SOLUTION NEEDED BY JANUARY

Parking Problem Rests With Frats

The motion passed by local aldermen Thursday night leaves the Columbia St. parking problem squarely in the hands of fraternities involved.

Aldermen were apparently willing to lift the two-hour restriction for 60 days without strings attached.

But the seven fraternities affected by the restriction between Columbia St. and Cameron Ave. had submitted no concrete proposal for solving their congested parking even if the ban were lifted temporarily.

Chairman Wilburn Davis of the student government Traffic Advisory Commission had requested that the seven fraternities compile a report of suggested solutions and forward it to him.

But only three of the seven submitted a report to Davis. And these reports suggested such solutions as boycott of aldermen's businesses and conversion of portions of the Chapel Hill Elementary School playground into a parking lot.

Aldermen were only amused by these suggestions.

Control of the school playground isn't within the jurisdiction of the aldermen, Mayor O. K. Cornwell pointed out.

ONE PLAN

The one suggested which came from fraternities which seemed to impress the aldermen as "progress" concerned the conversion of a vacant lot between the Beta House and the Sigma Nu House into a parking lot.

But there is still the question of whether the Betas, owners of the property, will allow it to be converted into a parking area.

At any rate, as Commission Chairman Davis pointed out, the whole matter rests with fraternities now. His commission, which has the responsibility of studying the entire campus parking problem, will move on from Columbia St. to a comprehensive study of the entire campus.

The fraternities which have been given until Jan. 3 to work out a solution to their congested parking problem are:

Beta Theta Pi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Pi Lambda Phi, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Cobb Dorm Dance Set For Tonight

By MARY ALYS VOORHEES

Seven contestants will vie for the title of "Sweetheart of Cobb Dorm" tonight at the Sweetheart Dance in the basement of the dorm.

One of the highlights of the Cobb social calendar for the semester, the dance will feature music by Bruno's Combo, and among those present will be three busloads of girls from Woman's College.

Six of the entries for sweetheart were elected from W. C. Dorms, including Misses Mary Margaret Brown, Kitty Tuttle, Joy Daugherty and Sandy Riordan of Cotton Dorm; and Misses Gay Boren and Maria Lamprinkos from Gray Dorm. Representing the UNC Nurses' Dorm will be Miss Betty Hobsom.

All UNC women students have been invited to attend.

Judges for the contest are Charles Bernard, assistant dean of admission and Jim Wadsworth, housing director, from UNC, and three judges from W. C.

The sweetheart crowning will take place at intermission, after which refreshments—consisting of punch, cookies and candies—will be served.

Members of the social committee who have made arrangements for the social are Don Starling, chairman; Steve Lyon, dorm president; Harry Taylor, vice president; Avery Thomas, Jerry Sullivan, Bruce Hoyle, John Fox, Don Matkins and Russ Bradshaw.

Spencer Dorm's buffet supper last night was another big event to take the limelight this week.

Held last evening at the dorm, the social was for Spencer residents, University President William Friday, Chancellor Robert House and University administration officials.

On arrival guests were welcomed by Miss Mary Gravelly, dorm secretary. Spencer president Jean

Tar Heels Seek First Win Ever Over Notre Dame

By LARRY CHEEK

SOUTH BEND, Ind. —North Carolina's Tar Heels will be gunning for their first win in history over a Notre Dame football team this afternoon in Notre Dame Stadium when they take the field before a sellout crowd of 57,000 people to do battle with the legendary Fighting Irish in a game rated even money by the experts.

Kickoff time for the intercollegiate headliner is 3 p.m. EST. The game will be televised locally and will be aired nationally via the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Both the Tar Heels and Fighting Irish have taken their knocks this year, but each of these football giants of yore is expected to be fired up for the contest. Carolina has posted a 2-5-1 record in the first year of the new Jim Tatum dynasty, while Notre Dame, once the scourge of the college football world, has done even worse with a 1-6 record.

Notre Dame's only win came over Indiana, 20-6, while Carolina topped Maryland, 34-6, and Virginia, 21-7. They also tied Wake Forest 6-6. Against one common opponent Oklahoma, the Tar Heels have a slight edge. The Sooners beat Carolina, 36-0, and Notre Dame, 40-0.

Carolina has yet to taste victory in the series which began some 8 years ago during the Charlie Justice era. They dropped that first game, 42-6, in Yankee Stadium in New York City, and since then have come close on only two occasions. In 1950 they dropped a close 14-7 decision and in 1951 lost by only five points, 12-7.

If the Tar Heels can't win this year, they will have to wait at least two more years before getting another shot at the Fighting Irish. Today's game is the last of the current series, but the two teams will meet again in 1958 and 1960. Despite their poor record to date, the Irish are reportedly a spirited aggressive team in the Knute Rockne and Frank Leahy tradition. According to UNC scout Eddie Teague, Coach Terry Brennan's squad played an excellent first half against Michigan State before falling apart in the second. On several other occasions they have duplicated this performance, but haven't been able to play consistently throughout one particular game.

