

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and continued mild with temperatures ranging to the middle 70s. Thursday, mostly cloudy and mild with occasional rain likely.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOL. LVII NO. 23

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1957

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

SUSPENSION
The time to stop Asiatic flu, by halting classes, is now says the editor on page two.

QUEEN ELIZABETH II

Caravan Plans Start As Queen Begins Visit

As Queen Elizabeth today boards a Royal Canadian Air Force plane and a short time later begins her United States tour, UNC students are climbing aboard the student caravan, bound for the UNC-Maryland game, which Her Majesty will attend.

At the game the Royal couple will sit with President and Mrs. William Friday, Gov. and Mrs. Luther Hodges and other officials. In an adjoining box will be 16 students representing the University of Maryland.

At halftime, the queen will be presented mementos of her visit by a delegation of UNC students. These gifts will include a large UNC banner, a copy of the Yackety Yack and two stuffed Carolina rams for the young Duke of Cornwall and the little Princess.

A tight schedule, however, will necessitate the British couple's leaving 15 minutes before the game is over.

University Club plans to present Her Majesty with a state flag were cancelled by the U. S. State Department.

Plans for the UNC student caravan to the game are well under way. The University Club has been pleased by the number of students who have made arrangements to make the trip to Maryland.

Information concerning Caravan accommodations may be obtained by contacting the information booth in Graham Memorial.

The main body of the Caravan, from 10 to 14 buses, will leave Chapel Hill from the Morehead Planetarium parking lot at 3 p. m. Friday. These buses will arrive in Washington six hours later.

A dance has been planned for Saturday evening from 10 p. m. until midnight. The North Carolina Society of Washington will sponsor this dance at the National Press Club.

GM's Slate

The following activities have been scheduled for Graham Memorial today:
Student government, 9-11 a.m., Grail Room; Jehovah's Witnesses, 8-9 p.m., Roland Parker Lounge No. 1; Philosophy Dept., 8-10 p.m., Roland Parker Lounges Nos. 1 and 2; GMAB Forum, 4-5 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room; IDC, 7-11 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room.

President Evans Vetoes Symposium Bill

Classes Will Continue, Despite Flu Cases

School Closing Not Announced

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

Contrary to rumor, classes have not been called off today. It is not likely that it will be necessary to close school University Physician Hedgpeth announced yesterday.

Director of Student Activities Sam Magill conferred with Dr. Hedgpeth and Faculty Dean Godfrey on the flu situation and the possibility of closing school yesterday afternoon.

So far there has been no official recommendation or move to close school today, Thursday, or Friday.

If the situation warrants calling off classes, the students will be notified immediately, Magill said.

The infirmary is studying the flu cases, and specialists have been trying to determine its nature, according to Magill.

General college students have been asked to get medical excuses from their faculty advisers until further notice.

Playmakers "The Lark" Begins Run

"Carolina Playmakers at home and abroad" might well be the theme of the first production of the UNC drama group, "The Lark", which begins its five-night run at the Playmakers Theatre on the campus tonight at 8:30.

In this French play by Jean Anouilh appear two students who call a foreign country "home," and two others who have been active in European theatrical organizations.

Miss Lore Schuller, now of Wadesboro, is a native of Bucharest, Rumania, where she resided until coming to the United States to live and study. Miss Schuller is a dramatic arts major at UNC and has taught drama for the past three years at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, Texas.

Peter Sinclair, an instructor in economics at UNC who hails from Montreal, Canada, has appeared in many of the Playmakers shows. In "The Lark" he takes the role of Warwick, representative of England at the trial of St. Joan.

Two other cast members, Benjamin Clymer and Jack Jackson have done community theatre work abroad. Clymer, of Nilm, Del., worked with the Heidelberg Players and the Salzburg Studio Players, Germany, before coming to UNC to do graduate work in library science.

A Charlotte resident, Jackson appeared with the Paris American Theatre Group and with the Wiesbaden Theatre Guild while doing a stint with the U. S. Air Force in France and Germany.

"The Lark" tells the poignant story of Joan, the Maid of Orleans, in a new translation by Lillian Hellman. Tickets for the production may be ordered from The Carolina Playmakers, Box 1050, Chapel Hill.

New Varsity Theatre Plans Opening Soon

The New Varsity Theatre, which has been undergoing an extensive renovation, will open either Friday, Oct. 18, or Friday, Oct. 25.

