Carolina To Face Clemson Today At 4 In First Round Of Atlantic Coast Tourney

By ELLIOTT COOPER

The Atlantic Coast Conference free-for-all opens this afternoon in Raleigh at 2 o'clock when Duke plays Wake Forest and the Tar Heels are the only team which stands to be a complete loser.

Couch Frank McGuire's team, seeded second in the tournament behind State, goes against Clemson at 4 in the second game of the afternoon double header. In the two regular season contests the Tar Heels eased by the Tigers 83-67 and 66-46.

The Carolina win over Duke Saturday gave the victors a 12-2 conference mark and an 18-3 overall record. Both State and Carolina had identical records to tie for the crown with Duke finishing third. In the drawings for the tournament State was seeded number one and the Tar Heels second.

All five of the Carolina starters finished up the season with double-figure averages. York Larese at 15.7 is the Tar Heel's leading scorer and fourth man in the conference behind John Richter, Carroll Youngkin, and Paul Adkins.

Following Larese are Doug Moe at 13.0, Lee Shaffer and Harvey Salz both over 12.0 and Dick Kelsey at 10.5. As a team Carolina was the top offensive club in the league averaging an even 72 points through fourteen games.

Today's meeting between the Tar Heels and the Tigers will mark the third straight year that Carolina has met a Clemson team in the opening round of the ACC. A year ago it was this same Clemson club that almost eliminated the Heels in the first round. Carolina pulled it out 62-51, but at the half it was Clemson by five points.

Bress Maravich' Clemson outfit ended up its ACC play with a 5-9 mark, the best they have ever had in the league. The main lack on the Tiger team is depth but despite this they play aggressive ball in every game.

The Clemson offense is led by George Krajack and Doug Hoffman. Both of these two finished the season with an 11 point or better average. Besides this pair other members of the Clemson squad counted on to see action are guards Dutch Shamble and Bill Warren, center Walt Gibbons, and forward Don Carver.

The atmosphere surrounding the Tar Heel chances of winning the tourney and the NCAA right are clouded by the fear of losing all the marbles that have been gathered during the season in a couple of days. This is always the trouble with finishing first and then having to prove it once again. Since State is on probation and cannot go any further even if it should win, Carolina is going to face six other teams which are capable of playing good ball on any given occasion and would love to go to New York.

Regardless of the outcome of his team in the tourney, McGuire has said that the year has been most "satisfying" considering it was supposed to be a rebuilding season.

In the other action this evening State will meet South Carolina at 7 and Maryland will go against Virginia two hours later in what could be the best game of the tournament if both team want to play ball.

Carolina is supposed to be the favorite but proving it is another question that only one, two, or three games can answer.

Pro Musica Antiqua To Perform At Duke

The New York Pro Musica Antiqua, a performing group of singers and instrumentalists, will present a concert of early Spanish and Flemish music in the Duke University Women's College Auditorium tonight at 8:15.

Films To Be Shown On Student Retreats

Glenn Johnson will show film strips of international student retreats over the world at tonight's World Understanding session at the Baptist Student Union center at 9 o'clock.

The program tonight is the fourth in a series of six to discuss problems of relations between United States and foreign students.

U. S. Policy Is Y Topic For Writer

Free lance writer Michael Harrington, the speaker for the spring Y conference this weekend, will discuss United States foreign policy Friday night in at 6:45 in the upstairs dining room of Lenoir Hall.

Students unable to attend the conference have been invited to hear Harrington and talk with him at this supper meeting, which will also serve as a kick-off session for the conference.

Those wishing to dine in Lenoir Hall should be present at 6 p.m.

This appearance marks Harrington's third visit to the UNC campus. He formerly appeared during the 1958 Carolina Symposium and was speaker for summer Y night last year.

This spring's Y conference, the theme of which is "The World . . . Policy and Perspective," will begin Saturday afternoon rather than Friday, to enable more students to attend the weekend affair. The group will leave for Bricks, from the University YMCA at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Students not yet registered have been urged to do so immediately in the YMCA office.

Scholarships Won By 20 Prep Grads

The first year that Morehead Scholarships were made available to a larger number of preparatory schools, 20 of the 22 preparatory school finalists received a scholarship.

When the scholarships for 1959 were presented last Saturday, 47 of the 64 finalists received the award, the largest number of recipients in the history of the scholarship.

The scholarships this year went to 24 graduating seniors in North Carolina public schools, to 20 preparatory school seniors and to three graduates of North Carolina junior colleges.

According to Roy Armstrong executive secretary of the Morehead Foundation, this year's applicants were unusually outstanding, making the final selection by the Central Committee very difficult.

Each scholarship is worth $1,250 a year, or $5000 for four years—covering all college expenses, plus spending money.

