IFC Moves For Officers Election

Nominations Still Open; Voting Next Meeting

Ashe Ekum of Sigma Nu was nominated president of the Inter-Fraternity Council during preliminary nominations Monday night.

Other nominations include Ben Geer Keyes, vice president; Jim Thompson and Herb Scott, secretary; and Walker Blanton and Pete Austin, treasurer.

Nominations will be open again before voting starts in the next meeting, Feb. 23.

GREEK WEEK
Greek Week will begin the second week in March. The week will include exchange dinners for pledges, a work day, a field day and a carnival.

Pledge quizzes concerning the IFC and Student Government should be distributed to various pledge trainers within a week.

The first operation involving the new machine which allows blood to be circulated outside the body while the heart is being worked on was successful.

IFC BLOOD PROGRAM
Dick Olive, who is in charge of the blood program of the IFC, urged the representatives to have their constituents get their blood typed now.

IFC President Tucker Yates said the IFC would have a desk and files in the basement of Smith Dormitory. This space has recently been allocated to the offices of student activities.

University Party Approves Changes

By DEE DANIELS

The University Party passed unanimously last night "sweeping changes" in its method of nominating candidates for campus elections.

During the spring nominating conventions, each dormitory, fraternity, sorority and Town Men's IV shall be represented by five delegates and a sufficient number of alternates, all registered UP members, selected at caucuses by each group.

It is the responsibility of the delegates and alternates to screen all possible candidates of the residence or membership in order to determine those to be nominated by the delegation.

Each delegation, whose delegates must be present to vote, shall have only the number of votes equal to the number of delegates present. In case one of the delegates is up for nomination, an alternate will take his place at the convention.

Voting will be done by secret ballot and the chairman of each delegation will submit the votes to the convention chairman.

Delegation chairmen are to be chosen by and from the delegation.

Caucuses at which the delegates and alternates will be chosen will be presided over by a volunteer registrar from each fraternity, sorority and dormitory.

The registrar shall register UP members in his section and may call the caucus at his discretion.

No fees or petitions are required to become a UP member this spring.

During the week of Thursday, Feb. 12, to Thursday, Feb. 19, the registrars will conduct their campaigns and elections. On the 19th, they will submit the names of all delegates and alternates to the Student Government office.

The nominating convention will be held Monday and Tuesday night, Feb. 23 and 24, in Gerrard Hall.

Interviews for persons interested in filling the vacancies left by the resignation of UP representatives to the Student Legislature will be held today in Roland Parker I between 2 and 5 p.m. According to John Minter, party chairman, representatives are needed from Town Women's, Town Men's I, II, III and IV and Dorm Men's I districts.

SPEAKER — Dr. D. W. Roberts is one of the numerous nationally known speakers who will appear on the program of the fourth annual North Carolina Conference on Handicapped Children. The conference will be held at N. C. Memorial Hospital Feb. 27-28. Dr. Roberts is executive director of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, one of the nation's largest voluntary agencies serving the crippled. All sessions of the conference are open to the public.

Student Union Omission 'Disappoints' UNC Heads

By NORMAN B. SMITH

The omission of a long-needed new student union from the recommendations of the Advisory Commission to the N. C. General Assembly was disappointing to many administrative and student leaders.

In hopes that the student union can be restored to the budget by legislative action later in the spring, Student Body President Don Furtado asserted,

"The case for the student union is still valid and as each day passes showing our present union to be more inadequate, the need becomes more obvious."

Severe blows were dealt the University operating budget also. Increased appropriations for faculty pay, library acquisitions and research aid were drastically cut.

PICKED 'B' BUDGET CEAN
"They picked the B budget (section dealing with enrichment and compensation for inflation) as clean as a supermarket chicken," said James Godfrey, dean of the faculty and academic affairs budgetary officer.

The Commissions' recommendations submitted to the General Assembly Monday represented a successful attempt to balance the state budget. This has resulted in substantial cuts to budgets submitted by most of the agencies supported by the state. Institutions of higher education suffered especially because all of them asked for large increases to meet the needs of skyrocketing enrollments expected in the next decade.

