Good Conduct At Concert, Dance Asked

German Club President Keith Palmer and UNC Dance Committee Chairman Donald Miller released statements yesterday concerning conduct at the Fall Germans this weekend.

Palmer said, "The German Club has spent much time and preparation to bring these two contrasting bands to our campus. I hope that the German members will conduct themselves in such a manner as to make this a successful weekend and make a performance such as this possible again in the future."

Miller stated, "The Dance Committee will be in full strength at the dance and concert to enforce the following rules:

"1.—No one will be allowed to leave the dance or the concert with the intention of returning.
"2.—Any one showing any signs of drinking or other misconduct shall be dealt with at the discretion of the University Dance Committee Court.

"3.—Anyone bringing intoxicating beverages within the concert hall or on the dance floor will automatically be suspended from Carolina dances indefinitely."

Miller also pointed out that the Dance Committee members will wear blue and white rosettes and doormen will wear white rosettes.

dresses and formal gowns for the many festivities connected with Germans.

This is a weekend, too, when they can let their individuality shine. The most basic suit or wool sheath can blossom on the bleachers with a dramatic pin placed in just the right spot.

Pins may be worn in quite a variety of places such as the neckline, at hip length, anywhere on the bodice and even perched on the cuff of a long-sleeved suit or dress.
At cocktail parties, imaginative flairs have even more opportunity to run rampant. In accord with the My-Fair-Lady look, a touch of the feminine and beautiful is called for. Even the most tailored wool dresses can assume a festive appearance with the addition of a girdle flower or a satin cummerbund. Pearls by the yard which are in vogue again this year and long gold chains can be used to dramatize a dark dress.

Satin and chiffon covered shoes are becoming popular. Many are jeweled or equipped with pins. Plain dyed-to-match your dress dancing slippers can be sparked effectively with the addition of a big rhinestone pin or buckle.

The big news in fabrics for after dark dressing this fall is satin, chiffon, and velvet—alone or in combinations. Vibrant red, black-white combinations, black, and off-beat browns reign colorful.

Just a touch of this newness can transform even last season's dress into a gown with vitality. The addition of a long flowing sash or a cummerbund with a flower pinned to it will make you My Fair Lady of Woollen Gym.

George Ragsdale, vice president of the German club, stated yesterday the figure will take place tonight at 10:15, and photographers will be on hand at the dance.

Good conduct at the football game here tomorrow has been the subject of several meetings recently between officials of both Wake Forest and Carolina.
Bob Young, UNC student body president, has issued a challenge for the UNC student body "to accept the responsibilities as host for the game" and to accept the outcome of the game, whatever it may be, "with the best possible attitude."

Dave Hirano, Wake Forest student body president, has suggested that the mishaps so far be forgotten and that students "look forward to a keener and cleaner rivalry in the future."

A meeting on Tuesday also dealt with the problem of sportsmanship.
On hand from UNC at the meeting were Chancellor R. B. House, Claude Tesque, UNC business manager; Jim Bynum, head cheerleader; Young, Ray Jefferies, assistant to the dean of student affairs; Sam Magill, director of student activities; C. P. Erickson, athletic director; and Jake Wade, sports publicist for UNC.

Hirano, Athletic Director Bill Gibson and head cheerleader Brunson Salley, were among the of-

TRUSTEE SAYS:

UNC's 'Acting' Titles Being Filled Rapidly

The University's major problem is lack of permanent administrators, a prominent trustee said Thursday.

But, added Victor Bryant of Durham, "acting" positions within the University are being filled rapidly. Today, for example, William C. Friday is scheduled to be elected president of the Consolidated University.

Bryant indicated that "acting" positions may be filled quickly, now that the University has a permanent president after more than a year without one.

Bryant was answering a reporter's question after a luncheon meeting between student leaders and members of the Board of Trustees' Visiting Committee. The Visiting Committee met here Thursday after a day at Woman's College in Greensboro. It will travel to N. C. State College in Raleigh today.

