Tarheel Derby Day Comes Early; UNC Fillies Race On Fast Track

By MARY ALICE ROWLETTE
Today is Derby Day in Kentucky, but the Sigma Chi's jumped the gun on the Bluegrass State, decreeing Thursday Derby Day at UNC—and the experts all agree that a better looking field of fillies have never paraded to the post in any race.
The 15th annual Spring Meet in Kenan Stadium opened with the Race to the Finish. Weezy Daniel for the Chi Omegas came close to breaking a track record by stripping to a bathing suit in 2½ seconds.
Happ Hurst, Kappa Delta, was second by a hat and Janice Sutton, Alpha Delta Pi, placed third.
The next event was "Hit the Geek." Jiri Fox played the part of the Geek and was hit squarely in the face, occasionally, with chocolate pie.
The Alpha Gams had the winner in this event while the Nurses placed and Kappa Kappa Gamma showed.

The Grand National Relay in which six fillies for each stable raced running backward with blinders on, smoking a cigar, carrying a spoon with an egg in it, pushing a ping pong ball with their heads, carrying a marble between their toes and running on their hands was won by the Chi O's.
The Kappa Kappa Gammas came in second and the Tri Deltas were third.
Stockings with eggs in them were slipped over the heads of the fillies for the Secret Event. Each one was given a fish and Derby fans were somewhat shocked to see them climb onto the backs of Sigma Chi's. This is probably the only race in history in which horses rode people.
The object of the race was for the fillies to break the eggs on their opponents' heads by hitting them with the fish. Eunice Simmons, running for ADPI, stepped into the winner's circle for this event. Jenny

Elder for the Chi O's was second and Sue Donisthorpe for the Tri Deltas was third.
The fillies, being a little nervous and excited by the race, began throwing fish into the infield following the event. Their trainers, however, soon calmed them down.
The fifth race of the afternoon were skits presented by all the stables. The Kappa Deltas won with a modern version of "Hansel and Gretel." The Chi O's placed with a presentation of a visit to UNC by two Russian diplomats and the Nurses showed.
The Miss Modern Venus beauty contest, the last event of the Derby, was won by Maxine Greenfield with Jane Parks coming in a fast second and Patty Flores third.
The Chi Omega Stable won the honors of the afternoon by winning two events and placing second in two.

Cheerleader Tryouts Monday

Judges will select five girls and one alternate and two boys and one alternate.
Graham said that judges would be the old cheerleaders. Student Body President Charlie Gray, representatives of the football and basketball teams, Ray Jeffries, assistant to the dean of student affairs, and an impartial judge.
This year's impartial judge is Pat-

Before examinations, new UP By-laws will be up for ratification by the various dormitories, fraternities and sororities. These new By-laws were proposed at last Tuesday's meeting of the party.

For these rules to become operative, three-fourths of the dorms, fraternities and sororities must concur. Within each dorm, fraternity and sorority, three-fourths of University Party members at a special meeting must also agree to the By-laws.

Guard Bill Hits Snag; Final Vote On Monday

RALEIGH, May 1 (AP)—Legislation preparing the way for National Guardsmen to replace state highway patrolmen in strike-torn Henderson ran into delay Friday after a week of rapid progress.
Complaints of hasty action, raised in debate as the House passed the bill on second reading, carried it over to Monday night for a final House vote before it can become law.

Under it, Guard troops called out by the governor to help local officers preserve law and order, would have the same authority as a sheriff to make arrests.

Rep. A. A. Zollicoffer of Vance, whose county includes Henderson, said the measure would "do no more than allow the Guard to replace the state highway patrol" on duty at the struck plants of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills.

Sporadic violence has flared in recent months as the company resumed operation in an effort to overcome the five and a half-month-old strike by the Textile Workers Union of America.

"I do not know if the Guard will be sent in," emphasized Zollicoffer. "I know it is under consideration."

Rep. Hubert Humphrey of Guilford, a leader in stalling the measure, pictured it as full of dangers and likely a violation of the State Constitution. However, he pinned his major arguments on "the hasty procedure" in rushing the bill along its legislative course.

"Various senators have told me they have serious misgivings" over the Senate's speedy action, Humphrey said. It passed the Senate under suspended rules Tuesday morning, he recalled, less than 24 hours after its introduction by Sen. Charles Blackburn of Vance.

Despite the tense Henderson situation, Humphrey asserted, "We cannot pass major legislation on a panic basis."

Most House members who joined Humphrey in asking for delay said they did so in order to study the bill.

Supporters pointed out that under present law, Guardsmen have arrest powers only when called to duty under martial law.

They said the measure would permit the use of Guard troops in a situation less serious than one requiring martial law.

Parents Have A 'Free Run' Of All Dorms

Students have been reminded that parents and visitors will have "free run" of the dormitories, fraternities and sororities between the hours of 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday.

"We encourage the students to keep their own rooms, their social rooms and the dormitory halls in a neat condition during the day," said Alpha Phi Omega President Randal Etheridge.

Other friends of the University, besides parents, have been invited also. The members of the State Legislature have been asked to attend in a body. They will meet at the Morehead Sundial upon arrival.