Only a 7 1/2 per cent increase was granted to the University operating budget (excluding Health Affairs) which meant that $1,173,857 had to be chopped from University requests.

LIBRARY SUFFERING
The program suffering most acutely from the cuts appears to be the Louis Round Wilson Library. The Commission recommended that none of the additional funds for acquisition of new books be granted. This leaves expenditure for new volumes on a low level. Librarian Jerald Orne said, "In general we can't maintain our status under these conditions. We are in considerable danger of being passed by other institutions," Orne said. The University library is now ranked third among the libraries of Southeastern universities and 24th among the 41 members of the Association of Research Libraries.

Completely omitted also was a request to add $20,000 per annum to the aid to faculty research program. At the same time the normal increase of full-time researchers

Provost Explains Program Absence

Dr. Donald B. Anderson, Consolidated University Provost, explained the absence of the regular Chet Huntley program this past Sunday night by saying that the University station wanted to give an unbiased presentation of all issues.

The program Sunday dealt with the role of the NAACP in the race problem, and was arranged as an answer to a special program entitled "The Second Agony of Atlanta," presented by Huntley during last week.

At the end of the program, Huntley, in suggesting methods of solving the integration problem in the South, pointed out that it would be beneficial if the extremists would get out and let the moderates do the job.

NAACP TECHNIQUES AGGRAVATING SITUATION
He added that the NAACP's legal technique's were not bring about the result intended and were aggravating rather than soothing the situation.

This program, being a special program, was not broadcast by WUNC-TV for lack of information about the programming content with particular emphasis on whether the program presented a definite point of view.

Anderson pointed out that since WUNC-TV is a University station, he wanted to be clear that it was not presenting anything but a documented news presentation. He added that he was unable to get information about the program, so he did not authorize the station to use the program.

WILKINS DEMANDED EQUAL TIME

Following the program, Roy Wilkins, secretary of the NAACP, demanded equal time to reply to Huntley's assertions, and Huntley arranged his regular program Sunday night to include Wilkins.

Anderson explained that this program was not used because it would have represented only one side of the argument and the station's purpose was to be as impartial as possible.

EDITOR ON PROGRAM

However, also included on the program was Thomas R. Waring, editor of the Charleston, S. C. News and Courier and a segregationist was also on the program as an active participant. Waring was in favor of NAACP withdrawal and pointed to the original Huntley program and the massive resistance program as evidence.

Neither Dr. Anderson nor Elmer Oettinger, acting program manager of the University station, could recall any program carried by WUNC-TV that discussed racial issues. Oettinger said that he "knew of no reason" why one should not be carried on the station, but that to his knowledge, there had not been one.

'Challenge To South' Topic Of Brooks Hays

Brooks Hays, former Arkansas congressman, will speak here Monday on "The Challenge to the South" in Hill Hall at 8 p.m.

Hays is being brought here by the Program Committee of the YMCA-YWCA. The former congressman is the first in a series of speakers the Program Committee will sponsor in a series dealing with the "Challenge of 1959" to the American way of life and institutions of democracy.

Co-chairmen of the sponsoring Y committee are Betty Kay Johnson and Parker Hodges.

In addition to his political career, Brooks Hays has been an active church worker. He currently is serving for the second time as president of the Southern Baptist Convention. Before he was elected president of the Convention, he served as chairman of the Conven-

New Orleans Orchestra Appears Here Tonight

The music of Tchaikovsky, Falla and Ravel will be performed by the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Carolina students will be admitted free to the concert on admission of Identification Cards.

The New Orleans Symphony is being sponsored here by the Chapel Hill Concert Series and Student Entertainment Committee.

TCHAIKOVSKY FEATURED

The main work of the evening will be the performance of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4. In addition, Conductor Alexander Hilsberg will lead the orchestra in Overture to "Czas Broughnon" by Kobelevsky, Interlude and Dance No. 1 from "La Vida Breve" by Falla and Daphnis and Chloe, Suite No. 2, by Ravel.

