent with the material, she said.

University Radio Will Start Operation Thurs.

The University's educational radio station, WUNC, will return to full-time activity tomorrow, after having an idle late summer.

Oxford Man To Speak Here October 10-11

Prof. Alfred Ewert of the Romance Languages faculty at Oxford University will deliver two addresses at the University on October 10 and 11.

His lecture on "Judas Iscariot in Medieval French Literature" is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 11, in the Louis R. Wilson Library auditorium. He will speak on the afternoon of Oct. 10 to graduate students in the Romance Languages Dept.

Professor Ewert's address in the library auditorium will be open to the public, but his address to graduate students, entitled "The Strasbourg Oaths and the Eulalia," will be limited to persons in that department.

Yack Staff Members Find Time To Loaf And Work

Nancy McFadden, senior of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Sandra Clarke, senior of W. Palm Beach, Fla., fill out the necessary cards and prepare to face the photographer. Seniors have until Friday to have their class pictures made. (Photos by Norman Kantor.)

October 15 Is Deadline For Student Insurance

October 15 has been set as the deadline for applications for student insurance.

It was recently reported that the deadline was October 1, but this was incorrect.

The cost of the policy is $9.50 a year. According to Ray Jeffries, assistant to the dean of student affairs, the premium's cost has dropped since last year.

Insured students will be covered for up to $1,000 for any expense caused by an accident and for up to $200 for surgical expenses caused by sickness. If the student dies, his beneficiaries will receive $1,000.

Jeffries said recently, "I think this insurance plan payed off for us last year." He pointed out that the insurance comes to less than 80 cents a month.

The coverage is for a 12-month period, including the period when students are traveling to and from Chapel Hill, and while they are on vacation. Jeffries said last year there were not many claims but during the summer the company payed on policies several times.

Applications for the insurance are available at the Y, Graham Memorial and the student government office. Jeffries reminded students who already hold policies and are eligible to receive payments for claims must file with the company. Blanks are available at his office in South Building and at the Infirmary.

Students who have already paid premiums can pick up their identification cards at the student government office. But students who now sign up for the insurance will have their cards mailed to them, so they should give their addresses when filling out the blanks.

Mascot And Miss

Students in the Infirmary yesterday included:

news in brief

BROOKS WIN NO-HITTER

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Sal Maglie pitched a no-hit game last night to keep the Brooklyn Dodgers within one-half of the first place Milwaukee Braves in the National League pennant race.

Maglie beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 0. Maglie, allowed only 3 Phillies to reach base—two on walks and one when hit by a pitch.

Milwaukee, with three games left, now has a record of 91 and 60. Brooklyn has 90 and 60. (See Milwaukee results, page 4.)

SUEZ CRISIS REACHES UN

NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes of the world will be looking at the Suez Canal crisis today through the windows of the UN Security Council.

Both sides involved in the dispute—Egypt, which seized the waterway, and the western powers and other shippers—will be trying to make their points.

Britain and France—who brought the case to the Council—are trying to beat down a counter-attack by Egypt, which claims Anglo-French moves are endangering peace.

The United States, meanwhile, is keeping its stand to itself.

IN PARIS, British Prime Minister Eden and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd plan to discuss the Suez crisis with French leaders today. It is reported that the French are considering promoting a new oil pipeline across Israel to move Arabian oil to the Mediterranean in the event the United Nations fails to act on Suez.

IN NEW YORK, Wall Street brokers attributed a sharp decline in the stock market yesterday to uncertainties over the Suez Canal and to tight money. There were losses of more than $5 per share.

ADLAI ASKS ACCEPTANCE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, in a speech here last night, called on Southerners to accept the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision as law-abiding citizens.

—IN OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Vice President Nixon interrupted a speech last night because of an attack of influenza and laryngitis.

Debate On Frats Is Tomorrow

Views on fraternity and independent life will be aired by advocates of both sides tomorrow night at seven o'clock in the library assembly room.

The discussion and debate will be sponsored by the YMCA Fellowship group. Bob Leonard of the YMCA will be in charge of the program.

All freshmen planning to pledge fraternities have been urged by the Y to attend the discussion.

According to the Y circular announcing the debate, representatives from both sides will present the advantages of joining a fraternity.

DIRECTORY DEADLINE

Today is the deadline for corrections to be placed in the Student Directory, according to Jon Dawn, editor.

Corrections of telephone numbers or addresses should be turned in by calling the YMCA, 6761, today.

AT 8 P.M. IN CARROLL HALL:

Civil War Scholar Speaks Tomorrow

Dr. Bell I. Wiley of Emory University, one of the nation's leading authorities on the American Civil War, will deliver a public address tomorrow night in Carroll Hall.

The 8 p.m. address will be the first in a series of three scheduled to be given this year under sponsorship of the Graduate History Club, Phi Alpha Theta history fraternity, and Graham Memorial.