The high point of the afternoon will be a faculty reception under Davie Poplar at 3:30 A.P.O., the sponsoring organization, will serve refreshments at this time and the UNC Glee Club will present a concert.

At 4:30 Vice President William D. Carmichael will give a short speech followed by a band concert under the direction of Herbert Fred, UNC band director.

AAAGGGHHH—Maybe his name isn't Charlie Brown, but he probably felt worse at Thursday's Sigma Chi Derby, when he was splattered with dark brown chocolate pie. The poor unfortunate is unidentified, but our condolences go to him. Glad that's only pie. Photo by Bill Brinkhous

Amendments Considered At Monday SP Meeting

The Student Party will consider several amendments to its constitution on Monday Night. Among these is an amendment to elect its file clerk and to require the chairman to have an executive assistant.

'Oh, Hellas!' Is Held Over

Sound and Fury's production of "Oh, Hellas!" will be held over through Sunday night.

Tickets are currently on sale for both tonight's and Sunday night's performances at Y Court and Graham Memorial and will be available at the door on a first come, first served basis.

Performances start at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall, and the price of admission to the musical-comedy written by Lew Hardee and Carl Bridger is 50 cents.

Playmakers To Present 'Monkey Trail' Play

Sally Pullen and Robert Ketter provide the romantic interest in The Carolina Playmakers forthcoming "Inherit the Wind," scheduled for presentation in The Forest Theatre, May 7-9 at 8:30 p.m.

"Inherit the Wind" tells the story of the famous Tennessee "Monkey Trial" in which Clarence Darrow appeared for the defense. Ketter appears in the play as Bert Cates (Scopes), a small town school teacher who introduces evolutionary principles in his classroom and precipitates the dramatic trial. Ketter is familiar to local audiences for his roles in "The Would-Be Gentleman," "Look Homeward, Angel," "What Every Woman Knows" and "The Lark."

Miss Pullen, a native of Fayetteville, plays Rachel Brown in "Inherit the Wind." Rachael, the daughter of the local minister, is torn between her feelings for Cates and the religion of her father. Miss Pullen, a transfer student from Woman's College, is the current chairman of Petite Dramatique.

Tickets for "Inherit the Wind" will be available at The Forest Theatre box office on performance evenings only. Tickets are $1.50 or by season ticket. There are no reserved seats.

HELD OVER—Mary Margaret Brown is held over Al Miller's head to indicate that Sound and Fury's production of "Oh, Hellas!" will be held over through Sunday night. Performances are at 8 p.m. tonight and tomorrow in Memorial Hall. Tickets are 50c and on sale at Graham Memorial and Y-Court as well as at Memorial Hall door on a first come, first served basis. Victory Village Housing Problem Receives Relief

By BOB WRIGHT

The married students' housing shortage will receive some relief beginning next fall.

Construction on 208 new apartments in Victory Village, which began late last summer, is now six weeks ahead of schedule. An estimated 20 to 25 apartments will be ready for occupancy around the end of September.

J. S. Bennett, superintendent of University buildings and grounds, said that about half of the 32-building project will be completed in December, and the remainder by March 1960.

Rent for unfurnished apartments has been set at $60 per month for the 3-room (one bedroom) apartments and $70 for the 4-room (two bedroom) apartments. Heat and water are included in the rent, but not electricity.

The buildings will be of a brick veneer, permanent-type structure and completely fireproof. Floors will be of concrete, and covered with vinyl tile.

The design of the buildings will vary according to the number of apartments per building. Each building will contain four, six or eight apartments.

J. E. Wadsworth, University housing officer, said that furniture will be rented, if desired, on the same basis presently used in Victory Village.

Bennett explained the proposed rent is higher than the present Victory Village housing rent of from $15 to $35 per month was partly because of the better construction of the new apartments and the high cost of repaying the $1,676,410.50 Federal loan received last year. He said that about $40 of every $60 received in rent would be used for repaying the loan.

The completion of the housing project may not entirely eliminate the housing shortage. Twelve barracks, containing 96 apartments, in Victory Village have been condemned and may have to be torn down, Bennett said.

Press Clubbers Club Softball

The UNC Press Club will have its annual ball game on next Friday afternoon.

All members of the Press Club attending will be charged 75 cents each for food costs.

"The money and a slip of paper with the name of the member planning to attend must be turned into Mrs. Susan Pittman in the journalism office by noon Thursday," said Neil Murphy, member planning the picnic.

The game will be held at Hogan's Lake.

Press Club President Ann Frye has encouraged all Press Club members to attend this function. The last event of the year is to be the annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. May 11 at Howard Johnson's Restaurant on the Chapel Hill-Durham boulevard.

Tickets for the banquet can be obtained for $1.75 from the School of Journalism office, Ann Frye, Parker Maddrey or Neil Murphy.

UMMMMM—That's what one of—or both—these two are no doubt thinking in the midst of the situation at hand. The two lucky people (depending on how you look at it) are Robert Ketter (he's the tall one) and Sally Pullen (l), and they are (supposedly) enacting a scene from the Carolina Playmakers forthcoming "Inherit the Wind," which will appear in the Forest Theatre, May 7-9 at 8:30 p.m.
