

WEATHER

Generally fair and somewhat colder.

The Daily Tar Heel

CAN

Get off it and vote says the old on page two.

VOL. LXV NO. 45

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1957

Offices in Graham Memorial

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

TAR HEELS WALLOP GAMECOCKS, 28-6

SP Leader Urges Vote For Slate

Student Party Chairman Whit Whitfield yesterday urged Carolina students to consider his party's slate of candidates for the fall elections Tuesday.

Whitfield said, "I think the Student Party has nominated an outstanding slate of candidates for the election."

"From the legislature down through freshman, sophomore and junior class officers, the slate is filled with outstanding candidates with a purpose to promote student government."

Student Party candidates were selected from both Greek and independent groups, Whitfield pointed out.

Whitfield said that SP did not want to make promises that would remain unfulfilled in the coming months. Instead, he urged students to consider the administrations of past Student Body President Bob Young last year and the current administration under Sonny Evans.

Whitfield said that SP is asking voters to consider the success of these two administrations. He said that the students should bear in mind not the promises of what will be done, but of what has been done and is continuing to be done in student government by Student Party elected officials.

In Tuesday's election, seats will be filled on the Men's and Women's Honor Councils, Student Legislature, Student Council and freshman, sophomore and junior class officers. Balloting will get underway at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Board Studies Test Proposal

RALEIGH, Nov. 8 — The State's Advisory Budget Commission today looked with favor on a proposal under which applicants for admission to units of the Greater University of North Carolina and East Carolina College would be given scholastic aptitude tests.

At the same time the board urged the State Board of Higher Education to draw up a plan under which tests would be given to all high school graduates in the state. D. S. Coltrane, the state's budget officer, said the tests for the high school graduates would be for purposes of vocational guidance and to determine qualifications of the graduates for admission to the state's institutions of higher learning.

Eisenhower voiced the hope in a brief informal talk at the dedication of the new 13-million-dollar headquarters building of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). The building is situated on the outskirts of this small community some 30 miles north of Washington.

Under the plan, those taking the aptitude tests would pay a $7 fee. However, if they passed the tests and won admission to one of the institutions the $7 would be credited toward their tuition payments. It was estimated that proposal would reduce receipts of the University's three units.

Sportsnik Notenk

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 9 — A driver returning to his large four-door sedan on Richmond's West Grace Street today found this neatly parked, unattended not tucked under his windshield.

"You may not realize that a small English sports car is parked behind you. Please be careful not to run it down."

GE PLANT TOUR

Forty members of Alpha Kappa Psi professional business fraternity toured the General Electric Plant in Asheboro this week. This tour was the first in a series of professional tours sponsored by the fraternity each year.

TAR HEEL BREAK—UNC's Jim Jones, 80, and Phil Blazer, 70, are pictured in an attempt to block the kick of Gamecock Heywood King from behind the goal line. The faulty kick, which landed on the USC 11-yard-line set up the Tar Heels' final touchdown of the game. (Pete Young Photo)

Win Is Number 5 For UNC; Hathaway Has A Broken Arm

By BILL KING

An alert Carolina defense turned three South Carolina fumbles and one bad punt into touchdowns to gain a resounding 28-6 revenge win over the Gamecocks in Kenan Stadium yesterday.

A crowd of about 22,000 plus a large regional television audience saw the Tar Heels bounce back after a 35-0 defeat to Tennessee last week and completely overwhelm Coach Warren Giese's charges. It was the worst defeat he has suffered at USC.

It was perhaps the best defensive effort of the season for the inspired Tar Heels as their stout line stayed in the Gamecock's backfield all afternoon and stopped the running of the vaunted King Dixon-Alex Hawkins duo.

The victory was not without a price, however. Tar Heel quarterback Curt Hathaway suffered a broken arm late in the third quarter after turning in his finest game of the season up until then. The injury forced Tatum to call on sophomore Nelson Lowe to back up Cummings at quarterback. Tatum had been holding Lowe out to give him an extra season of eligibility.

Rushing Tar Heels

It was evident from the outset that the Tar Heels were all business as the line charged the Gamecocks continuously. The Gamecocks lost six fumbles in the contest, three going for Tar Heel tallies.

The Chapel Hillians drew first blood just after the second quarter had gotten underway. With 44 seconds remaining in the first period, South Carolina halfback Frank Destino fumbled on his own 32 and tackle Don Redding recovered for the Tar Heels.

North Carolina ran three plays before the end of the quarter and moved to the SC 20. Ed Lipski, Hathaway and Daley Goff got the 12 yards for the Tar Heels.

On the very first play of the second period, Hathaway pulled a beautiful fake to fullback Lipski and pitched out to Ron Marquette who went wide to the left to the 12.

Halfback Emil DeCantis carried to the three on the next two plays and then Lipski broke off left tackle for the score with 1:32 gone. Phil Blazer, who has made nine of ten extra points this season made good on the first of four during the day.

