Senior Day Festivities Will Begin On Monday

By LEE ARBOGAST
Get ready SENIORS.
The traditional Senior Day will be held Tuesday this year.
Well-laid plans have been made, the stage is set, and everyone is in store for an extra good time.
Coeds have been granted late permission for the Senior Day activities. Permission to stay out until twelve midnight has been granted for Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights by the Dean of Women's office.
Festivities begin Monday night with free flicks for all seniors who present their ID cards.
However, Tuesday is officially Senior Day.
An important class meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in Memorial Hall. In order to be eligible for the drawings for prizes which will be held that afternoon, seniors must attend the meeting to get tickets. The election of permanent officers and Mr. and Miss Alumni will be made at the class meeting.
In the afternoon there will be all sorts of activities at the Patio, including a Bar-B-Que dinner, games, and music by Jim Talley and Nick Kearns, as well as reduced prices on the Patio's chief commodity.
On Thursday night, there will be activities at Hogan's Lake for the Class of '59.

Traditionally, seniors have been excused from classes on Senior Day. A memo to this effect has been sent by Dean James L. Godfrey to the heads of all departments. However, seniors must have excuses from their individual instructors to be absent from classes.

Durham Boy Gets $2,000 Scholarship

In looking for a good student most likely to carry on in the tradition of Andy Bershak, the UNC Scholarship Committee remembered the great All-American football player of the 1930's who was also a top-grade scholar.
The boy selected this year for the $2,000 Bershak Scholarship is Sheldon Peck of Durham High School, a young man who has made a 94.1 average during his high school career—and yet who has been active in extra-curricular activities in the school, while helping his mother at the family bakery. Peck will study astrophysics at UNC.
Peck was chosen as the best candidate for the Bershak Award. He will receive $500 a year towards his education at Chapel Hill, with the scholarship renewable annually for four years. The scholarship is awarded by fraternity men at the university.
Besides being an excellent student young Peck is a debater, is active in dramatics, plays in the high school band, writes for the school newspaper, has served in the student council, and is active in astronomy and rocket clubs. As further interest in a science career he is a member of the radio amateurs club.
In addition to his school work, he works regularly in the bakery which is operated by his mother, Mrs. Sylvia S. Peck, a widow.

DESIRE—Susie Cordon's desires seem not too latent, and the general of the Athenian army, Frank Beaver seems worried in Sound and Fury's production of "Oh, Hellas!" opening today and continuing tomorrow. Tickets are on sale at Graham Memorial, Y-Court and at Memorial Hall in the evening on a first come, first served basis for 50c. Photo by Peter Ness and Bill Brinkhous

Comic Sex Battle Begins Tonight At 8; 'Oh, Hellas!' Debuts In Memorial Hall

The day has arrived.
The Sound and Fury production of "Oh, Hellas!" opens tonight in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m., and will continue at least through tomorrow night.
Tickets are still available for opening night, although advance sales have topped all previous records, and tickets are still on sale at the Y and Graham Memorial for 50c. Tickets will be available at the door on a first come, first served basis, and if the play is held over a third night, as has been tentatively planned, tickets will be available at the three places.
The play, written by Lew Hardee and Carl Bridgers, is based on Aristophanes' comic drama "Lysistrata," and has added words and music by Bridgers and Hardee.
The play, which is a comic battle between the sexes amidst a battle between Athens and Sparta, stars Miss Chapel Hill Jane Newsum; Al Miller, a newcomer from New Rochelle, N. Y.; Nancy Aubrey; Bill Monell; Susie Cordon; Frank Beaver; Jane Durham; and Wally Graham.
Directing the production is Joel Fleishman, and producing the play is Al Salley.

The difficult job of costuming the play in "authentic" Greek costumes was handled ably by Clara Mack, as she designed and directed a capable staff of nine in the making of these costumes.
Directing the orchestra is Gene Strassler, a graduate music student and an instructor in the music department.
Graham Memorial purchased over 20 new lights in order to give the 1959 Sound and Fury adequate illumination, and Rudy Waldorff, assisted by Salley and Fleishman, handled the lighting for the production.

