University Chorus To Feature Sacred Choral Works In Concert

Making their second appearance for the academic year, the University Chorus will present Faure's "Requiem Mass" in a concert of sacred choral works to be given in Hill Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Conducted by Dr. Wilton Mason, associate professor in the Music Department, the chorus is composed of 60 students representing nearly all the departments of the University. In January the chorus sang the choruses for the Music Department's production of "Carmen."

For this performance of Faure's Mass, the choristers will be assisted by guest soloists Rebecca Carnes, soprano, and Dr. Joel Carter, bass-baritone.

Mrs. Carnes, music teacher in Orange County schools and graduate student in the Music Department, sang the role of Andromeda in the Rice-Link opera, "Whoever Passes Along the Paths of the Sea," recently staged for Petite Musicale.

Dr. Carter, associate professor in the department and director of the Chapel Hill Choral Club and the UNC Glee Club, appeared as Escamillo in the January concert version of "Carmen."

Dr. Glenn Watkins, organist and assistant professor in the Music Department, will play the accompaniment for the Requiem Mass.

The remainder of the program will consist of unaccompanied choral works: "Vexilla regis" and "O sacrum convivium" by G. B. Pergolesi and "Alleluia" by Randa-day Thomson.

Jane C. Gray Memorial Award Given To Coed By Kappa Delta

Lu Ruth Sutton, a junior pharmacy student, has been named the recipient of the Jane C. Gray Memorial Award for 1959, given by the Kappa Delta sorority.

This honor goes yearly to the "most outstanding junior woman student" in recognition of her character, scholarship and leadership.

The Beta Chi chapter of Kappa Delta presents it in memory of Jane C. Gray, the wife of former UNC president Gordon Gray. Mrs. Gray died in 1953.

On Sunday afternoon a reception was held in Miss Sutton's honor at Graham Memorial. She received an inscribed silver card tray as winner of the sixth Gray Award.

Miss Sutton has been a member of the Women's Honor Council, Women's Residence Council, orientation committees and Rho Chi, honorary pharmacy fraternity. She is also vice president of the Valkyries, highest honorary for UNC women students, and is a dormitory counselor to freshmen.

Her other activities in her freshman year included membership in the Pharmacy Senate, in Kappa Epsilon, pharmacy honorary, and in the N. C. Pharmaceutical Assn. and the American Pharmacy Assn.

A graduate of Needham Broughton High School in Raleigh, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Sutton of Waccamaw.

The committee which selected Miss Sutton included Ray Jefferies, assistant to the dean of student affairs; Dr. Katherine Carmichael, dean of women and committee chairman and Donald Furtado, retiring president of the student body.

Representing the Women's Honor Council on the committee was Jane Rhea White. Sue Ballantine sat on the committee representing the women's orientation group.

Included in an advisory capacity were Miss Isabelle MacLeod, assistant to the dean of women, and Dr. Ernest Mackie, dean of awards.

Previous winners of the Gray Award were Paddy Sue Wall last year, Dorothy Byrne Pressly in 1957, Sylvia Tarantini in 1956, Jane Cocke in 1955 and Carol Webster in 1954.

UP Elections Held At 7 P.M.

Party officers for the coming year will be elected at the University Party meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in Roland Parker I and II. The positions of chairman, vice chairman, secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms are open.

Sergeant-at-arms is a new office with the duties of arranging meetings, sending out notices and keeping a list of members.

Charlie Gray, student body president, will speak to the body. Proposed by-laws will also be presented and discussed at this meeting, according to John Minter, outgoing chairman.

SP Discusses Constitution

The Student Party voted on several proposed changes to its constitution in its meeting last night. Final approval of these amendments is contingent on their passage next week also.

The majority of the proposals were drawn up by a study committee headed by Bill Whichard. A provision to provide for a single executive assistant who would function at all times was passed after some discussion. Another proposal to provide for four campaign coordinators rather than the present one was also passed.

