

WEATHER

Sunny and a little warmer with high temperatures 70 to 76. Wednesday increasing cloudiness and mild.

The Daily Tar Heel

PROGRESSIVISM

The University's officials spawn a new era says the editor on page two.

VOL. LVIII NO. 22

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1957

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

news in brief

Arkansas Session

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gov. Arval Faubus said today that he definitely plans to call a special session of the Arkansas Legislature to deal with the racial integration problem at Little Rock Central High School.

Faubus said that the only question was the time. He would not speculate when he would issue the call.

"It won't be anything hasty," he said.

One solution which the legislature may consider, he said, is action similar to that of the Florida Legislature in setting up legal machinery for the closing of any school which is integrated by the force of federal troops.

Sputnik Exchange

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—A Russian-American agreement to exchange satellite information was disclosed today, while U. S. moon-walkers got one of their best looks yet at Russia's Sputnik Rocket.

A team of the Smithsonian Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., was able to train telescopes and cameras for about a minute on the rocket, which fired the Red satel into space Oct. 4 and then took off around the world on its own.

The team did not spot the satellite, believed a few minutes behind the rocket itself.

Hodges Says No

Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina denied here today that he had been authorized by the Southern Governors Committee to contact Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas again in hopes of settling the stalemated situation at Little Rock.

Hodges, one of the four southern Governors who conferred recently with President Eisenhower about a settlement of the Little Rock crisis, asserted "there are no plans at the moment" to confer with the Arkansas Governor.

Hodges' comments were made on the NBC-TV show "Today." The Tar Heel Governor is in New York with a delegation of North Carolina officials to seek new industry for that state.

No Open House

Open houses in all sororities, scheduled for tonight, have been postponed indefinitely upon advice of University Physician Dr. McG. Hedgepeth. The Daily Tar Heel was informed last night.

There was no definite confirmation by Dr. Hedgepeth, who said he merely advised such action.

AAUW Group Meet Set

Graduate Students Invited

The Recent Graduate Group of the American Association of University Women will meet Oct. 15 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. H. E. Kennedy, 71 Dogwood Acres.

For the program will be two book reviews presented by members of the group.

Mrs. Robert Boyce will review "Compulsion" by Meyer Levin and Miss Aletta Glover will review "Bridge To The Sun" by Gwen Terasaki.

All graduate students have been invited to attend by club officials.

GM's Slate

The following activities are scheduled for Graham Memorial today:

- Altrusa Club, 7:30-11 p. m.
- Main Lounge; Debate, 4:50-6 p. m.
- Grill Room; Orientation, 8:45-11 p. m.
- Grill Room; Women's Residence Council, 6:45-8:45, Grill Room; Y. D. C., 7:30-10:30, Roland Parker Lounges 1, 2; Carolina Carboard, 7-8, Roland Parker 3; Ways and Means Committee, 4-5 p. m.
- Woodhouse Conference Room; State Student Legislature, 8:30-10 p. m.
- Woodhouse Conference Room; University Party, 7-8, Rendezvous Room; APO, 7:30-9:30 p. m.
- APO Room.

AMANDA MEIGGS as Anitra, the Greenclad, left, is shown as she appeared in last year's production of "Peer Gynt" and as she will appear as Joan of Arc in the current presentation of "The Lark," which opens tomorrow evening at 8:30 in the Playmakers Theatre.

Amanda Meiggs Stars In Playmaker Production

When the curtain rises tomorrow evening at 8:30 in the Playmakers Theatre, audiences will witness a most unusual transformation in Amanda Meiggs playing the leading role of Saint Joan in Lillian Hellman's "The Lark."

The last time Tar Heel theatre-goers saw Amanda on stage, she appeared as the Greenclad in the Forest Theatre production of "Peer Gynt." Miss Meiggs brought to the role of Anitra, the Greenclad, a tremendous energy and excitement, tracing her way through a sensuous characterization.

Called "exuberant" by reviewers as the seductress Anitra, she employs this quality in her interpretation of Joan.

"The exuberance of Joan is of a different nature, however," says Miss Meiggs. She described it as a spiritual excitement which comes from within the character herself. "Nor must we forget the earthly qualities of Joan, for she never loses touch with reality."

