

Covering The Campus

WOMEN'S RESIDENCE COUNCIL
The Women's Residence Council will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

WESLEY CHOR
The Wesley Choir will meet to-day from 7 to 8 p.m. at the University Methodist Church.

CHEM CLUB
The Chemistry Club will meet to-day at 7:30 p.m. in Venable 207. A film produced by the Atomic Energy Commission will be shown.

YOUNG ADULT GROUP
The Young Adult Group will meet at 8 p.m. at the University Methodist Church.

FACULTY CLUB LUNCHEON
Professor J. Carlyle Sitterson, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will speak today when the Faculty Club meets at the Carolina Inn at 1 p.m. Professor Sitterson's topic will be "Liberal Arts in the University of North Carolina."

WUNC-TV
WUNC-TV, the University's educational television station, channel 4:

- 12:45 Music.
- 1:00 Today on the Farm.
- 1:30 Music in the Air.
- 2:00 Science and Nature.
- 5:45 Music.
- 6:00 Magic Lantern.
- 6:15 Sports Clinic.
- 6:30 News.
- 6:45 Sports.
- 7:00 Books and People.
- 7:15 Bible Course.
- 8:00 Dr. Shivers.
- 8:45 State Government.
- 9:30 Musical Forms.
- 10:00 Final Edition.
- 10:05 Sign Off.

Christmas Gifts For Tiny People

Cloth Books — Our set will stand a powerful lot of gumming, and most will survive a dip in the washing machine and come out delectable as new! 15 titles to tempt you. Priced from 50c to $1.50.

Gone Is My Goose — A very lovely little book by Chapel Hill's own Dorothy Koch. Simple enough for the first grader to read to baby. $2.25

See The Circus — by H. A. Rey. Children love Rey's "peek-a-boo books" and this one is especially appealing. $1.00

Baby Animals — Thick paper and warm colorful pictures make this Golden book a year-round favorite with tiny folk. $1.00

Harold's Fairy Tale — by Crockett Johnson. The director of Mr. O'Malley writes an ingenious tale of a small boy and a crayon. Grown-ups like it too. $1.50

A Hole is to Dig — by Ruth Krauss. This is not the newest of Miss Krauss' books, but we find that our very small customers love it most of all. $1.50

Beatrix Potter Books — We have most of them, from Peter Rabbit on up, and they're heart-warming!

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Till 10 P.M.

'Mignon' Set For WUNC-TV Viewing Friday

Norman Cordon, commentator for "Let's Listen to Opera" each Friday night over WUNC, the University of North Carolina's FM station, has chosen as this week's presentation Ambroise Thomas' ever popular "Mignon."

The broadcast at 8 p.m. Friday was recorded at the famous Brussels Opera House, Theatre de la Monnaie, by London Records. The chorus and orchestra of that theatre are conducted by George Sebastian.

The title role will be sung by Genevieve Moizan supported by Janine Micheau as "Philine," Libero de Luca as "Wilhelm Meister," and Rene Bianco as "Lothario."

Study Begun In Med School

A three-year study of "The Process of Patient Referral to a University General Clinic in a Rural State" has gotten underway in the UNC Medical School, made possible by an $86,325 grant from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Drs. Kerr L. White and T. Franklin Williams of the Department of Preventive Medicine are the principal investigators for the study.

The grant, provided by the USPHS Division of Hospital and Medical Facilities, provides $27,370 for the first year, $29,285 for the second and $29,670 for the third.

Police Blotter

Students on the Chapel Hill police blotter between Nov. 12 and Nov. 26 were as follows: John Grey Todd, speeding; Miss Marilyn Ann Keil; blocking driveway; William Pender, speeding; Jerry Edward Cohen, speeding; Lee Joyner, hit and run; James Robertson McQuiston, stop sign violation; Clifton Thomas Boyd, passing on curve; Giles Garrett Nicholson, reckless driving; Charlie Allen Ross, stop sign violation and speeding; William J. O'Sullivan, public drunkenness; and Donald Spencer Atkins, public drunkenness.