Legislature To Face Jury Bill

The abolition of permanent jurors in trials concerning Honor Code violations will be the major item considered by the Student Legislature in its meeting tonight.

Permanent jurors have been a fixture on campus since the jury system was inaugurated last spring. The original intent was to provide some experience on each jury deciding fact in cases under the Honor Code. It was hoped that permanent jurors could be dispensed with after a year or so. The bill was introduced by Bill Porter (SP).

Norman B. Smith's (SP) bill would establish a committee to study the pay, employment, and working time of several classes of university employees. The bill was introduced with the intention of aiding the administration in small economy measures in the face of a small budget.

Another bill introduced by Norman B. Smith and Bob Pierce would declare the support of the Student Legislature for the original budget requests of Chancellor Aycock and President Friday.

Rear Admiral Will Discuss Fleet Supply

New developments in the fleet supply system will be discussed in a talk by Rear Admiral Hugh C. Haynsworth Jr. of the U. S. Navy today at noon in Carroll Hall.

The speech is designed for members of the local NROTC Battalion Division, but other interested persons may attend.

The Admiral's address will probably point up the problem of global supply support of the various U. S. fleets from mobile service support forces.

Several recent innovations have been accepted as improvements in the complex system of getting there "first with the most." These innovations include the installment of electronic accounting machines aboard ships of the support force and the incorporation of carriers and helicopters in furnishing necessary support.

Rear Admiral Haynsworth is currently the commanding officer of the Naval Supply Center in Norfolk, Va. This Norfolk center is the largest supply support command in the Navy.

A graduate of the Naval Academy, Haynsworth has previously served as fleet and force supply officer with the U. S. Atlantic fleet and assistant chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts for Supply Management.

Pembroke Houses Students In Log Cabins And Attics

By WILLIAM WRIGHT
RALEIGH.— An economy-minded college president, who won legislative bravos this week for writing his speech on scratch paper, says a state college campus is going begging for students.

While other state-supported institutions of higher learning scramble to stretch facilities for swelling enrollment, Dr. Walter J. Gale says Pembroke State College is more than two-thirds empty.

Gale told the legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee Tuesday that Pembroke, hard by the South Carolina line in Roberson County, could handle 1,200 to 1,400 students — if it only had a place for them to sleep. The college's enrollment is just over 400.

The college has dormitories for only 32 students, and, Gale reported, "in my opinion they should be

Board Stands Firm On Request

Student Union Would Remain Budget Item

"We've made our request, and we're standing on it," J. Harris Purks, chairman of the Board of Higher Education said Wednesday. Purks said this in connection with the UNC request for $13,370,636 which was slashed by the Advisory Budget Commission to $6,039,800.

For students at the University, Purks' stand means that the Board is standing for inclusion of a student union as one of the items for the next biennium.

Purks announced that the Board of Higher Education would hold an open meeting in Raleigh March 11 to discuss the budget and transact normal business.

Neither Chancellor William Aycock nor President William Friday could be reached to ascertain whether they will be present at the meeting.

Postponed was a meeting scheduled for Friday in which University officials were going to give their views in the capital improvements budget to the Board.

Both Aycock and Friday, along with several other University dignitaries will appear before the joint appropriations committee in Raleigh March 18 to discuss the entire Consolidated University budget.

Among the items cut by the Advisory Budget Commission from the original University request which was improved in its entirety by the Board of Higher Education were:

1) In the area of reconstructions, renovations and minor additions, a request for $322,000 for the Physics Building supplement was slashed to $200,000 by the Commission; and $44,000 requested for Saunders Hall was cut to $18,000. The $240,000 for chemistry laboratories in Venable was left unchanged by the Commission.

2) Of money asked for major additions, a $500,000 request for an addition to Swain Hall was reduced to $425,000. The $435,836 requested for an addition to Hill Hall was changed by the Commission to $485,000.

3) In the area of new construction, $1,063,000 requested for a geology and geography building became $750,000; $1,470,000 requested for a new botany building was cut to $750,000; and a request for a new $876,000 foreign languages building was reduced to $750,000. Requests for a new student union were cut entirely.

Also under new construction, the $481,000 requested for a new cafeteria (for 1961-69) was left virtually intact, with only a $1,000 reduction.

SP Nominees Meet

In Graham Today

All persons who have received either nominations or endorsements from the Student Party for the spring elections are requested to meet in Roland Parker I in Graham Memorial today between 2 and 5 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting, according to SP campaign coordinator Bob Nobles, is to plan campaign literature.

