

Tar Babies Beat Davidson JV's, 77-61 For Seventh Win

Gift From Flatbush

Freshman Star Moe Is Another Prize Package

By WAYNE THOMPSON

A tree grows in Brooklyn and so do good basketball players. The latest Flatbush inhabitant at this conscious school is 6-3 freshman sharp shooter Doug Moe. Add his name to a list of Brooklyn bred Tar Heels like Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg, York Larese, Ray Stanley and Harvey Salz and its obvious why sports scribes ever the nation are calling the fourth ranked Tar Heels a "St. Johns away from home."

Moe, the highly touted drive artist who was sought after by almost 20

RAY STANLEY
He's Another Brooklynite

colleges last year, is averaging 24.7 point in six contests to date. Considering that he only saw limited action in two of the games, he can be considered nothing short of phenomenal.

Top Rebounder

Moe is also the team's leading rebounder despite the fact that 6-8 Hugh Donahue has been doing his job well off the boards. Doug's got all the tools which include agility, speed and two legs that would

Duke Prepares For TV Date With NCS Sat.

DURHAM, Jan. 9—Duke's basketballers began practice today for their Saturday afternoon clash with rival N. C. State. The Atlantic Coast Conference game will be televised over the ACC regional network and will start at 2 p.m. The visiting Wolfpack will rate the favorite's nod on the basis of a finer record this year, but past records usually do not mean much when these two teams face each other, especially on the Duke floor.

The 1957 contest ended in a 92-85 win for the Blue Devils despite the fact that, just a week before in the Dixie Classic, the Wolfpack had taken a whopping 102-80 win over Coach Harold Bradley's Blue Devils.

The two teams will meet for the first time this season in the Saturday contest.

Coach Bradley probably won't name his starters until Friday night. With a wealth of material to choose from, and that is the most posing problem facing the Duke mentor this season, Bradley still does not have a definite starting five.

At the guard spots, Bucky Allen the team's leading scorer, appears to have the nod for one post, and the other will be selected from Jack Boyd, Bob Vernon and co-captain Bobby Joe Harris.

For the center and forward posts, co-captain Jim Newcome, Larry Bateman, Paul Schmidt, Jerry Robertson, Bob Lakata, or Hayes Clement are all in contention.

The tussle before the TV cameras Saturday should see an interesting duel between guards. Like Duke, the Wolfpack boasts a fine array of backcourt men.

Captain Whitey Bell and colorful Lou Pucillo will lead off at those positions for the visitors. Bell played three fine games in the recent Dixie Classic, the performances giving him a berth on the All-Classic team.

Pucillo, one of the smallest players ever to star at State, is a fancy dribbler and playmaker in addition to being a sharp shooter.

John Richter, at center, and Bob MacGillivray and either George Stepanovich or Don Gallagher at the forwards round out the starting five for Coach Everett Case's charges.

A game between the freshman teams of the two schools will follow the varsity tilt.

grace any Australian kangaroo. He's also talented.

Joe Quigg, the injured hero of last year's national championship team, could have, with the breaks, been an All-American choice this year. Now it looks like Pete Brennan, the sharp shooting forward with the magnetic hands, is setting the A-A pace. Next year it could be York Larese's turn or Moe perhaps.

Hold Out?

Larese, who will most likely be held out this season after missing early drills because of pre-season knee operation, is probably the best shot in the Tar Heel camp. The 6-4 Brooklyn boy amazed spectators at one practice by moving from corner to corner in a path around the foul circle and making 14 jump and set shots without a miss.

After the first round, he reversed the procedure and duplicated the feat in 13 attempts. Not bad shooting for a sophomore who has yet to play his first varsity game.

Ray Stanley Too

Ray Stanley is another fine example of basketball, Brooklyn style. Although only 6-4, Ray is the only Tar Heel player who can dunk the ball both from the front and the back, one hand or two. He's also a good outside shot and with experience could be one of the all-time great North Carolinians. At least that's what Coach Frank McGuire expects and he has good reasons.

Not all the Brooklyn Tar Heels are big men tough. This is best illustrated by watching the finesse of 6-1 guard Harvey Salz. The smooth backcourt operator, although only a sophomore, is the No. 1 reserve for Coach McGuire's charges this year.

Salz Has 63

In 10 games to date, Salz has scored 63 points and appears to be a polished performer at this stage of the season. He possesses a crafty jump shot and is extremely deadly from the corners. Harvey is also a good defensive player.

