

Carolina Beaten 8-6 As Wake Forest Rallies In Eighth

Tar Heels Still Have Chance As Duke Loses

WINSTON-SALEM — (AP) — The Wake Forest Deacons rallied for four big runs in the last of the eighth inning to hand the Carolina Tar Heels an 8-6 defeat at Ernie Shore Field here yesterday.

Jack McGinley, who relieved starter John Stokoe during a four-run Carolina rally in the fourth inning, proved a one man wrecking crew as he drove in four of the Deacons' runs, scored another and pitched fine ball for the remainder of the contest.

The loss, however, did not knock the Tar Heels out of contention for the Atlantic Coast Conference championship as the league-leading Duke Blue Devils finished their season by dropping a 7-6 decision to North Carolina State. This made the Blue Devils 10-4. Carolina is now 8-4 with two games to play. Two wins would give the Tar Heels a tie for first place and make a playoff necessary.

McGinley held the Tar Heels hitless and scoreless through the last five innings of the game and slammed a three-run homer over the leftfield fence in the sixth to cut the Carolina lead to 6-4. It had led going into the inning.

In the eighth inning, McGinley singled in the second run of a Wake Forest rally to tie the score at 6-6. Then John Stokoe hit a two run double that broke up the game.

Carolina starter Jim Raugh pitched well until he gave up a double to George Miller to open the Deacon eighth. Coach Walt Rabb then called on Joe Morgan who pitched to one man. Then big Tom Maultsby came on for Carolina and was charged with the loss.

Carolina's big rally came in the second and fourth innings when they rapped Stokoe for four runs.

Piedmont Good Player Area

By ED ROWLAND

What area of North Carolina produces the best baseball players? Judging from former high school and legion stars now playing on freshman squads around the state it seems that the Western Piedmont between Winston-Salem and Salisbury holds the honor.

On the Carolina freshman team from this area are Winston-Salem's Larry Craver, Lexington's Tommy Santsing, and pitcher Bobby Wooten from West Yadin. Also Wayne Young from Mooresville might be included, though that city isn't quite in the specified area. All these boys are showing up well for Coach Wayne White and will be competing for spots on the varsity next season.

Former Salisbury high school and Legion Junior coach Joe Ferebee has Salisbury's Tommy Eaton and Mocksville's Brack Bailey on the Pfeiffer squad. Eaton is the hurler who pitched the 1953 Salisbury Legion team to the Little World Series in Minneapolis.

Also from that Salisbury team is Butch Allie, who hails from Statesville and is playing for the Duke Blue Imps. Duke also has pitcher Billy Sell from Mocksville.

From this imposing list of stellar high school baseball players who have made good on college freshman teams, it seems clear that no other general section of the Old North State can legitimately claim to produce the best players.

Though this array of talent comes along only occasionally, college coaches and major league scouts possibly might uncover another Mickey Mantle or Herb Score by appraising the talent in this baseball-mad section.

Nats Get New Mgr.

DETROIT —(AP)— The down-trodden Washington Senators changed managers yesterday, ousting Chuck Dressen and naming Harry Cookie Lavagetto—the man Dressen picked as his chief coach and sidekick seven years ago—to replace him.

Off to their worst start in 57 seasons in the American League, the Senators decided drastic changes were needed to pump new vigour into the team that hasn't finished in the first division in 11 seasons.

After the last-place Senators dropped their eighth consecutive game yesterday and their 10th in 20 starts, President Calvin Griffith sped to Detroit to make the change.

Frosh Nine Splits With Deaclets

By ED ROWLAND

The freshman baseball team split a doubleheader with the Wake Forest frosh here yesterday afternoon, losing the opener, 4-3, and taking the nightcap, 5-4. The series brought the frosh record to 13-7-1.

A two-run triple by Ty Clayton, his second of the afternoon in the last inning of the second game tied the score, then a wild pitch by Pascal gave the Tar Babies the victory. Bases on balls to Larry Craver and Frank Montgomery had put the tying runs on base.

Wake Forest gained a 4-run lead in the second game before Carolina scored after Tommy Santsing dropped a two-run fly in the fifth to pad the Deaclet's lead.

The opener was a hard game for Tar Baby ace Wayne Young to lose. He fanned ten, gave up only four hits and walked none, but five Carolina errors handed the game away.

Carolina scored two runs in the fourth inning of the opener on singles by Vaughn Bryson and Harold Workman, a base on balls, and a two-run error by the Wake shortstop.

They added another in the sixth on Clayton's first triple of the afternoon and a single by Tommy Santsing. Carolina banged out seven hits in that game off the slants of winner Jerry West, but five men were left on base in strategic moments.

Wake's frosh tallied the winning run in the fourth after Montgomery errored a grounder, Hauser singled, and catcher Crump dropped a third strike to send both runners home.

The visitors had scored their initial brace of runs in the third frame on a triple by Neighbors and three errors.

In the second game Carolina produced only three hits off the two Wake pitchers, Lang and Pascal. They left seven men on base. Bobby Wooten, who went six innings, has the only unblemished record on the frosh squad, 2-0. He was removed for a pinchhitter in the bottom of the sixth. He struck out two and walked two in his stint on the mound.