The committee will take time off to attend a meeting of the full Board of Trustees today in Raleigh. Friday is expected to be elected Consolidated University president at the full board's meeting.

Earlier, at the student-trustee luncheon, Bryant told the student leaders "Don't be impatient" for a new chancellor here to replace retiring Robert House.

provost, a man who works closely with the Consolidated University's three chancellors. The provost would be of help in "selecting the right men for chancellors," Bryant said.

Bryant has served on the Board of Trustees for several years. He was a member of the special committee which selected Gordon Gray for president, and also helped place Friday's name in nomination for the presidency this year.

Members of the Visiting Committee who ate with the students included H. L. Riddle Jr., Bryant, Hill Yarborough, Mrs. Rosa B. Parker, Mrs. Mebane Burgwyn, D. L. Ward and Chairman William P. Saunders.

Before and after the student meeting the committee consulted on the state of the University with administrators, members of the Consolidated Office and Chancellor House. They talked about academic affairs, health affairs, athletic, student affairs, developmental affairs and business with heads of various University offices.

Outcome of the committee's consultations will not be known for several months, when the group will submit its report to the full Board of Trustees in booklet form.

Rock 'N Roll Men Play Here Twice Today

Two rock 'n roll artists and their organizations will arrive in Chapel Hill today for the annual Fall Germans to begin officially this afternoon with a concert in Memorial Hall from 4-6 p.m.

Fats Domino and Billy May will play tonight in Woollen Gym for the dance from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Women have been granted permission by the Women's Residence Council and the Office of the Dean of Women to stay out tonight until 2 a.m.

Lawrence Matthews, chairman of the Student Government Traffic Committee, stated any student who so desires may have a car on campus this weekend for the Germans.

Cars were not to be brought to the campus until today, however, and must not be on campus after Sunday, he says.

George Ragsdale, vice president of the German club, stated yesterday the figure will take place tonight at 10:15, and photographers will be on hand at the dance.

2 Students Badly Hurt In Wreck

Two Carolina students, seriously injured in a motorcycle wreck Wednesday at 3:35 p.m., were reported "resting well" in the hospital yesterday.

The two boys, Richard Urwick and Harold Lusk, both of Charlotte, were carried to Memorial Hospital for treatment for lacerations and injuries received as a result of colliding with a telephone pole.

Urwick was quoted by the investigating officer, C. L. Byrd, as saying he was driving "a little too fast." Patrolman Byrd said that Patrick Dooley, student and owner of the vehicle, was considering filing temporary larceny charges against the two boys.

The accident occurred as the riders were rounding the sharp curve of East Franklin St., headed out of town. According to a witness, the motorcycle missed the curve, swerved far to the left to avoid an oncoming car, and tried to go between the car and a telephone pole. The motorcycle slid down, and the riders hit the pole.

Good Sportsmanship Asked For Wake Game Tomorrow

Officials representing the Deacons as hosts for the game.

"The plays will do their part. It's up to you, as an individual and a Tar Heel supporter, to do your part. Regardless of which team wins, let's accept the outcome with the best possible attitude. Let's be proud of our team's effort, no matter what the score may be. I, each student displays good sportsmanship, then each school will gain a victory in its own way. Let's make this a hard fought game with high goals."

The complete text of the statement by Hirano is as follows: "For years Carolina and Wake Forest have played each other in hundreds of sports events. In all these many contests we have had only two mishaps that mar our long clean rivalry. Let's forget these two unfortunate incidents and look forward to a keener and cleaner rivalry in the future."
"We here at Wake want our team to win just as much as you want your team to win."
"I am personally looking forward to our contest at Chapel Hill. And to whoever wins the game, I hope I can sincerely say, 'that was a clean, hard-fought game.' I hope that after our game I can be justly proud of our rivalry."