UNC Nursing School Elected Agency Member

Dr. Elizabeth L. Kemble, dean of the University School of Nursing, announced today that the School of Nursing has been approved for full membership in the Council of Member Agencies, Dept. of Baccalaureate and Higher Degree Programs of the National League of Nursing.

Membership in this Council is limited to collegiate schools of nursing that have been fully accredited by the Collegiate Board of Review of the National League for Nursing. The UNC School of Nursing is the first school of nursing in North Carolina to receive full membership in this agency.

Public Health Profs Present New Methods

Two members of the faculty of the University School of Public Health will present a new procedure in the diagnosis of syphilis at the American Medical Assn. Clinical Conference in Seattle, Wash. Nov. 26-30.

The new procedure is called "Treponema Pallidum Complement Fixation Test."

Health Prof Heads Group

Miss Julie Smith, associate professor of public health nursing at the University School of Nursing, was elected chairman of the public Health Nursing Section of the American Public Health Assn. at the recent meeting of this association in Atlantic City.

Miss Smith, who was vice-chairman of this section for the past two years, is a native North Carolinian. She graduated from Hollins College, the University of Pennsylvania Hospital School of Nursing, and received her master's degree at Teacher's College, Columbia University. Before joining the faculty of the University School of Nursing, she was resident lecturer in public health nursing at the University of Michigan.

Reed Speaks In Raleigh Friday

L. Deno Reed, audiologist of the North Carolina Memorial Hospital and instructor of otolaryngology in the University School of Medicine, Dept. of Surgery, will speak in Raleigh on Friday.

Reed will address a meeting of the North Carolina Assn. of Special Therapists at the Sir Walter Hotel at 7 p.m. on the subject of "Diagnostic and Therapeutic Measures for Speech Defective Children."

Reed also will be a member of a panel headed by Mrs. Annie Ray Moore, health educator of the North Carolina Dept. of Public Instruction, which will discuss "Promising Hearing with the Hard-of-Hearing."

News Picture Exhibit Is In Wilson Library

The traveling exhibit of the 13th annual "News Pictures of the Year" contest is now on display in the Library.

The exhibit features all the top prize winners and finalists in this year's contest. It includes representative prints from the top portfolio that gave the title "Magazine Photographer of the Year" to Grey Villet of Life magazine.

The "News Pictures of the Year" contest is co-sponsored by the National Press Photographers Assn. and Encyclopedia Britannica. Under NPAA's educational program short courses in photojournalism are taught in schools in Boston, Syracuse, Chapel Hill, Chicago, Seattle and Los Angeles.

The still division of the year's contest was judged in ten different categories. The current exhibition, consisting of about 140 prints, contains a cross-section of these ten categories.

This year's show is being exhibited in leading colleges, universities, public libraries and

It's Children's Book Week. Enjoy A Second Childhood In The Wonderland Of

THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
205 E. Franklin St.
Open Till 10 P.M.

CLASSIFIEDS

FOR SALE: 1949 FORD-8 SEAT
covers, radio, heater, and new battery. Price $195.00. See at 101 Mason Farm Rd. anytime or phone 8-0113.

Photo Finishing Service
AS CLOSE AS YOUR MAILBOX GUARANTEED SERVICE
Any 8 exposure roll developed and 8 JUMBO PRINTS; only 50c—12 exposures 75c—16 exposures $1.00.

FAST 6 HOUR FINISHING
FREE ALBUM WITH EACH ROLL OF FILM
FREE MAILERS

HOME PHOTO SERVICE
Box 3803—Park Place
Greenville, S. C.

Why Pay High Prices?

I've Held Them Down Since July, '55

ASK YOUR BUDDY!

SPECIAL — 7-Up and Tru-Ade $1.00 Per Case Plus Dep.