Inexperienced personnel and the injury bug have been two vital factors that have hurt the Irish (See CAROLINA, Page 4)

DRIVE NETS $2,000

Campus Chest Surpasses Goal

The Campus Chest drive contributions have now hit $2,000, $500 above the goal, according to Jess Strubling and Miss Jackie Aldridge, co-chairmen of the drive.

The money from the drive will go to World University Service, the Goettingen Exchange Scholarship, Cancer, and CARE.

In raising money for the drive, Ruffin and Spencer dormitories, Alpha Delta Pi sorority, and Kappa Sigma fraternity have been outstanding. Chancellor Robert House presented each of them with trophies last night at the Frost Time Frolic Dance.

The trophies, according to Miss Aldridge, embody the appreciation of the many people who will be helped by the money. Each trophy symbolizes the meaning behind the help Campus Chest drive, and reminds its possessors of less fortunate people.

Henderson Helped UNC Fame Spread

The University of North Carolina, unknown outside the state in the 19th century, had acquired a European reputation by 1930.

At least that's according to a letter in the 1930 Yackety Yack from George Bernard Shaw to Dr. Archibald Henderson, Shaw's official biographer.

Henderson, speaking to a near-capacity audience in Gerrard Hall Thursday night, said in the letter Shaw gave credit to him for spreading the University's fame to Europe.

Henderson, Kenan professor emeritus in the Mathematics Dept., smilingly remarked to Chancellor Robert House he was still working to make the university known outside the state.

He was speaking at the opening of an exhibition of his collection of Shaw. The speech and exhibition coincided with the publication of Henderson's new biography, "George Bernard Shaw, Man of the Century."

In 1904, Henderson said, he saw Shaw for the first time. He told how he had been persuaded by a friend to go see an amateur production of a Shaw play in Chicago.

Having never heard of Shaw, he went only because his friend had free tickets. Henderson left the theatre entranced and since then has become recognized as the world's foremost authority on Shaw.

Speaking of the famous playwright, Henderson said, "He dispensed with sweetness and light in favor of the shock tactics of epigram, half-truth and comic exaggeration."

"It is not only good for people to be shocked occasionally," Shaw once observed, "but it is absolutely necessary to the progress of society that they should be shocked pretty often."

Henderson will speak in the Library of Congress Monday night.

Outside of the contributions made by residences, organizations such as the Grail and the Pan Hellenic Council have helped in the drive. There have also been many contributions from foreign students living under World University Service help.

Some groups have donated time rather than money to the drive. Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternities, and Alpha Gamma Delta and Delta Delta Delta sororities have helped the drive in this way.

The Campus Chest drive officially closed at 5 p.m. Thursday. There are some pledges out that the committee hopes will be in soon.

The Co-op House, Pi Beta Phi sorority, and the foreign students have asked to send contributions expressly to help the Hungarian students. The committee will be glad to receive any such contributions, it was stated.

Miss Aldridge says that there have been contributions, many of them given anonymously, from all over the campus. She says, "The faculty and administration have backed us all the way. We could never have had better supporters for any charity drive."

Warm Weather Has Departed

That Indian Summer-type weather that floated around the campus yesterday won't be here long.

According to U. S. weather forecasters at the Raleigh-Durham Airport, the south winds bringing yesterday's high of 78 have been replaced by winds from the northwest.

Those winds will bring colder weather to North Carolina.

The low last night was estimated at 38; the high today will be in the mid-50s.

Forecasters said Carolina's football team, playing today at Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., will have temperatures between 40 and 45 and a fair to partly cloudy sky.

SSL Votes To Abolish School Act

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Student Legislature Friday passed a resolution calling for repeal of the Pearsall Plan.

Introduced by the University of North Carolina delegation, the resolution says the State Constitution now has within it "clauses which provide . . . for the means of abolition of public education." The resolution passed by the students in their mock legislature said these clauses are "morally wrong" and "contrary to the principles set forth in the United States Constitution."

The Pearsall Plan involves a two-pronged amendment to the state's constitution to meet the public school segregation problem. It was overwhelmingly approved by Tar Heel voters Sept. 8.

One provides for tuition grants to children whose parents do not want them to attend unsegregated schools. The grants could be used to send the child to a private school of his choice. The second part of the amendment authorizes local elections on the question of closing local public schools if they become unsegregated.

The students will end their 3-day mock legislature today.

McClamroch Nominated For Merchants' Job

Sandy McClamroch, Chapel Hill radio station owner, has been nominated to the presidency of the Chapel Hill-Carboro Merchants' Assn. for the coming year.

Election of new officers will be held at the group's general meeting on Dec. 10.

Beat Dook Parade Is Scheduled For Tues.

Plans are progressing for the annual "Beat Dook" parade, which is being sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. It will be staged on Tuesday, Nov. 20, at 3 p.m.