The New Varsity will have a Cinemascope screen 30 feet wide. A Westinghouse air-conditioning system of the most modern design will serve the entire theatre. The seats will be of the push-back chair type, with nylon backs and leather cushions.

H. B. Meiselman of Charlotte, the new owner, has announced that Andy Gutierrez would be the manager.

Interdormitory Council Calls Special Session

A special session of the Interdormitory Council has been called tonight to allow President of the Student Body Sonny Evans and Sonny Hallford, attorney general, to present a proposal designed to reorganize methods of maintaining order in the dorms.

Beatrice Cobb Is Speaker At Phi Fall Inauguration

Miss Beatrice Cobb, speaking at the inauguration last night of the Philanthropic Literary Society Officers, emphasized the need of a leader now to know how to speak in public.

She said, "the whole field of public speaking has expanded." The speaker cited the number of civic organizations which require the ability to speak in public if one is to be active.

The Phi and Di are undoubtedly a "training forum" she said. The Phi was in her opinion a good place to develop one's public speaking talents.

She talked briefly of the history of the Phi. Eight governors of North Carolina were members of the Phi, according to the speaker.

She said the Carolina Blue and white comes from the Di's blue and the Phi's white.

In introducing Miss Cobb, Representative

Playmakers "The Lark" Begins Run

"Carolina Playmakers at home and abroad" might well be the theme of the first production of the UNC drama group, "The Lark", which begins its five-night run at the Playmakers Theatre on the campus tonight at 8:30.

In this French play by Jean Anouilh appear two students who call a foreign country "home," and two others who have been active in European theatrical organizations.

Miss Lore Schuller, now of Wadesboro, is a native of Bucharest, Rumania, where she resided until coming to the United States to live and study. Miss Schuller is a dramatic arts major at UNC and has taught drama for the past three years at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, Texas.

Peter Sinclair, an instructor in economics at UNC who hails from Montreal, Canada, has appeared in many of the Playmakers shows. In "The Lark" he takes the role of Warwick, representative of England at the trial of St. Joan.

Two other cast members, Benjamin Clymer and Jack Jackson have done community theatre work abroad. Clymer, of Nilm, Del., worked with the Heidelberg Players and the Salzburg Studio Players, Germany, before coming to UNC to do graduate work in library science.

A Charlotte resident, Jackson appeared with the Paris American Theatre Group and with the Wiesbaden Theatre Guild while doing a stint with the U. S. Air Force in France and Germany.

"The Lark" tells the poignant story of Joan, the Maid of Orleans, in a new translation by Lillian Hellman. Tickets for the production may be ordered from The Carolina Playmakers, Box 1050, Chapel Hill.

General college students have been asked to get medical excuses from their faculty advisers until further notice.

Dean Cecil Johnson of the General College made this announcement yesterday.

Student Body President Sonny Evans said the "flu epidemic here on campus is bordering on the critical."

He said, "it is my understanding that it has been determined that this is not Asian flu, but that this is a virus of a different nature but just as contagious."

He stated that one dorm has over 50 percent of its members in bed and that several fraternities have "virtually their entire membership in bed."

He cited as "the terrible part of the situation" the fact that students who can not be accommodated at the infirmary have to go to their dorm rooms "where no medical aid is available."

"I hope that the administration and Dean of Faculty will investigate the situation very carefully and will consult with those doctors who know in making their decision on whether or not to call off classes," he said.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon the infirmary was filled very near its top capacity with 68 people.

However doctors continued to receive a wave of patients. It was reported that 11:30 yesterday morning, which, incidentally is the doctor's lunch hour, there were 43 people waiting to see the doctors. All were seen before the doctors left.

Physical education, sorority open houses, and intra-murals have been called off during this week.

At press time yesterday Dr. Hedgpeth said the infirmary would probably dispense around 40 Asian flu shots between 7:30 and 9:30 last night.

He said that when more vaccine comes in, he will notify the students through The Daily Tar Heel.

Independents Meet Thursday

The first meeting of the Independent Women's Association will be held Thursday, Oct. 17, at 7 p. m. in Roland Parker Lounges 1 and 2.

The Executive Council and senior representatives from each dorm will be introduced and purposes of the TWA will be explained.

President Betsy McKinnon has urged all independent women on campus to attend this meeting. "We are eager for all the women to learn about the IWA and take an active part in its program," she said.

As elections will soon be held for junior representatives from each dorm to the IWC, any girls interested in running for this position have been particularly urged to attend this meeting by the president.

