Kepley Provides Spark For Opening Victory

Dick Kepley, Carolina's 6-8 center from Roanoke, Va., must be considered as the spark that provided the Tar Heels with an 83-67 opening game win over Clemson.

While his mates were having their troubles in the first half, Kepley was pouring in 16 points. He added 8 in the second half to finish as high scorer with a total of 24.

Kepley proved extremely effective on hook shots and lay-ups, and at the free throw line. His score breaks down into 7 field goals and 10 for 11 on foul shots.

His slowing down point-wise in the game to find the right combination. When he did, it was really right.

Harvey Salz and York Larese at guards, Kepley at center, and Doug Moe and Lee Shaffer at forwards was the team McGuire settled upon with about 5 minutes gone in the second half. This crew ran all over the helpless Tigers, running their lead as high as 18 points.

It wasn't that the Tar Heels exactly looked bad in the first half, it was just that Clemson looked so good. The Tigers couldn't do anything wrong if they tried, hitting a phenomenal 66 per cent of their shots.

Carolina did have some trouble on rebounds. In the second half they had it all to themselves after the winning combination was installed.

Larese Impressive

York Larese, in his debut as a Tar Heel, was very impressive. Although Larese didn't shoot as much as some would have liked, he still finished with 15 points to become second high man.

Larese showed especially well in setting up plays to teammates, as did soph Doug Moe. Moe collected 12 points.

Lee Shaffer seemed always to have a shot ready when the occasion demanded. Shaffer also had 12 points for the night. Harvey Salz got 10 points, but his main value came in play-making.

All in all, the Tar Heels had five men in double figures and that adds up to a ballclub. Captain Danny Lotz just missed double digits, closing with 8 markers.

It would now appear that the Tar Heels will be trouble for everybody this season, considering the performance Wednesday night. The team was just that—a team.

State College now has the inside track on the conference crown, having knocked off Maryland 55-53 at College Park Wednesday night. But the Pack can look for trouble the first time they meet McGuire's Tar Heels, sometime after Christmas.

Carolina's next game, a home affair, is Monday night with the talented Virginia Cavaliers. They then move to South Carolina for a single game, and on to Kentucky for the Blue Grass tourney. These games close out the schedule before Christmas.

Bishop Elected

Wayne Bishop, winner of last year's outdoor ACC two-mile and this year's cross country crown, has been elected captain of the 1959 UNC track team.

Succeeding Everett Whatley at the helm, the slender senior from Greenville is considered by most observers to be the top long distance runner in the ACC. Only two weeks ago he sneaked away with the conference cross country championship after missing a month with an injured knee.

This year, Bishop is expected to run both the mile and two mile, and is scheduled to participate in the Sugar Bowl mile and in several Eastern indoor meets.

Don't expect to stay ahead of your bills if you allow them to do all the running.

second stanza of the contest was one of the keys in Carolina's spurt to a big lead. In the first half the Tar Heels had fed consistently to Kepley, and he had complied with goal after goal. In the second half Kepley was used as a partial decoy. With the Clemson defense concentrating on him, the Tar Heels began to shoot and hit on drives and from the outside.

Part of "Right" Combination Kepley was part of the "right" combination Frank McGuire stuck with in the second half. McGuire shuffled 8 players in and out of the