"She is a defiant, determined girl inspired with a divine purpose, but she still has time to laugh with her countryman, La Hire, to learn cards at the hand of Charles VII, King of France; and to cajole the King into giving her an army to fight the British."

A difficult and intriguing change, it will be interesting to watch the performance tomorrow evening and compare the two women for whom Miss Meiggs will be remembered on the Carolina campus.

"The Lark," which runs through Sunday in the Playmakers Theatre, is the first in the series of dramatic presentations rendered by the play-making group.

Tickets for the five evening performances are available at 214 Abernethy Hall and Ledbetter-Pickard. All seats are reserved at $1.50.

Future Phi Betes Working Harder For Their Keys Now

By ANN FRYE

Future Phi Betes now are working harder for their keys here.

Requirements for membership in Phi Beta Kappa, revised last February by the executive committee of the UNC Chapter, technically went into effect September of this year.

Under a new quality point basis, requirements for junior membership is 2.6; senior, 2.3; and transfer, 2.4 or 2.5.

In announcing the new eligibility requirements, Dean of Awards Ernest L. Mackie said that not since the establishment of the UNC Phi Beta Kappa Chapter in 1904 has there been any material change in membership requirements.

Briefly, the changes in the by-laws are as follows: 1. Juniors, 75 semester hours completed here with a quality point average of 2.6. "A" carries three quality points, "B" carries two quality points, "C" one quality point, "D" zero quality points, and "F" carries minus four quality points.

2. Seniors 105 semester hours completed here with a quality point average of 2.3.

3. Transfer students, with advanced standing of more than one but less than four semesters, 75 semester hours completed here with a quality point average of 2.4; or with advanced standing of four semesters, the candidate must have completed at least 45 semester hours here with a quality point average of 2.5 and be registered for the fourth semester.

General regulations in addition to those above: a grade of "F" made after the freshman year here or at a previous institution renders a student ineligible, and in computing averages, required courses in hygiene and physical education are not included.

In determining the eligibility of transfer students, no grades made at the previous institution shall be included, except an "F" made during the freshman year which carries a penalty of minus four quality points. Any other "F" after freshman year automatically makes the student ineligible.

Under the old by-laws, five semesters of full time work were required with a minimum average of "B" for a student to become eligible as a junior, (with "A" evaluated as 97.5, "B" as 92.5, "C" as 85 and "D" as 75).

When the University adopted a policy whereby an average of "C" was necessary for graduation, the number of students qualifying for Phi Beta Kappa increased to a proportion which almost exceeded the constitutional limit set up by the United Chapters.

The UNC Chapter experimented with several sets of regulations and finally submitted in February. The committee approved the changes in March.

It was later decided by the UNC Chapter that the old by-laws would remain in effect until September.

Phi Will Hear Beatrice Cobb

Beatrice Cobb, owner and publisher of the Morganton News Herald, will speak at the inauguration of the officers of the Philanthropic Literary Society tonight at 8 o'clock in Phi Hall on the top floor of New East.

Publisher Cobb is secretary of the North Carolina Press Assn. and was made an honorary doctor of laws at UNC in 1949.

For 10 years she was a national club officer woman for the Democratic Party.

Phi President-Elect Jim Tolbert will make an inauguration address. After the speeches the Phi will hold a short reception and will serve refreshments.

President-elect Tolbert invited all who are interested to attend. Other officers being inaugurated include Jess Stirling, speaker pro tem; Don Jacobs, treasurer; Don Gray, sergeant-at-arms; Ronnie Pruitt, critic; and David Matthews, parliamentarian.

Symposium Bill's Fate Undecided; Student Leaders Refuse Comment

Flu Causes Stoppage Of Phys. Ed

An increase in the number of casualties to the "slant-eyed monster," Asian flu, has resulted in the cancellation of the required physical education program and the intramurals program, it was announced today by University Physician Dr. Edward M. Hedgepeth.

Infirmary physicians have termed the outbreak an epidemic as far as the number of persons being treated between 250 and 300 cases per day.

Contrary to campus rumors, there is no definite temperature at which victims are retained in the infirmary. It is left to the individual case and the discretion of infirmary officials.

Non More Vaccine

Flu vaccine was dispensed last night at the infirmary and further "flu clinics" will be held as more vaccine arrives. Dr. Hedgepeth stresses the fact that no one currently sick with colds or flu, or persons allergic to eggs or chicken should take this vaccine.