Another Fumble

South Carolina got possession twice before its next fumble but was unable to penetrate NC territory. With 3:45 left in the half, the Gamecocks were on their own 27. Dixon then took a pitchout and hit Hawkins at the line of scrimmage but he fumbled and this time it was center Jim Jones who pounced on the ball.

The Tar Heels took over on the 27, this time with the passing Cummings at the helm. On the first play, Cummings rolled out and hit end Mac Turlington at the left sidelines on the 15. He did it again on the next play, this time a bullet to Turlington at the two. Fullback Giles Gaca got the score as he went off left tackle for the 13th Tar Heel point with 2:42 left. Blazer made it 14-0 and that's the way it was at half as another late HATHAWAY OUT FOR SEASON — Curt Hathaway is shown as he was helped off Kenan Field yesterday after receiving a broken arm during play. The painful injury came late in the third period, after Hathaway had sparked the Tar Heel victory. (Pete Young Photo)

Congressman Blasts Student Solons; Labels The Inter-racial Bill 'Shocking'

By ETHAN TOLMAN

Special to the Daily Tar Heel
RALEIGH, Nov. 9 — A North Carolina Democrat today lambasted members of the State Student Legislature for passage yesterday of bills approving inter-racial marriages and prostitution.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, speaking to the group this morning, said he was "shocked by the action taken." He told members of the mock assembly that they had "shocked the sensibilities of our people."

Departing from his prepared text, Cooley indicated that he considered the actions taken prior to his appearance a personal insult. "I am certain my position on racial matters is well known," he said.

Cooley, who received widespread

President's Hope

GERMANTOWN, Md., Nov. 8 — (AP)—President Eisenhower today expressed prayerful hope that "the curse of the atomic explosion will pass from man's knowledge" and that only its good will remain.

Eisenhower voiced the hope in a brief informal talk at the dedication of the new 13-million-dollar headquarters building of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). The building is situated on the outskirts of this small community some 30 miles north of Washington.

Accomplished Pianist To Play For Musicales Next Sunday

An accomplished pianist, Mrs. Cara Kelson, whose performances have covered among other places, London, Paris and New Zealand, will perform here next Sunday, Nov. 17.

Mrs. Kelson will be presented at the third Petite Musicale, sponsored by Graham Memorial Activities Board, in the Graham Memorial Lounge at 8 p.m.

No admission is charged for these concerts and the public has been cordially invited.

Originally from New Zealand, Mrs. Kelson received her early training there. She received an Associated Board scholarship which enabled her to study four years at the Royal Academy of Music in London. She has also studied in Paris, on a bursary from the New Zealand government, with Monsieur Lazare-Levy, teacher of the famous pianist Solomon.

Mrs. Kelson has made frequent appearances, as soloist, with the Na-criticism last year for his refusal to sign the Southern Manifesto—a resolution condemning the Supreme Court's integration decision, was emphatic in his criticism of the college legislators' behavior.

"I regret very much the actions taken by this assembly," he said. He pointed out that in his opinion "a more constructive agenda could have been prepared."

The congressman's address came at the close of the weekend assembly made up of some 212 delegates from 21 white and Negro colleges throughout the state.

Other action taken by the students included the passage today of a bill which commended President Eisenhower's use of troops to enforce integration at Little Rock Central High School and condemned the actions of Arkansas Governor Orval F. Faubus. This bill was introduced by UNC Delegate Pat Adams and passed a joint session of the House and Senate by a 96-38 vote.

Speaking in favor of his bill, Adams asked the legislature to bear in mind the legal, social and moral issues involved in the Little Rock controversy.

UNC Delegate Larry MacElroy spoke in opposition to the measure. He pointed out the constitutional and ethical problems raised by sending federal troops into a state without the consent of the state government.

Joel Fleishman, delegate from UNC, was selected as the best speaker in the House.

Kennedy Will Speak Tuesday Night At 8:15

"The Role of the Attorney in Congressional Investigations" will be the topic of Senate rackets committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy when he speaks here Tuesday night at 8:15 o'clock in Hill Hall.

The Law School Association is sponsoring Kennedy's speech, which will be open to the public, as another event in the Heck Lecture Series. The Series is supported by a fund set up by the oldest living alumnus of the UNC Law School, George Heck of Glen Head, N. Y.

Herb Toms of Shelby, chairman of the LSA speakers committee, will introduce Kennedy at the Hill Hall program. The association president, James Ramsey of Roxboro, will preside.

In 1953 he managed the campaign of his brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), having just completed a year's work with the Justice Department. He holds the A.B. degree from Harvard and the LL.B. from University of Virginia Law School.