ESSO GAS YES! ESSO GAS
Cash Cash Cash

Reg. 29.9 H.T. 32.9

Plus
Bring This Ad And Get 1 Cent Off Per Gal. Gas, 5 Cents Per Qt. Oil

? WHERE ?
At The Students' Friend
WHIPPLE'S ESSO SERVICE

Teacher Shortage Is Analyzed By Noted Educator, UNC Dean

By BOB MYERS
A tireless first grade teacher took cotton-topped, cherubic, little Johnny upon her lap and struggled to put on his galoshes, which were a mite small.

After 15 minutes, the "mud-dobbers" were manipulated as Johnny asserted, "Miss Jones, these aren't my galoshes." And she struggled 15 more minutes getting them off.

"But they belong to my brother and mother said for me to wear them," Johnny disclosed, much to the teacher's chagrin.

And the teacher struggled with Johnny's "galoshes" once again and she thought about the first day of school when there were so many kids in her room that it appeared and sounded like a Saturday cartoon matinee at the local theater. That was the day Mrs. Van Wagon brought in little Percy, saying, "Miss Jones, I know you will give personal attention to my dear son."

Miss Jones took a look around the room and with a half sigh said, "Oh, yes, Mrs. Van Wagon, little Percy will get special attention."

Figurative as they may be, the foregoing illustrations were used by T. M. Stinnett, reputedly one of the best informed men in the country on education as executive secretary of the National Education Associations Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Service, in pointing out the extra burdens of teachers amid crowded conditions in the nation's public schools.

But the educator, on a recent visit here, says the country's current educational problems in public schools are no indication of things to come. Stinnett, noted for his prophecies, says the country is on the threshold of the "Golden Era of Education."

This Golden Era will develop in the next 25 years along with the advance in nematic technology; electronics, atomic fission, production of more goods than ever before, new scientific and synthetic materials, 50 per cent more food production, the rocket and jet age, and the coming of the 30-hour work week, the educator prophesied.

"By 1965, the gross productivity of the country will reach $360 billion, and in 20 years present production will be multiplied five times," the national education official said. "And by 1975 the average income for the working man will be increased to $3,200 annually."

With other advances will dawn the greater era for education. "By 1975 the population of the United States will increase to as many as the combined peoples of England and two other European countries, the executive secretary predicted. $10 BILLION SPENT

"And where the nation is now spending $10 billion on education in public schools, by 1975 there will be need for an expenditure of $25 billion and teachers' salaries will have to be doubled," he said. Unless teachers' salaries are increased, educators will find other fields more attractive.

"We must add 600,000 new teaching positions by 1965," the authority emphasized, and in the next ten years must prepare one and one-half million new teachers to meet the demand.

"In the ensuing 10 years, education will assume the private favor of the American people as it never has before. It will become as necessary to people as clothes and shelter," Stinnett predicted. COMPETITION WITH RUSSIA

Another reason for the advance of education is competition with Russia. Stinnett pointed out how Russian leaders have discovered the power of their peoples and how they are subsidizing education with scholarships and grants under a regimented system.

"We must keep abreast of Russia," Stinnett said. He proclaimed the salvation of American education is by "our own democratic system—not any regimented system like Russia has." We must have access to free education for every child from grade school through college.

"The key to all is the future, namely, the quantity and quality of teachers we will get," Stinnett said. He indicated that the American people should stop kidding themselves of the misconceptions about education and stop trying

Display Case

An oak bookcase to display and protect a valuable collection of rare books on pharmacy was presented to the School of Pharmacy here recently by the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Assn. Dr. E. A. Brecht, dean of the school, accepted the case for the school. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. P. Kendall, Charlotte, president of the organization and Mrs. W. P. Brewer, Greensboro, immediate past president.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

Dean Arnold Perry of the School of Education, approached about the teacher shortage, emphasized the gravity of the problem and suggested mass production of teachers as a means of meeting the forthcoming demand.