It was decided that the file clerk should be elected rather than appointed hereafter. An amendment to provide for a dual committee to handle membership and publicity functions was tabled until next week for reconsideration by the Revisions Committee. Most of the other amendments were of a more technical nature and all were passed.

The party considered briefly the suggestion that meetings be held on Tuesday nights no action being taken. The election of a file clerk was postponed until next week after Pappy Churchill withdrew, leaving Betty Phillips as the only candidate.

Boating Cruise Planned By UNC Outing Club

The UNC Outing Club is inviting the UNC student body to a boating cruise on Sunday, May 3. The event will be held at Buggs' Island.

All cars, boats and people will leave from in front of Woollen Gym at 9 a.m. May 3. Anyone who wishes to go must sign up in the Intramural Office or call for registration no later than Thursday, April 30th. Individuals will be responsible for their own picnic lunches, and the drinks will be furnished by the UNC Outing Club.

Six boats have already been promised to be available for the boating cruise. Anyone who plans to take his own boat must register it with the Intramural Office. These boats must meet the requirements of the U. S. Coast Guard, for the Coast Guard will be on duty at the lake.

A map, giving directions to the Vance County Wildlife Club launching site, where the boats will be launched, will be available to all drivers of cars and to people who find it impossible to travel with the group. Also, wives and dates are invited on the boating cruise.

Petite Musicale Features Soprano Donna Patton Kelly

Donna Patton Kelly, soprano, accompanied by Walter Golde, will be featured in the last Petite Musicale for the spring semester here Sunday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Kelly's song recital will feature works by Wolf-Ferrari, Brahms, Paladilhe, Faure, Duparc, Piere, Menotti, Dougherty, Giannini and Walret Golde.

The concert, sponsored by GMAB, student union organization, will be presented in the Main Lounge of Graham Memorial.

Mrs. Kelly has been a soloist with the Chapel Hill Choral Club in performances of the Mozart Requiem, the Verdi Requiem and the Brahms Requiem.

The vocalist has sung the role of Pamina in the Magic Flute in the production of that opera sponsored by GMAB and the Music Department. She has also appeared as soloist under Paul Young at Duke University and with the UNC Men's Glee Club and the University Chorus.

Mrs. Kelly, a current resident of Louisville, Ky., was the first recipient of the Institute of Opera Scholarship. She studied with Walter Golde during her stay in Chapel Hill.

Walter Golde, her accompanist, is a Chapel Hill pianist-composer who has presented recitals in Hill Hall and in Graham Memorial. Golde is also a well-known voice teacher, and has accompanied many of his students in Petite Musicales of the past.

REJECTION — That's Al Miller being rejected by Miss Chapel Hill, Jane Newsom, in the Sound and Fury production of "Oh, Hellas!" coming Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Tickets are currently on sale at Y-Court and Graham Memorial. The price of admission is 50c.

Sound And Fury Coming Soon

Miss Chapel Hill, a host of new talent, and some front line experience are all combined in Sound and Fury's 1959 production "Oh, Hellas!" coming to Memorial Hall Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

The play, a student written, student acted, student directed, student costumed, and student staged production, is a take-off on Aristophanes' comic battle of the sexes, "Lysistrata." The play was written by Lew Hardee and Carl Bridgers.

Sch comparative neophytes as Jane Newsom (Miss Chapel Hill), Nancy Aubrey, Susie Cordon, Al Miller, Frank Beaver, Sandy Renegado, Jane Durham and Paul Burroughs promise to add life to the entirely student written, acted, directed, and produced play.

Lending the experience to the cast are Bill Monell and Robert Williams.

Monell, who plays Demetrius in this adaptation from Aristophanes' famous comedy about the battle between the sexes, is a veteran Carolina Playmaker. He has performed with such groups as the Gilbert & Sullivan Festival Theater, the American Shakespeare Festival Theater, and will be a member of the Colorado Shakespeare Festival company this summer.

Williams, who both dances and plays the part of The Spartan in the Sound and Fury production, has participated in "Unto These Hills," the Durham Theater Guild, and the North Carolina Ballet Theater.

