Two BVP Students Are Taken For Ride On Heavy Bulldozer

Two students were taken for a ride on a bulldozer last Saturday, according to the Battle-Vance-Pettigrew Times, released late last night.
 The students, Bob Kuhns and Bill Porter, two BVP boys, were given the ride while in the process of taking a nice Saturday walk through the woods, the BVP Times reported.

The article said: the boys "were walking through the woods in back of the hospital when they came across the super-highway now in process of being built. In the excavation of the area, are two bulldozers," the article said.
 "One of the boys used to drive a 'cat' in civilian life so thought he would drive this one around to get the feel of things."
 "He started it up, but chickened out. The other boy was anxious to learn how to start it, so he picked a few pointers from his buddy.
 "As Bob was looking over other pieces of equipment he heard a chug-chug-chug and looked up to see his 150 pound roommate coming through the woods on top of a 150 ton bulldozer.
 "The two boys were last seen running off through the woods 'just laughin' up a storm.'"

WUNC-TV To Offer German

A course in elementary German will be included in the University's educational television program, beginning Feb. 15, the University Extension Division announced today.

The new course will be presented over WUNC-TV, the University owned non-commercial station serving 36 of the state's counties.
 Dr. Herbert Reichert, associate professor of German and member of the Dept. of Germanic Languages and Literature, will teach the course. Dr. Reichert will give 45-minute lectures twice weekly, on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 p. m. The study will end June 13.

The German course will be offered both for credit and non-credit, according to Miss Henry, head of the Extension Division's Bureau of Correspondence Instruction.
 Two courses in religion and political science are being taught now via TV. Some 140 persons are enrolled in the courses, 25 for credit.

New Intercom System Given UNC Hospital

Christmas carols and tall tales of that merry old elf from the North Pole will be heard throughout the children's section of the North Carolina Memorial Hospital during this holiday season.
 This has been made possible by the installation of new intercommunication system this week in the University Hospital.
 The new unit, costing about $1,500, was donated by the Sigma Sigma Sorority, a national social sorority and a member of the National Panhellenic Council. The money for the system came from the Robbie Page Memorial Fund, a sorority project.

The control panel for the system is located in the children's playroom and will be operated by Miss Katherine McLaren of the Pediatrics Dept. Miss McLaren is the Coordinator of Rehabilitation Activities for the children who are patients at Memorial Hospital.

From this central location the intercommunication system will have speakers in each of the rooms on the children's floor. This will enable Miss McLaren to entertain all of the children in this section of the hospital at the same time. She will tell them stories, play phonograph records for them and tune in children's programs on the radio, which is part of the system.

Robbie Page was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson Page of Douglaston, New York. In 1951 the child entered school at Newton Center, Mass. On the same day he entered school he suffered a polio attack. He never returned to school and died two weeks later.

At that time, Mrs. Page was national president of the Sigma Sigma Sorority and the ly for children at the Methodist Orphanage in Raleigh at the Sigma Nu House. Later in the evening Santa arrived with presents for 15 little boys from eight to ten years old.

The Alpha Gams had their Christmas party Tuesday night also but instead of exchanging gifts spent the time wrapping presents for an underprivileged child they adopted for Christmas.

ATOs and their dates celebrated vacation time with a Yule party, as did the SPE's, Zetas, Betas, Pikas, KA's, SAE's, Theta Chi's and Sigma Chis.

'Christmas In The Hospital' Is Title Of WUNC-TV Show

"Christmas in the Hospital" will be the title of the "Project Health" television show over WUNC-TV, Channel 4, Friday, at 9 p. m.

The program is being staged by the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

The hour-long show will show how Christmas will be observed at Memorial Hospital, especially in the children's section of the hospital.

The "Project Health" series of television shows is seen every other Friday night throughout the academic year. The series is sponsored by the University Division of Health Affairs. The Division of Health Affairs is composed of Memorial Hospital and the UNC Schools of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Public Health and Dentistry. Each of the programs is based on some activity of the units within the Division of Health Affairs.