"During the past few years, tempers have flared unnecessarily during the Wake-Carolina games. This has been due to several factors—poor cheering on the part of fans, outbursts on the part of the players themselves, and in some instances, the officiating has incited both players and fans. However, these displays should be a thing of the past!"
"Both student bodies are proud of their teams. Both groups of fans will probably yell their hearts out for their players. Both teams will be giving the game their very best. In other words, from the prospects now, the game will be most outstanding in every way. I challenge each individual student to accept the responsibilities

Fraternities Report No Action Taken Yet On Aldermen's Offer

Tickets For Caravan Are Now On Sale

Tickets sales begin today for the weekend caravan to the University of Virginia on Nov. 10.

Tickets may be bought in "Y" Court and will be $7 from Chapel Hill to Charlottesville, and $5.75 from Greensboro to Charlottesville.

Buses will leave Chapel Hill at 6:15 a.m. Nov. 10. The caravan will stop at Greensboro for Women's College girls, and will arrive in Charlottesville at 12:30 p.m.

Students who plan to travel to the University of Virginia by bus should get their tickets soon, by Wednesday if possible, according to Harry House, Chairman of the Caravan committee.

Return buses will leave Charlottesville at midnight Saturday and at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The University of Virginia has reserved a block of seats for WC and UNC students. All will sit in this block regardless of ticket number indications.

Plans for overnight accommodations are not complete. House said earlier this week plans will be released as soon as possible.

Sigma Chi Proposes Working Through IFC

Consensus of response by the seven fraternities involved in the Board of Aldermen's promise to lift the Columbia St. parking restriction for 60 days if fraternities take action to alleviate their parking problem indicates that no positive action has as yet been taken.

Break-down of individual response is as follows. Beta Theta Pi has taken no action, vice president Gordon Brown said.

Delta Kappa Epsilon has organized a committee to study the problem, a spokesman said.

Sigma Nu has taken no action yet, but President Bill Morgan said: "There isn't a whole lot we can do. In four or five months we plan to enlarge the space behind our house to hold 20 cars."

Pi Lambda Phi has taken no action, and President Dick Sirkin said: "We're right back where we started with no place to go."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon has taken no action.

PROPERTY
President Pat Hunter said, however, concerning a suggestion made by representatives from the Board of Aldermen at a meeting last Thursday with the Traffic Advisory Commission, that Sigma Nu and Beta convert a vacant area jointly owned by them into a parking lot.

"It is an unreasonable request. We don't expect them to give up their property."
Sigma Chi has taken no action, but President Claude Cumberly said he favored "fraternities getting together and working through the Interfraternity Council."

The vacant lot between the Beta and Sigma Nu Houses is owned primarily by the Betas.

A representative from the Beta House contended at a Wednesday meeting with the Traffic Advisory Commission that conversion of the vacant area into a parking lot would "deduct from the beauty of the house."

Student Legislature Defeats Financial Investigation Bill

By CLARKE JONES
And NANCY HILL

The Student Legislature last night defeated a bill calling for establishment of committee to investigate the expenditures of the UNC Debate Council.

Opposition to the bill, introduced last week by Bill McNaull (SP), came mainly from UP members Mike Weinman and Benny Thomas.

Both representatives concurred the student Audit Board should do the investigating of how the Council spends its money.

Dave Liebermann, chairman of the Debate Council, appeared before Legislature members and urged defeat of the bill because of the publicity involved.

He said the council "had nothing to hide and was not afraid" of being investigated but the "publicity would hurt debating" which is valuable to the school and student government.

A bill concerning maintenance of men's dormitory television sets, introduced at last week's session by UP floorleader Thomas was tabled for revision following discussion and amendment last night.

An amendment was first called for to provide for a committee ap-

Directories Go On Sale Wed.

The 1956-57 Student Directory will go on sale Wednesday, Oct. 31 at the YMCA and Lenoir Hall.

The directory will be a two-tone green this year and will include the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all university affiliated personnel and an alphabetical listing of all students with their hometown and Chapel Hill addresses.

Director editor Jon Dawn expressed his desire to make the directories available in dormitories for students who might not otherwise get a chance to buy one.

Copies will be available for 35 cents and can be used for a number of purposes. Home town friends and service buddies can be located easily with a flip of a page and a telephone call.