Geographically, Brooklyn is located in New York, but there is a little section of Chapel Hill reserved for Flatbush. And as long as policemen patrol the waterfront and watch the Boys for Coach Frank, Tar Heels will replenish its supply of Brooklynites. They lost their beloved Brooklyn Dodgers, but Flatbush can always be proud of their contribution to National Championship basketball.

McGuire Knew Va. Would Be Hard To Beat

Frank McGuire: "All week long everyone has been asking me about Maryland and what we would do. Heck, we've been planning what we would do against Virginia-Maryland is Saturday night."

After Carolina's win over the Virginia Cavaliers last night Coach McGuire seemed to be the only man in the Carolina dressing room who expected the tough reception the Tar Heels got from Virginia. "It was a very good game," he said and added, "That Virginia club is going to make it an even tougher conference. They have good size balance and shoot real well."

Explaining the first half slump of the Tar Heels, McGuire said, "We just weren't working the ball well enough for our shots. Too many were from outside, and we weren't connecting. Ya' know, I believe if we had played at Virginia, we would have been beat. The home court advantage was a tremendous advantage tonight."

"Highly praising all his team, McGuire was especially pleased with the performance of Dick Kepley. "Dick did a good" job under the boards tonight and is coming along real well. The success of our team will depend on him, Ray Stanley and Danny Lotz. We have got to replace Queeg."

The capacity crowd got a real big kick out of seeing the 41st reunion of the 1917 Tar Heels. The members of that team who had together traveled over 14,000 miles for the occasion were awarded certificates by UNC Vice President W. D. Carmichael Jr.

PLUS TWO—Carolina's Tommy Kearns shows perfect form as he follows through with a set shot over the head of Virginia's Paul Adkins. Kearns was hot on his set shot last night hitting 12 points (Photo by Kantor)

Indoor Track On Tap Here Sat.

By JIM HARPER

The 1958 edition of Coach Dale Hanson's Carolina track team will make its debut Saturday afternoon in the Tin Can in a practice meet with Duke.

Headlining the meet will be Duke's record-breaking dash man, Dave Sims, and Carolina's great middle distance runner, Dave Scurlock. Both Scurlock and Sims ran in the recent Sugar Bowl Indoor Meet, winning in their respective divisions. Scurlock, who is slated to appear in both the quarter and half mile events, turned in a good 48.7 time trial and a great 48.5 final for the 440 in the New Orleans meet.

Bishop Will Run

Among the top performers so far in practice sessions, Coach Hanson praised the work of Wayne Bishop, Everett Whatley, and Cowles Lippert in the always strong distance division.

Senior Jim Varnam will be the top ranked dash man for Carolina. Varnam is terrifically fast off the starting blocks, where Sims is weakest, and in the 60 yard event might well upset the indoor record holder. Varnam was the runner-up in the ACC track meet held here last spring, losing to Sims only in the last few yards.

Elsewhere in the dash events, Both Lou Glasecock and Lyndon DeBorde are shaping up to be the top Tar Heel hurdlers, and will probably finish one-two in that event.

In the abbreviated field events, which will be held indoors, sophomore Ward Sims will be the main Carolina headliner. Sims, who as a freshman appeared in three events, will enter the pole vault and broad jump. Grigger Don Kemper will be among the home entries in the shot put.

Senators Sell Usher; Speculation Ensues

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—Washington today sold centerfielder Bob Usher to Miami of the International League, setting off new speculation that the Senators are close to a deal with another American League club.

Senators' President Calvin Griffith has been searching for outfielders in negotiations with other teams.

Griffith, while declining comment on any added significance to Usher's departure, said the Boston Red Sox are interested in infielder Pete Runnels and catcher Lou Berberet.

LAUGH IT UP—with the Navy's desk-jockeys of the South Pacific! A riot!

DON'T GO NEAR THE WATER

GLENN FORD
KEENAN WYNN • FRED CLARK • EVA GABOR
RUSS TAMBLAY • JEFF RICHARDS

NOW PLAYING

Carolina

GET MORE OUT LIFE
GO OUT TO A MOVIE

FOOLED YOU—Carolina's Lee Shaffer fakes a jump shot and makes a high pass to team mate around the defense of Virginia's William Metzger. (Photo by Kantor)

TAR HEELS

(Continued from page 1)
26 of 39 while Virginia had 18 of 24.

The first half was as close as you could want it. The largest spread by either team was a 14-8 Tar Heel lead at the 12:36 mark. The sharpshooting Virginians quickly chopped that margin away and at the 8:12 point, Busch hit a hook shot to send the visitors ahead, 17-15.

Virginia was able to hold a lead for the remainder of the half except when Brennan hit two quick field goals to tie it at 24 with 5:37 remaining. John Siewers hit a push shot one minute later to put the Cavaliers out front to stay the rest of the way.

