Freer Edit Policy Is Need, Crowther DTH Editor Candidate Gives Eight-Step Platform Plank

Better public relations, more campus news and a freer editorial policy were announced as platform planks yesterday by Frank Crowther, independent candidate for editor of The Daily Tar Heel.

... a personal challenge

1. A de-emphasis of national politics and news.
  2. Less dependence on the World Wire.
  3. Better internal organization of the paper.
  4. Better public relations.
  5. A better understanding and interpretation of athletics.
  6. A better feature department.
  7. A more well-rounded editorial page.
  8. A student poll to decide on the paper's comic strips.
- "I shall make no wild promises that I would not be able to fulfill," he said. "But," he added, "if elected I shall attempt to administer the office of editor in a manner that will do justice to the student body and to the great tradition of our university."

Office Seekers Petitions Due By March 22

All students wishing to run for office in the coming election are required to submit a petition to the chairman of the Elections Board by March 22, it was announced yesterday.

Seven Profs Granted Leaves

Seven UNC faculty members have been granted leaves of absence, according to President William Friday's office.

The leaves were approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees upon the recommendation of Chancellor Robert Hoffa.

Dudley J. Cowden, professor in the school of Business Administration, was granted a Kenan Leave for the spring semester 1957-58 for research, study, and lecture at the University of London.

Robert W. Linker, professor in the Dept. of Romance Languages, will be on Kenan leave for the fall semester 1957-58 in order to continue research and writing in the field of Old French and Italian.

In order to pursue research at the Plant Industry Station at Beltsville, Md., Charles E. Jenner, associate professor in the Dept. of Zoology, will be on a Kenan leave for the spring semester, 1957-58.

John J. Honigmann, associate professor, Dept. of Sociology, was granted a leave of absence for the academic years 1957-58, subject to the award of a Fulbright Research Grant, to continue anthropological studies in Pakistan.

In order to accept the invitation of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton for study and research, F. Burton Jones, professor in the Dept. of Mathematics, will be on leave for the academic year 1957-58.

Robert L. Bunting, assistant professor, School of Business Administration, was granted a leave for the spring semester 1956-57 to accept a grant from the William Volker Fund, in order to continue research and writing.

Leave of absence is also in order for David G. Basile, assistant professor, Dept. of Geology and Geography, for the academic year 1957-58, in order to pursue research and write in this country and possibly in South America.

Colson Elected YMCA Head; Belle Corey To Lead YWCA

Corey Is Next YW President

YMCA election results were announced by Lee Ann Curtis yesterday.

Belle Corey, a rising senior from Atlanta, Ga., was elected president for the coming year. Ann Morgan, a junior from Charleston, W. Va., is the new vice president.

There will be a runoff between Molly Adams of Wilmington and Cynthia Segraves of Jacksonville, Fla., for the secretarial position. Both women are juniors.

Ann Holt, a junior from Sanford, was elected treasurer. Lucinda Holderness, a junior from Greensboro, was elected membership chairman.

A runoff will also be held for program chairman. The candidates are Phyllis Krafft, a junior from River Forest, Ill., and Eve McClatchey, a junior from Atlanta, Ga.

Runoffs will be held Wednesday night at the regular women's dorm meetings.

HOKE SIMPSON
... Glee Club Star

UNC Glee Club Will Feature Hoke Simpson

Tall, tanned and talented Henry "Hoke" Simpson will take his Belafonte sway and song style on a rambling tour of North and South Carolina next week when he tours with the UNC Men's Glee Club.

The soft spoken Georgian will be the glee club's featured vocalist when it leaves Wednesday morning at 9 a.m. on its annual spring tour.

The cheerful freshman will perform three songs at the Glee Club's numerous concerts. In each performance he will be arrayed in an outfit he refers to as a "dock-worker's wardrobe."

"By this he means he'll be sporting white duck pants and a red shirt opened lazily at the neck.

A quartet of glee club members will provide background music on some of the numbers. They will be attired in white shirts with the open neck synonymous of the Jamaican natives, and dark tux pants.