Other prominent historians slated to appear for the addresses are Prof. Sidney Painter of Johns Hopkins University and Prof. Henry Steele Commager of Columbia University. Their addresses will be given in November and March, respectively.

Tomorrow's speaker, after serving as chairman of the history departments of the University of Mississippi and of Louisiana State University, was appointed professor of American History at Emory University in 1948.

His pioneer volume, "Southern Negroes, 1861-1865," won the Mrs. Simon Baruch Prize and was published by the Yale University Press in 1938. Three of his later books are "The Plain People of the Confederacy," "The Life of Johnny Reb," and "The Life of Billy Yank."

Professor Wiley's address in Carroll Hall, entitled "A Time of Greatness," will sum up his years of research into the role of the common soldier of the Confederacy and his views of that conflict.

IDC Makes Chinese Diplomat Plans For Speaks Tomorrow This Year

Interdormitory Council plans for the coming academic year were presented, in part, to a meeting of dormitory presidents Monday night.

President Sonny Hallford laid out a suggested agenda for the fall semester for each dorm president to mull over.

Items far up on the Council's agenda which were mentioned are:

(1) Nominating sections for dormitory secretaries, treasurers, IDC representatives and intramural managers to be held tonight or tomorrow night, as each individual dormitory sees fit.

(2) Turning in of candidates' names for the respective offices to the IDC office in New East Annex by Friday, Sept. 28.

(3) Elections in the individual dormitories on Tuesday, Oct. 2.

(4) Interdormitory Council banquet to be held in the Carolina Inn, Oct. 10 at 6:45 p.m.

After Hallford had announced these high spots on the immediate Council agenda, other Council officers spoke briefly to the assembled presidents.

Council Vice President Neil Bass explained attendance regulations to the presidents and urged regular attendance.

Treasurer Bob Carter then presented a statement of current finances to each of the dorm presidents for their respective dormitories. Carter also explained necessary processing which must occur before dormitories may secure funds from the Council.

The next Council meeting will be held on Oct. 10 at the Carolina Inn. University dignitaries will also attend the banquet.

DR. K. TONG

Dr. Tong, who became ambassador to the United States in May, 1956, will speak on the subject, "The Success of the New Tactics of the Chinese Communists."

Seniors have Only 3 Days For Pictures

Seniors have until Friday to have their class pictures for the Yackety-Yack made.

The pictures are now being made in the basement of Graham Memorial from 1 to 7:30 p.m.

Editor Tommy Johnson said a new drape featuring a rounded neckline is being used for senior girls this year to replace the V-necked drape used in previous annuals.

The remainder of the picture-taking schedule is as follows: Oct. 1-5—Freshmen and Nursing School (except senior nurses).

Oct. 8-12—Sophomores, Pharmacy School, Dental School, and Dental Hygiene students.

Oct. 15-19—Juniors, Medical School, Law School and Graduate School.

Students Going To Averett Sat. Must Sign Up

Students who plan to attend the dance at Averett College in Danville, Va., this weekend should sign up tomorrow in the Y, according to Bob Leonard of the YMCA.

The trip is sponsored by the Freshman Fellowship of the YMCA, but is open to upperclassmen as well as freshmen. Buses have been chartered and will leave at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday.

The dance starts at 8:30 p.m. and ends at midnight. Music at the dance will be furnished by a nine-piece band. Refreshments and a snack supper will be served.

Total cost of the trip is $2, which is for the bus trip.

Discussions On Rush Will Be Held Thursday

The Interfraternity Council is sponsoring a discussion of fraternity rushing for all freshmen and transfer students tomorrow at 9 p.m. in the social room of each dorm.

One member of the IFC, who will speak and answer questions on rush, has been assigned to each dorm, except Cobb and Battle-Vance-Pettigrew. Cobb has been assigned two and BVP three.

"We feel," said Dave Ward, IFC vice-president and chairman of rushing, "that rush means much more to boys if they attend these meetings, which are designed to enlighten and answer all questions concerning rush."

This is the second year that any system of dormitory discussion on rush has been used. Students who have problems concerning rush either before or after the meeting have been asked to contact Ray Ambassador of the Chinese Republic.

Alex Shepard Named Acting University Business Officer

Acting President William Friday recently announced the appointment of Alexander H. Shepard to be acting business officer and treasurer of the Consolidated University.

The position approved by the Shepard has been assistant to the UNC business manager.

Friday stated, "Mr. Shepard's superior capabilities and his intimate knowledge of the functions and details of finances and business management of the University are the reasons why he was the natural choice in making the selection. His years of devotion to duty in the University, his knowledge of University affairs and his fundamental ability were prime considerations."

Shepard is a native of Wilmington and a graduate of Davidson College. He has been with UNC since 1932, and has been assistant to the business manager since 1943. He is married to the former Miss Sallie Cowell who was from Washington, N. C., and they have a son and a daughter.