The job of begging, borrowing, stealing, and making the props for the play went to Betty Shaw and Kate Russell, both junior art majors.
Doing the choreography for the dancers is Tony Millili, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania where he was a member of the Mask and Wig Club.

Stage managing the production is Chuck Cushman, while the all-around handyman, serving in many different capacities, is Wilson Cooper.
Sets were designed by John Sneden and built by Doug Warner with assistance from Leslie Crutchfield.

Universities Council Elects Friday Chairman

William C. Friday, president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, has been chosen chairman of the Council of Southern Universities, an eight-member group composed of the Universities of Virginia, Texas, Vanderbilt, North Carolina and Duke, Emory, Tulane universities and Rice Institute.
Friday was chosen at a meeting just concluded in St. Petersburg, Fla. He succeeds Dean Lewis Hammond of the University of Virginia.
The Council of Southern Universities, formed in 1950 and incorporated in 1953, has a "roving commission" to engage in activities of mutual interest to the eight member institutions and the cause of higher education in the South generally.
Maxine Greenfield of Chapel Hill was named yesterday as Miss Modern Venus at the annual Sigma Chi derby. Miss Greenfield is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Citizens Of Halifax County Ask Legislature To Aid UNC

SCOTLAND NECK — A group of representative citizens of Halifax County has requested the members of the General Assembly to give adequate financial support to the Consolidated University of North Carolina—even if it means an increase in taxes.
Letters to this effect have been sent to all members of the General Assembly and other state officials. These letters were mailed here Saturday.
The letters were signed by James L. Pittman of Scotland Neck. Under Pittman's signature were listed 45 additional names of persons who had voted unanimously to urge the General Assembly to cover the financial needs of the University for 1959-61 as presented by UNC President William C. Friday.

recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission be supplied the University. The ABC's recommendations were far below the amount requested by President Friday.
The full text of the letter follows: "I am writing to you in behalf of the Consolidated University of North Carolina as spokesmen for some forty-six representative citizens of Halifax County.
"At a meeting held on April 16 in Scotland Neck, this group considered at some length the vital role which the University of North Carolina plays in the life of our State. With the help of Dr. Henry T. Clark Jr., from the University Administration, we reviewed the financial needs of the University for the 1959-61 biennium. We do not think that the recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission for 1959-61 are adequate to provide quality training for increasing numbers of North Carolina students and to hold and build strong faculties in a short-supply market.
"At the conclusion of a two-hour discussion, this group of forty-six men and women voted unanimously to urge the General Assembly to cover the financial needs of the University for 1959-61 as presented by President William Friday—even if this means an increase in taxes."

Solons Amend Bill Requiring Meetings

By DEE DANIELS
Jim Crowner's (SP) defeated bill to require meetings of legislators with their constituents was reconsidered and amended by the Student Legislature last night.
Jim Scott introduced an amendment in the form of six articles to replace these in the original bill. Scott's change would require legislators to visit each housing unit in their respective districts, and to submit individual reports of activities during the session to the Speaker of the Legislature.
The reports would be available to the campus political parties and the student body. Failure to submit one would be considered one of the unexcused absences due each representative during his term.
The solons approved the amendments and then sent the bill to the rules committee following a motion by Bob Nobles (SP) to that effect.
They also sanctioned an amended bill, authored by Jack Lawing (UP), for amending the Legislature by-laws to require the request of one legislator plus two seconds for a roll call vote.

The organization of a Student Traffic Court Investigation Staff was approved in a bill presented by Ed Cox. The staff will assemble and present pertinent information concerning a case to the Student Traffic Court, issue summons to student violators to appear before the Court and be responsible for keeping records and files necessary to the committee's operation.
A bill introduced by Bob Nobles (SP) to establish a Traffic and Safety Committee was authorized also. Already established, but not recognized, the committee makes rules and regulations concerning student cars and traffic and directs proposals to the Chancellor for the expenditure of funds.

Originally the bill called for the request of one fifth of the legislators present, but the amendment proposed by Bill Porter (SP) was approved and the bill was passed by the two-thirds vote required for changing the by-laws.
In discussion of the bill, Lawing pointed out that it would not be "taking away anybody's privilege," but would reduce the number of roll call votes, thereby making legislative meetings more expedient.