Soloist with the orchestra will be Kenneth Scutt, who will perform the flute solo, Night Soliloquy.

'GOODWILL ORCHESTRA'

Known as one of America's good will orchestras, the New Orleans Symphony is one of four leading orchestras of the nation sent abroad by the state department as a part of America's cultural exchange program.

Representative members of the orchestra recently made a successful tour of 16 South American countries.

Conductor Hilsberg took over direction of the New Orleans Symphony's Christian Life Commission.

Hays began his service in the United States Congress when he was elected in 1942 from the Fifth District in Arkansas. Since that time he has been re-elected to the House every two years until 1958 when he was defeated by Dale Alford in a surprise write-in campaign.

During his years in Congress, Hays was a member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, the Select Committee on Space Exploration and Astronautics and Select Committee to Investigate Tax-exempt Foundations.

The former congressman is currently speaking before various church, civic and college groups over the country. Hays will speak to students at Shaw University in Raleigh Monday morning before his address here Monday night.

ALEXANDER HILSBERG conducts 'Goodwill Orchestra' in 1952 and, after over six years, has led the orchestra into national and international recognition.

WANTED: COEDS

The student government needs coeds to work in its Secretariat, according to John Brooks, assistant to the student body president.

The work involves typing, filing, collecting of data and report writing.

All coeds interested are requested to apply for a position in the Student Government office any day this week between 2 and 5 p.m. No previous student government experience is necessary.

IDC Plans Dorm Rules Revision

A revision of the rules and regulations in men's dormitories will be undertaken at the meeting of the Interdormitory Council tonight.

The IDC will also have a demonstration and discuss whether or not to purchase a hi-fi set for dances in the basement of Cobb.

Also on the agenda will be the Grail Mural Sports Jamboree contests between dorms and fraternities, and its events and rules.

Methods of encouraging tournaments in the dormitories to select the best players will be brought up at the meeting.

Other topics will include the Sweetheart Dance in the basement of Cobb on Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. and tentative plans for the Tennis Court Ball in the spring.

Old License Tags Good 'Till Midnight Feb. 16

RALEIGH — Since the Feb. 15 deadline falls on Sunday this year, Tar Heel motorists can drive with old license tags until midnight Monday, Asst. Motor Vehicles Commissioner Joe Garrett said Tuesday.

The Highway Patrol has been instructed to halt motorists who fail to have new license tags after next Monday at midnight.

Garrett said that through Feb. 6, a total of 841,000 license tags had been sold in the state compared with 816,000 for the same date last year.

Garrett urged motorists not to wait until Monday to buy their tags. "Each day they wait should see the waiting lines get progressively longer," he said.

Sorority Members Work For Pan Hell Charities

Sorority members will be working at Robbins Store the next few weeks to earn money for the Panhellenic charities.

Members of each sorority on campus will work one day at the downtown store from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. In return for the work, Robbins will donate 10 per cent of all earnings made in the store during the day to Panhellenic.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is the first sorority to work. Kappa members will be in the store all day Thursday.

U. S. Boosts UNC Loan Fund

UNC students may now borrow money from a new $25,308 loan fund that includes a big hunk from the federal government.

Chancellor William B. Aycock has announced that the University accepted $22,777 from the national government for student loans. To this amount has been added $2,531 as UNC's contribution in meeting conditions of the federal grant under the National Defense Education Act.

The grant was the University's portion of $6 million allocated and universities all over the nation.

The total value of the present University student loan fund is slightly more than $975,000. Over half a million of this amount is in notes receivable, leaving about $450,000 for potential future lending purposes. This fund is separate from the $22,777 granted by the federal government and administered by the U. S. Office of Education.

The federal loans will be administered by the University through the same faculty and administrative officials who handle the regular loan funds.

The applicant for a loan must be an enrolled student who has academic promise and who can justify need for educational expenses. Effective Feb. 1, 1959, the rules governing maximum amount and terms of student loans have been made more favorable for those who meet the tests of eligibility for a loan.

Slight differences in the criteria for lending money under the federal program and under other University loan funds at Chapel Hill were specified by Dr. C. O. Cathey, chairman of the faculty committee on Student Scholars and Harold Weaver, manager of the loan fund.

