

WEATHER

Partly cloudy and rather warm with scattered thundershowers.

The Daily Tar Heel

PARKING

The student might suspend buying a little while in order to be effective. See page 2.

VOL. LXV NO. 156

Offices in Graham Memorial

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1958

Complete Wire Service

FOUR PAGES THIS ISSUE

Arkansas Crisis Gains Three Pulitzer Prizes

NEW YORK. (AP)—Coverage of the explosive integration crisis at Little Rock's Central High School won three separate 1958 Pulitzer prizes in Journalism yesterday.

They went to the Little Rock, Ark., Gazette for meritorious public service; the newspaper's executive editor, Harry S. Ashmore, for editorial writing; and Associated Press Correspondent Reiman (Pat) Morin for his eyewitness account of mob violence outside the school Sept. 23.

Morin, a Pulitzer Prize Winner in 1951, was one of two winners this year for national reporting. The other was Clark Mollenhoff of The Des Moines Register and Tribune, who was cited for his investigation of labor racketeering.

In the case of The Arkansas Gazette, it marked the first time a newspaper captured the public service award while one of its editors was winning the editorial prize for the same news event. Separate citations lauded the newspaper and its editor for objectivity in the face of mounting public tension.

The 1958 fiction award went to James Agee's Novel, "A Death in the Family." It deals with a southern family's reaction to the death of a beloved father. It was completed by Agee before his death in 1955.

The annual drama award went to "Look Homeward, Angel," Ketti Frings' adaptation of the late Thomas Wolfe's autobiographical novel of the same name. It has been a Broadway hit since its opening last Nov. 28.

It was the 41st annual award of prizes established by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer. They are made annually by the trustees of Columbia University on recommendation of the advisory board on the Pulitzer Prizes.

Dental School Must Expand, States Dean

PINEHURST, N. C. — Expansion of the UNC School of Dentistry by at least 50 per cent of the present enrollment must be accomplished if the state is to begin to solve its shortage of dentists.

So stated Dr. John C. Brauer, dean of the University Dental School who discussed dental manpower in North Carolina at Monday's session of the North Carolina Dental Society convention.

Brauer said that 25 additional dental students must be admitted to the freshman class yearly and the dental hygiene program should be expanded by 60 students per class.

Should the General Assembly appropriate expansion funds in 1959, it still would be 1962 before the first increase in enrollment could be accomplished, said Brauer. It would be 1966, he said, before any of the new students would graduate.

"If the dentist-population ratio were to be based on need for dental service the state would require eight times more dentists than now practicing," said Brauer.

"The picture is not so critical when based on 'effective demands,' nevertheless a real shortage of dentists exists within the state," he added.

The state's 1,096 practicing dentists in mid-1956 constituted a ratio of one dentist to every 3,952 persons. The national ratio was one for every 1,900.

Legal Group Finishes Up Activities

Battle Senate of Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity completed its business and social calendar last week.

On Thursday, April 24, the fraternity initiated C. K. Brown, Bruce Johnson, Harold Waters, Bob Hayes, Ed Murray and Billy Tucker. The new members were then honored at a barbecue supper.

To complete the week, the Senate celebrated its 34th birthday at its annual Founders Day banquet at the Saddle Club in Durham. New officers for the coming year were installed.

Tomorrow Is Big Day For Entire Senior Class

A variety show, Ugly Man Contest and selection of Mr. Alumnus and Miss Alumna will be featured tomorrow when UNC seniors celebrate Senior Day.

Senior Day activities will begin today when seniors are given free admission to the Carolina Theatre from 6-11 p.m. when "Majorie Morningstar" will be playing.

The only late permission codes will get for Senior Day this year is midnight tomorrow.