The amiable calypso singer will perform "Marianne" and "Jamaica Ca Farewell." The third number in his relaxing repertoire is as yet undetermined, but either "Hold 'Em Joe," "Matilda," or "Pretty Girl" will round out his performance.

Hoke's soothing style is as fresh as his, big southern grin. He's been a calypso singer for only "about a year."

Simpson stated that he felt that "the five day tour will give me a chance to meet and perform before just about every kind of audience. The opportunity to perform on television along with the Glee Club will also be provided."

Legislature Appropriates Funds On Three Committees

Sig Eps Plan Move To New Court

The Carolina Sig Eps will move to the new fraternity court.

Sunday, at the annual founders' day of Sigma Phi Epsilon, the alumni gave the word to go ahead by voting to back the undergrads. "All the way."

The alumni appointed an action committee to make all the final arrangements. Dr. Charles Henderson, of the UNC classics department, was named to head the committee. Harold Wever was elected treasurer of the committee. Jack Owens of Durham and Charles Linville of Winston-Salem compose the remainder of the alumni committee.

An undergraduate committee was also formed to assist the alumni. Charlie Daniels was named chairman of the undergraduate committee. Bill Aiken, William E. Self, and Curtiss Daughtry are the other members of the undergrad committee.

This action was taken at a Founders' Day celebration at the SPE House Sunday.

The presiding officer at the function was John Dawn.

Leadership Committee Given Expenses For Coming Retreat

By H-JOOST POLAK

The passage of bills appropriating funds to the Student Government Leadership Training Committee, the Elections Board, and the Constitutional Revision Committee and a resolution concerning student employees of Lenoir Hall and revision of the Student Body Constitution formed the main business of the Student Legislature's meeting last night.

The leadership program was appropriated 250 dollars by the Legislators to defray expenses for its upcoming retreat which has been tentatively scheduled for the first week-end after spring recess.

Both the Elections Board and the Constitutional Revision Committee were granted small sums to cover operating expenses.

The legislature expressed unanimous approval of the resolution introduced by Al Alpha which proposed two alternative plans of bettering Lenoir Hall student employee compensation. Both systems called for the establishment of meal ticket book systems to enable the workers to spend their food allotment as they please.

Letters of resignation were tendered by Representatives Baum and Howerton, Baum resigning to pursue the office of Student Body President, and Howerton to pursue his studies.

Bills presented upon which no action was taken included: a resolution to subsidize the UNC Graduate Club and a bill to allow student parking in the Morehead Planetarium lot on election day. A bill calling for a 375 dollar subsidy for the Carolina Quarterly was tabled indefinitely.

Charles Huntington, newly elected representative of Town Men's I, was sworn in by legislature speaker Sonny Evans, who recommended that Representative Wilson Cooper be relieved of his duties until he could arrange a class schedule favorable to their performance.

Past President of the National Students Association and 1949 UNC graduate Al Lowenstein, who is currently visiting the campus, was recognized by Speaker Evans and accorded a standing ovation by the Assemblage.

of the struggle of Indonesia against the Netherlands. By patient maneuvering and diplomacy, however, Dr. Graham's commission worked out a ceasefire line between the two countries.

The final result of the commission's work emerged in early 1948 as the Renville Agreement. Dr. Graham then had finished his work and so turned the matter over to the UN Security Council to vote upon.

The UN Seminar continues on in its tour of conferences and plenaries centering the UN building. The group will return here Sunday night.

Willard Swire, executive director of the American National Theater and Academy, will be a guest of The Carolina Playmakers and will address the 9 a.m. Dramatic Art class in the Playmakers Theater.

Released from his work in New York to travel around the country for a few months, Swire is visiting certain key cities to determine whether they want to join in A.N.T.A.'s forty-circuit theater plan. The plan calls for an organized network of forty repertory theatres distributed around the country.

Selection Board Questioning DTH Aspirants

The Bipartisan Selections Board for candidates for The Daily Tar Heel editorship is currently interviewing prospective editors, its chairman said yesterday.

