Evans Delivers 'State Of Campus' Address To Student Legislature

Earthquake
A violent earthquake was recorded on the seismograph last night—so violent that a University Geologist said it was impossible to figure out either the direction or the distance to the quake scene.

Earlier experts at the University of California and an Italian observatory had reported a recording of a violent quake. California scientists said the tremor probably centered in North China, and the Italian scientists said the quake jarred their seismograph so they could not determine the direction.

Dr. Gerald R. McCarthy of the UNC Geology Department said the quake was recorded at 10:51 p. m. EST and was so violent that he figured it was either one of the greatest earthquakes the world has felt in many years or was very close.

Terrorism
WASHINGTON — Chairman McClellan D-Ark said today his Senate Rackets Investigating Committee has evidence of organized terrorism by the Teamsters Union in the Southern states and failure of law enforcement officials to investigate it.

McClellan's assertion was in a statement prepared for the opening of public hearings in which a truck driver who survived a blast of gunfire from ambush was scheduled as a key witness. The driver was identified as Ray Byrd of Batavia, Ohio.

'President's Comments Cover Numerous Topics

By PRINGLE PIPKIN
Speaking before the Student Legislature, President of the Student Body Sonny Evans last night delivered his State of the Campus Address, which dealt with problems in seven fields of Student Government.

By a unanimous voice vote the Legislature passed John Brooks' (UP) bill "to establish the N. C. State Student Legislative Delegation of UNC as an independent organization with its members subject to the approval of the Student Legislature of UNC."

The bill as approved was amended by one article which stated, "the UNC delegation to the SSL shall not in any way be considered as officially representing the University or the students attending UNC."

Brooks, who called this bill "a piece of legislation which meets all the requirements" of the SSL Constitution, was the only one to speak on it.

Panty Raid Is Topic At IDC Meet

"In the future, IDC members will be present at all panty raids," this statement came forth in the discussion by the IDC concerning the recent panty raids on campus. It was not a suggestion of participation, however, nor a condoning of the recent doings.

It was merely a warning that the IDC intends to make a stand and take action against any future such events.

Having been informed by one of its members that the administration is "sort of peeved" that the student government has not taken any definite measures against the raids, the IDC moved to adopt a resolution condemning such behavior on the grounds that:

1. They are detrimental to the reputation of the University.
2. They are destructive to personal and public property.
3. They are an infringement on quiet hours.
4. They reflect immature behavior.
5. They are an infraction of the campus code, the University housing regulations, and often lead to honor code violations.

Also of prime interest to the members of the IDC at the Wednesday meeting was the discussion of plans for the up-and-coming IDC-IWA Dance.

The dance will be in Cobb Basement on Dec. 14. It will last from 8 p. m. until midnight and music and refreshments will be furnished.

Owners May Register Cars

Carolina car owners still can register their automobiles without any penalty, according to Ray Jeffries, assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs.

However, after Dec. 10, the Student Traffic Council will begin calling before them students who have not by then registered their cars.

Car registration is being conducted in the Dean of Student Affairs office. It was reported that about 35 cars were registered Wednesday and Thursday.

BUDDY PAYNE GAIL WILLINGHAM PETE BRENNAN

Cager Pete Brennan 'Slain'; Buddy Payne Held In Case

(Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity) It was the second major blow to Carolina's basketball team this year. Joe Quigg, big 6-7 center, was sidelined for the season two weeks ago with a fractured knee.

Pete Brennan, star forward on the national champion UNC basketball team, was knifed to death last night in front of the Delta Delta Delta sorority house by football star Buddy Payne.

Brennan was pronounced dead on arrival at N. C. Memorial Hospital immediately after the stabbing.

He searched Payne and found a pistol. It had not been fired.

Miss Willingham told officers she witnessed the killing. She said she was waiting on the porch of the Tri-Delta house to see Brennan, whom she said she had warned 30 minutes earlier of threatening calls by Payne.

She said Payne and Brennan met on the walk in front of the house, began arguing and wrestled each other to the ground.

Payne came out on top, she sobbed, and both men struggled over possession of the knife.

TWELVE SPEAKERS
Twelve principal speakers are being invited to participate in this spring's Symposium, according to Symposium Chairman Sonny Hallford. Hallford stated this week that he anticipates releasing the names of the speakers within the next week.

Approximately 12 additional speakers will participate in the Symposium on the seminar and classroom discussion level, Hallford stated.

The committee on seminar and classroom discussions, headed by John Raper, is working toward a more concentrated series of informal discussions, including prominent off-campus lecturers, than was planned for the 1958 Symposium, Hallford said.

WELL LECTURES
The Symposium will be held in conjunction with the annual Well Lectures, to be given this year by W. D. Brogan. Brogan's topic will be "Concepts of Citizenship in Britain, France and the United States."

The Well Lectures committee is headed by Dr. James Godfrey.

The Carolina Symposium on Public Affairs was first organized in 1956, as a revival and reorganization of the Institute of Human Affairs, which was established in 1927.

The 1958 Symposium had a three-fold topic: "Old Problems in the New South," "The Emerging World Community — Problems and Prospects," and "The United States in the World Today."

Alphin said that Director of Operations J. S. Bennett said this shelter would be built for the 20 to 25 children who have to await the school bus.

"Something will be done in the next couple of weeks unless something unforeseen comes up," promised Alphin. He explained that Bennett had been tied up recently with the construction of the new dorms.

The State Highway Department has been asked by Bennett to put up some more caution signs in the Victory Village area.

HOME FOOTBALL GAMES

Goldsmith's resolution against "home football games during the Thanksgiving Holidays" was unanimously passed.

The body unanimously passed Brooks' bill to appropriate $100 as an honorarium to a team of debaters from Scottish universities.

A bill to add "Peanuts" to the comic of The Daily Tar Heel, one to get a street light between Lenoir Hall and Raleigh Road and another to appropriate money to enable the presentation of certificates to freshmen who make the dean's list were all introduced.