Originally the Dean of Women's

GM SLATE

The following activities have been scheduled for today at Graham Memorial:

Honor Council, 9-11 p.m., Grail Room; Orientation Council, 4:30-6 p.m., Grail Room; Finance Committee, 4-6 p.m., Roland Parker Lounge I; IDC Honor Society, 4-5 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room; University Party, 7-10 p.m., Roland Parker Lounge I and II; Women's Orientation Council, 7-11 p.m., Council Room; Women's Residence Council, 6:45-9 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room; A.P.O., 7-9 p.m., Rendezvous Room.

BEFORE IT RAINED
Barbecue under Davie Poplar

Sudden Squall Wets Y-Niters

By CHARLIE SLOAN

A sudden rain squall scattered Y-Niters yesterday just as Dr. Rosell Robbins turned into the home stretch of his comments on witchcraft.

The mischievous elements abated as suddenly as they descended, and Dr. Robbins lost only a few listeners for his conclusion.

Starting slightly before 5:30 in spite of threatening skies, students taking part in the annual picnic queued up in two long lines for a barbecue dinner. Then they jockeyed for position on the benches with the swinging strains of Les Sutorius' brand of jazz for background music.

Daryl Farrington told the group, which grew in numbers to more than 700, that the program would be moved to Memorial Hall if and when the rains came. When Dr. Robbins, a siamese cat with a blue ribbon around its neck curled in his arm, got up to speak he commented that the weather was proof of the fiction of witchcraft—said he'd been working a long time for a nice day.

But the rains did come, or at least a capricious—little squall that could be seen advancing across the campus toward the bermuda and sportshirt clad crowd.

Before the heavens dropped in on the affair Dr. Robbins was outlining the development of belief in witches from a long-ago Papal Bull setting up the standards for broom-riders of all time.

Apologizing for bringing up such things in an after dinner speech, he described the treatment of witches in the middle ages in several unhappy instances, naming three educated men from different periods and places whose persecution of witches placed them in his own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Furtado explained, "Someone has

own "Hall of shame."

He was just wrapping up the case of a nymphomaniac nun when the shower struck.

And when the rains came the reporters went. Wonder what they did with that nun.

Aldermen To Discuss Meters At Regular May 12 Meeting

By PRINGLE PIPKIN

The question of parking meters for Chapel Hill will come before the Board of Aldermen at their regular meeting in the Town Hall at 7:30 p.m., May 12.

This meeting will be open, and it is probable that some action on the situation may be taken after some discussion. One open hearing has already been held April 30.

The Board will also discuss the re-arrangement of the parking spaces on Columbia Street. The proposed change calls for parallel parking and would result in some 80 fewer parking spaces.

Speaking on the proposed alterations in the parking situation, Student Body President Don Furtado said, "On May twelfth the town Aldermen will reach a final decision on this proposal to eliminate angular parking along Columbia Street and initiate parking meters along Columbia and Franklin Streets."

It is rather shocking for us to realize that this planning which influences students so directly was done without consulting a single student concerned with the problem."

He said that the charge had been made that the students should have been at two recent open hearings; however, these meetings were announced only in the Chapel Hill Weekly and the News Leader.

Furtado explained, "Someone has forgotten that very few students have access to either of these papers, and it is very strange that The Daily Tar Heel, the largest newspaper in Chapel Hill, was not also notified. "However, the problem is now upon us and the questions arises as to what can be done. (See METERS, Page 3)

Library Science School Adopts Honor Society

The UNC School of Library Science adopted the international library science honor society, Beta Phi Mu, Saturday.

Forty-five members were initiated into the Epsilon Chapter. These included 14 students and 31 alumni. A group of leading librarians and library educators founded the Beta Phi Mu at the University of Illinois in 1948.

The Carolina Chapter is the fraternity's fifth. Others are at the University of Illinois, UCLA, Florida State University, and the College of Science and Technology in Manchester, England.

The two-fold purpose of the fraternity is to recognize the academic achievement in library science and to sponsor the professional and scholarly projects which encourage high scholastic attainment, the improvement of teaching, and the development of better educational institutions for professional training.

