Pogo Originator Walt Kelley Will Speak, Sketch Tonight

Tonight is the night. Walt Kelly speaks tonight at Hill Hall.

Pogo originator Kelly will speak and sketch tonight at the Carolina Forum's second presentation for the fall. The time for the address, which is open to the public, is 8 p.m.

Kelly makes about 50 speeches each year before college students and faculty groups, hospital patients, professional societies and conventions. The Pogo creator has circled the world twice. His most recent trip around the world was spent addressing cultural groups and gathering material for a new book.

As of Jan. 12, 1958, Pogo books reached a sales of nearly 2.5 million. He has published a book of 30 original songs and music and a long-playing record of 18 of the songs.

Of course, Kelly's fame started with his Pogo comic strip which now appears in 507 newspapers in the United States and abroad.

OTHER CAMPAIGNS

Besides the presidential campaign of 1960, other Pogo campaigns include the Department of Labor campaign for manpower, a campaign for the Treasury Department's Savings Bonds drive and Life magazines attempt to convince the public to use common sense and caution on Asian flu.

For the Labor Department campaign (Stay in School and Graduate) Kelly was given a special award for his work. Pogo praised the value of a high school diploma through radio, newspapers, television, posters and stickers and a cartoon which was carried in 600 newspapers.

'Beat Dook' Parade Set For Friday

The PiKA's traditional "Beat Dook" float parade will march through Chapel Hill streets Friday, Nov. 21, at 3 p.m.

The planning for the parade and the annual "Beat Dook" beauty contest is being completed by members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

David Grigg, in charge of arrangements for the parade and beauty contest, yesterday announced several deadlines and other details.

The deadline for beauty contestants is Friday, Nov. 14. Floats must be entered by Tuesday, Nov. 18. These entries will be taken by David Grigg, in 312 Ruffin, or at the PiKA house.

Dorms or sororities or fraternities entering floats in the parade may enter one contestant each in the beauty contest.

The divisions for entries has been changed slightly. This year, for the first time, men's and women's dorms will work together on submitting a float. This is being done, Grigg said, to encourage more participation. The other three divisions are: men's dorms (See PARADE, Page 3)

'Get Tough' Car Policy Announced

Holt Patterson, chairman of the Men's Honor Council, yesterday announced a "get tough" policy regarding violators of car registration rules.

Patterson hit at the student who has his car registered in another student's name. Both student's are liable for trial before Honor Council, he said.

This "get tough" policy won't go into effect until Saturday, thus giving students an opportunity to report themselves to Ray Jefferis, assistant to the dean of student affairs. If this "reporting" is done before Saturday, Nov. 15, the students will not go before Honor Council, Patterson said.

IMMEDIATE ACTION

"The Honor Councils will no longer ignore flagrant attempts by members of the student body to illegally possess a car on this campus but initiate action immediately," he said.

The policy statement from Patterson was made because "some concrete policy by the Honor Councils should be stated and adhered to by the members of the student body."

The violations referred to by Patterson stem from the law passed in 1956 by UNC students and approved by the University trustees. This rule bans the use of cars to all freshmen as well as sophomores not having a "C" average.

HARVARD DEAN—American Education Week is being observed here, highlighted by the annual fall convocation of the School of Education tomorrow afternoon. Dean Francis Keppel of Harvard University's Graduate School of Education will address the convocation at 3 p.m. in Carroll Hall auditorium, speaking on "The Importance of Professional Preparation in Education." The program is open to the public.

Jordan Vows To Charge Syria With Act Of Aggression On King

Premier Rifai Tells Parliament Government To Go Before U.N.

AMMAN — (AP) — Premier Samir Rifai told a cheering emergency session of Parliament Tuesday night Jordan will accuse Syria of an act of aggression for intercepting King Hussein's vacation-bound plane.

Thunderous applause greeted his announcement that the government would bring the case before the U.N. Security Council and ask Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to take quick measures for a debate.

Syrian Paper Says Hussein Wasn't Aboard

DAMASCUS, Syria — The newspaper Al Alam said Tuesday Jordan's King Hussein was not aboard the plane intercepted by United Arab Republic fighters Monday.

The newspaper declared the incident was a plot "engineered in agreement with the U.S. and British ambassadors in Amman in an attempt to rekindle the tension between the U.A.R. and Jordan."

The paper said Hussein never really intended to leave the country on vacation, because "he is aware that even his close supporters are plotting to dethrone him in favor of his younger brother, Prince Hassan, under a regency council."

Five Novice Debaters In 'Carolina Forensics'

Five UNC novice debaters will take part in the 1958 "Carolina Forensics" to be held Friday and Saturday at the University of South Carolina in Columbia.

The negative team members are Jeffrey Lawrence of Washington, D. C., and Joseph Roberts of Aurora, Colo.

Fifth UNC man competing will be Jeff Weisenfeld of Grant Neck, N. Y. who will enter the extemporaneous speaking contest.

Deadline For Telegram Is Extended One Day

The deadline for a telegram urging the Tar Heel football team to victory in Saturday's battle with Notre Dame has been extended one day, said University Club President Dave Jones.

Each name costs ten cents, and all organizations have been asked to turn in their money to the student affairs office by 3 p.m. Friday.

