

What Is A Coed?

Between the innocence of girlhood and the dignity of womanhood, we find the amazing creature called the coed. Coeds come in assorted sizes and weights, but all have the same creed: To make it known with loud fanfare that they are on a diet and promptly forget it at mealtime.

Coeds are found everywhere on the campus—blocking doorways, going up and down stairways, running for classes, stepping off curbs in front of trucks, whispering in the library and losing their pews in church.

Mothers worry about them, fathers dote on them, little brothers hate them, teachers tolerate them and college boys can't make up their minds. A coed is primness with a run in its stocking, beauty with curlers in its hair and sophistication with its lipstick smeared.

When you are trying to be serious, a coed is a laughing, bouncing bundle of glee. But say something witty and expect her to laugh, her brain turns to cement and she looks at you wide eyed, without the least notion that anything funny has been said.

A coed is a composite—she has the verve of a fall morning, the persuasiveness of a Philadelphia lawyer, the demureness of a Mona Lisa, the mind of a Machiavelli, the tenacity of a shark, the warmheartedness of a saint, the optimism of a gambler and a secret weapon that turns men to jelly—tears.

She likes new clothes, dates, boys, Christmas vacation, eating out, talking, convertibles, athletes, furry stuffed animals, young handsome teachers, spring, being sophisticated and expensive drinks.

Nobody else can attend college without deciding in what she is majoring. Nobody else can get so much fun out of sunlamps, window shopping or ticket stubs. Nobody else can cram into one small handbag three weeks' history notes, four tubes of lipstick, a manicure set, 27 cents in change, a comb, 12 bobby pins, three keys, a bid to last year's senior prom, a powder puff, two chewed pencils, a package of filter cigarettes (no matches, of course), four sticks of gum and an autographed picture of Julius La Rosa.

A coed is a magical creature—you can lock your heart against her, but she'll steal the key; you can keep her out of your life, but you can't keep her out of your mind. Might as well give up—she is your captor, your boss and your master. But when you bring her home at night from a date with only the shattered pieces of your bank roll left, she can make you feel like a million when she breathes those five magic words: "I had a wonderful time."

Wonder When . . .

The University will start paying minor sports coaches enough to keep them here?

It'll rain again in Chapel Hill . . . or is rain only a winter occurrence around here?

Students will realize the importance of taking their polio shots?

The University will build a student parking lot with the money paid by students keeping cars here and from parking ticket funds?

Some instructors will realize the many benefits of class breaks?

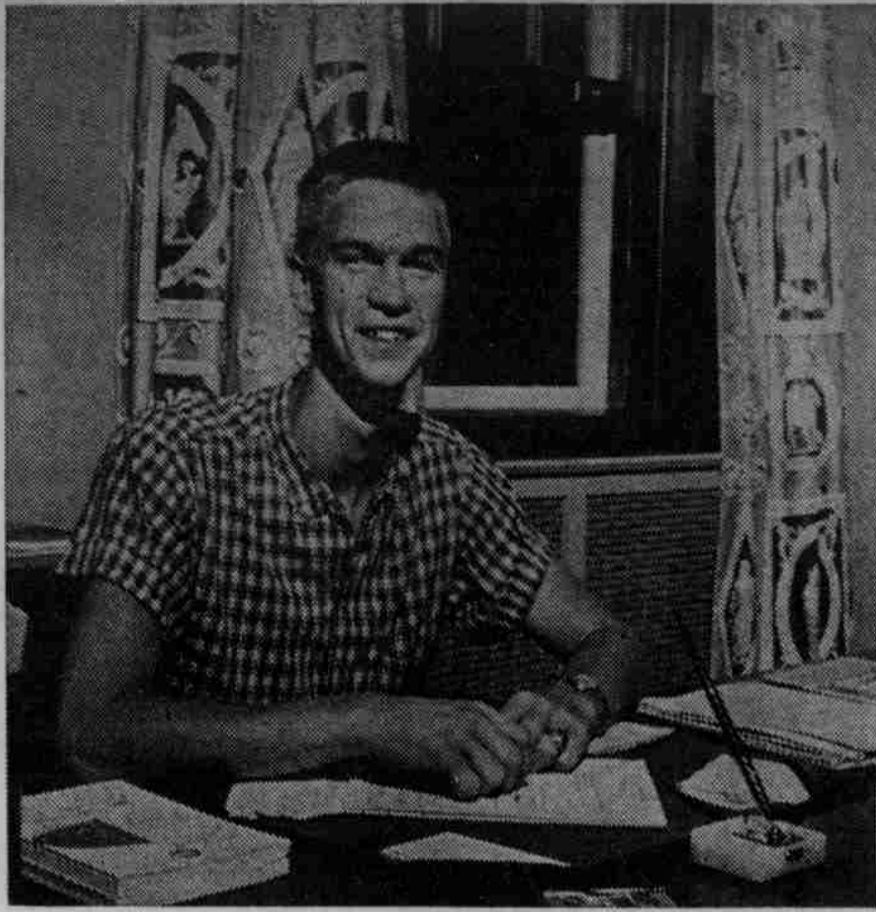

They'll start putting mufflers on the lawn mowers?