INFIRMARY

Students in the infirmary yesterday included:

- Marcia Kenyon Davis, Linda Fowler, Margaret Elaine Burgess, Donna Brooks Irving, Sandra Marion Jones, Ina Mable Broadwell, Sally Ann Harbin, James Herman Baker, Jeff Ray White, Robert Floyd Mixon, Willie Zachariah Mitchell, Herbert Pearce Scott, Jerry Jackson Thaup, Benjamin Casey Herring Jr., Bruce Gilbert Pearson, Robert Arville Burge, Randal Bennett Etheridge Jr., Phillip Allen Spruill, Warren Barnett Jackson Jr., Timothy Columbus McCoy, George Wendelyn Vogel, Fred Albin, Rusty Hammond, Neill McCauley Laney and Zell Allison McGee.

On The Ball

Campus Chest Drive Far Short Of Goal

With three days officially remaining in this year's Campus Chest drive, Campus Chest Chairman Doug Kellam urged students Wednesday to make as generous contributions as possible.

Miss Kellam said, "The drive at this point has not been as successful as the Campus Chest Board had expected."

Early in the week, only $400 had been contributed to the goal of $3,000. Solicitors in dorms and to faculty are working toward reaching the goal before the end of the drive on Saturday.

The average donation from each student was listed as $1, Miss Kellam said. This amount was suggested because the Board believed "We at Carolina are so very fortunate that we will be helped by the drive," she said.

The annual Campus Chest drive is the only campus-wide solicitation allowed at UNC. Included in the budget this year are the World University Service, the Goettingen Exchange Scholarship Program and the Orange County Class for Mentally Retarded Children.

In urging students to contribute to the Campus Chest, Miss Kellam said, "At times we tend to be very self-satisfied with what we have on our own campus and do not take the time to look into other areas."

"I feel that is people are educated properly about the drive and the agencies which will be helped that they will be willing to sacrifice a little to help these students in other areas."

The three agencies being benefited by the Campus Chest give aid to foreign students, Carolina and German students (in an exchange program) and mentally retarded children of this county.

Alpha Gamma Delta To Aid Palsy Victims

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority will be selling home cooked food today from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Electric Construction Company, located on Franklin Street next to Milton's.

Proceeds from the food sale will be donated to benefit cerebral palsy victims.

Goldsmith Is Gray's Choice For Manager

Al Goldsmith, University Party candidate for president of the student body last year, is the campaign manager for UP's presidential candidate this spring, Charlie Gray.

Gray said Wednesday that Goldsmith would coordinate his campaign activities. Other members of Gray's campaign committee will be announced later.

"I'm sure he will conduct a campaign that will compare with the best in Carolina history," Gray said about Goldsmith. Gray referred Goldsmith's ability as gained from student government activities such as treasurer and chairman of the Carolina Symposium and floor leader in Student Legislature. Goldsmith is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Beta Kappa, the Order of the Grail and Order of the Old Well.

Goldsmith said Wednesday he accepted the position of campaign manager for Gray because "I feel that he has the talent, experience and ability to make the best student body president the University has ever had."

"There has been a crying need over the past years for a president who can lead student government forward without leaning toward radicalism or losing touch with reality. Too often there has been more concern with activities in Little Rock and NSA headquarters than with problems right here on the Carolina campus."

GM Activities Board Needs Chairman

Would you like to be a chairman — or a member — of a Graham Memorial Activities Board committee?

If so, you may obtain your application blank from the GMAB office or the information office of Graham Memorial.

Applications must be in before Friday, March 13.

The chairmen will be selected by the director of Graham Memorial, Howard Henry; GMAB president Bob Carter; and the new president of GMAB, Angus Duff.

The out-going chairmen will work with the newly-elected ones for a period of one month to orientate them and help them plan next year's programs.

Committees for next year are calendar, current affairs, drama, film, house, music, social, personnel, tournament, star series and publicity.

Roger Williams Plays Sun. In Memorial Hall

The Roger Williams concert Sunday night will be at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Because of the large number of students expected, townspeople will not be sold tickets until 7:45. Students will be admitted free on admission of Identification Cards.

The Williams concert is the final program on this year's Student Entertainment Series. Other artists brought here by the student group were George Melachroinos and his orchestra and the Roger Wagner Chorale.

Williams' program has not been released, but he is expected to perform popular and standard compositions, as his well known version of "Autumn Leaves."

The concert will be primarily a solo performance, but Williams will be accompanied on certain selections by a pair of guitars and bass. Another "instrument" to be used during the concert is his small piano, "Sebastian." This piano plays without a hand touching it and it "talks" by means of flashing lights and musical sounds.

Williams designed the piano himself, but will not tell how it works. His plans for the small piano probably came from his engineering training which he got in college. Although he majored in engineering at Drake University in Des Moines, his later fame has been in the fine arts profession.