At this point in the outbreak there has been no official word about closing school, according to Dr. Hedgepeth.

Dr. Hedgepeth has this to say about the present stage of the flu outbreak:

"I thought it would be wise to call off all physical education classes and intramurals for the remainder of this week. We will have a notice in Sunday's Daily Tar Heel as to next week's situation concerning physical education classes and intramurals."

Dr. Hedgepeth added that he doubts, but does not entirely rule out, the possibility that practicing doctors in Chapel Hill might have a stock of asian flu vaccine at the present time.

SWEETHEART OF UNC DORMS — Miss Anne Miller, newly-selected "Sweetheart of UNC Dorms" is pictured with Inter-Dormitory Council President Tom Walters, who presented her with a crown and bouquet of roses. The ceremony took place at the annual IDC dance in the basement of Cobb Dorm. (Norm Kantor Photo.)

Student Legislature Vacancies Filled

PRINGLE PIPKIN

The main business coming before the Student Party last night was the filling of seven vacancies in the Student Legislature.

The only contested seats were two in the women's district. After three ballots Party Wall and Pat Hammer got the seats. All other nominations received acclamation.

In Dorm Men's II Al Walters and Denton Latz will represent the SP. Davie Jones and Denis Rinzler got the seats in Dorm Men's III.

Richard Eisenburg will fill the SP seat in Town Men's III. The vacant seat in Victory Village was not filled. It has remained "open" for months and months," said John Brooks.

These nominations will be presented to Student Body President Sonny Evans, so he can appoint these people to the Student Legislature.

In his legislature report to the body Tom Long, SP floorleader, failed to mention his bill to study the policies concerning student newspapers at other colleges.

He said the University Party had filled all its vacancies in the legislature by "virtue of a monarchical system." He gave other details of last Thursday's meeting.

In speaking for one of the woman candidates (who did not win) Dave Jones said that she was going with a member of The Daily Tar Heel staff.

He said she might be able to help the party through her connection.

At the next meeting the SP will begin nominating candidates for the fall elections which will be held Nov. 11.

The students who were nominated for the vacancies in the Student Legislature will serve for about four weeks.

The SP advisory board has been given the power to name a map to fill the vacant seat in Victory Village.

Economists & Finance Officials Selected For Business Seminar

Eight prominent economists and finance officials have been scheduled as speakers for the 1957-58 Seminars in Economics and Business within the UNC School of Business Administration.

Leon N. Moses of Harvard University will open the seminar series today, at 4 p. m. in the Faculty Seminar Room of Carroll Hall. Moses, an assistant professor of economics, will discuss "Some Aspects of Location Theory."

Dean Maurice Lee of the Business Administration School announced the completed schedule for the seminars, which are attended by representatives of Duke University, N. C. State College, Wake Forest College and other institutions.

Princeton University economist Oskar Morgenstern will be the second speaker on Nov. 12. He is professor of economics and director of Princeton's Economics Research

Introducer, Others Request No Publicity Till Legislature Meets

By NEIL BASS and MARY LEGGETT BROWNING

There is overt dissension among student government officials as to the handling of student funds.

Last Thursday night, University Party legislators Jerry Oppenheimer and Al Goldsmith introduced a bill allowing the Carolina Symposium to keep legislative appropriations in the Bank of Chapel Hill, separate from the Student Activities Fund.

Student government statute BW-22-49 requires that organizations receiving legislative appropriations handle their allocations through the Student Activities office.

Student Body Vice President Don Furtado, speaker of the Student Legislature, left his desk Thursday night to assail the bill. Furtado hit at the "precedent" being established. He pointed out that student funds should be under direct student government supervision.

Yesterday, Furtado reiterated his sentiments in a statement to The Daily Tar Heel. Later he withdrew his statement by saying the matter would be worked out later without comment at this time.

Introducers of the bill, Oppenheimer and Goldsmith, paid a visit to The Daily Tar Heel offices during this period, along with Carolina Symposium Chairman Sonny Hallford.

Hallford, Goldsmith and Oppenheimer requested that no publicity be issued until later. The delegation said negotiations were presently under way toward solving the controversy, and that publicity at this time would be detrimental to the symposium.

