Moon Rocket May Be Fired Later This Year

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (P---From Air Force and industry space experts today came predictions that a rocket can be fired to the moon this year and an unmanned vehicle sent around Mars between 1965 and 1970.

The timetable for events in outer space was presented in separate forums-testimony by Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt, Air Force chief of research and development, appearing before a congressional committee; and a seminar for industry representatives sponsored by the Air Force Assn. (AFA).

Putt told the committee that the exploratory moonshot could be made this year if the orders were issued within the next few weeks. The committee also was told that the United States should be the first nation to establish a space way-station on the moon-before Russia moves in.

While these views were being expressed by the Air Force in the capitol hill session, the men whose job it is to translate Air Force ideas into actual hardware gave their own predictions at the AFA seminar in the Sheraton Park Hotel

A panel of industry missile manufacturers was polled for their guesses on when missiles, satellites and space ships would be ready.

MY CLOSEST SHAVE by Barnaby Conrad

"My closest shave was in Mexico when I was 18," says Barnaby Conrad, author of the best selling books Matador arid Gates of Fear. "I went to a bullfight, thought it looked easy, and jumped into the ring with a fighting bull. It charged . . . and if it hadn't been for the quick work of the professionals, I'd have been a goner. Later I went to Spain and really studied the dangerous art, but I never had a closer call than when I 69 thought 'la fiesta brava' was easy !"