Chairman Fred Powledge said that two of the three candidates who have entered the race have been interviewed—Neil Bass and Frank Crowther.

"Any other student who wants to run for editor of The Daily Tar Heel in spring elections April 2 should check with me or any other member of the board within the next few days," said Powledge. "to arrange for an interview."

Powledge is present editor of The Daily Tar Heel. Others on the committee are Frank Ferrell, chairman of the Publications Board; Mike Weinman, chairman of the University Party; Sonny Hallford, chairman of the Student Party and Tom Lambeth, former Publications Board and Student Party and chairman of Graham Memorial Activities Board.

Powledge said the board will make its recommendations for candidates "probably at the first of next week."

Carolina Forum Will Sponsor Patrick Malin

The Carolina Forum will sponsor Patrick Murphy Malin, Executive Director of the American Civil Liberties Union, March 27, in Carroll Hall, according to Brandon Kincaid, chairman of the Forum.

Malin's topic will be "Liberty—Unfinished Business," which is also the title of a book he wrote.

Malin has spent a month traveling through the South studying civil liberties. He is a former economics professor at Swarthmore.

UN Seminar Students Hear Dr. Frank Graham

By PEG HUMPHREY

Special to the Daily Tar Heel

NEW YORK—The art of mediating an international settlement between Indonesia and The Netherlands was graphically explained last night by Dr. Frank Graham to the group of students which made up the UN Seminar trip.

Dr. Graham described to the UNC and WC students the difficulties which he encountered as a member of the UN commission which settled the revolt of the Indonesians against the Dutch, and gave sovereignty to the Indonesian Republic.

With the Indonesians, led by President Sukarno, clamoring for independence in 1945 from the Dutch, Dr. Graham was appointed, along with an Australian and Belgian representative to mediate the dispute for a peaceful settlement.

Dr. Graham went on to relate the deadlocks which the UN commission bogged down on. The Dutch wanted the problem settled in Indonesia. The Indonesians out of their country.

Out of this impasse came the solution, through diplomatic channels, to negotiate the dispute on an American warship, the Renville, a naval vessel.

On Board the Renville in 1947, acute arguments and more deadlocks arose over the principles of the struggle of Indonesia against the Netherlands. By patient maneuvering and diplomacy, however, Dr. Graham's commission worked out a ceasefire line between the two countries.

The final result of the commission's work emerged in early 1948 as the Renville Agreement. Dr. Graham then had finished his work and so turned the matter over to the UN Security Council to vote upon.

The UN Seminar continues on in its tour of conferences and plenaries centering the UN building. The group will return here Sunday night.

More Than 60 Earthquakes Recorded Here

At least 60 different earthquakes were recorded in the past four days by the UNC seismograph. Dr. Gerald R. MacCarthy, geophysicist in charge, said Wednesday.

Dr. MacCarthy said the number "far exceeds" recordings for any similar period since the seismograph was established here in 1953.

Then tremors ranged from "world-shaking" to barely perceptible," he said. The period covered the time from 9:33 a.m. of Mar. 9, when the first big Aleutian earthquake of the current series began, until 8:45 a.m. yesterday.

In the past 24 hours, 13 earthquakes, all "moderate to weak," were recorded. Dr. MacCarthy said. Most were located in the Aleutian region, he said.

The series of tremors constitute what is called a "swarm of earthquakes," Dr. MacCarthy said. They have been decreasing in intensity, following a regular pattern, he said, and can be expected to continue for several months or possibly years.

Kings Share Most Precious Possession

It has been said a man's most precious possession is his name. And two Daily Tar Heel staff members have been concerned with this recently.

Why?

Both are named Bill King; consequently, there has been some confusion over which is which.

One Bill King is assistant sports editor and confines his articles to the sports page (except for possible front page color stories on sports events). He also writes occasionally for the editorial page.

The other Bill King is a reporter on the news staff. His writings appear solely on the news pages.