(See Phi, Page 3)

SONNY EVANS
Vetoes Fund Bill

SONNY HALLFORD
Gives Symposium Views

JERRY OPPENHEIMER
Co-Introducer of Bill

AL GOLDSMITH
Co-Introducer of Bill

Gov't Representative To Explain Foreign Service

Howard R. Brandon, a U. S. State Department representative, will visit the campus Oct. 17 to present to students information on career opportunities in the U. S. Foreign Service and to explain the Foreign Service Officer selection process.

At 9 a.m. he will be in Room 206 Caldwell Hall to speak to Dr. Shepard Jones' political science class and other interested students. At 2:15 p.m. he will be in Room 211, Gardner Hall.

Brandon, a native of Georgia, joined the Foreign Service in 1942. He was first assigned to Montreal, Canada, and in 1943 was transferred to La Paz, Bolivia.

He served from 1946 to 1949 at a post in Algiers, at the end of which time he was assigned as Second Secretary and Vice-Consul at New Delhi, India.

In 1952 he went to the Embassy in Buenos Aires, returning to Washington in 1956. He is currently assigned to the Commodities Division of the Bureau of Economic Affairs.

The Department of State is looking for graduate and undergraduate students in business administration as well as in the College of Arts and Sciences. A written examination will be held Dec. 9. Candidates must be age 20 and under 31 and a U. S. citizen for nine years. Applications for the one-day written exam must be received by the Board of Examiners in Washington before midnight Oct. 28.

Successful candidates will be appointed as officers to serve in any of the 270 embassies, legations, or consulates abroad, as well as in the Department of State in Washington.

Starting salaries are scaled according to the officer's qualifications, experience, and age, and range from $4,750 to $5,350 per year.

UNC Men's Glee Club Leaves For Five-Day Serenade Tour

The UNC Men's Glee Club leaves this morning for a five-day tour which will take them through several towns in the state and to Baltimore, Md.

Climaxing their tour will be an appearance following the Carolinaplanage, Henderson High School, dance to be held at the National Press Club in Washington, D. C.

The schedule of appearances will include performances at Oxford Orphanage, Henderson High School, Jackson High School and Holland High School at Holland, Va.

While enroute to Washington, the Glee Club will perform at Suffolk, Va., Norfolk, Va., Falls Church, Va., and at Marjorie Webster Junior College. Two dances will be given in their honor following their appearances in Holland, Va., and at Marjorie Webster.

On the return trip Director Joel

Carter and his group will appear at Stratford College in Danville, Va. The Club will return to Chapel Hill Sunday night.

The Glee Club program includes such numbers as: "One Kiss," "Halls of Ivy," "Drinking Song," "Auf Wiedersehen," "Down Among the Dead Men," "A Whale of a Tale," and "Climbing up De Mountain."

Religious selections will be "Ave Maria," "To Thee We Sing," and "Turn Back O Man."

The 56-man group will make their trip via chartered bus. No admission will be charged for any of the Club's performances.

Calls Fund Removal "A Bad Precedent"

By PATSY MILLER

Student Body President Sonny Evans yesterday announced he would veto the bill allowing the Carolina Symposium to keep funds appropriated by the Student Legislature in the Bank of Chapel Hill. The bill was introduced last Thursday night in the legislative meeting.

Evans further stated that he is acting on the recommendation of the Carolina Symposium Executive Committee.

At the same time, Carolina Symposium Chairman Sonny Hallford stated: "The only reason for the introduction of the bill last Thursday night regarding the funds was to give the legislature full opportunity to express itself as to what the correct fund handling procedure should be for the 1958 symposium."

"The legislature in an overwhelming majority of 20 to 9 approved of giving this year's symposium the same latitude which previous symposia have been allowed. We appreciate this expression of confidence on the part of the legislative majority."

"However," Hallford said, "since the motives of the symposium have been questioned and misinterpreted, its officials would prefer to remove any small doubt as to their position and, therefore, have taken the following action: we request President Evans to veto the bill."

"We insist that all funds granted by the student legislature to the symposium be handled through the Student Audit Board, despite any inconvenience that this may impose on its work."

Evans said that "no one can question the motives of the Carolina Symposium in pursuance of this privilege" to keep funds in the Bank of Chapel Hill.

"However," he stated, "everyone agrees that this is a matter of procedure, and that the removal of student funds to an independent source is a bad precedent to set. Sonny Hallford and the members of the symposium executive committee have done a truly outstanding job of re-organizing the entire program, and I am certain that every organization and every student will cooperate with them in the achievement of their goal."