Virginia outshot the Tar Heels from the floor in the first half. The Cavaliers had a 35.2 percentage, while the Tar Heels were 33.3. In the rebound department, Carolina hauled down 25 to Virginia's 23.

SHE'S YOUNG... SHE'S DARING...
SHE'S ENGAGED TO THREE GUYS AT THE SAME TIME!

Her "steady" boy!
The playboy!
The poor boy!

THE GIRL MOST LIKELY

TECHNICOLOR

JANE POWELL • CLIFF ROBERTSON
KEITH ANDES • KAYE BAILLARD • TOMMY NOONAN • UNA MERKEL

WILLIAM FULTON • CHARLES BRANTON • FREDERICK BRANTON • RALPH BLANE
WILLIAM FULTON • CHARLES BRANTON • FREDERICK BRANTON • RALPH BLANE
AN RKO RADIO PICTURE • A UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL RELEASE

Carolina
GET MORE OUT LIFE
GO OUT TO A MOVIE

T-O-D-A-Y and SATURDAY

Varsity Theatre

Lou Brown's 23 Paces; No Trouble For Frosh

By RUSTY HAMMOND

The Carolina Tar Babies picked up win number seven last night, beating the Davidson JV Wildcats 73-61 in the Virginia-Carolina preliminary.

The Frosh had no trouble at all in the first half as they completely outplayed the Wildcats on both offense and defense. Led by Lou Brown's 23 points, the yearlings worked the ball well through the middle and around the outside. Brown was high man, followed by Pete Longnecker with 15, Hugh Donahue with 13, and Doug Moe with 10. Moe fouled out with 12 minutes to go in the game.

Control Boards

During the opening half, Donahue and Moe practically owned the boards, as Davidson could usually manage only one shot when it got the ball. Brown was effective on working the ball into the big men and on his outside shooting. Donahue scored on jump-shots and lay-ups. Longnecker had a very good night; he was hottest in the final half.

Davidson came back onto the floor after intermission a changed ball club full of fight. It held the Tar Babies evenly throughout the rest of the game, matching basket for basket, and working the ball much better.

The frosh started slowly, then caught fire, pulling to a lead of 28-8 with 9:40 to go in the first half. After that it was more or less decided, in spite of Davidson's good play in the second stanza.

The Tar Baby's fast break once again came into view last night, with Brown usually the key man, receiving help from Tom Shuford and Longnecker. The Brown to Moe combo worked beautifully most of the time, causing many excellent plays on the part of both. Moe's fouling out was the reason for his lowest point production of the season. He had 10 at the half which was his final tally. Brown went on several spurts when he simply couldn't miss, hitting incredible shots from the outside.

DINE & DANCE

COMBO THIS SATURDAY NIGHT

"We Specialize in Steaks & Seafood"

4-12 Mon. - Thur.
2:30 - 12 Fri. & Sat.

CLARK'S 501 RESTAURANT

Located on the Chapel Hill By-Pass

Beer at Popular Prices

SALE

CONTINUING...

Reductions Up To 30%

ON SELECTED ITEMS

Julian's College Shop

A Campus-to-Career Case History

John Reiter (right) discusses the route of signals from the wave guide through the IF stages of a microwave receiver.

"This was the kind of challenge I was looking for"

Here's what John A. Reiter, Jr., B.S. in Electronics, Arizona State College, '54, says about the biggest project so far in his Bell System career.

"This was the kind of challenge I was looking for—a chance to assist in planning a microwave radio relay system between Phoenix and Flagstaff, Arizona. Five intermediate relay stations would be needed, and I began by planning the tower locations on 'line of sight' paths after a study of topographical maps. Then I made field studies using altimeter measurements, and conducted path-loss tests to determine how high each tower should be. This was the trickiest part of the job. It called for detecting the presence of reflecting surfaces along the transmission route, and determining measures necessary to avoid their effects.

"Not the least part of the job was estimating the cost of each of the five relay stations. All told, the system will cost more than $500,000. When construction is finished in December of this year, I'll be responsible for technical considerations in connecting the radio relay and telephone carrier equipment.

"This assignment is an example of the challenges a technical man can find in the telephone company. You take the job from start to finish—from basic field studies to the final adjustments—with full responsibility. To technical men who want to get ahead, that's the ultimate in responsibility."

John Reiter is building his career with Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company. Find out about the career opportunities for you. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus. And read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office, or write for a copy of "Challenge and Opportunity" to: College Employment Supervisor, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y.

