Coordination Bill Comes Up Tonight

A resolution urging cooperation in scheduling events on campus will come up for a vote tonight before the Student Legislature, speaker Sonny Evans said yesterday.

The resolution was introduced last week by University Party representative Al Goldsmith following the defeat of a bill by the Student Party to provide for a committee to coordinate campus events.

Other measures to come before tonight's session include: (1) A bill to appropriate $125 to the sophomore class; (2) A resolution to set aside Oct. 24 as United Nations Day at UNC; (3) A bill to appropriate $300 to the Debate Council.

The Debate Council appropriations bill was introduced last week by SP representative John Brooks and will also be voted on tonight.

Goldsmith's resolution on coordination of campus events states: "All presidents, chairmen and heads of campus organizations be hereby urged by the student Legislature of the University of North Carolina to schedule insofar as possible all events which will be of interest to the students of the University so as not to conflict with other events previously scheduled."

"So as to insure orderly scheduling of events, all groups be urged to schedule their event through the Office of the Director of Student Affairs which has powers to deal with such."

Goldsmith stated that the main reason for the defeat of the bill last week was that such a committee would not have sufficient power to be worthwhile.

In explaining the introduction of his resolution, Goldsmith stated "It was too good a bill to throw out completely and we (UP) felt that a compulsory committee would be impractical. The resolution was introduced hoping it would do some good in arousing student leaders to the necessity of cooperation in coordination of scheduling of events."

Sonny Evans, vice president of the student body and speaker of the legislature, commented yesterday on the recent statements issued by SP Chairman Tom Lambeth and UP Chairman Mike Weinman on the Elections Law Amendment passed last week replacing ballot boxes in all dorms.

Weinman charged that the Student Party would use the passage of the bill for propaganda in the coming campaign, a statement which Lambeth later refuted.

Evans stated, "Those who voted for the Elections Law Amendment as well as those who voted against it had adequate reason, and I feel that the Legislature acted for the good of the campus as a whole."

Johnson Heads Press Club

Charles Johnson, senior of Lenoir, was elected president of the UNC Press Club at its first meeting of the year held last Tuesday.

Also elected were Robert Gedney, vice president; Mrs. Mary Vann Finley, secretary, and Sherwood Canada, treasurer.

The club decided to meet monthly on Monday at 7:30 p.m. Which Monday of each month the meeting will be held on will be decided later. Dues were set at $1 per semester, the same as last year.

Johnson succeeds Davis Merritt Jr. as president. At the meeting, Merritt and Norval N. Luxon, dean of the Journalism School, discussed the workings of the club and possibilities of chartering a chapter of a national professional Journalism fraternity here.

All students majoring in Journalism or planning to major in Journalism have been invited to join the Press Club, according to Johnson. Prominent newspapermen from all over the state will speak at the various meetings during the year, he said.

Several Thefts Reported Here Since Thursday

Numerous thefts occurring since last Thursday have been reported to Ray Jeffries, assistant to the dean of student affairs.

Police believe that there is an organized ring operating on campus.

The greatest number of thefts have taken place in Cobb Dorm, officials said. During the game Saturday, one room was robbed of seven sweaters, an electric shaver and a class ring. According to occupants of the room, although the room was locked, a key was left over the door.

Saturday, another Cobb student left his room unlocked while taking a shower. During his absence $3 was taken from his wallet and a watch was stolen. A pair of trousers and a sweater were stolen from a room in Vance Dorm last week. Also, a bicycle was taken from Vance last week, but was discovered by its owner the next day at the gym.

Jeffries has urged students to lock doors when leaving the room, if only for a short time. Also, he asks students not to leave keys over the door. In the event something is stolen, students should report immediately to the dorm manager, Jeffries said.

Alderman Will Sponsor Dance Tomorrow Night

The dance is planned by the Alderman Social Committee, with Linda Schoof as chairman, for the girls living in the dorm, their dates, and specially invited guests.

Asian Expert Will Speak Here Friday

A leading expert in the field of Southeast Asian affairs will deliver an address tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Assembly room of the Library.