Hallford said, in connection with setting precedents, that the symposium was not seeking to set precedents or to ask for special privileges in handling student funds.

The matter was brought up in the legislature, he clarified, because "one or two individuals had raised a question" of following symposium procedures of two years ago. The symposium wanted to be sure that it was acting openly and with the full approval of student government officials at all times.

There is no major controversy between the symposium and student government officials, Hallford said.

"It is the desire of the Carolina Symposium to follow both the letter and the spirit of the law as set forth in the Student Government Constitution and defined by the laws of student government. The Carolina Symposium has not and will not take any steps which are out of line with these principles," Hallford declared.

Students in the infirmary yesterday included: Misses Marsha Wells, Joanne McClintock, Sally Little, Margaret Reese, Nancy Davis, Connie Sears, Mary Hoffer, Marion Harris, Jean Hendrick, Martha Lassiter, Martha Wilkinson, Margaret Tucker, Elizabeth Sojournor, Elaine Curtis, Cecelia Greenfield, Sally Hale, Nancy Faison, Katherine Goode, and George Harris, Alton Jourdon, Joel Bimette, Paul Smith, Philip Ferlazzo, Hugh Price, James Schreiber, Jerome Stokes, Bruce Crump, William Clark, Thomas Blumefield, Charles Westbrook;

Dennis Parks, Charles Poole, John Wilson, James Magner, Thomas Blake, Edward Smithwick, Robert Burroughs, Albert Zealy, Edward Peck, James McDonald, Bill Cooper, Wyatt Coggins, Thomas Conger, Harry Stewart, Fred Gregory, Ralph Foster, Conrad Brown, Donald Sorfranko, David Windley;

Richard Harris, Charles Bennett, Don Guffey, Robert McCallum, James Taylor, William Wilson, Henry Smith, George Martin, Cecil Gayle, William Brigman, Donald Dowdy, Richard Dohrann, Paul Wachendorfer, Harvey Miller, Robert Aldridge, William Hodges, George Peacock and Larry Jackson.

(See Presbyterians Page 3)

U.P. Hears Bernard

By EDITH MACKINNON

"Define your objectives, and be clear in your deliberations," was the advice given to University Party members last night by Assistant Director of Admissions Charles Bernard.

At the initial UP meeting Bernard spoke to old and new members on "Student and Party Responsibility in Student Government."

Beginning by defining a political party as "an organization composed of certain individuals having common ideals and objectives with the sole purpose of gaining a political office," Bernard of continued by saying the party accomplished this purpose by defining its policy and capturing the desired seat.

Bernard stressed the fact that the University and its operations were a continuing operation. In this operation the student can be seen as both conservationist and revolutionary.

"Sometimes we are afraid that the students are too conservationist," said Bernard. "They need to cry aloud for certain causes."

At the same time, he continued, "we are also afraid their ideas can be too much in revolt." Describing the University as a "continuing organization," he explained that the student only continues through four years.

Bernard stated that the administration is often concerned that the student movements "are so temporary and have not been given enough

(See VP, Meets, Page 3)

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included: Misses Marsha Wells, Joanne McClintock, Sally Little, Margaret Reese, Nancy Davis, Connie Sears, Mary Hoffer, Marion Harris, Jean Hendrick, Martha Lassiter, Martha Wilkinson, Margaret Tucker, Elizabeth Sojournor, Elaine Curtis, Cecelia Greenfield, Sally Hale, Nancy Faison, Katherine Goode, and George Harris, Alton Jourdon, Joel Bimette, Paul Smith, Philip Ferlazzo, Hugh Price, James Schreiber, Jerome Stokes, Bruce Crump, William Clark, Thomas Blumefield, Charles Westbrook;

Dennis Parks, Charles Poole, John Wilson, James Magner, Thomas Blake, Edward Smithwick, Robert Burroughs, Albert Zealy, Edward Peck, James McDonald, Bill Cooper, Wyatt Coggins, Thomas Conger, Harry Stewart, Fred Gregory, Ralph Foster, Conrad Brown, Donald Sorfranko, David Windley;

Richard Harris, Charles Bennett, Don Guffey, Robert McCallum, James Taylor, William Wilson, Henry Smith, George Martin, Cecil Gayle, William Brigman, Donald Dowdy, Richard Dohrann, Paul Wachendorfer, Harvey Miller, Robert Aldridge, William Hodges, George Peacock and Larry Jackson.