Two girls, destined to make the most important comic contributions to the show are Susie Gordon as Lampito, and Nancy Aubrey, as the irrepressible Calonica.

In playing the chairman of the Spartan Ladies Culture Club and wrestling team, Miss Cordon is stepping into the spotlight for the first time on a Carolina stage. A member of Chi Omega sorority and the YWCA, she participated actively in dramatic productions in high school.

Miss Aubrey, the newly-elected president of the Panhellenic Council, is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and the Women's Residence Council.

The play is sponsored by Graham Memorial Activities Board, and tickets are currently on sale at both G.M. and Y Court. The admission charge for either Friday or Saturday night is 50 cents.

Re-Election Today

Five candidates are running for the two 1-year seats of the Legislature from Dorm Men's III to be elected today.

Dan Brown (SP), Phil Edwards (ind.), Roy Goodman (SP), Ronnie Millican (UP) and Vince Mulieri (UP) are the candidates in today's re-election in Dorm Men's III.

The Student Council called for the election after hearing a case involving an infraction of the Election Law.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in Joyner, Alexander, Conner and Winston dormitories.

Spectrum On Sale Sunday

A one-act play by George Hill, graduate student in dramatic art, will be included in the second issue of Spectrum magazine, which goes on sale Sunday.

Spectrum includes writing and art work only of persons who are in some way connected with the University. The first issue of the publications was printed in January.

The magazine is backed by Jim Hausman, a student in the Business Administration School. With this issue, Spectrum is under the new editorship of Ted Crane, graduate student in classics.

The controversial first issue of Spectrum was commended by some as a healthy sign of student life; others condemned the magazine as being obscene, immoral and scandalous.

In addition to the one-act play, the second issue of Spectrum will contain a short story by Mrs. Anne Higgins, wife of a sociology instructor, and poems by Ross Baumstone, Dennis Parks and Bill Cheney, all undergraduates in history, and Ted Crane, the editor; by Peter Young, graduate student.

The art work for this issue was created by a group of art students and selected by the art editors, Jim Jordan and Robert Shannon.

Copies of Spectrum may be purchased for 35 cents Sunday at the following places: the Intimate Book Shop, Jeff's Magazine Shop, Antonio's Restaurant or in the Y Building lobby. Copies will also be available at the campus bookstores in Raleigh, Greensboro and Durham.

Lee Simonson

Dramatic Arts Presents New York Set Designer

The Department of Dramatic Art will present Lee Simonson, noted New York scene designer and theatre historian, in a series of lectures this week in The Playmakers Theater.

The lectures are being delivered in conjunction with dramatic art classes, which will be open to all students of the University this week.

Simonson will speak today from 10-11 a.m. concerning scene design in a lecture entitled "From Drawing Board to Stage." This afternoon from 2-4 o'clock his subject will be "Styles and Alternatives."

Other lectures include "Alice in Ism-land" at 9 a.m. Wednesday; "Scenic Design As a Plan of Action," 2 p.m. Wednesday; "Grassroots Drama in America," 10 a.m. Thursday; and "The Role of the Scene Designer," 11 a.m. Saturday.

Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock a general discussion period will be held.

Simonson will close his stay with the Dramatic Art Department Monday with a public lecture in The Playmakers Theatre at 8 p.m. The title of the talk is "Eugene O'Neill As a Dramatist."