White Named Delegate To Industry Convention

Louis Norman White, a junior in the School of Business Administration, has been selected as southeastern student representative to the 62nd Annual Congress of American Industry, to be held Dec. 4-6 in New York at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

White will attend the sessions with 30 other student guests of the National Association of Manufacturers and participate in a special panel, in which they quiz businessmen.

White, a transfer student from Wake Forest College, was graduated from Henderson High School, but now lives in Laurinburg. He is majoring in banking and finance at UNC.

ROBERT F. KENNEDY

Joseph Class Wins Award

A UNC student from Greensboro has been named the recipient of the Pilot Freight Carriers Scholarship for the academic year 1957-58.

The $300 award went to Joseph M. Clapp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Clapp of Greensboro.

The award is made each year by the Winston-Salem firm to a senior majoring in traffic and transportation in the School of Business Administration. The winner is chosen by officials of the B. A. School.

Clapp is presently serving as president of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity at Carolina, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Gamma Sigma honorary fraternities.

As a freshman, he was active in YMCA freshman activities on campus, and in successive years was vice-president and president of the University Club, the organization which sponsors pep rallies and other "Carolina Spirit" projects. He was graduated from Senior High School in Greensboro, where he was a National Honor Society member, in 1954.

THE STATISTICS
	USC	UNC
First Downs	9	14
Rushing Ydg. (net)	138	209
Passing Ydg. (net)	18	92
Passes Attempted	8	16
Passes Completed	2	6
Passes Int. by	1	1
Punts	5	7
Punting Average	27.4	35.1
Fumbles Lost	6	1
Yards Penalized	30	75

Tar Heel threat failed after the Gamecocks could do nothing on the ensuing kickoff.

In the third quarter, the Tar Heels kicked off twice before the Gamecocks could run a play from scrimmage. The Tar Heels picked up a third touchdown in the process and threatened to score a fourth.

Two Straight Fumbles

Blazer opened the second half with a kickoff which Dixon took on his goal line and returned to his 31. But the SC star was rckled by a host of N. Carolina tacklers and lost the ball. Captain Buddy Payne fell on this one and the Tar Heels were all set to go with another touchdown drive.

Hathaway ran one play, a pass to Turlington which was no good and Cummings took over.

Gaca got four up the middle to the 27 and the talented Cummings took to the air. On the next play, he hit DeCantis at the six but the play was called back as the Tar

Tatum Calls Ball Game Best Effort This Year

By DAVE WIBLE

UNC's 28-6 victory over the Gamecocks of South Carolina yesterday afternoon was termed "the best 60 minutes of Carolina football this year" by Head Coach Jim Tatum in a post-game interview.

Tatum, who a week ago was "ashamed as a coach" for his team's performance against Tennessee, felt that yesterday's game was an even finer performance than the Navy game which the Tar Heels won 13-7.

The only blemish on an otherwise perfect afternoon came near the end of the third quarter when junior quarterback Curtis Hathaway suffered a broken arm. Hathaway, playing one of the finest games in his career, moved around his own right end for eight yards on an option play and was hit very hard by three Gamecock tacklers. When the players upiled, Hathaway was writhing in pain from a fractured right forearm, which will end his pigskin activity for the remainder of this season.

The injury forced Tatum to make a move he dreaded. With Hathaway out and Dave Reed suspended, he had only one signal caller left on the squad, Nelson Lowe, a sophomore quarterback who had been held out thus far this season because of an injury suffered early in fall practice, entered the game in the third quarter, thus leaving him with only two games and two years' of eligibility.

"Nelson has been working right along with the club all year," Tatum commented, "and I think that he has everything a quarterback needs. He is tough, a terrific passer, a good kicker and a very hard runner. I was very sorry that we had to put him in, but there wasn't much else that we could do."

Referring back to the ball game, Tatum said, "The reason I feel that this was our best game, is because of the way the boys fought back to overcome bad breaks in the opening minutes. I thought we would never get out of that hole. That South Carolina team was one of the

(See 60 MINUTES, Page 4)

Subway Stalls

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 — (AP) — Eight passengers spent most of today in semi-darkness aboard a subway marooned underground beneath Broadway by a freak flood.

People could get to them but the passengers—either because of infirmity or timidity—couldn't get out.

They breakfasted on rolls and coffee brought in to them. For lunch they were brought sandwiches and coffee.

The train stalled at 5 a.m. when a broken water main flooded the Broadway - Seventh Avenue line tracks between 74th and 75th Streets. Most of the passengers aboard were going to or returning from work.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

Misses Ann Cofield, Nancy Milan, Patricia Hamer, Barbara Silis and Margaret Smith.

Messrs. Edwin Avery, Oyvind Norstrom, Kenneth Brimmer, Joseph Alala, John Gibson, Terry Yeazey, Robert Peebles, Charles Gibson, George Schroeder and Wadie Mikhael.

(See TAR HEELS, Page 4)