UN Day Observed Today With Variety Of Events

By MARY ALYS VOORHEES

Today is United Nations Day.

And before the day's end Carolina students will have participated in a large variety of events.

Jointly sponsored by the Y-M-Y-WCA, student government and APO service fraternity, events today highlight UN week, which is being observed here in conjunction with similar celebrations throughout the world.

Highlighting the day's activities will be the UN Day Pageant and Folk Festival at 8 p.m. in Hillel House, at which refreshments will be served and students will participate in folk dancing and the singing of folk tunes.

The sponsors have invited all UNC students to attend.

Other events included in the day's schedule are a radio program, a continuous movie about the UN, a tree planting ceremony with foreign students dressed in their native attire, and an international dinner at Lenoir Hall.

Starting off today's itinerary, WCHL's Ty Boyd will interview Dr. Riath Haider of the School of Public Health of Iraq during "Breakfast with Boyd."

At the Y Building, "Defense of the Peace," a continuous movie put out by UN Films, will be shown, describing overall organizations and portions of various branches of the UN.

A tree-planting ceremony at the Chapel Hill Elementary school on Franklin St. will be staged at 2 p.m. Foreign students are asked to attend the rites in their native costumes.

Over at Lenoir Hall from 5 to 7 p.m., students can take a trip around the world for 40c.

For the celebration, Lenoir will be brightly decorated with flags from all countries represented in the UN, and the special menu will feature dishes from other lands.

The main course of the dinner, which is priced at 40c, will be Frikadeller—similar to meatballs—from its native Denmark. Vegetables, which will be included on the meal, are arroz—a form of rice—a Nicaraguan dish, and humita—corn, cheese and tomatoes—from Spain.

Tomorrow the library will have a display in one of the exhibition cases in the main lobby. There will be material published by the UN, models of UN Headquarters and some UN stamps featured.

Miss Polly Clarenbach, vice president of the YW and chairman of the Y study group on international relations, is chairman of the UN Day committee.

Others working on the various activities of the day are John Riebel and Miss Anne Queen of the Y-M-Y-W staff; Miss Jackie Aldridge, student government representative; P. H. Craig and Bob Dawson, Y members; and George Brice, Bill Jones, Jim Chamblee and Bill Johnson of the APO service fraternity.

Board Of Aldermen Not To Meet Until Nov. 10

The Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen will not pass final decree on the Columbia St. parking restriction until Nov. 10, contrary to a story in yesterday's Daily Tar Heel.

The erroneous statement, to the effect that aldermen would pass final verdict this Monday night, was the result of a "misunderstanding" between President Bob Young and Traffic Commission Chairman Wilburn Davis.

Young said he thought the meeting was to be held Monday night, while Davis stated the meeting would not come off until Nov. 10. Davis proved correct.

Dr. Pierpont Bauded For Service To UNC

By JIM PURKS

Students who knew him, co-workers, and top administrative officials were greatly saddened by the loss of Dr. Andrew W. Pierpont of the School of Business Administration.

"More than with others, you felt like he really wanted you to get through," a business major commented, "he was just like a father. I don't think a single person was held in higher regard and esteem by more people than he." The student added.

The feelings expressed by that one business major concerning Dr. Pierpont typify the general feeling held by all the students who knew him. Dr. Pierpont was never too busy to help a striving student with his work and problems and was the inspiration behind many a student's accomplishments.

Merchant - - Parking Not Problem Now

By GARY NICHOLS

Parking is no longer a problem in downtown Chapel Hill, according to a local merchant speaking for the Chapel Hill Parking Assn. The Chapel Hill Parking Assn. decided Monday night to extend the free parking in their customer lot to two hours. There will be a charge of 25c an hour after the two hour period, with a maximum charge of $1 a day.

The lot is located on the corner of E. Rosemary St. and N. Columbia St., diagonally across from the police station. It consists of 84 parking spaces and a small attendant booth.

In order to take advantage of the two hour free parking provision a customer merely takes a ticket, which he is given by the attendant, and has it stamped by one of the members of the association.

There has always been adequate space in this lot since it was opened in midsummer. An average of about 135 cars a day have been parking there. According to Vic Huggins, local merchant, this is far less than could be using it. Several members of the association have also made available a storage lot on which parking spaces may be rented at a rate of $5 a month. Arrangements for the use of this 150-space lot can be made with Huggins of Huggins Hardware, or Harvey Bennett of Bennett & Blocksidge.

The Chapel Hill Parking Assn. is a non-profit organization consisting of the following members: Andrews-Henninger, Bank of Chapel Hill, Bennett & Blocksidge, Bertram's Department Store, Carolina Barber Shop, Carolina Sport Shop, Chapel Hill Weekly, College Cafe, Danziger's, Electric Construction Co., Eubanks Drug Co., Foister's Camera Store, Foushee-Olsen Realty Co., Huggins Hardware, Dr. William T. Robbin's, Rose's, Service Insurance & Realty, Shield's Food Store, Sloan Drug Co., Smith-Prestovost Cleaners, Sutton's Drug Store, The Little Shop, Town & Campus, University Florist, University Service Plants and Wentworth & Sloan.

Dr. Gallup Ignores Challenge

The UNC political scientist who predicted that the Democrats have a good chance of capturing the national election, and challenged Pollster George Gallup to disprove his prediction, has as yet received no answer from Dr. Gallup.

Gordon B. Cleveland, in voicing prediction that Democrats may win the election even if President Eisenhower gets as much as 53 per cent of the popular vote, challenged Gallup to make a state-by-state break-down of voter opinions in order to reveal a true picture of voting trends.

Although Cleveland's prediction has not produced a direct answer from Gallup, it has evoked considerable interest from the Democratic Party and from newspaper reporters and radio newscasters all over the country.

The heart of Cleveland's study is a comparison of the 1953 presidential election returns with the 1954 mid-term elections in 20 states which went Republican in 1954.

On the basis of this study, Cleveland contends that the Democrats stand a good chance of getting a majority of electoral votes, thus giving them the election.
