

EFFECTIVE SEPT. 1:

Five Named To Faculty, Two Resign, Says House

Five appointments to the UNC faculty and two resignations were announced yesterday by Chancellor Robert House.

To become effective Sept. 1, 1957, the appointments were approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees in a meeting in Raleigh yesterday morning.

Henry C. Thomas, to be a professor in the Dept. of Chemistry here is a native of Cheraw, South Carolina, and was graduated from UNC in 1932. He attended Yale, and has worked for the DuPont Company.

Lyle V. Jones was appointed as assistant professor of Psychology and as director of the psychometric lab. He is a native of the State of Washington and was graduated from the University of that state.

To be an assistant professor in the English Dept. is Osborne B. Hardison, Jr., a native of California. Hardison received his Ph.D. in 1956 from the University of Wisconsin and his M.A. from UNC in 1950.

John S. Pike, to be an assistant professor in the School of Dentistry, was born in Georgia. He was graduated from Emory and from the University of Nebraska.

Clifford M. Foust, Jr. is a native of New York. A graduate of Syracuse University and of the University of Chicago, he will be an assistant professor in the History Dept.

Resignations from the faculty of North Carolina were by G. Gordon Ellis, an assistant professor in the School of Education who accepted a position at Iowa

State College; and by Rubin Hill, a professor in the Dept. of Sociology who accepted a position with the University of Minnesota.

Belle Corey Is YW Prexy Nomination

The nominating committee of the YWCA met yesterday afternoon and presented the following persons as candidates for office:

Belle Corey, president; Ann Morgan, vice-president; Mollie Adams and Barbara Fowler, secretary; Lloyd Daughtery and Ann Holt, treasurer; Phyllis Kraft and Eve McClatchey, program chairman; and Mary Louise Bizell and Lucinda Holderness, membership chairman.

During the open nominations meeting Monday, Mary Moore Mason was nominated to run for secretary and Cindy Seagraves was nominated to seek the office of program chairman.

The elections will be held Wednesday, March 13, in the dormitory and sorority house meetings, stated Martha Richardson, president of the YWCA.

Committee Asks Carry-Over

By BILL KING

The committee appointed by the Student Legislature to investigate the conditions surrounding the Lenoir Hall situation met yesterday in an attempt to ascertain the opinions of the student workers involved and to decide the goal toward which the committee would work.

A good part of the meeting concerned itself with George W. Prillaman and some of his statements at a meeting of the student workers last week.

The feeling, according to a student, seemed to be that Prillaman, manager of Lenoir, has evaded the major issues and concerned himself with the relatively unimportant details.

As an illustration, it was pointed out that at the meeting of last Wednesday five students were counted by Prillaman who were unable to eat lunch at Lenoir, while several other people counted as many as 10 to 15.

Prillaman, at the session in Lenoir, expressed his bewilderment that the workers didn't come to him with their problems. A statement was made at the meeting yesterday that the student workers had been discouraged from going any higher than their immediate superior in the past.

Al Alphin, chairman of the committee, said that the goal of the committee would be to gain an accumulative payment system. The student under this system would be able to carry over the balance of his food allowance that he does not use. This carry-over would accumulate over a period of a month with the student to receive, in cash, the balance at the end of the month.

The amount to be carried over would not exceed $90 a day.

Alphin said the committee would make this recommendation to the Legislature in its report.

The students at the meeting agreed this would satisfy most of the workers at Lenoir.

Opinions were also expressed that the workers at Lenoir were afraid of losing their jobs as a result of Prillaman's statements which could be taken as threats or insinuations. It was brought out that Prillaman could not "blacklist" the student workers and that only the student aid office had the authority to "blacklist" a student worker.

The investigating committee agreed the Lenoir Hall situation was a bad one and that something should be done about it.

Council Convicts Student For Theft

A student was convicted by the Men's Honor Council on charges of theft and sentenced to indefinite suspension, according to a report released by the Council yesterday.

The student was found guilty of selling a book belonging to another student at a local bookstore.

The report released by the Honor Council is as follows:

A local bookstore recently reported that several stolen books had been sold to them, and that one of the owners had claimed his and asked that the Men's Honor Council be notified of the theft. The student stated that his "Personnel" text had been stolen from Lenoir Hall on Feb. 8. Next day as he started to buy another one he mentioned the theft to the saleslady. Remembering that she had the day before bought one produced the book in which his name had been entered.

She stated that she had required of the student selling this and another book his ID card and his signature in each one, which is a general procedure of the store. It was evident then that the signature must have corresponded with that of the ID card and that the possessor of this ID card at the time was guilty of the offense. The student whose name corresponded to the signature was summoned before the Men's Honor Council and presented with the charge of theft. To this charge he pled "not guilty." When questioned as to his possession of his ID card during the month of January and February he stated that he had loaned it to his roommate during the last of January and that his roommate had kept it for several weeks, but could not remember the exact date of its return. Further interrogation by the council established this date which indicated that only he could have possessed it on Feb. 8. Faced with the facts, his plea changed to "guilty."

The council members felt that his offense constitutes one of the most serious violations of the honor code and consequently issued a sentence of indefinite suspension.

Local Station Carrying NBC Program List

WUNCTV, the University's educational television station, Monday night carried the first of a five-day series of programs telecast nationally by NBC and the Educational Television and Radio Center.

The programs, to be carried live by all the educational television stations in the country, will be seen each week night at 6:30 for a 13-week period this spring.

It marks the first time the nation's educational television station will carry live network programming from the NBC studios. The series is a non-commercial deal with all commercial stations excluded.

The programs will be in the areas of literature, geography, mathematics, government and music. Well-known authorities in each area will be featured.

A similar 13-week program is planned for this fall.

Highlights of Opera History." Paul Henry Lang, Columbia University musicology professor and New York music critic, will host this series, to relate the history of culture from 1600 to 1950.

Producers for the five programs are well-known in the field of broadcasting. David Lowe, producer and director—both in television and the theater, is overall producer of the project and will produce the mathematics program. William Parish, an NBC supervisor of public service programs, will produce the contemporary American literature programs.

Brice Howard, NBC senior unit manager has been assigned to produce the government series.

Charles Polachek, who has been associate producer of the NBC Opera Co., will produce the music series and Dorothy Culbertson, former supervisor of religious radio programming and education features for NBC, will produce the geography programs.

Host for the geography series will be Albert E. Burke, executive director of the American Institute of Resource Economics. The programs will deal with the economic realities of geography and their influence on world action.

James Newman, editor of "The World of Mathematics," will serve as chief consultant on this series designed to make mathematics interesting and understandable to the general public.

Host for the government series will be E. E. Schattschneider, chairman of the department of government at Wesleyan University and president of the American Political Science Assn.

Dr. Schattschneider will explore the evolution, functions and operation of the institutions of American government with the objective of helping the citizen understand how his government really works.

The music series will deal with