The delegation moved to student government offices for a talk with Student Body President Sonny Evans. Evans called Speaker Furtado. And Furtado later withdrew his previous statement.

There was talk in student government offices of a presidential veto of the bill enabling separate funds handling by Symposium officials.

Later, Co-Introducer Oppenheimer entered The Daily Tar Heel offices to say that there were no statements from student government or from the Carolina Symposium, and that all previous statements had been canceled.

Symposium Chairman Hallford had previously said he wanted the matter to remain quiet for a while for fear the controversy would create the impression that the Carolina Symposium and student government would appear in direct disagreement.

Symposium funds were handled separately last year, according to Hallford. And last Thursday night's bill was introduced purely to make the transactions legal, he said.

President Evans has as yet failed to sign the enabling bill and the possibility exists that the measure will die of a pocket veto—failure of the president to sign the measure within the constitutionally stipulated ten-day period.

Marine Corps Representatives Here Today

The Marine Corps announced today that representatives from the Marine Officer Procurement Office, located in Raleigh, will be on campus Oct. 15 and 16 to talk to students interested in obtaining a commission in the Marine Corps.

UNC is one of the more than 30 schools in the state which participate in this program.

College men may earn a commission in the Marine Corps while attending college, through the Platoon Leaders Class Program. The PLC, as it is better known, requires no special or additional courses while in college since training takes place during two summer vacations. Men enrolled in this program are commissioned upon graduation from college.

Presently, pilot training is available as well as ground training. Candidates commissioned for aviation duty will receive flight training at Pensacola, Fla. Ground officers train at Quantico, Va.

Five Awarded Scholarships

Five Carolina students have been awarded scholarships, ranging from $250 to $100, by the Vita Craft Corporation, it was announced yesterday by Homer H. Winchester, regional manager for Vita Craft.

The corporation, manufacturers of kitchen utensils, awards these scholarships on the basis of the amount of sales made by students who sell the utensils during the summer months.

The winners of these awards are: Charles L. Bunch, Jr., $250; Robert D. Spencer, $200; Johnny Wayne Ellis, $100; James W. Crawford, Jr., $100 and Charles D. Pemberton, $100.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included: Nancy Davis, Connie Sears, Mary Hoffer, Marion Harris, Jean Hendrick, Martha Lassiter, Martha Wilkinson, Susan Merrick, Margaret Tucker, Elizabeth Sojourner, Elaine Curtis, Cecelia Greenfield, Sally Hale, Nancy Faison, Katherine Goode, George Harris, Lawrence Robertson, Alton Jordan, Robert Forrest, Joel Bimmette, Thomas Blumefield, Charles Westbrook, Dennis Parks, Charles Poole, John Wilson, James Magner, Thomas Blake, Edward Smithwick, Robert Burroughs, Morrison Lawing, Albert Zealy, Edward Peck, James McDonald, Bill Cooper, Wyatt Coggins, Louis Cameron, Thomas Conger, Fred Stewart, Fred Gregory, Ralph Foster, Conrad Brown, Dennis Rinzler, Donald Sofranko, David Windley, Richard Harris, Ronald Marguetta, Charles Benett, Don Guffey, Bruce Greenberg, James Wilson, Robert McCollum, James Taylor, William Wilson, Henry Smith, George Martin, Cecil Gayle, William Brigman, Donald Dowdy, Richard Dobrann, Paul Wachendorfer, Harvey Miller, Robert Aldridge, William Hodges, George Peacock and Larry Jackson

UP Sets Meet This Evening

The University Party will hold its first meeting at 7 p. m. on Tuesday in the Rendezvous Room in Graham Memorial. Charles Bernard, assistant to the Director of Admissions and former member of the Political Science Department, will speak on "Student and Party Responsibility in Student Government."

Announcements concerning party membership and nominations will be given at the meeting. Following this, an informal question-answer period will be held for the benefit of new students. Refreshments will also be served.

The University Party would like to extend an invitation to all freshmen and transfer students to attend the opening meeting.

Yack Pictures

Juniors, graduates, and first, second and third-year medical students are scheduled to have their Yackety Yack pictures made in the basement of Graham Memorial today through Friday, from 1 to 7:30 p. m.

Sophomores, nurses and pharmacy students have been granted an extension through Wednesday for a charge of $1.00.