The dean pointed out that the post-war bumper crop of children has only recently been felt in the elementary schools. In about five years the shock wave will roll over the junior high schools and in another three years, over the senior highs.

Statistics bear out the dean's statements. The nation in 1954-55 had 690,000 elementary teachers and 375,000 high school teachers. Of this number, about eight per cent leave each year, requiring the replacement of about 85,000 teachers.

But this isn't enough. Around 15,000 more would be needed just to overcome the present crowded conditions of the schools. Another 30,000 teachers would be needed to take care of the national increase in enrollment.

EDUCATION OF TEACHERS

North Carolina, for instance, had a shortage of 1,267 teachers last year. Since 1947, the number of teachers in the state has increased by about 1,000 a year, but the education of teachers has not kept pace with the increasing enrollment.

A program for relieving this problem should meet certain minimum standards to be effective. First, present standards of teacher education should be maintained, or the teacher profession will lose its appeal to alert and intelligent people. "Lower standards will deny the school child the superior instruction and guidance which we are seeking for him," the Dean said.

The program should be channeled through 20 white and 12 Negro institutions already in existence in the state, and any worthwhile program must be a long-range one, because "no temporary 'stop-gap' measures will suffice."

"What will Johnny face in the classroom of the Golden Era in Education?"

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS	8. Installed ceremoniously	31. Sports official (colloq.)
1. Shine	9. Mix	34. Rub out
6. Faultily	10. Auction	35. Sound, as out
11. Rascal	16. Man's nickname block	36. Familiar with (slang)
12. Mule blanket	19. Genus of swine	38. Drinking vessels (archaic)
13. Incites	20. Pranks	39. Genus of lily
14. Smithy's block	21. Uncooked
15. Fools	22. Single unit
17. Before	23. Gained
18. Steps	25. Finish
21. Bellow	26. Property (L.)
24. Assemble troops	28. Lamprey
27. Piers (Arch.)
29. Setting
30. Damper
32. Appends
33. Not awake
35. Yam (H. I.)
37. Up roar
41. Inside
44. Mature person
45. Pillar of stone
46. Indian soldier
47. Mud hut
48. County (Eng.)
DOWN
1. Unit of weight
2. Wolf
3. German river
4. Absolute sovereigns
5. Middle (Law)
6. Wine cup
7. Homo sapiens

Yesterday's Answer
40. Underworld river
42. Old times
43. King (Sp.)

All Premiums And Draft

T. V. — Good Place To Watch Boxing & Football
Bring Your Date
SANDWICHES OF ALL KINDS
WEST FRANKLIN STREET LUNCHEONETTE
Next to Bus Station
Phone 9-2846

MAKE YOUR NEXT MOVE—A FRIENDLY BUSINESS CHAT WITH THE MAN. YOU'LL FIND THAT:

THE NEW YORK LIFE AGENT ON YOUR CAMPUS IS A GOOD MAN TO KNOW

George L. Coxhead
UNC '42—CAMPUS REPRESENTATIVE
PO BOX 1065 PHONE 82331

"Coca-Cola does something for you, doesn't it."

DRINK Coca-Cola

You feel so new and fresh and good—all over—when you pause for Coca-Cola. It's sparkling with quick refreshment... and it's so pure and wholesome—naturally friendly to your figure. Let it do things—good things—for you.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY DURHAM COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.
"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. © 1956, THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

In all the years no picture has said this!

BETTE DAVIS IN STORM CENTER

TODAY And WEDNESDAY

Varsity Theatre

A COLUMBIA PICTURE with BRIAN KEITH · KIM HUNTER · PAUL KELLY · KEVIN COUGHLIN
Story and Screenplay by DANIEL TARADASH & ELIOT MOLL · Directed by DANIEL TARADASH · Produced by JULIAN BLAUSTEIN · A PHOENIX PRODUCTION