Yack Beauty Queen Surveys Chapel Hill's Winter-Time Roses

Miss Martha Williford chosen last week as 1956-57 Yackety Yack while cold winds blow. Miss Williford, a coed from Fayetteville, at the Planetarium sundial until the first sharp frost, according to beauty queen, inspects one of the roses that has been blooming will be featured in the annual this year. The roses will be featured the University landscape architect. (Photo by Fred Powledge)

Sundial Roses Defy Weather

Roses are blooming in the vicinity of the sundial.

F. J. leClair, the University's landscape architect, isn't surprised. He planted them.

"They are of a new group of roses called floribunda," leClair said. They bloom almost six months out of the year.

The roses—20 varieties in all shades of red and white and yellow—are blooming around the Morehead Planetarium sundial, erected last spring. They form a unique contrast to the heaps of dead leaves around the campus, more indicative of mid-November cold winds.

leClair explained that University workmen have carefully cut away the roses as they wilted, all through the summer. "We treat them continuously," he said, "spraying and dusting when needed, and pruning the old faded flowers away." The roses have been in continuous bloom since last May, when they were planted.

They'll bloom until hit by the first very sharp frost, leClair said.

He said the roses are products of crosses between baby rambler and tea roses, along with other hybrids.

Only 38 Per Cent Of Student Body Voted Yesterday

Campus Chest Reaches Goal: Drive Ends Today

Campus Chest Plans Big Dance Friday

An informal party has been planned for Friday night as a grand finale to the Campus Chest drive.

"Over 100 girls from the UNC School of Nursing dorm and from Duke will be waiting to dance to one of the hottest collegiate combos in the Southeast," said Bob Jacobus, Campus Chest official.

The dance, to be held in Cobb basement from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., will cost $1, whether students bring dates or choose a date from the girls at the dance.

Four "big" acts will be presented during intermission, according to Jacobus.

Refreshments will be served at the dance.

Tickets may be obtained at the Y-Court from 8 a.m. until noon

Approximately 38 per cent of the campus population made the trip to the polls in yesterday's election.

2,568 students out of approximately 7,000 students voted.

Voting tabulation on freshmen and junior class officers were withheld by the Elections Board because of "discrepancies" in Town Men's II Voting totals in the district will, of course, effect final figures in the class officer races. Thus the vote was withheld until the district's population votes again in next Tuesday's run-off election.

LEGISLATURE

As of this moment, representation in the student Legislature stands deadlocked—24 seats occupied by University Party members and 24 seats held by Student Party members.

Ownership of one seat, in Town Men's III, will be determined by run-off election next Tuesday.

Ownership of the other undetermined seat will be decided upon in run-off election also. This run-off was necessitated by the "discrepancies" in Town Men's II.

There were 29 seats up for election in yesterday's balloting. The SP had 12 seats up, and the UP had 17 seats up.

The SP had 12 holdover seats, which will come up for election in the spring, and the UP had 9 holdover seats, also up for election in the spring.

This is in accordance with the staggered electoral policy governing Legislature elections.

KENAN DIFFICULTIES

Residents of Kenan Dormitory were unable to vote in yesterday's election.

Kenan is located in Dorm Women's District. The two parties split in the district, each nabbing two seats.

The ballot box and ballots were in the dorm; but there were no poll tenders all day.

"Nothing can be done about it," said Elections Board Head Andy Ilmor. "It's up to the dorm president to get poll tenders," he said.

Kenan President Sarah White said she didn't get any election information until late Monday night. "It was too late to get any poll tenders," she said.

27 UNC Students Go Today To Attend SSL

By BILL CATE

A 27-member delegation will represent UNC at the State Student Legislature in Raleigh today through Saturday.

"This year, the primary interest of the delegates going to SSL is a legislative experience rather than a social party interest similar to previous years experiences," says John Brooks, house floor leader.

The whole purpose of the mock legislature, which has headquarters at the Carolina Hotel in Raleigh, is to bring together students from colleges throughout the state to debate topics of international, national, state and educational nature.