The rules for administration of the loan funds are the same for University and federal loans, except for certain University loan funds with restrictions set by the donor which conflict with these rules. A substantial amount, approximately half, of University loan funds have restrictions requiring interest payment while in school and requiring sureties.

Conditions governing loans which apply to both the federal funds and some of the other loan funds in the University include:

1. Funds are available to students enrolled in the University who can show genuine need for financial help with their college expenses and who have "academic promise."

2. Borrowed funds may be used for tuition and fees, cost of books, instructional material and equipment, cost of room and board; transportation and necessary meals for commuters; reasonable expenditures for living quarters and for married students; other "reasonable expenses" related to obtaining an education or keeping a good student in school.

3. A loan for an individual student may reach, but not exceed, $1,000 in any calendar year, or $5,000 for four years or more. The amount of loan extended is based on the amount of need for educational expenses.

4. Loans shall bear interest rate of three per cent on the unpaid balance.

5. Interest is not charged while the borrower is in school on a full-time basis.

6. Students over 21 and competent to execute a legal contract may borrow without security and without endorsers. Students under 21 require sureties.

Date Set For 1959 IDC Sweetheart Dance

The 1959 IDC "sweetheart" will be crowned at the annual Interdormitory Council Sweetheart Dance planned for Friday, Feb. 20.

The annual affair is free for students. A combo will play for the dance in Cobb Basement. The highlight of the evening will be the announcement and crowning of the new "sweetheart."

Candidates for the "sweetheart" may be selected by each boy's dorm, contest Chairman Dave Alexander said yesterday.

The candidates must be UNC coeds. All entries must be submitted to Alexander by midnight Friday, Feb. 13.

The judging for the contest will be held Friday afternoon, Feb. 20, in the Rendezvous Room at 3 o'clock. Candidates have been requested to wear party dresses or suits for the judging.

Serving as hostesses for the dance Feb. 20 will be members of the Carolina Woman's Council.

3 Top Offices Now Open On GMAB

The top offices of the Graham Memorial Activities Board will be filled by March 1 so as to give the new president, vice president and secretary a chance to work for at least two months with old officers.

GMAB President Bob Carter said yesterday application for the three top offices will be available in the GMAB office or at the Information Desk in Graham Memorial.

Carter said an extensive program of orientation and planning will be given the new officers after their selection by March 1.

Also after the selection of officers for 1959-60, new committee chairmen will be named.

Referring to the GMAB offices available, Carter said, "This is an excellent opportunity for students to render a service to the campus and to their fellow students. The field of programing is wide and varied, and there is a place for every interest in student government."

Chess Team Blanks Duke By 4-0 Score

A four-board chess team from Chapel Hill defeated the Duke University team last Saturday 4-0.

Scoring the clean sweep for UNC were Daniel Gallik, Henry Stockhold, Albert Margolis and Wooten Lewis. The Duke team was composed of David Deamer, James Connelly, Lynn Buzzard and Walter Farkas.

The match was the first of the year for the UNC team. Future matches are planned with such teams as the University of Richmond and the Raleigh Chess Club.

A local 30-30 tournament (30 moves in 30 minutes), which was planned to begin Wednesday evening of this week, has been postponed until this or some future weekend, in order to permit more players to enter.

Student Panel Will Discuss Campus Dress

"Dos and Don'ts of Campus Dress" will be discussed by a panel of students and townspeople in Gerrard Hall Thursday at 4 p.m.

This special panel discussion is being sponsored as the fourth in a series of In-Service Training Programs by the dean of women's office.

Panel members include: Jay Dieffell, president of the freshman class, with views of an underclassman; Bob Carter, president of GMAB, with views of an upper-classman; Paddy Wall, secretary of the student body, representing senior women; Jane Walters, Legislature member, with views of a junior coed; and Mrs. E. William Noland and Chancellor Emeritus Robert House, representing Chapel Hill residents.

Moderating the panel will be Mrs. Carter Burns, a local resident.
