National Cage Champs Open Season Here This Afternoon

Clemson Is First Foe For Tar Heels

By BILL KING

Carolina's magnificent national basketball champions will initiate the 1957-58 season against the Clemson Tigers here this afternoon before a capacity crowd in Woolen Gym and a large regional television audience. Tapoff is set for two o'clock.

With the inception of the new season, the Tar Heels extend a 32-game win challenge to Press Maravick's veteran Tigers in the unveiling of the 1957-58 edition of basketball at Tar Heel.

All basketball eyes in the land will be interested in the activities in this basketball-mad little village today as every team in the nation links its chops to get a crack at the high flying charges of the Smiling Irishman, Coach Frank McGuire.

McGuire Philosophical

McGuire is philosophical about the entire situation. He's already averred that the loss of center Joe Quigg has desiccated his club's chances of repeating as national champs and gives strong indication that he figures to lose several games this year by stating that about a 9-5 record will be good

But Tar Heel followers can't go along with McGuire in this respect. They have taken the "show me" attitude, figuring the Tar Heels to be just about as strong and looking for another great season.

The loss of Quigg and the graduation of All-American Lennie Rosenbluth has depleted considerably the Tar Heel's stock of veteran material, but a host of highly-rated sophomores give Tar Heel followers occasion to smile.

Trio To Start

McGuire, 'Coach of the Year' last season, is looking at things with a cautious eye. He knows he has the material but is convinced that it will have to develop with actual game experience. Thus the friendly Tar Heel chieftain will begin an experimentation period this afternoon which he figures will last through December and part of January. He'll be juggling his lineup considerably in an attempt to come up with the "right" combination.

The only sure thing about this afternoon's game is that it will be played and that veterans Pete Brennan, Bob Cunningham and Tommy Kearns will be in the starting lineup. After that, the matter of a starting five is left to the element of conjecture.

ALL-AMERICAN CANDIDATE—Tommy Kearns, 5-11 guard from Bergenfield, N. J. will begin his final season for Coach Frank McGuire's Tar Heels against Clemson here today. Kearns has been named to several pre-season All-American teams and is expected to lead the Tar Heels in defense of their national cage title.

Moore Ineligible For 'Judith' Actor's Withdrawal From UNC Cited As Reason For Decision

By CURTIS GANS

Harry Moore, 22, ex-graduate art student from Elizabethtown, has been ruled ineligible to participate in the Petite Dramatique production of "Judith," to be held in Graham Memorial's main lounge Sunday and Monday nights.

The initial ruling was handed down by Dean of Student Affairs Fred Weaver on Wednesday, after Moore had voluntarily withdrawn as a student at the University. He had been a student here since the first session of summer school.

Bill Condemning SSL Is Debated By Legislature

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

The only motion to cause debate at the Student Legislature meeting Thursday night was one by John Brooks (SP) to bring Charlie Gray's (UP) bill concerning the conduct of SSL out of committee.

Gray's resolution would condemn the SSL for its stand on interracial marriage and would repudiate any claim that "the State Student Legislature is truly representative of the student bodies of its participating schools."

Brooks argued that the legislature had already made a stand concerning the State Student Legislature when it passed his bill which made the SSL delegation subject to its approval.

Jack Lawing (UP), chairman of the ways and means committee, said he thought the bill could be "salvaged" and that the bill was too involved for the Legislature acting as a committee to work on.

He asserted that the changing of the bill was rightfully the work of its committee and that was the reason that his committee was created.

Brooks claimed that the Way and Means committee had done all it was going to do.

Criticizing two points in the bill, he said the bill condemned a particular stand of which the Legislature did not know the full details and it made claims for UNC as well as all the other schools participating in the SSL.

"I think the bill is a little superficial," he said and stated that his bill and Gray's bill were rather similar in the purposes behind them.

Lawing and Tally Eddings (SP), a member of the ways and means committee both said that they had not completed working on the bill.

Pat Adams (SP) said that some of the timeliness of the bill had gone although the issue was still somewhat alive now.

Al Goldsmith (UP) said that the Ways and Means committee might make it a more acceptable bill and that Charlie Gray, who was absent because of a quiz, should have a chance to speak on the bill.

Brooks' motion failed, and the bill will come before the legislature at the next meeting.

Adams introduced a bill to appropriate $28.75 to the Dean of Awards. The money will be used to print names on certificates to be given to freshman who make the dean's list twice.

The certificates have been printed for some time, but all the money the legislature appropriated at that time was used to print the certificates and none was left to pay for printing the names.

If the bill is passed, sophomores who made the dean's list twice last year will be given a certificate this year. From then on the certificates will probably be presented in September.

Glee Club To Sing At Game

The UNC Men's Glee Club will add a little spice to the initial performance of the Tar Heel basketball team today.

They will fill the gymnasium with music at the onset of the game and will provide harmonious entertainment at the halftime.

The 60-voiced group will render three or four numbers, including "Climbin' Up De Mountain," a Negro spiritual and "Down Among The Dead Men," an English drinking song.

"Hark the Sound" will be sung before the beginning of the game

Chancellor William B. Aycock said in an interview yesterday that he, as chancellor of the University, takes full responsibility for Weaver's action.

Aycock said that Moore's withdrawal from the University was the generating circumstance for the action, and added that once Moore had voluntarily withdrawn he was no longer a student, and hence had no right to participate in student activities.

Weaver Comments
Weaver, commenting at the same interview, said that the policy of the University is that student activities exist for student participation, and it is student money that finances these activities.