Netters Defeat Duke, 9-0; Tourney Starts Tomorrow

By JIM CROWNOVER

The Carolina tennis team closed out its regular season yesterday afternoon in a whirlwind finish, as they clobbered the Wolfpack of State College, 9-0.

The Tar Heels played their best tennis of the season in this their final match losing only two sets the whole day.

These two closer matches were in the fourth singles and third doubles encounters. Ray Newsome was pushed to defeat Ed Dye, 9-7, 2-6, 6-2, and the Tom McIver-Carrie Smith doubles combo defeated Harry Beatty and Don Denton 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

The match of the day found Steve Bank, Carolina chief hope in the ACC tourney coming up this weekend, being pushed to defeat State's determined sophomore hopeful Mickey Solomon, 6-4, 7-5. Bank played below his usual game, having frequent trouble with his serve. Bank, however, showed up well in the doubles and is expected to be in top form for the ACC competition beginning at Duke Thursday.

THE SUMMARY

Singles: Bank (C) defeated Solomon, 6-4, 7-5. Black (C) defeated DeCoursey, 6-2, 6-2. Livingston (C) defeated Campbell 6-0, 6-0. Newsome (C) defeated Dye, 9-7, 2-6, 6-2. Van Winkle (C) defeated Yionoulis, 6-1, 6-3. McIver (C) defeated Denton, 6-1, 6-2.

Doubles: Bank: Newsome (C) defeated Solomon:Yionoulis, 6-0, 6-2. Black: Livingston (C) defeated De Coursey: Dye, 6-1, 6-2. McIver: Smith (C) defeated Beatty:

Denton, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

TOURNEY PLAY

Team-wise the conference tennis championship is sewed up in the hands of Maryland, but the individual champion is far from being conceded to anyone as the ACC tourney begins play tomorrow afternoon on the Duke University courts.

The Tar Heel netters led by Steve Bank, who is undefeated in the conference will be very much in contention throughout the 3-day meet. Bank has defeated the number one man of all ACC schools with the exception of Wake Forest with whom our match was cancelled.

The drawings for seeding in the tourney will take place tonight at Duke. This will determine which netters will be seeded in the 64-man field.

Coach Valdimir Cernik will be on hand tonight when the drawing takes place, and according to him, "Bank is a likely choice for the number one place since he is unbeaten in the conference."

Also competing in the tourney for Carolina will be Geoff Black, Frank Livingstone, Fritz Van Winkle, Bob Jacobus, Ray Newsome, and Jay Walker.

Carolina Trackmen Preparing For Conference Meet Friday

By DAVE WIBLE

Friday is ACC track meet time for Carolina and Tar Heel coaches Dale Ranson and Joe Hilton are busily getting ready for the big event in which many conference records are destined to fall.

Through the season, nine conference marks have been bettered but conference records must be set at the conference meet.

Carolina has had a great deal to do with those bettered marks by way of Jim Beatty, Dave Scurluck, and the mile relay team. Beatty bettered his own conference record time in the mile at the Carolina-Maryland meet when he ran a 4:06.6. He has also bettered the 2-mile conference record of 9:25.3. At the Penn Relays Beatty covered the distance in 9:01.7.

Scurluck, who will be running in the ACC meet for the first time, has bettered the conference mark in the 880. He has run a 1:52.8. Defending champion Carle Party of Maryland has also bettered his last year's time with a 1:53.8. Last year Party won the event with a 1:54.4.

Carolina's relay team of Jim Moss, John Sylvester, Dick McFadin and Dave Scurluck set a new school record in the Duke meet last Saturday with a 3:18.5. The conference record in the event is over a second higher at 3:19.7.

The high jump will have the greatest competition this year, with three already above the ACC record. These are George Hogan and Tom Tait of Maryland, and Tom Cameron of Clemson. Hogan will be trying to better his own conference record.

Don Goodroe of South Carolina seems to be a sure bet to set a new record in the 120 high hurdles. He has been under Joel Shankles conference record three times this season.

Dave Sime, Duke's wonder boy who holds claim to two world records and a tie on another, will leave his first love baseball and don a Duke track suit to defend his conference marks for two of the three records he holds. He will compete in the 100 and the 220, but he will not defend his 220 low hurdle title.

All together there will be five defending champions in this year's meet: Beatty in the mile; Dave Leas of Maryland defending the 440; Carl Party of Maryland defending the 880; Dave Sime of Duke defending the 100 and 220; and Ed Cooke of Maryland who will defend his shot put mark.

Bob Feller holds the major league strikeout mark for one season with 348.

Duke Loses

RALEIGH —(AP)— Don Hafer and Eddie Wyant were the batting stars as State defeated Duke 7-6 today to prevent the Blue Devils from clinching the ACC title.

However, the loss didn't keep Duke from gaining at least a tie for the championship. Hafer and Wyant batted in three runs apiece and each hit a home run. Junior righthander Roger Hagwood pitched an 8-hitter that spoiled the conclusion of Duke's regular season ACC schedule.

The Blue Devils, finishing with a 10-4 record, were assured of a share of the title by Wake Forest's 8-6 victory over North Carolina.

Score Hurt

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A line drive by Gil McDougald, second batter for the New York Yankees, struck pitcher Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians in the head in the first inning of tonight's game. Score was carried from the field on a stretcher, but was not unconscious.