Dr. Amry Vandebosch will speak to an invited public on a topic entitled "Political Trends in Southeast Asia," according to Andy Milnor, publicity chairman of the sponsoring organization, Phi Sigma Alpha.

Vandebosch's achievements in political science and Asian affairs range from a Ph.D. in international relations received from the University of Chicago to the chairmanship of the Dept. of Political Science at the University of Kentucky.

He was employed by the State Dept.'s Office of Strategic Services as a Southeastern Asia expert during World War II years. He was a member of the U. N. Secretariat during the founding conference of the U. N. at San Francisco in 1945.

During the past summer Vandebosch served as "tour guide" at the request of the State Dept. to a group of scientists studying the possibilities of exploiting peaceful uses of atomic energy in Asia.

The press conference was sponsored by Cornell and the Cornell Daily Sun, campus newspaper.

High Court's Rule Favors Highway Dept.

RALEIGH (AP)—The Supreme Court held yesterday that failure of the State Highway Commission to repair a hole in the road thus causing a fatal accident does not constitute a negligent act.

The Court's ruling came in a case in which Mrs. Ethel Agnes Flynn sued for compensation under the law which allows persons injured by the negligent acts of state employees to sue the state.

Mrs. Flynn's four-year-old son, Terry Eugene Flynn, was killed in an accident on the Cane Creek Rd. in Buncombe County on July 25, 1954. She claimed in her suit that a pickup truck driven by her husband wrecked because of a hole in the asphalt paving of the road. She, her husband, another man and her four children were injured in the wreck.

The State Industrial Commission refused to grant compensation in the case and its decision was upheld in Buncombe Superior Court. The Supreme Court affirmed these rulings.

Said the Court in its opinion: "Is a failure to repair a hole in the highway caused by the ordinary public travel a negligent act? The requirement of the statute is not met by showing negligence, for negligence may consist of an act or an omission."

"Failure to act is not an act. We think it was the intent of the legislature to permit recovery only for the negligent acts of state employees for the things done by them, not for the things left undone."

The Court handed down opinions in eight cases.

In another case it ruled that a partial new trial must be held in a case from Lenoir County where Mrs. Adair Lieb sued Dr. Jerome Mayer for damages as the result of an auto accident and a jury awarded her $6,250 in damages.

The Supreme Court ruled that the jury did not have sufficient evidence to make a finding as to damages to Mrs. Lieb's car and said the new trial would be on the issue of the amount of damages only.

Bryant's Committee To Recommend New CU President Today

Friday May Receive Endorsement For Job

The University Trustees' committee for recommending a new Consolidated University president will reveal its long-awaited decision today at 10:30 a.m.

The report will be made before Gov. Hodges and the Trustees' Executive Committee in the Governor's office.

Today's report will not conclusively name a president. If the report is accepted by the Executive Committee it will be submitted to a vote by the full Board of Trustees at a later date.

The University has been without an active president since June, 1955, when Gordon Gray was granted a leave of absence to serve as Assistant Secretary of Defense in Washington.

The trustees' Executive Committee accepted Gray's resignation last November. Shortly afterwards the present selections committee was chosen to recommend a new president.

Dr. J. Harris Purks first served as acting president after Gray's departure for Washington. The present acting president, William C. Friday, was appointed when Purks resigned the post to become North Carolina's Director of Higher Education.

Acting President Friday is regarded by many trustee members as the most likely choice of the committee reporting in Raleigh today.

Since 1951 Friday has served first as assistant to the president and later as secretary to the Consolidated University. He was appointed to the acting presidency last March.

Friday, 36, is a native of Virginia and was educated at Wake Forest and at the University, where he obtained his law degree in 1948.

The selection committee reporting today is headed by Victor S. Bryant of Durham. Other committee members are: Kemp D. Battle, Rocky Mount; Horton Doughton, Statesville; Dr. Henry Munn, Englehard; Rudolph Mintz, Wilmington; Dr. Shahaney Taylor, Greensboro; W. Frank Taylor, Goldsboro; and Mrs. Charles W. Tillet, Charlotte.