Aycock said the fact that Moore is a non-student Negro was another factor in his decision. Aycock added that either factor—that Moore is an ex-student or that he is a non-student Negro—taken separately would have prohibited Moore's performance.

Both factors, taken together, were considered in the decision, Aycock said. He said, however, that there was no written policy concerning persons outside the university proper.

Moore Appeals
Moore has asked Consolidated University President William Friday for a ruling on whether there is any way Moore can participate in the production. Friday deferred ruling and statement until he confers with Chancellor Aycock and has become acquainted with the facts of the matter.

Moore said he might appeal an adverse decision to the board of trustees if time permits. Seamon Gottlieb, producer of the play, said the play will be put on as scheduled, and that David Small, senior Playmaker who participated in "Brigadoon" and "Peer Gynt" last year will take Moore's place in event Moore is not in the play.

Hauser Case Cited
Dean Weaver cited, in support of the ruling, the case of Chuck Hauser, a student who had withdrawn from the University and continued to write for the Daily Tar Heel. As soon as the administration was notified of Hauser's withdrawal, he was ordered to cease his extra-curricular University activities.

When asked about the fact the ten-year-old Mike Okun was in the play and is not a student, Aycock said that the ruling was on the basis of Moore's being an "ex-student."

However, he added that at the present time he felt the University would not feel free to have a Negro who was not a student participate in student activities. He further said that within the framework of University rules Negro students are given equal rights and privileges.

Statement Given

Commenting on the administration ruling, Moore stated, "I am no longer a student in this university; therefore, I may no longer participate in any extra-curricular activities of the University. This is the standing decision of the University as of this moment, and I must accept it. I should like to make my basic position clear, as follows:

"For several reasons, I have a deep personal desire to continue in 'Judith.' I like the play, and I feel a deep responsibility to the current production. Also, in the course of a month of almost constant contact with the cast, I

Faculty Gets Five-Point Excuse Plan

A five-point proposal designed to revise the present system of granting excuses was presented to the faculty council yesterday by Student Body President Sonny Evans, Vice President Don Furtado and Honor Council Chairman George Ragsdale.

The Council voted to appoint a committee to investigate the proposals. No other formal action was taken on the bill.

The proposal presented to the group suggested that "The present system of issuing class excuses be abolished."

"That the person who grants the excuse from a given class shall be the instructor of the class."

"That the 'official' excuse from any other person or office shall be required by the instructor."

"That the instructor shall accept, as official, the word of the person who seeks the excuse."

"That the office (s) which now have the authority to grant excuses shall retain that authority so that it may be exercised whenever it shall, for any reason, become necessary."

Evans pointed out that this basically is the same as the present rule, except that the infirm and the deans' offices would be relieved of the extra load of handling excuses and the matter would be handled personally between the student and instructor.

Dr. E. McG. Hedgpath, University physician, told the group that he knew of at least one institution where removal of restrictions brought an infirm case level drop of 2,000. He did not name the institution.

Dr. C. A. Cathey asked if the change would not bring about "unlicensed practice of medicine in the dormitory" and cause some students to refrain from going to the infirmary when they need professional treatment.

Sam Magill To Instruct In Spring

Dr. Bernard Boyd, Chairman of the Department of Religion, announced today that Samuel (Sam) Hayes Magill, Director of student activities, will teach Religion 31 in the spring semester.

The course, "Christian Ethics and Modern Problems," is a consideration of the relevance of the Christian faith to problems of war and peace, economic enterprise, marriage and the family, and the functions of the state and international organization in the contemporary scene.

Magill graduated from UNC in 1950 and received his Bachelor of Divinity in Christian Ethics at Yale Divinity School in 1953. Shortly afterwards he was ordained minister of the Congregational Christian Church.

While a student at UNC, he was a star athlete in track and cross-country, president of the YMCA, member of the Order of Grail and Delta Psi social fraternity and received the Algernon Sidney Sullivan Award at graduation.

In 1953 he took a job as secretary of the YMCA at Davidson and in 1955 joined the UNC faculty.

This will be the first time he has taught this course here. It will be offered Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 9 a. m.

Death Came At 10:50 Manning County Sheriff Gives Details In 'Knifing'

By ED ROWLAND

Pete Brennan scrimmaged with the varsity basketball team against the freshmen for over an hour before he was knifed to death in front of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority house Thursday. Manning County Sheriff Carl Churchill said yesterday.

The sheriff said Brennan left Woolen Gym approximately at 10:30 p. m., and apparently went immediately to the sorority house on Pittsboro St.

The county medical examiner placed the time of death at 10:50 p. m. Thursday.

Sheriff Churchill said Brennan evidently was going to see Gail Willingham, campus homecoming queen and member of Delta Delta Delta, with whom he had been seen in the past few weeks.

As Brennan approached the house, he was met by Buddy Payne, star football player who has been seen in the company of Miss Willingham during the fall. Miss Willingham was standing on the porch of the house and told Sheriff Churchill she saw a struggle between the two men. She said Payne fell to the ground on top of Brennan and a few seconds later Payne alone arose.

The medical examiner said Brennan's death was caused by a knife wound in the chest.

Payne was scheduled to be arraigned before a magistrate in a preliminary hearing today.

The event is part of the annual Mock Trial sponsored by Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity.

VICTIM IN 'KNIFING'—Minutes after star cager Pete Brennan was "knifed to death" Thursday night, staff photographer Norm Kantor arrived at the scene of the "crime" to take this picture of Brennan's body on the grass in front of the Tri Delta house.
