

New Government Heads Address Student Party

By STAN BLACK

With the close of the campus elections there comes a call for unity behind the newly elected officers of the student body.

It was with cooperation and unity in mind that Charlie Gray and David Grigg, the new UP president and vice president, addressed the Student Party last night.

Gray outlined some of his administration's aims and the general direction in which student government will move in the coming year. Immediate action will be taken in the areas of fraternities and dormitories, he stressed. Specific problems needing work are fraternity scholarship and faculty relations. In the dorms living conditions, social activities, and safety measures will get attention.

Concerning finances, Gray noted that as treasurer this past year he has seen much loose handling of funds by student government supported organizations. A year-round budget committee will be set up to deal with this problem and others arising in the field.

Other campus problems that will be looking into soon include high laundry charges, the high cost of books and the handling of student traffic violations. Also some action must be taken to liberalize or clarify the drinking and gambling rules, according to Gray.

Concerning the Student Party control of the Student Legislature, Gray said that "I only hope that we can approach these problems with a united and cooperative viewpoint." He emphasized that he will disregard party lines in making key campus appointments in the coming weeks.

David Grigg, newly elected vice president of the student body and speaker of the Student Legislature, added his request for bipartisan action toward the solution of campus problems. Noting that voting in the Legislature has traditionally cut across party lines, Grigg said that "if we work together, this can be a truly productive year for student government."

Jim Crowner, former SP floor leader, concurred with the UP leaders' remarks, saying that "our 30-20 majority in Student Legislature can help to make it an effective instrument of Student Government."

In the meeting's only business an amendment to the Student Party constitution was passed to provide for a single annual election of all party officers, including treasurer, after the spring elections.

New UP Office Holders Will Speak To Party

The University Party's four new student government office holders will speak at tonight's party meeting at 7:15 in Roland Parker I and II.

The four who recently made a sweep of the top student government offices are Charlie Gray, new president; David Grigg, vice president; Sue Wood, secretary, and Bob Bingham, treasurer.

The UP will also discuss the possibility of adopting by-laws for the party. These by-laws will provide for procedure at meetings and of nominations and elections.

Phi Society To Debate N. C. Sterilization Bill

The Jolly-Davis sterilization bill pending in the North Carolina General Assembly is the topic for debate in tonight's meeting of the Philanthropic Literary Society.

The controversial measure would provide for the sterilization of all women bearing more than two illegitimate children. At present the State Welfare Department pays a subsidy to these women for the support of each child.

Payments of this sort have drawn increasingly unfavorable comment from legislators in these times of tight budget requirements, particularly as often the payments are not used for their intended purpose. The support payments have come to be regarded as "pay" for having illegitimate children.

Jolly and Davis propose to cut down on birth out of wedlock by making it dangerous to have them. In this way, they argue, the state could save money and at the same time partially eliminate one of the biggest sources of juvenile delinquents.

Opponents of the bill argue that it is an inhuman and impractical means to curb what is basically a social question. All of these points and others will be brought out in tonight's debate.

All interested persons have been invited to attend and participate. The Society will meet at 8 p.m. in Phi Hall on the fourth floor of New East.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES WEEK — Chapel Hill junior high and high school students will be participating the annual Youth Activities Week April 19-24 at the University Methodist Church. Events for the week have been planned and will be coordinated by several UNC students. Bob Bingham (standing), who is in charge of general arrangements, is discussing plans for Youth Activities Week with the following: (left to right) the Rev. Charles Hubbard, pastor of the University Methodist Church; Betsy Fitch, Monty Milner, Peggy Brown, Chuck Gerke, Kermit Sigmon, Webb McCracken, Diana Johnson and Harvey Salz. Photo by Bill Brinkhous

Student Council Gets Elections Case Soon

A test case to determine the meaning of a clause in the General Election Law will be brought before the Student Council tonight or later this week.

Hank Patterson, chairman of the Elections Board, said Monday that Roy B. Goodman would appear before the council for violation of the Election Law, Article IV, Section 4. This article states: "No candidate for office shall be a poll tender in the district in which he is a candidate."

Patterson said Goodman, a candidate for Legislature from Dorm Men's III, tended the poll in Alexander Dorm between 2 and 4 p.m. April 7. Goodman signed his name to the roster of poll tenders.

Because of this violation, Goodman has been summoned to appear before Student Council. Patterson said the council, in acting on Goodman's case, will interpret the meaning of another Election Law clause in question.