New members who are currently working for a master's degree in library science are Kathleen H. Cheape, Greensboro, Ala.; Aylene E. Cooke, Durham; Mildred H. Farrow, Guilford College; Walter Gray, Wilson; Jeanne P. Helstrom, Salem, Va.; Evelyn M. Kocher, Radford, Va.; Elaine Landsell, Elberon, N.J.

Mary Frances Morris, Durham; Adriana P. Orr, Chapel Hill; Dewey F. Pruett, Jr., Birmingham, Ala.; Bobbie Newman Redding, Greensboro; Philip D. Shore, Pilot Mountain; Frances V. Thackston, Durham and Audrey B. Zablocki, Chapel Hill.

New alumni members are Margaret Altman, Chapel Hill; Edith E. Averitt, Chapel Hill; Anne E. Andrews, Burlington; Jane C. Bahnsen, Chapel Hill; Hazel Bailey, Raleigh; Olin V. Cook, Chapel Hill; Audrey J. Cushman, Durham; Mary E. Darst, Durham; Grace B. Farrior, Greensboro; Josephine B. Floyd, Chapel Hill; Jean Freeman, Chapel Hill; Eleanor S. Godfrey, Chapel Hill; Mildred C. Herring, Greensboro; Charles C. Hopkins, Chapel Hill; William H. Johnson, Chapel Hill; Marjorie W. Lindsay, Raleigh.

R. McGalliard, Raleigh; Pattie B. McIntyre, Chapel Hill; Robert A. Miller, Chapel Hill; Gay B. Moore, Chapel Hill; Katherine B. Mouzon, Chapel Hill; Davora E. Neilsen, Raleigh; Emma W. Phol, Raleigh; Gay H. Spivey, Guilford College; Margaret S. Tillett, Durham; Virginia Y. Wells, Chapel Hill; Tera B. White, Chapel Hill; Lena Mae Williams, Chapel Hill and Mary Jane Wing, Atlanta, Ga.

Pogo Creator To Be Presented This Thursday

Walt Kelly, creator of the Pogo comic strip, will speak at the Carolina Forum Thursday at 8 p.m. in Hill Hall.

Kelly will base his talk on a recent 90-day, round-the-world trip in which he visited some of the world's troubled spots, addressed cultural groups, talked with the man-in-the-street and gathered material for a new book.

Theme of his lecture will be an exploration of the title of his forthcoming book, "Not So Square a World"—a phrase that occurred to him as the result of his findings during Fogo's C. S. Fizzle Year.

An alternate theme of his speech is "80 Days Around the Corner." Kelly's world-girdling trip, his second in two years, included visits to England, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Lebanon, Iran, India, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand and the Fiji and Hawaiian Islands. In previous trips he had visited Ireland, Scotland and Syria.

Kelly has made over 200 speeches on college campuses. He is a former two-term president of the National Cartoonists Society and a winner of the coveted "Cartoonist of the Year" award.

Alumni Drive Co-Chairmen Are Announced

Frank Black and Jerry Oppenheimer have been appointed chairmen of the Alumni Drive.

George Ragsdale, senior class president made the announcement Monday.

Ragsdale said, "It is with pleasure that I am able to announce the appointment of Frank Black and Jerry Oppenheimer as chairmen of the Alumni Drive. They are both extremely capable persons and were fortunate to have them give their efforts to this most important work."

Assisting the co-chairmen are Sandy, Sanders Ann Morgan, Punkin Coe and Tom Walters who will work in the dorms, sororities and fraternities.

The purpose of the drive is to enroll every senior as a member of the Alumni Association. The University depends upon its alumni and grows largely through alumni efforts.

Ragsdale concluded with "I urge all senior men and women to join the Alumni Association and to thereby retain his connection with Chapel Hill and with the University."

The drive will begin tomorrow and last one week.

IN THE INFIRMARY

Students in the Infirmary yesterday included:

Misses Mary Dance, Jenny Graham and Joyce Woodard and Ralph Brown, Theodore Edlick, Joseph Jeanette.