EUGENE PARKER OF ALBEMARLE
 Secretary-Treasurer Of Activities Council

SUMMER SPOTLIGHT

He Once Was 'Spare Gear,' Now He Helps Run Council

Eugene Parker claims that for the past few years he has been more or less "spare gear" around the campus. To hear him talk one would think that his early college days consisted mostly of siestas, crossword puzzles and occasional class attendance. Or as he put it:

"I guess you might say I had a bad case of 'apathytus.' One morning I woke up late and realized that I wasn't doing anything constructive at Carolina except going to class—late. I decided to do something about it. Since then I have tried to take a more active interest in the various campus activities."

There may be a small grain of truth in what Eugene said. But we suspect him of being overly self-abasing. An inspection of his academic endeavors shows that despite his professed inactivity, he has somehow or other managed to keep a B average, an achievement not to be sneezed at.

In addition to a scholastic record of which he need not be ashamed, Eugene's list of extra curricular activities involves more than he would lead one to believe.

He is secretary-treasurer of the Summer Activities Council, a member of the Executive Council of that body, a member of the Y cabinet, was chairman of the group that planned last session's trip to Manteo and is a member of this year's Seminar Committee.

In contrast to his remarks about himself and his contributions to our university, Eugene had nothing but laurels for Chapel Hill.

"Chapel Hill has everything," he said. "In a sense it's unique." (See SPARE GEAR, Page 3)

Socially Speaking

By Mary Alys Voorhees

ANYWAY YOU LOOK AT IT, it was quite a weekend . . . socially speaking or otherwise. Friday "cruised in" Caribbean style, but before quality-minded students began burning the midnight oil Sunday evening a host of social events were gobbling up the hours of one of the party-iest weekends this summer.

Quizzes, books—even the beach—were forgotten by most as Tar Heels joined with alums and visitors in a bevy of informal gatherings.

The Kappa Sigs began things Friday night with a party at the house where they were hosts to the Kappa Sigs from N.C. State, several UNC KAs and Zetes plus some KAs from USC, while the ATOs and Lambda Chis were merrymaking at their respective houses.

By Saturday night the tempo increased as several other Greek letter houses joined in the fun. . . . the Chi Phis out at Hogan's . . . the Betas, the Chi Psis, DKEs, Pikas and Sigma Nus at their houses.

ORANGE BLOSSOM SPECIAL . . . The ATOs hosting parties both Friday and Saturday night to celebrate the Sullivan-Gobbel wedding Saturday . . . ATOs Jim Bunting, Sidney Sparrow, Rennie Randolph and Bill Abernathy in the wedding party . . . brothers Jerry Russell, Fletcher Green and R. B. Finch coming up to the Hill for the event.

Here for the Ferrell-Gardner rites Saturday and the Lambda Chi parties Friday and Saturday nights in honor of the couple were brothers Curtis Fields, Curtis Lashley, George Maydanis, Harold Lusk and Don Koontz while Lambda Chis Bob Harrington, Perry White, Bill Partin, Pete Pollander and KD Marian Hobeck were members of the wedding party.

Down in Jackson for the Newsome-Burgwyn marriage were ADPi Ann Fullton, Polly Clarenbach Shook and Susan Edmondson, ATO Johnny Burgwyn and KAs Harry Steele and Frank Wilson.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE . . . Beta Dick Qualls weekendening at Blowing Rock . . . Chi Psis Jerry Sowers and Ed Smothers and their dates sun basking at Myrtle Beach . . . Kappa Sigs Pete Thompson, Frank Butler and Rob Little on a jaunt to Morehead City . . .

A group of Sigma Chis partying up at the Plantation Club in Greensboro while brothers Gordon Christian, Don Webster and Tommy Cornelius went north to Lynchburg, Va., for a party . . . the TEPs mapping out plans for their reunion down at Myrtle this weekend . . .

Chi Psi alum Doc Broadway dropping by for a weekend visit before going to Holland with the air force for three years . . . Kappa Sig Ira Hardy over from Raleigh for the Friday night party . . . KA Bill King taking his day off—from the Winston-Salem Journal sports desk—to come down for a visit.

ENGAGEMENTS . . . ADPi Mary Lou Bowers of Washington and N.C. State Pika Sid Roberts of Lexington . . . Bill Roberts of Leakesville and WC graduate Anna-Tilson of Chapel Hill . . . Boyce Henry Davis of Selma and Watts Hospital Nursing student Elizabeth Register of Charlotte. . . . Joel Vickers of Durham and Jeannette Marilyn Van Boskerck of Pinebluff . . . St. A, Chal Schley of Colorado Springs, Col., and coed Page Anderson of Lexington, Ky.

MARRIAGES . . . Kappa Sig Tom Stokes of Lexington and Pi Phi Mena Way Marsh of Raleigh, July 26 . . . ATO Noel Sullivan and Tri Delt Virginia Gobbel, both of Chapel Hill, July 27 . . . med student Charles Macy of Morehead City and UNC nursing student Nancy Haines of New Lisbon, N.J., July 19 . . .

Lambda Chi Bob Ferrill of Graham and KD Liz Gardner of Rochester, N.Y., July 27 . . . dental student Wilburn Davis of Waynesville and Duke graduate Nancy Bischoff of Hazelwood, July 27. . . . former KA president Ray Newsome of Winston-Salem and ADPi Mary Burgwyn of Jackson, July 27.