This clause is in Article IV, Section 5, which states: "The Elections Board and/or poll tender,

U. N. Model Assembly Elects UNC Students

Two UNC students were elected to offices during the U.N. Model Assembly held here last weekend. Election of officers climaxed a three-day program of speakers and discussion centered around such problems as the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Roger Foushee of UNC was elected president of the state Collegiate Council for the United Nations (CCUN). The CCUN was the sponsoring organization for the Model Assembly.

Bob Silliman, also a student here, was named chairman of the Continuations Committee by Foushee. Elected as vice president of the North Carolina CCUN was Charles Jones of John C. Smith University.

Besides the election of new officers, the Model Assembly sessions Saturday were concerned with various resolutions presented by "committees."

Debate waxed warm Saturday morning between the Indian and Pakistan delegations over the mat-

WAA Revote Set Today

A re-vote is being held today for president of the Women's Athletic Association. The two candidates are Catherine Bolton (SP) and Martha Custis (Independent).

The re-vote is being held because Miss Custis' name was omitted from the absentee ballots. Her name had not been printed on the ballots because her petition of candidacy was misplaced until after the printing.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. today in all coed dorms, except Kenan, and in front of Gerard Hall (or inside the Y in case of rain). The poll at Kenan will be open from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Sports Editor Resigns Post; Cooper Named

Rusty Hammond, sophomore and sports editor for The Daily Tar Heel for this year has given his resignation to new Editor Davis B. Young.

In a statement to Young, he said, "I wish to make it clear first of all that I am resigning for purely personal reasons. My academic load and my other campus activities have been neglected at the expense of the job."

"The changing of editors has absolutely nothing to do with my resignation; the decision to quit was made many weeks ago. I have enjoyed being sports editor of The Daily Tar Heel, but I feel that I can no longer do a proper job with all things considered."

He added, "The two main reasons for my resignation are that I must take six courses both semesters of next year in order to enter Law school, and that I feel that whoever takes my place should have the extra experience gained from having the job this spring."

"I am sure that the man chosen to replace me will do a good job and I am ready to offer him any assistance he may need."

Hammond concluded, "Since the first consideration of school is academics, I feel that I must devote more time to them."

Editor Young expressed regret over Hammond's resignation commenting, "Rusty is one of the finest young sports writers this school has had in a long time. He will certainly be missed in this capacity."

Young immediately named Elliott Cooper to replace Hammond, saying, "I am sure that Cooper can come closer to filling Hammond's shoes than anyone else."

Spain's Chaucer Is Lecture Topic Tonight

"The Spanish Chaucer" is the topic of the Humanities Division Faculty Lecture today in Carroll Hall at 8 p.m.

Prof. John Esen Keller of the Department of Romance Languages will give the address.

A professor of Spanish, Keller has been on the faculty since 1950, having taught at the University of Tennessee for three years after receiving his Ph.D. degree here in 1946.

Last month his "Libro de ols Gatos," one of medieval Spain's great collections of short stories was published by the Spanish Superior Council of Scientific Investigations.

Prof. Keller is an authority on the Canticles of King Alfonso and is currently working on another book entitled "The Life and Times of Alfonso the Wise."

Keller's lecture will conclude the 1958-59 series of faculty lectures sponsored by the Division of Humanities in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Kenton's Boys Rock Antonio's

Antonio's was rocking Monday night.

Some of Stan Kenton's boys dropped in for supper and then pulled out their instruments and let go with jazz.

Saturday night after the German's Concert here in Memorial Hall, six of the players went to the pizza house for supper. They then said they would return Monday night at 7:30 with other musicians to play.

Kenton played at Ft. Bragg Sunday and left Durham today for other engagements.

President Delays Decision On Future Of Secretary

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, April 13—President Eisenhower today delayed a decision on John Foster Dulles' future as Secretary of State.

Doctors meanwhile will make an effort to check Dulles' cancer by new medical treatment. Most administration leaders were gloomy about the prospects Dulles could win his fight. They expected he would resign shortly, perhaps within a comparatively few days.

Dulles' condition aroused immediate concern in Congress about who will represent the United States at the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva May 11.

Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) said that unless Dulles is able to resume fulltime work by that date, "I would expect he would resign."

"I don't think the country can go on and on without an active head of the State Department," Aiken said.

Aiken was saying in effect that an acting secretary could not stand on an equal footing at Geneva with the ministers of the Soviet Union and the Western allies of the United States.

Eisenhower, who is reported very worried about Dulles' illness, gave no clue to the future after a 45-minute visit with Dulles at Walter Reed Army Hospital today.

The 71-year-old secretary, worn and haggard, returned to the hospital yesterday after cutting short a rest stay in Florida.

During his Florida visit, Dulles apparently failed to regain the strength he had when he was a full-time architect and champion of administration foreign policy, a post he has filled for six years.