The Queen of the "Beat Dook" Float Parade was chosen Thursday night following a supper at the PiKa House, but the identity of the queen and her six attendants will be withheld until the parade day. The following 28 girls were entered in the contest: Misses Nancy MacFadden, Libby Nicholson, Pat Dillon, Anne Barber, Gail Willingham, Daryl Farrington, Susan Mayhue, Barbara Prago, Roberta Hastings, Mary Louise Bizzell, Ida Robinson, Eleanor Riggins, Jane Brock, Shirley Carpenter, Patsy Poythress, Elaine Burns, Jane Burns, Mary Burgwyn, Barbara Murray, Jane Welch, Dottie Wood, Barbara Honey, Val von Ammon, Kay Adams, Lucinda Holderness, Carolyn Placak, Anne Ruffin, and Anne Bobbitt.

The judges for the contest were E. C. Smith, local merchant; Mrs. Kay Kyser, of Chapel Hill; and Jimmy Capps, WPTF announcer.

About 35 floats from sororities, fraternities, women's dorms and men's dorms have been entered. Trophies will be awarded to the best floats in these four divisions. Women's dorms entering floats are Smith, McIver, and Nurses' dorm. Entries from the dorm division are Alexander, Ruffin, Mangum, Lewis and Everett.

Sororities entering floats are Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, and Pi Beta Phi.

Fraternities entering floats are Chi Psi, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha, Theta Chi, Zeta Beta Tau, Lambda Chi Alpha Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Epsilon Phi, St. Anthony Hall, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Phi, Pi Lambda Phi, Delta Theta Delta Kappa Epsilon and Chi Psi.

The Lincoln High School Band and the UNC Band will play in the parade. The Navy Drum and Bugle Corps and Color Guard, the Navy Team and the ROTC Drill Team will also perform.

The UNC cheerleaders led by head cheerleader Jim Bynum will be present, and five clowns will also take part in the activities.

According to Herman Godwin, parade chairman, "The outlook for a successful parade is very bright. Let's just hope for good weather."

"We know all of you are going to give the best that is in you today for Carolina, so we of Carolina want you to know that we're behind you to the last man. Win or lose you're our team, but nothing could make us prouder of you than a victory over Notre Dame today. Few of us could make the trip physically, but in mind and spirit each of us is with you today. We hope you remember that when it's hardest to get off the ground. Let's make it a real Carolina Saturday—Beat Notre Dame!"

The telegram contains 1073 signatures and is expected to be delivered at 1:15 p.m. before the team takes the field. The length of the telegram will be approximately 160 feet, according to University Club President, Joe Clapp.

Clapp said, "All 1073 signatures were Carolina students. This makes it the biggest student telegram this year. We would like to thank all those who took the trouble to sign the telegram."

Mangum Dorm contributed the largest number of signatures from the dorms. They turned in a total of 102 names. In the fraternity division, Sigma Chi took the high with 67 names.

1073 Signed Team Telegram

Today the UNC football team will receive a telegram the text of which is as follows:

"We know all of you are going to give the best that is in you today for Carolina, so we of Carolina want you to know that we're behind you to the last man. Win or lose you're our team, but nothing could make us prouder of you than a victory over Notre Dame today. Interest High In Talent Show

Several groups and individuals have shown interest in the coming Calcade of Talent show to be presented following Thanksgiving holidays. Dave Davis, talent committee chairman, termed the interest "very, very, good."

So far, trios, quartets, choral groups, bands, combos, soloists, pantomime acts, and a calypso singer have signed up for tryouts to be held on Nov. 28-29, and Dec. 3, from 7-10 p.m.

A screening committee will pick the performers for the hour-long show.

"The talent program will be the first of a series of entertainment programs put on by Carolina students," H. G. Snipes, publicity chairman, said.

Interested students may sign up by contacting Dave Davis, at the Phi Delta Theta House or Miss Eleanor Riggins at the YMCA.

Cash prizes will be awarded to winning performances. Snipes said, "The talent show will be sponsored by Graham Memorial Activities Board and the YW-YMCA."

Scaffolds Seem Sinister

Late book returners are not to be hung from the scaffolds now standing before the main entrance to the Library. At least these are the reassuring words given by a library source.

Instead, the scaffolds are being used by a Greensboro firm in cutting the name of the building, "The Louis Round Wilson Library," in the stone above the steps.

news in brief

FROM RADIO DISPATCHES
CAIRO—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold met with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, reportedly to iron out differences as to what UN troops were supposed to do in Egypt.

The Egyptian government went on record as opposing any allied effort to have the Suez Canal cleared.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. went to the UN building to represent the United States in the General Assembly.

He warned Russian troops to keep out of the Middle East.

The General Assembly voted 47-24 against proposals to seat Communist China in the UN.

VIENNA — Budapest workers agreed to call off the general strike in Hungary for government concessions. It was not reported what the concessions would be.

International Students Plan Holiday Party

A houseparty for international students will be sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship during the Thanksgiving holidays.

The houseparty will be held in the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina at Saluda Inn.

Students from many lands will join in guided tours of the scenic area and other recreation. There will be discussions on Christianity during the evenings.

The houseparty will last from Nov. 22 to 25, and the total cost is $14. Further information about the program and registration may be obtained from Challie Iralu, 226 Connor or Ed Viser, 204 Connor.