A TOAST TO BETTER RELATIONS—Duke and UNC, meeting on the gridiron a week from Saturday, have been discussing ways of turning spectator enthusiasm into good sportsmanship. Duke's Pep Board Chairman, Ty Heinekens (left) is shown with University Club President Dave Jones. Heinekens spoke to the University Club last night and urged both schools to avoid vandalism at the game.

V. Fulk, Ira Hardy, Lou Harvin, Howard Holderness; Everette James, Dave Jones, Ann Lucas, Joe Mazzei, DeWitt McCotter, Ann Mills, Bob Pearce, Tony Salinger and Bob Turner.

Racial Tension Meeting To Be Held At Pfeiffer

UNC students have an opportunity to attend a conference on racial tensions during the Thanksgiving holidays at Pfeiffer College in Misenheimer, according to Ed Levy, National Student Assn. coordinator.

Levy said yesterday any interested student should sign up with the secretary in the student government office in Graham Memorial. Room and board expenses will be paid through a grant from the Field Foundation.

A total of 150 students from 75 southern colleges and universities (including UNC) will be present for the conference Nov. 28-30.

Several student leaders from all parts of the South have met together during the past year to discuss the relation of students to racial tensions confronting southern campuses.

This conference is being sponsored by southern divisions of the United States National Student Assn., YMCA, United Student Christian Council, National Federation of Catholic College Students and the American Friends Service Committee.

The November conference will be titled "The College Student in the Changing South: a consideration of racial tensions confronting the southern campus." The purposes of the meeting, as stated by a group of southern student leaders in Atlanta last spring are:

1. To bring together people of good will to discuss problems arising out of racial tensions in the South;
2. To develop a fuller understanding of the problems involved through the interaction of fact and varying opinions;
3. To consider possible solutions of human relations problems confronting the southern campus and community; and
4. To foster an opportunity for exchange of ideas between student leaders who come from all parts of the region.

NO RESOLUTIONS

The conference will be devoted to the discussion of problems and their solution and will not engage in legislative action, debate or the passage of resolutions. Each participant will represent his own views and opinions, not his college or university, Levy said.

The conference will be interracial, planned by southern students with only southern college students invited to participate. He said this will be an "open conference" with no predetermined commitment to any one point of view.

Fourth Concert To Be Given Next Tuesday

Khrushchev's Latest Declaration Could Carry Grave War Danger

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev seems to be setting the stage for a major effort to force the Western powers out of Berlin.

The showdown this effort will produce may be slow in coming, perhaps one to three years. But it will probably carry the greatest danger of all-out war between the Soviet and western blocs that the world has seen for a long time.

TAKEN SERIOUSLY

Those are the estimates made here Tuesday of the future significance of the latest moves in Moscow and western capitals over the fate of divided Berlin. American officials take seriously Khrushchev's Monday announcement that the Russians intend to turn over administration of East Berlin to the Communist authorities of East Germany.

The timing of his declaration may have been determined by interest in fostering Soviet ties with Communist Poland. Russian attempts to settle German issues could be construed in Poland as being designed to pave the way for peaceful settlements and a demilitarized zone along the cold war front in Europe.

But the best informed authorities here said today they had no doubt that in the long run Khrushchev will undertake the serious attempt to force the western powers out of Berlin and build up the prestige of the Soviet dominated regime there by making the East German government supreme in the city.

The United States, Britain and France have occupied the city jointly with Soviet Russia since the end of World War II, and U. S. and British spokesmen Monday night turned down Khrushchev's demand for an end to the occupation. The State Department reiterated the U. S. policy of fighting if necessary to preserve western interests in the city which is entirely surrounded by East German territory.

Khrushchev's latest maneuver had been foreshadowed by East German propaganda attacks on the western position in Berlin. However, some authorities here see it significantly against a background of failures by the Soviet Communist high command during the past year of "Sputnik diplomacy" to make any really important or profitable gains in the drive to expand Red power.

While it is true that the Soviets have built up their influence in the Middle East at the expense of western power since 1955, for example, it is also true that the most recent crisis centering on the revolt in Iraq and the landing of U. S. and British troops in Lebanon and Jordan did not produce any great net gain for Moscow.

NO FORMOSA GAIN

The same assessment may also be made of the outcome of the latest Formosa crisis as it stands to date. The Chinese Reds, with an involvement of Soviet military aid and prestige, were unable to make the Chinese Nationalists and the United States pull away from Quemoy and Matsu by use of force. The Chinese Reds also failed to talk the United States into pulling its forces out of South Korea although they claimed they had moved out of North Korea.

By contrast with these probes and pressures the East-West front in Europe has been relatively quiet in the last decade.

In the view of many top authorities here the cold war front in Germany has always been the most dangerous area of East-West conflict because of the stakes involved. Essentially, these stakes are control of the western Europe and the political and military resources of the western European countries by Moscow.

No one here thinks that Khrushchev deliberately wants to start a war over Berlin but believe he would be willing to risk a war if he was convinced he had a fair chance of coming through the crisis as the winner of most of the stakes—for example, with Communism dominant in West Germany and a threat to the rest of Europe.