The White House announced after Eisenhower's visit to the hospital that Dulles would remain there for some days for additional medical observation and new treatment.

In yesterday's sudden announcement about Dulles' return, nothing was said about his need to undergo new treatment. He underwent four weeks of intensive radiation and also received a radioactive gold injection before leaving for Florida.

Eisenhower went directly to the hospital after he interrupted his Augusta, Ga., golfing vacation for a quick visit to the capital. The break in the vacation had been planned previously.

The White House said the two men talked alone most of the time about Dulles' health as well as "matters relating to world affairs."

On leaving, Eisenhower told newsmen his ailing secretary looked "fine."

No Resignation

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, emphasized to a news conference that Dulles has not resigned, despite some recurring rumors that he has decided to quit.

"I can say there has been no resignation submitted," Hagerty said.

"Pending additional medical evaluation there will be no further statement from the president."

Associates who know about Dulles' condition reported he was feeling somewhat weak and uncomfortable. They said his spirits were high, however, and that the secretary was even joking about the speculation over his future.

Dressed in a maroon bathrobe, Dulles walked down the hall from his hospital suite with the President. The two shook hands at the end of the corridor and said goodbye.

His doctors were reported ready to begin a new series of treatments in a few days. Hagerty said, however, he did not know whether the treatment would be more radiation, or surgery.

After physicians discovered his cancer Feb. 13, doctors said no further surgery was contemplated. He had undergone surgery for cancer in 1956.

G. M. SLATE

Activities scheduled in Graham Memorial today include:

SP Adv. Bd., 1:45-3 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room; Men's Orientation, 2-4 p.m., Grail Room; Debate, 4:50-5 p.m., Grail Room; Publications Board, 4-6 p.m., Roland Parker II; Special Events, 4:30-5:45 p.m., Roland Parker I and Woodhouse Conference Room; W. R. C., 7-9 p.m., Grail Room; Dance Lessons, 7-9 p.m., Rendezvous Room; Traffic, 7:30-10 p.m., Woodhouse Conference Room; Elections Board, all day, Roland Parker III.

Pope Decrees Against Communists

VATICAN CITY, April 13—Pope John XXIII has signed a decree declaring that Roman Catholics, warned 10 years ago against supporting the Communist Party, may not vote for fellow travelers of Communism.

The decree, made public today, has world-wide effect. It says Catholics cannot vote "for parties or for candidates who, even if they do not profess principles in contrast to Catholic doctrines, or the attributes of Christianity, may unite with Communism or aid the Communists."

A 1949 decree, excommunicating militant members of the Communist Party, explicitly warned Catholics not to join Communist Parties. It said Communism is materialist and anti-Christian.

The new decree — approved by the congregation of the Holy Office March 25 and signed by the Pope April 2 — broadened that warning.

Vatican sources said the measure was prompted at this time by the political situation in Sicily, an Italian island in the Mediterranean.

On that island Silvio Milazzo, wealthy landowner and longtime leader in the dominant Christian Democratic Party, last year formed a junta with the help of Communists and neo-Fascists. The junta governs the island, which has internal autonomy.

Sicily is now in the midst of a campaign to elect June 7 a new regional assembly, which will pick a new junta. Christian Democratic regulars, opposing Milazzo, are fighting an uphill fight.

Tonight Ernesto Cardinal Ruffini, Archbishop of Palermo, called attention of all Roman Catholic Bishops and archbishops on the island to the Vatican decree.

He said they and the clergy had "the task of bringing the decree to the attention of the faithful."

Italy's Communist Party is the largest west of the Iron Curtain and the party newspaper, L'Unita, denounced the decree as "a new open intervention by the Church in Italian political life."

Young Names Staff; Makes Few Changes

With today's issue of The Daily Tar Heel, Editor Davis Young and his staff have "taken over."

For the most part, there have been few staff changes. Six new staff members or new positions for old members were announced Monday by Young.

Serving as associate editors are Frank Crowther and Harold O'Tuel. The new managing editors are Ron Shumate and Ed Riner. Elliott Cooper has been named sports editor.

Anthony Wolff is now serving as review editor. The new feature editor is Mary Alice Rowlette, who was appointed by former Editor Curtis Gans last week.

Other staff members who have been working this year are the following: Walker Blanton, business manager; Anne Frye, news editor; Fred Katzin, advertising manager; Lee Arbogast, assistant advertising manager; Bob Walker, circulation manager; Avery Thomas, subscription manager, and Bill Brinkhous and Peter Ness, photographers.

INFIRMARY
HENRY S. SNOW