THE GIFT HORSE

The college life is a busy one, especially at this time of year. What with going to classes and studying for exams and pursuing a full social schedule and constructing rope ladders to foil dormitory curfews, the average undergrad is so pressed for time that he cannot do justice to his Christmas shopping.

Therefore, to aid you in your Christmas shopping, I have gone into the market place and selected for you a list of gifts, notable for their originality.

Perhaps the most original gift of all this year is a carton of Philip Morris Cigarettes. "Original?" you exclaim, your bushy young eyebrows rising. "Why, we have been giving cartons of Philip Morris for years!"

True, I reply, but each time you give Philip Morris, it is a new treat, a fresh delight, a pristine pleasure. Each carton, each pack, each cigarette, each puff, is just as good as the first one you ever tried.

Another gift destined for certain popularity this year is a gift certificate from the American Dental Association. This certificate, good at any dentist's office in America, is accompanied by a handsome gift card upon which is engraved this lovely poem:

*Merry Christmas, little pal,
 Do you need some root canal?
 Prophylaxis? Porcelain caps?
 Bridgework to close up them gaps?
 Shiny braces that will straighten?
 Inlays? Fillings? Upper platen?
 Merry Christmas to your teeth,
 And the rosy gums beneath.*

Another gift that is always welcome is a book, especially to people who read. This Christmas the selection of books is particularly attractive. For lovers of anthologies, there is William Makepeace Sherpa's A Treasury of the World's Great Treasures. For those who fancy inspiring success stories, there is the stirring autobiography of William Makepeace Pennington entitled How I Got a Forty Pound Monkey Off My Back and Started the Duluth Zoo. For devotees of skin-diving, there is I Married a Snorkel by Lydia Makepeace Watershed. For calorie counters and waistline watchers, there is Harry Makepeace Wildfoster's Eat and Grow Fat.

My own favorite book this season is a pulse-pounding historical novel from that famous author of pulse-pounding historical novels, Daphne Makepeace Sigafos. This one is called Egad and Zounds, and it tells the poignant romance of two young lovers, Egad and Zounds, who, alas, can never be married, for fiery Egad is but a gypsy lass, while tempestuous Zounds is a Kappa Sigma. They later become Ludwig of Bavaria.

My final gift suggestion is one that a great many people have been fervently wishing for since last year. Do you remember the introduction last Christmas of tiny personal portable radios that plugged into your ear? Well, this year, you will be delighted to know, you can buy an ingenious pick to get them out.

 Old Max said it, but it bears repeating: A cartoon of Philip Morris, made by the sponsors of this column, is a Christmas gift that's bound to please everyone!

Many moons ago... around 600 B. C. ... there was a barkeep named Draw Wun in a little bistro off Times Square in Shanghai. Now this character's cashbox was loaded with loot, as Wun served up the greatest brew that side of the Yangtze.

"Murder," said Wun, one p. m. near 9 as the cats were clamoring for more beer, "I'm getting all shook up trying to keep gung-ho on the tap, take the cash, and figure out the change. I don't dig that math."

The beer Wun was crying in belonged to a calculus prof from the local U.

"Gad, Dad," sympathized the math man, "keep cool; I'll think of something. You can count on it."
 So the prof rickshawed home and took a bath. Soon he was heard to shout, "Eureka!" (in Chinese, of course). He had solved the problem by inventing the abacus.
 Next day he brought in a counting gizmo made of bamboo and cranberries. With this mechanical brain, Wun was able to introduce the time-payment plan, because one day a patron and Wun did this bit across the mahogany:
 "I have a yen for two cold ones to go," said the customer.
 "Sorry, friend, we don't accept Japanese currency," Wun lunged.
 "I'm flat, cat," came the reply, "got a suggestion?"
 Whereupon Wun played a few fast notes on his abacus, figured the terms of a loan for two beers and said, "Borrow one and carry two"... two terms still used in modern mathematics.
 So you can see that's how Wun got a charge out of his abacus.

MORAL: When it comes to mathematics, you can count on an abacus if you want to. But when it comes to beer, figure on Budweiser. It's the best draught beer any side of the Yangtze. You can count on it.