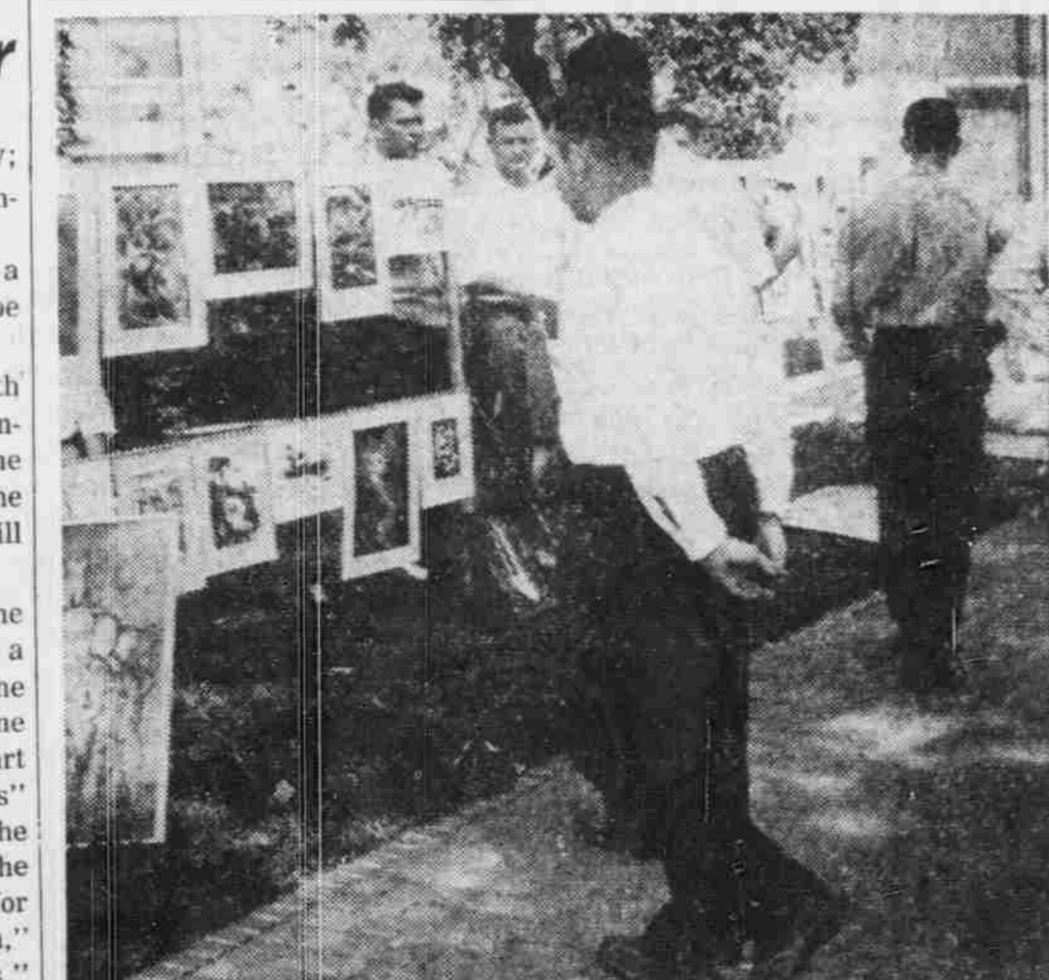

Simonson, an exponent of the "new stagecraft," is the author of a number of outstanding books on the theatre, including "The Art of Scene Design," "The Stage Is Set," "Part Of a Lifetime," "Minor Prophecies" and "Settings and Costumes of the Modern Stage." His work for the stage has included settings for "Liliom," "Back to Methuselah," "Amphytrion 38," "Marco Millions," "The Apple Cart," "Elizabeth the Queen," "Idiot's Delight" and "Man and the Masses."

He has served as director for both the Theatre Guild and the American National Theatre Academy. He is a graduate of Harvard University.

INFIRMARY

Students in the Infirmary Monday included:

Rufus Russell, Thomas Rogers, Harry Wells, William Davis, Charles Himes, John Liles, Hilary Dougherty, Janie Wright, Louis Harley, Dewey Sheffield, William Corbett and Frank Jones.

Take A Look! Pictured above are some of the viewers of the Sidewalk Art Show that was presented on the campus Friday and Saturday behind Vance-Battle-Pettigrew. The weather was beautiful, something unusual for Chapel Hill and as was expected there was a good turnout for the show which is again planned for next year. All the painting were highly interesting and well-done. Artists and art lovers regroup and we will take another look next year.