Bob Harrington, chairman of the delegation, feels that the group has a more serious attitude than previous delegations to the SSL. He said, "Just last Thursday, a bill was approved by the Student Legislature here at UNC recognizing the SSL delegation as an official representative of the student body."

Last year, the influence of parties resulted in the attendance of but one delegate to the assembly on Saturday morning, the last day of debates.

This year, there has been more legislative interest, according to Harrington. A more serious attitude is indicated by the delegates' consideration for legislative aspects. Only one candidate for office, Jim Holmes for presidency for one day of the three spent in Raleigh, is being considered. Democratic attitude is reflected in the expectancy of support by UNC delegates of candidates from the smaller colleges in North Carolina, Harrington said.

The UNC group will bring before the assembly two bills: 1. A bill to repeal the Pearsall Plan amendment, and 2. A bill calling for the intervention of U. S. troops in Poland and Hungary.

Acquiring more time to formulate a better plan for education is not the purpose of the Pearsall Plan's postponement of the segregation question, proponents of the SSL bill say. It is felt that the Pearsall Plan will not answer the problems that will arise.

These "future leaders," who make up the delegation, have contributed a large amount of time on issues that they feel important and they pay their own expenses, Harrington said.

The officers of the delegation are Bob Harrington, chairman; Jim Holmes, vice-chairman; Nancy Rothschild, clerk; Jim Monteith, senate floor leader; John Brooks, house floor leader; Tom Long, treasurer; Joel Fleishman and Charlie Dean, soval chairmen.

The UNC delegation, which is divided into two parts, the senate and the house, includes Senators Jim Monteith and Larry Matthews with Benny Thomas as alternate.

Coloratura Soprano Will Be Les Petites Musicales Soloist

Jan Saxon, coloratura soprano, will be the featured soloist in Les Petites Musicales program Sunday night at 8:00.

Sponsored by Graham Memorial Activities Board, the musicale is to be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The program will mark Miss Saxon's fourth year of appearances before Chapel Hill audiences. Formerly a special student in Dramatic Art, she is now doing concentrated voice work with Walter Golde of Chapel Hill. Golde will be the accompanist for the soloist.

Hailing from Charlotte, Miss Saxon has been active in both drama and music. While at the University, she became a member of the Playmakers and appeared in such productions as "Julius Caesar" and "Even the Gods." During the summer of 1956, she played the leading role of Eleanor Dare in "The Lost Colony." Other outdoor theatre work includes appearances in "Horn in the West" and "The Highland Call."

Jan Saxon's career has included a good bit of local work. She has performed as soloist with the University Men's Glee Club, the Choral Society in "The Messiah," and the Durham Civic Choral Society in "Mozart Requiem."

Solo appearances with Les Petites Musicales and the Basingstoke Sextet have also been a part of her musical activities. Opera work in Chapel Hill with the Music Department consists of roles in "The Telephone" and "The Marriage of Figaro."

No admission is charged for Les Petites Musicales, and everyone has been invited to attend the program by GMAB.

Training Meet Set In Freshman Leadership

Freshmen interested in training for leadership in the YMCA and other campus organizations have been invited to enroll in a special group that will meet between Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations.

This special group on leadership training sponsored by the Freshman Fellowship, will meet three times; the meetings will be scheduled at times that are most convenient for the members. Upperclassmen will serve as resource persons in order that the topics will be thoroughly presented. Motion pictures and mimeographed papers will be used to make the topics as clear as possible. Already lined up to participate are: Bob Young, student body president and former YMCA treasurer; Gerry Mayo, YMCA president; Bob Leonard, freshman work chairman and past freshman camp director; Claude Shotts and John Riebel, YMCA employed staff.

The three main areas that will be covered are: (1) What are the essentials of leadership, especially in committees and discussions? (2) What are the essential characteristics of the Student Christian Association Movement? (3) What is our work on the campus, and how can we best participate?

Freshmen who are interested in this special group are invited to stop by the Y Information Office today and fill out a schedule so that the planning committee can set the time for meeting that is convenient to all members of the group.