Highlights of tomorrow's program will include harness racing at 2 p.m., Holstein and Jersey cattle judging in the arena at 9:30 a.m., and the "Midwestern Hayride," starring Pat Boone, in the arena at 8 p.m.

At noon tomorrow the fair will dedicate its modern dairy bar and milking parlor. Speakers will be Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine and Melvin Cording of Wallace, president of the North Carolina Purebred Dairy Cattle Assn.

The biggest free program tomorrow will be the ninth annual folk festival.

More horses will be starting in tomorrow's harness races at the grandstand than ever before in the history of the fair. Ben T. Frank of Paducah, Ky., race secretary and presiding judge, said there will be 32 horses starting in the seven heats, including nine in the free-for-all trot for the Governor's Cup.

Several other people gave their views on the bill.

There was no induction of new members as a quorum wasn't present. At the next meeting, William Rodmah, present Associate Justice on the State Supreme Court and former state attorney general, will give an address at the inauguration of Phi officers. A Yackety Yack picture will be taken of the group.

The Durham Theater Guild will present a play entitled "Stagedoor" Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the Durham High School Auditorium.

The play is directed by Jane Hayes. Its cast includes Honey Barnes, of Chapel Hill.

Adlai Has 'Flaw' In Plan To Ban H-Bombs, Nixon Says

By FRED POWLEDGE
Special to The Daily Tar Heel

CORNELL UNIVERSITY, Ithaca, N. Y.—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Wednesday night pointed to a "flaw" in Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson's plan to ban H-bomb tests.

Nixon also said the federal government should act to force racial desegregation only if the states and municipalities fail to do the job themselves.

Nixon was questioned by 40 college newspaper editors here during and after a nationally-televised "intercollegiate press conference."

The vice president said the "flaw" in Stevenson's H-bomb theory was the idea that the United States could resume Hydrogen bomb tests immediately upon learning that the USSR had broken any test prohibition.

The United States' last H-bomb took "over a year" to construct, he said.

"We cannot afford to wait a year," Nixon told the editors.

Asked what the Eisenhower administration had done to carry out the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing racial desegregation in the public schools, Nixon replied that the administration's main job is to build a climate of favorable opinion toward integration, not to force it.

One college editor asked the vice president why the "change" in the way he conducted this and his 1952 campaign. The implication was that Nixon has been acting more like a gentleman during this campaign than he did four years ago.

Nixon's answer was that in 1952 his job was to get the American people to vote the Democrats out of office. Now, he said, his job is to help keep the GOP administration in.

In answer to the question, "Are you writing off the South in 1956?" Nixon promised a "surprise." One of the important aspects of the Eisenhower administration "has been a strengthening of the two party system" in the South.

He predicted Republican gains in Texas and Virginia.

The college editors had gathered here for a one-day field lesson in reporting politics. They met Nixon when he came in yesterday afternoon, listened to the nation's reporters run the vice president through a mid-afternoon press conference, talked and ate with the reporters and got a chance to fire questions at Nixon himself.

After the 30-minute television show was over, the vice president answered questions from the editors for more than half an hour.

The press conference was sponsored by Cornell and the Cornell Daily Sun, campus newspaper.

Di Senate Passes Resolution For Constitutional Change

The Dialectic Senate passed, 10-4, Tuesday night, a resolution "favoring the constitutional changes in the executive department as recommended by the Commission on Reorganization of the State Government."

Senator Ervin Avery introduced the resolution and claimed, "it is appalling that North Carolina does not give the governor any veto power."

Opposing the bill, Senator Pat Adams stated that the recommendation, which would abolish the electing of the state attorney general, the superintendent of public construction, the commissioner of insurance, the commissioner of agriculture and the secretary of state, gave the governor too much unchecked power.

Senator Joel Fleishman said the present state ballot is too lengthy and the large number of different candidates clouds the issues. He felt that the governor was denied any real power to influence legislation by not having the veto.

The Di moved to have a representation of that body meet with an equal number from the Phi in order to discuss the terms of the pending debate concerning the Democratic and the Republican parties.

The Di now has the portrait of Dr. Frank Graham which formerly hung in Graham Memorial. It will be hung before the next meeting.