String Concert Tonight Opens '57-58 Season

The University String Quartet will present its first program of the 1957-58 season in Hill Music Hall on tonight at 8 o'clock, playing works of Beethoven, Barber, Schubert and Haydn.

The quartet members, violinists Edgar Alden and Jean Heard, violist Dorothy Alden, and cellist Mary Gray Clarke, have played together since 1950.

Dr. Alden is a member of the faculty in the Department of Music at the University where he teaches violin, harmony and graduate courses in musicology, and is also associate conductor of the University Symphony Orchestra. Both he and Mrs. Alden have held first chair positions in the North Carolina Symphony and have performed throughout North Carolina as soloists and in various chamber groups.

Mrs. Heard is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music and has studied with Mischa Mischakoff.

Miss Clarke, first cellist with the University Symphony, is a graduate assistant in the Music Department and holds a master's degree from the Manhattan School of Music.

The Tuesday evening recital will begin with Beethoven's quartets, it is shorter and lighter than the great quartets just preceding it.

The second work of the evening will be the "String Quartet," Op. 11, of Samuel Barber. The composer, whose opera "Vanessa" was premiered at the Metropolitan Opera House in January of this year, wrote the quartet in 1936. The middle movement, in an orchestral arrangement labeled "Adagio for Strings," has been played by many symphony orchestras throughout the world.

Following intermission the quartet will perform the single complete movement of an unfinished Schubert quartet in C Minor. It is not known why the work was not completed, for it is neither the last quartet composition of Schubert nor is it inferior to the three quartets which came after it. The program will be concluded with the playing of Haydn's "Quartet in G Major," Op. 54, No. 1. This work is typical of the composer's quartets, being a charming and humorous work with many surprises for the listener.

The concert is Number 18 of the current Tuesday Evening Series sponsored by the UNC Department of Music, and is open to the public at no admission charge.

Playmakers Pondering: And If There Be Rain?

"Rain, rain, go away . . ." is the constant chant of The Carolina Playmakers at this season of the year as they prepare for their final production.

Each year The Playmakers move out-of-doors for a show in their Forest Theatre. Turning to the classics, this year's outdoor production is Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors," scheduled for May 9-11 at 8:30 p.m.

Interpreting the show as a tale to be told by a band of strolling players, the actors take their cues from the Harlequinade of the 16th Century. Clad in raincoats and sporting umbrellas for rainy rehearsal periods, the players will don modifications of early Harlequin costumes during the run of the show.

Richard Newdick, graduate assistant in costume with The Playmakers, has done extensive research into the period in order to costume the production. The execution of his designs will form a part of his Master's Thesis in dramatic art.

Settings for the play are also being done by a graduate student, Albert C. Gordon, of Greensboro. Lighting for Gordon's unit set is being designed by Ed Madden.

Outdoor drama is a familiar medium for most of the Playmakers. cast, John Whitty, who plays Antipholus of Syracuse; Taylor Williams, Antipholus of Ephesus; Amanda Meiggs, Adriana; Doris Berry, Aemilia; Jack Jackson, Solinus and Harvey Knox, the merchant, have all been seen in the summer show, "Unto These Hills," at Cherokee.

John Sneden, who plays Dromio of Ephesus, and Chuck Tomlinson, Balthazar, are former members of the cast of "The Lost Colony" at Manteo.

Darwin Solomon, cast as Dromio of Syracuse, has appeared in "Horn In The West" in Boone.

There will be no reserved seats for this production. Tickets, at $1.50, will be on sale at The Forest Theatre on performance evenings only. This is a season ticket attraction.

Summer Positions Open In Student Government

Student Body President Don Furtado announced Monday that 23 openings are available for summer school student government officials.

The list includes acting president, acting secretary-treasurer, seven members to the summer school government board, seven women to the Women's Council and seven men to the Men's Council.

Grail Ring Sale

The Order of the Grail will sponsor a class ring sale Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Y-Court, Lee Blackwell, Balfour Company representatives, will be there to take orders for rings.